Rosenblum and Regal, School Board Victors; 24,962 Voters Cast Ballots

A recount will be held to determine the outcome of the hectic battle waged on Tuesday between Mayor Monte G. Basbas and Representative Irving Fishman for the right to serve as Newton's chief municipal executive for the next two years.

As matters presently stand, Mayor Basbas is the winner over Representative Fishman by the wafer-thin margin of 255 votes.

The vote totals for the mayoralty contenders are 12,186 for Mayor Basbas, 11,931 for Representative Fishman and 526 for Davis F. Evans, retired black city worker.

If Mr. Evans took votes away from Representative Fishman in the close mayoralty contest, as political observers believe he did, his name on the ballot may have changed the outcome of the fight.

Representative Fishman indicated yesterday that he will request a recount to determine whether any mistakes were made in the tabulation of the vote totals in the rush on election night.

The Mayor's 225-vote margin over Fishman was a tiny one in view of the fact that 24,643 votes were cast for the mayoralty candidates.

One mistake made in copying the figures from voting machines in order to tabulate them—if discovered in a recount—could change the outcome of the Basbas-Fishman fight, one of the closest city-wide mayoralty races Newton ever has witnessed.

A total of 24,962 men and women, representing slightly more than 50 percent of Newton's eligible voters, went to the polls in Tuesday's municipal election.

Of that number, 319 did not bother to vote for any candidate for Mayor.

The importance of a vote is reflected by the fact that if those 319 persons had voted for Fishman, he would have been elected.

Results of Tuesday's balloting indicated that Newton, once a Republican stronghold, is becoming more Democratic.

Five Democrats were elected members of the Board of Aldermen.

When the newly elected Board of Aldermen convenes next New Year's Day, 10 of the 24 members will be Democrats.

It's conceivable that number might be increased by recounts since some Democratic candidates for the Aldermanic Board were defeated by narrow margins in Tuesday's election.

The new Democratic Aldermen are Harry H. Crosby, William Carmen, Thomas B. Concannon, Jr., Richard Bullwinkle and Peter Harrington.

New Republicans who will be sitting on the Board of Aldermen are Arthur H. Sullivan and Michael Lipof.

TANKER SPLITS, SLOOP SINKING IN STORMY SEAS

A 632-FOOT LIBERIAN oil tanker broke in half in the gale lashed Atlantic Wednesday southeast of Nantucket Island, but all 36 crewmen scurried to safety on the aft section. About the same time, a 41-foot sloop with seven persons aboard was reported breaking up in the stormy seas. A massive search-rescue effort was mounted, including six Navy destroyers, planes, merchant ships and a helicopter after the tanker, Keo, radioed it split in two 120 miles southeast of the Nantucket Lightship. The sloop, Whisper, sailing from Marion, Mass., to Bermuda, reported it was sinking 200 miles southeast of Brenton Lightship, which is off Newport, R.I. Ocean swells were reported 35 feet in 40 to 50 knot winds gusting to 70 knots. The weather was expected to worsen. The Keo, carrying fuel oil from Ghent, Belgium, to New York City, flashed an SOS at 10 a.m. EST. Coast Guard released the names of six of the seven persons aboard the Whisper. They were: James Ferris, 40, of Dover, owner; Dennis McDonald, 27, Newton; Donald Stelle, 43, Dover; Peter Hayes, 40, Bermuda; and Peter Mesmer, 42, Sharon. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, telephoned Coast Guard headquarters in Boston and expressed concern about the possibility of oil spillage from the tanker. The first cutter expected to reach the scene was the Decisive, out of Portsmouth, N.H. The sloop was located by rescue planes.

KIDNAPPERS KILL SON OF AMERICAN BUSINESSMAN IN BRAZIL

UNIDENTIFIED KIDNAPPERS have killed the 17-year-old son of an American director of the Brazilian affiliate of Swift and Co., Chicago, Ill., meat packers, police reported in Sao Paulo, Brazil. The boy, Patrick E. Dolan, was kidnapped last week but his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard J. Dolan, had not informed police because of kidnappers' threats to kill him, police said. They said the parents had paid an undisclosed amount of ransom for the release of their son last weekend, but that he had not appeared. Police said that when they were informed of the kidnapping, and after investigating, they found the boy's body on a farm located in the San Roque district, 37 miles west of downtown Sao Paulo.

3 U.S. PRISONERS RELEASED, PICKED UP BY ALLIED FORCES

THREE U.S. PRISONERS have been released by the Viet Cong in South Vietnam and have been picked up by Allied forces, Saigon sources reported. A spokesman for the State Department in Washington said that he had no further details besides the confirmation of reports that have been circulating in Saigon about the three prisoners. The prisoners previously had been identified as Pfc. Coy R. Tinsley, Pfc. James H. Strickland Jr., and Specialist 4th Class William E. Watkins. The Viet Cong's clandestine radio announced Oct. 25 that it was releasing the three American prisoners of war.

MISTRIAL DECLARED, SEALE GETS 4-YEAR TERM FOR CONTEMPT

U.S. DISTRICT COURT Judge Julius J. Hoffman Wednesday declared a mistrial for Black Panther leader Bobby Seale on riot conspiracy charges and sentenced him to four years in prison for contempt of court in tumultuous courtroom outbreaks that repeatedly stalled the trial of the "Chicago Eight." Hoffman ruled that the trial of the other seven defendants charged with conspiring to incite the riots that swept Chicago during the 1968 Democratic Convention would go on. He said he severed the Black Panther national chairman from the case because it was his "duty and obligation to insure that the trial continue." The judge imposed jail terms of three months on each 16 separate counts of contempt against Seale for the violent and obscene outbursts that caused the court to order the Negro militant shackled and gagged for three days last week. He ruled that the terms would run consecutively.

GOP VICTORY IN NEW JERSEY PLEASES PRESIDENT NIXON

PRESIDENT NIXON, buoyed by two Republican gubernatorial victories, expressed particular pleasure Wednesday over the GOP triumph in New Jersey as a vote of confidence in his Vietnam War policies. Nixon disclaimed personal credit for the election of Rep. William T. Cahill as governor of New Jersey, ending 16 years of Democratic rule, or A. Linwood Holton's victory in Virginia, where Democrats have been elected for the past 100 years.

SENATE UNIT VOTES TO BAR TV CIGARETTE COMMERCIALS

THE SENATE Commerce Committee voted Wednesday to outlaw cigarette commercials on television and radio starting Jan. 1, 1971, and to encourage tar and nicotine listings in printed smoking ads. But in 10-9 votes, tobacco state senators won battles to soften a proposed new health warning on cigarette packages, and to ban government agencies from requiring a health message in non-broadcast cigarette advertisements. "I am not entirely satisfied with the bill as reported, but the important victory of ceasing cigarette advertisements on broadcast media was won," said Sen. Frank E. Moss, D-Utah, chairman of the committee's consumer subcommittee and leader of a strong Senate antismoking bloc.

New Night-Scopes In Use

Police Can Now See Like Cats At Night

A new electronic device is helping Newton police in their war against drug pushers, house breakers and night "scoops" of drug users.

Hand-held telescopic night sights, developed by Raytheon Company, amplify the natural light of stars 2000 times to enable police officers to clearly observe suspects without being seen themselves.

"As a residential suburb of Boston," Chief William F. Quinn explained, "we are very concerned about night safety. Night crimes outnumber day offenses two to one. We have more policemen working nights than days and the new night scopes dramatically tip the scales in their favor in our program to protect our citizens and their property around the clock."

Among the first law enforcement agencies to employ the electronic aids in their everyday work, the Newton police have already used the night scopes in at least two

In a recent case, Newton police had sought to break up a group of drug users who gathered in the center of a large playground at night. The cover of darkness favored

Lasell Junior College Names New Trustees

The election of two new members of the Board of Trustees was announced today by Lasell Junior College.

Miss June Babcock, Dean and Acting President of the College, and Miss Janet Lee Sheffer, who received an Associate in Arts degree from Lasell last June, bring the total number of Trustees on the Board to twenty-six.

Miss Babcock was graduated with honors from Wheaton College where she was elected to Phi Beta Kappa, and received an A.M. degree from Cornell University.

Graphic Seeks Names of GIs On Viet Duty

Again this week The Newton Graphic requests relatives of servicemen on duty in war-torn Vietnam to submit their names and overseas addresses so that gift packages and greeting cards can be sent to them on the coming joyous Holiday Season.

Publication of the names of the sons, brothers and fathers on duty in the war zone, or servicemen from this area who may be on duty there, will insure that their friends and former classmates will remember them. Of course their close relatives will remember them to the utmost, as will Uncle Sam with a bountiful Yuletide dinner.

But is is the mail from the folks back home — from old acquaintances, clubs, organizations and school children, that helps buoy their spirits while on foreign and dangerous assignment.

Readers are requested to send in any copy for next week's paper as soon as possible because of the Veterans Day holiday on Tuesday, Nov. 11, when all post offices will be closed.

As a result of this, there will be no mail deliveries on Tuesday, therefore the necessity for copy getting to our offices not later than Monday.

We would appreciate copy being received tomorrow and Saturday, especially club and organizational news. Editorial personnel will be available on Saturday to process all mail received. There will be no change in the publication date of the newspaper.

Murals At Cross-Roads

Is It Art For Arts Sake On Local Wall?

Harking back to the days of when Knighthood was in flower, the owner of an Auburndale square boutique has found two champions in her fight against an edict to remove the butterflies, sunbursts and vibrant colorations which emblazon the outer walls.

The lady of course is Ronnie Brooker who vows to fight to the end against defacing her "beautiful" murals which she contends is an aesthetic plus for the area.

And the "Black Knight" would have to be Paul Foley, Newton's Building Inspector who issued a court complaint for "erecting a sign without a permit and painting a sign directly on (the) exterior surface of (a) wall."

The two champions who entered the lists in behalf of Ronnie Brooker are MIT Professor of Mathematics, Elliott Lieb of 32 Braeburn road, Auburndale, and Philip S. Slater, chairman, Brandeis University.

Slater said he was "deeply disturbed" by the City's action, "since the mural is one of the few worthy works of art that are visible to the casual motorist. It seems extremely ironic that the motorist's eye can be assaulted by innumerable ugly billboard displays but he is, for some inexplicable reason, not allowed to enjoy a work of art."

His observation was made in a letter to Building Inspector Foley on Oct. 3.

At that time Prof. Lieb wrote Mayor Monte Basbas on the matter. In his reply, the Mayor wrote:

"I know that it might seem arbitrary to attempt to enforce an ordinance, but this is the function of the men of those departments charged with this duty."

"In this particular case —

Democratic Governor Fight To Warm Up In Weeks Ahead

Tempo of the campaigning for the Democratic nomination for Governor will be stepped up now that the municipal elections in the cities across Massachusetts are a matter of political history.

Boston Mayor Kevin H. White and State Senate president Maurice A. Donahue will gradually intensify their efforts to line up the members of the Democratic ward and town committees throughout the Commonwealth.

Former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti and former Presidential Aide Kenneth O'Donnell are both in the fight for the right to run as the Democratic candidate for Governor in 1970, but neither is conceded any chance whatever of gaining the convention endorsement unless an extended deadlock develops.

Joining the faculty of Lasell in 1942 as an instructor in English and Latin, she later taught philosophy and world and bible literature courses. In 1955 she was appointed Assistant Dean of the College, and in 1959 she was named Dean of Women.

First appointed Acting President for the year 1965-66, Miss Babcock again assumed the duties of Acting President at the request of the Board in September 1968.

The youngest member ever to serve on the Board of Trustees, Miss Sheffer was presented in her senior year with the Lasell Jacket, a student-nominated honor, for her outstanding leadership while serving as President of College Government.

Shortly after her graduation in June 1969, she also received the Lasell Alumnae Medallion for her role as an undergraduate in uniting the interests and aims of both faculty and student body.

Miss Sheffer also served as guest speaker at the Annual Alumnae Council Meeting in 1969.

Mrs. David Rosen of Boston, another alumna, was elected Chairman of the Board at the same meeting, succeeding Mr. Wilder N. Smith of Auburn-dale, who had served as Chairman since 1961.

Church Women United in Newton invite all Newton women to observe World Community Day on Friday, November 7, at the Parish Hall of St. Philip Neri Church, Beacon Street in Waban.

Mrs. Robert Schmidlein of Waban, who is hostess for the day, is planning to start the program with a coffee and social period at 9:30 and will have as her assistants Mrs. Harry Barron, Mrs. James M. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Domenic Franchi and Mrs. J. Seymour McLean, all of Waban.

Mrs. James H. Burns of Newton Highlands is Chairman of the Day and has arranged a dialogue on development, based on the theme of "Christians in International Development."

The speakers will be Mrs. Arthur T. Gregorian, former president of Church Women United and a member of the National Board, Girl Scouts of America, who will describe conditions and development programs in Iran, Turkey and Afghanistan; and Mrs. James K. Mathews, wife of the Methodist Bishop of the Boston Area, who will report on projects in Fiji, Samoa and Australia.

Participating in the worship service, under the direction of Mrs. Burns, will be Mrs. Edward Green of West Newton, Mrs. Robert Lally of Auburndale, Mrs. Alex R. Miller of Waban and Mrs. Norman Ross of West Newton, with Mrs. Walter C. Muelder of Newton Centre serving as pianist.

Country Players Prepare New Show For 4 Weekends

The Country Players of Newton are fortunate enough to have Emily Sullivan starring as Mary Sunshine for the first production of the season, "Little Mary Sunshine."

Performance dates are slated for 2 consecutive weekends, Nov. 14-16 and Nov. 21-23 with a Sunday matinee Nov. 16 and will be presented "in the round" at the Rebecca Pomeroy House, 84 Eldredge Street, Newton.

Her academic training includes a Masters Degree in speech and drama at Emerson College while continuing to study voice at the New England Conservatory of Music. Opera, under the direction of Boris Goldofsky, and the musical theatre were her major fields.

In addition to having had her own radio program and a weekly television show on WBZ-TV as a singing hostess, Emily Sullivan was selected to introduce an educational series on WGBH-TV.

Blocks of tickets or the entire house with its seating capacity of approximately 150, are available at reduced rates to sponsor groups and theatre parties interested in fund raising.

Emily Sullivan has sung leading roles in "La Boheme," "The Impresario," and "Cosi Fan Tutte" as a member of the Greater Boston Musical Theater. In theatre, she has had leading roles in the "King and I," "Carousel," and "Amahl and the Night Visitors."

Currently, she is also singing the role of Margarita in Gounod's "Faust" for college audiences.

In demand throughout the Massachusetts area are her specialized programs entitled "Something Old, Something New," "Musical Holiday," and "Festival of Song," which are accent musical comedy and popular favorites.

This first production is directed by Dona Thorman and produced by Marilyn Krassin. For information concerning tickets, write P. O. Box 9, Newton Centre, 02159 or phone 9 6-8790.

governed by our Newton ordinances - the device painted upon the side of the building is clearly a symbol, drawing, picture, design or device. Also, it is clearly painted upon the surface of the building - not affixed to the surface. While the end result might be attractive, it is still an infraction of the ordinance."

Mayor Basbas suggested that "should our Newton citizens desire to have such displays permitted a proposed ordinance could be submitted to the Board of Aldermen for amendment of the present ordinance."

Prof. Lieb, the second champion for Mrs. Brooker, replied to Mayor Basbas and indicated the latter "misinterpreted the ordinance by quoting only one part of the sentence and omitting a very important clause."

In his letter to Mayor Basbas, Prof. Lieb continued: "You stated in your letter that the device is clearly a 'symbol, drawing, picture, design or device.' I agree. But that does not constitute a sign until the second part of the quoted sentence is also satisfied, i.e.,

"... that advertises, directs attention to or indicates any premises, merchandise, person or activity..."

The letter from the mathematics professor went on:

"The question boils down to this: would any reasonable person passing the sign and not knowing beforehand that it was on the wall of a boutique be attracted to a 'premise, merchandise, person or activity'? The answer in my opinion is clearly negative because there is no way whatsoever to know what lies behind the mural."

"In fact the casual observer would probably assume that the sign is painted on a warehouse because there are examples of that further down on the Massachusetts Turnpike. In that case he would most certainly not be attracted to the premises."

"I am afraid that by pressing this matter into the courts you will not only waste the taxpayer's money, but also cast the citizens and government of Newton into a foolish light," Prof. Lieb contended. "I appeal to you not to do so."

And the symbolic scarf usually given to her knight by the lady, to attach to his helmet, must be the gay, multi-colored mural.

The complaint against Mrs. Brooker is returnable in Newton District Court this morning (Thursday).

Political Highlights

In fact, O'Donnell may bypass the convention entirely and carry his campaign directly to the people in the Democratic primary.

He will make a fight early next year for the repeal of the law providing that the two political parties hold State Conventions for the purpose of endorsing candidates for Governor, U.S. Senator, Attorney General and other state-wide offices. His efforts in that direction will accomplish nothing.

After that, O'Donnell will make a decision whether he will go into the Democratic State Convention, where he would spend some money and almost certainly be defeated, or ignore the conclave.

The truth is that the Democratic State Convention now accomplishes nothing except to give some political advantage to the candidates it endorses. It causes a waste of time, money and energy, and it creates additional bitterness within the Democratic party.

Yet, Mayor White and Senate President Donahue, the two top Democratic contenders for the Governorship, can't afford to disregard it because the candidates tapped by the convention do realize some advantages.

They get first ballot position in their particular contest. They have a notation under their name on the ballot that they were endorsed by the convention. And in some of the smaller towns there is a tendency on the part of the voter to give the benefit of doubt to the candidates who have been approved by the convention. The Republicans, of course, almost automatically vote for the candidates carrying the convention endorsement, indirectly enforcing party discipline.

That the Democratic State Convention, which next year will be held in the bucolic setting of the University of Massachusetts at Amherst will be a waste of time and money is indicated by the fact that all four gubernatorial candidates intend to run in the primary regardless of what happens at the convention.

As matters presently stand, Mayor White and Senate President Donahue are about even money in their struggle for the nod of next year's Democratic State Convention. Donahue was the favorite only a relatively few months ago, but White has narrowed down the odds. What has caused that isn't quite clear to this observer.

To some extent they are wasting time in their present efforts. They are trying to line up delegates, and the best they can do now is seek the support of ward and town committee members since the delegates haven't yet been picked.

The ward and town committee members they attract into their respective camps will, of course, be a help in the primary campaign next September.

Donahue will get a great deal of help from members of the Legislature who in many instances control the convention delegations in their districts. White, as former Secretary of State, personally knows the Democrats in every little whistle stop in the Commonwealth. This should be a big help to him.

There will be a flurry of activity by White and Donahue the next few weeks, then a lull over the Christmas holidays. Their respective drives will be resumed after the New Year and will continue without letup until after next year's election.

The politicos are moving into a busy year.

Galbraith Book Quotes JFK: State Pols Gang Of Thieves

Professor John Kenneth Galbraith, full-time economist and part-time politician, has just authored a book containing some rather astounding assertions.

While Mr. Galbraith obviously considers himself a good Democrat, some Democratic leaders, among them ex-Governor Endicott Peabody and former Lieutenant Governor Francis X. Bellotti, are not in accord with that appraisal.

Galbraith last year was named by Senator Edward M. Kennedy to a Democratic Advisory Council. The move drew a chilly reaction from many Democratic leaders.

The Galbraith book and Professor Galbraith himself create the impression that he was extremely close to the late President John F. Kennedy and had played a major role in Kennedy's 1960 Presidential campaign.

However, some persons who held high positions in the campaign have privately questioned whether Galbraith actually made any meaningful contribution to JFK's election as President.

Author Victor Lasky, in his book, "J.F.K., The Man and the Myth," writing about the period between John F. Kennedy's election to the Presidency, and his inaugural, had this to say:

"Most of the appointees were a disciplined lot with a clear insight into who was boss. For John F. Kennedy has no patience with mavericks, a fact which Chester Bowles was soon to discover. What the President sought in an associate were the self-effacing qualities possessed by Dean Rusk (The Secretary of State who was to become known as the Hugh Downs of The Kennedy Administration.)

"One potential maverick, John Kenneth Galbraith, was exiled to New Delhi. Galbraith, who had hoped to remold America into a society more affluent to his liking, found himself, as United States Ambassador to India, giving unwanted advice to Nehru and Company on how they should run their country. Before too long Pandit Nehru had a belly full of Galbraithisms and Galbraith of Nehruisms, and in 1963 Professor Galbraith was on his way back to Harvard."

Different people sometimes see the same thing in different ways, and this was true of Authors Lasky and Galbraith. The manner in which Professor Galbraith began his book, "Ambassador's Journal," offered quite a different version. Here's how the professor started his tome.

"December 7, 1960 — Cambridge

"For the last several days, there have been agreeable rumors that I am to be the Ambassador to India. And slightly more than rumors. J.F.K. asked Arthur Schlesinger in strict confidence how I would like it. These queries do not forever remain a secret though I did not learn about it for an hour or two. This post has been my prime aspiration, although in the last weeks I have been slightly diverted by the newspaper speculation of going to the Senate.

SELF-DESTRUCTION

"This morning J.F.K. called and in characteristic rapid-fire fashion, asked me my views on about a dozen candidates for various posts. The most interesting were Bundy for State and McNamara for Treasury. Then he told me he wanted me to go to India.

I expressed my pleasure and then said I wanted to put a plain question to him: "Would that be more useful than the Senate with the prospect of bringing some decency back to Massachusetts Democratic politics? He said yes, by a factor of five to one. Freshman Senators are not useful; did I really want to spend my time with Massachusetts politicians who he described amiably as 'that gang of thieves.' I told him I would not raise the matter again." End of quote from Galbraith book.

The late President Kennedy's reluctance to have Professor Galbraith associate with "that gang of thieves," namely Massachusetts politicians, was even more intriguing than Professor Galbraith's willingness to volunteer himself as a candidate for the U.S. Senate "in order to bring some decency back to Massachusetts Democratic politics."

JFK at that point had asked the then Governor Foster Furcolo to name Ben Smith of Gloucester to the vacancy in the U.S. Senate created by John Kennedy's resignation from the body to become President.

The late President actually gave three names to Furcolo, but Smith was the only one interested in accepting the appointment under the terms and conditions.

It turned out Smith was a seat-warmer for the President's brother, Edward M. Kennedy, who ran for and won the Senate seat less than two years later.

It does seem a bit curious that John F. Kennedy wasn't as much concerned about his youngest brother associating with "that gang of thieves" as he was about Professor Galbraith doing the same thing. Perhaps he thought the professor was more naive.

Professor Galbraith makes this comment in his book about Adlai Stevenson taking the job as UN Ambassador.

"Adlai Stevenson has accepted the United Nations post," Galbraith writes, "although rather reluctantly. He wanted the Department but failed in urging his case. He has the same difficulty in advancing his personal aims that I do but has even more difficult combinations of diffidence and vanity. In politics you don't need to be intelligent, but you must be able to argue for what you want with the proper unctious and force."

(Democratic politicos say they have never observed that Mr. Galbraith has been handicapped by an over-amount of diffidence.)

Professor Galbraith reported in his book that Robert Kennedy "shares my view that Henry Cabot Lodge's faux pas — the offer of a cabinet position to a Negro in Harlem, its withdrawal the next day in Virginia — was one of the classic errors of politics. (He was referring to the 1960 Presidential campaign.)

"If one is wrong on some vital questions of foreign policy, the opposition must still explain why it is an error. But no citizen is so benighted that he could not see that this was stupid. And it was equally damaging in both the North and the South which takes skill."

(Political observers agree that this was a big blunder. Our recollection is that Lodge made the suggestion that there be one black in the Cabinet and that Richard Nixon vetoed the idea the next day.)

Galbraith reveals that Senator William Fulbright was JFK's first choice for Secretary of State but that Bobby talked him out of the idea because of the "objection of Negroes and the use that the Russians might make of the appointment."

He tells his readers that one of the leading candidates for the position of Secretary of Agriculture destroyed himself in his interview with the late President.

Here is Galbraith's account of JFK's interview with Fred Heinkel of Missouri:

"He (Heinkel) slumped down in a chair, and when J.F.K. asked him what he would do about overproduction, he replied, 'That is a terrible problem. I suppose we shall just have to give it away abroad.'"

It appears from the book that Harvard President Pusey received the news that Mr. Galbraith was to resign to become Ambassador to India with great calm. Here is Galbraith's report of his meeting with Pusey.

"January 11 — Cambridge: This morning at 9:30 a.m. I visited Mr. Pusey to tell him that, in the event of being offered the post in India — which I said I deemed likely — I planned to resign. He received the news with great equanimity and said he hoped it might be early in the term so there would be a minimum of academic disturbance."

A day or two before the inaugural — the precise time isn't clear from the book — Galbraith says he "responded to the depression of the scene and my head by writing out a draft letter withdrawing my name from consideration as Ambassador. I couldn't believe I wanted it; during the day the new Secretary of State was cited as resenting all the political appointments."

Galbraith subsequently was apparently stunned to discover Chester Bowles had assumed he meant what he said and had withdrawn his nomination. "There I learned that Bowles had taken literally my withdrawal and had removed my name from the ambassadorial list," he writes. "Thomas Farmer had intervened to have it restored."

The professor tells of attending the annual White House correspondents' dinner. "The Chairman was drunk," he writes. "I did not get the impression that this was as damaging to the contents of his writing as one might imagine."

Most Patriotic Americans Respond to Nixon Appeal

A big majority of patriotic Americans apparently responded and reacted affirmatively to President Nixon's appeal Monday night for support of his Vietnam policies.

Some loyal Americans feel so strongly about an immediate U.S. pullout from the war in Vietnam that they are blind to the fact that it would constitute our first defeat in war and would be followed by wholesale slaughter.

There obviously is no way the President can get through to those unpatriotic Americans who by some weird form of reasoning hope their country is defeated by the Communists.

To this listener Richard M. Nixon on Monday night achieved his peak to date as a leader and a President.

He marshaled the facts and presented them unemotionally in a low-key but masterful speech.

With the facts he offered the people his leadership in the difficult journey out of the war.

Undoubtedly there will be demonstrations by some Americans in protest against what to them were the dissatisfying, disquieting contents of the President's speech.

The protesters should remember two sentences in President Nixon's address. Those sentences were: "North Vietnam cannot defeat or humiliate the United States. Only Americans can do that."

The demonstrators also might be asked whether they have read about any protest demonstrations in Hanoi lately.

Veteran's Day

November 11 is Armistice Day, or as it is now designated, Veterans' Day.

Armistice Day is the anniversary of the end of World War I in 1918; and while, since 1954, it has been celebrated as Veterans' Day, its purpose remains the same.

It is a day devoted to honoring the millions of men who have given their lives and their services to their country in the armed forces.

Originally it was a day of speechmaking and re-surgant patriotism. Every family displayed the American flag with pride and humble gratitude for all that it represented — the freedom and security of our homes, the protection of the individual against oppression from whatever source and a guarantee of respect for the U.S. by all nations.

Today there are those who are inclined to view the flag and patriotic observances as anachronisms and somewhat juvenile.

State Commander Robert S. Redding, of the Disabled American Veterans (DAV), has urged every American display the flag on Veterans' Day because "it will show the rest of the world we cherish our priceless heritage.

"The eyes of the world and particularly those of the forces of world communism, are constantly looking for signs of internal weakness which might forecast the downfall of the United States," he warned.

"We here in Massachusetts can do our part to help discourage any such thoughts about a weak, apathetic, dispirited American citizenry by flying the Star Spangled Banner."

Long may it wave.

Write Your Lawmakers

We, the people of the United States, elect Congressmen and Senators and send them to Washington to represent us and to do our bidding. This is what has been ordained under the Constitution of the United States by our forebears who, in wisdom, were far-sighted men.

We, the people of the United States, do indeed elect men and women to represent us in Congress but, at the same time, we do not make sure that each member of Congress truly represents his constituents.

The whole system breaks down if the people we send to the halls of Congress fail to understand the wishes of the "folks back home."

Amazingly, it is the complaint of most Congressmen that the average citizen doesn't take the trouble to let his representative know what he thinks or wants.

On the other hand, pressure groups, when an issue is pending, flood Senators and Congressmen with letters, telegrams and telephone calls, most of the messages identical, reflecting the organized form-letter pressure method.

Many, many Senators and Congressmen have said they would rather get a penciled note on a sheet of ten-cent tablet paper than a thousand form letters.

One local Congressman, Hastings Keith (R-Bridgewater) takes the initiative in his own hands. He sends a form letter to his constituents in which he informs them what important issues are in Congress and then solicits the opinion of the voters on specific questions.

In this way, Cong. Keith has guidelines along which he can operate. In this way, he knows how the people who elect him feel. In this way, he has his finger on the political pulse of the people in his district.

There is no question that what Cong. Keith does is very smart politics and he stands to benefit at the polls because of it.

Unfortunately, neither Mr. Keith nor any other Congressman or Senator should have to do such a thing. The voters should let them know how they feel on the issues — issues vital to themselves, their states and to the country.

The best way for the individual John Q. Citizen to make known his feelings is to write a letter.

A letter beats a phone call because it constitutes a written record and requires a written reply. Reaching a member of Congress by telephone is difficult because he spends so much time in sessions and attending committee meetings. He will, however, read and initial nearly every piece of mail.

Don't write a long letter. Make it short and snappy and to the point. Make sure the name and address are legible.

Know your position and back it up with valid reasons.

Don't make threats. They're offensive and ineffective.

A personal letter is better than a form type, or even a petition, as we have pointed out.

However you feel, Congressmen say, please write — and often. They want to hear from you.

If you don't write, then don't go around blaming Congress for what happens. Don't say they're not doing their job when you are not doing yours.

Mary-Martha Chapel Scene Of Pfeiffer-Rogoff Bridal

The Martha-Mary Chapel in Sudbury was the recent setting for the marriage of Miss Marlene E. Rogoff to Charles Andrew Pfeiffer.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Rogoff of 549 Centre street, Newton, and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Kohrman of Chicago, Ill., are the couple's parents. The bridegroom is the son also of the late Dr. Andrew Pfeiffer and the grandson of the late Dr. and Mrs. Andrew S. Pfeiffer.

The Rev. Michael Boardman officiated at the six o'clock double ring ceremony. A reception followed at the Wayside Inn.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a silk matelasse gown designed with an empire bodice and long sleeves.

She wore white daisies in her hair and carried a bouquet of stephanotis with blue daisies.

Mrs. Leonard Rogoff of Watertown, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor, while Miss Susan Klein of Chicago, Ill., was honor maid. The junior bridesmaid was Miss Cathryn Kohrman of Chicago, Ill. Young Maureen Noonan of Natick was flower girl. All the attendants were dressed alike in aqua gowns topped with matching bows.

The best man was Marc Cogan of Chicago, Ill. The ushers included Daniel Kohrman of Chicago, Ill., Leonard Rogoff of Watertown and Samuel Jenkins of St. Paul, Minnesota.

Following a trip to Montreal, Canada, the couple left for Berkeley, Calif., where they will live.

Mrs. Pfeiffer, a graduate of Barnard College, has com-

Bermuda Is Destination Of John Carty And Bride

White roses and mums decorated the altar of St. Philip Neri Church for the recent marriage of Miss Lillian Hodges to John Lydon Carty of Concord.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dean Hodges of 2 Kingston road, Newton. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gerard Carty of Belmont are the groom's parents.

The Rev. James O'Donahue officiated at the one o'clock nuptials which was followed by a reception under a tent in the garden at the home of the bride's parents.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a gown made of Belgium silk faille trimmed with Venice lace. Her empire bodice had bishop's sleeves. The dirndl skirt terminated in a court train.

A full length illusion veil fell from a headpiece made of fresh flowers. She carried her prayer book topped with orchids.

Miss Jean Noel of Newton was honor maid. Her blue dirndl skirted gown was designed with val lace banding on the bodice and cuffs. She wore a wreath of fresh flowers on her head.

Identically attired, the other attendants were Miss Kathryn Hogan and Miss Susan Carty, sister of the groom, both of Belmont; Miss Mary Ellen Eagan of Wellesley Hills, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Marjorie Hodges of Manchester, sister-in-law of the bride.

The best man was Brian Thomas Carty of Belmont. Ushering were Joseph Costello of Concord, William Kyle of Saugus, Stephen Hall of Malden and John Hodges of Manchester, brother of the bride.

For her going away costume, the bride chose a blue and pink and made by Alfred Fianca.

Following a honeymoon in Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Carty will live in Marblehead.

MRS. JOHN L. CARTY

The bride was graduated from Newton Country Day School of the Sacred Heart and Vernon Court Junior College. She belongs to the Ace of Clubs.

The groom is a graduate of Belmont High School and Tufts University. He is systems engineer for IBM. (photo by Bradford Bachrach)

Hallowe'en Fun For All At Memorial

The children of grades 1-8 at Memorial School enjoyed a Halloween Party from 7-8:30 p.m. Room mothers, under the leadership of Edith Cohen and Iris Kingsbury, served ice cream sandwiches and apple cider to the children in their homerooms. There were records, games, stories and songs.

Following this, the children went into the gym to try their skill on three games — a hoop toss, pumpkin throw and slide for apple.

Prizes, secured by Arnie Lezberg, were awarded to the winners. The last event was a movie in the auditorium, "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" and "Laurel and Hardy."

Cal Perry, program chairman, and his committee worked to make this a fun-filled evening for the children.

Last Week To Mail Viet Parcels By Surface Way

Parcels which weigh in excess of 30 pounds being mailed at the inexpensive surface rate, via train to the West Coast and ship to Vietnam, should be deposited at the postoffice not later than November 8th, according to George K. Walker, Officer-in-Charge of the Boston Postal District.

He stated that 5-pound packages known as SAM (Space Available Parcel Air-lift) can be mailed up to November 22nd. These packages travel by train to port of embarkation and air-lifted from that point to overseas destination on a space available basis.

Surface parcel post rates apply within this country and the airlift overseas is without additional cost.

PAL packages (Parcel Air-lift) which consist of packages not to exceed 30 pounds, may be mailed up to November 29th, earlier to Vietnam.

These packages are airlifted on a space available basis from the postoffice where mailed to the military installation overseas.

The cost is $1.00 in addition to the surface parcel post cost to the port of embarkation. Both SAM and PAL packages are limited to 60" minimum.

Regular air parcel post service, with guaranteed priority in air service, permits mailing between December 1 and December 13, the date depending upon location of the serviceman; such as, Asia, Europe, etc.

The full air costs are charged from point of mailing to the port of embarkation in this country.

Packages to civilians in Central and South America and the countries of Europe should be mailed by November 15th. It is already too late for mailing surface parcels to Africa, the Near East and Far East for assured Christmas delivery. However, packages can be sent to these countries by air parcel post up to December 10th.

Dr. Christos Christoforides of Chestnut Hill, a Clinical Fellow in Anaesthesia at B.I. and an Instructor in Anaesthesia at Harvard, discussed "Methods of Oxygen Analysis" at a clinical workshop on the "Evaluation of Respiratory Impairment" which took place yesterday.

Library -

A bronze plaque will be placed in the library wall and a portrait of Mrs. Erskine will be unveiled.

The Newton South High School string orchestra under the direction of Mr. David Levenson will provide a concert. Refreshments will be served in the library.

Mr. C. Wayne Altree, chairman of the Social Studies Departments at both high schools, will be the speaker.

A fund of over $1000 has been collected which is to be used for an annual award to a senior at Newton South High School, a former graduate of Newton South High School, a librarian, a library secretary, or a teacher who is interested in pursuing work in library science.

Friends of Mrs. Erskine have collected this fund which is to be used to honor the memory of a dedicated colleague.

Former servicemen can complete high school under the G.I. Bill and still go on to college or a trade school as a full-time student, according to the Veterans Administration.

Producer Russ Meyer is going ahead with "Beyond the Valley of the Dolls" but with almost an entirely different cast than "Valley of the Dolls," one of 20th Century-Fox's most successful films.

Miss Joan Gordon Becomes Mrs. James Mark Olim

The Blue Hill Country Club was the setting recently for the marriage of Miss Joan Ellen Gordon to James Mark Olim. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gordon of Waban and Mr. and Mrs. James Berger of Newton and the late Mr. Samuel Olim are the couple's parents.

Rabbi Lane officiated at the followed by a reception at the pretty fall bridal, which was club.

The bride's traditional gown marked with jeweled motifs, was designed with a mandarin neckline, long sleeves and a belted waistline.

A matching bow held in place her tiered bouffant illusion veil. She carried a cascade of stephanotis, phalaenopsis and cecilia orchids.

Mrs. Charles Gordon of Sharon was matron of honor. Her orange and gold gown was made of brocade. She carried a bouquet of Birds of Paradise.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Charles Colton and Mrs. Renaud Fine, both of Framingham. They were dressed alike in gold karate princess gowns. Their flowers were French roses.

The best man was Charles Gordon of Sharon. Ushering were Michael Kamens of Watertown, Kenneth Stranger of Randolph, Steve Gordon of Chelsea, Daniel Bloom of Waltham, Stanley Gordon of Boston University and the Lewis School of Hotel and Restaurant Management.

Bermuda was the honeymoon destination of the couple.

MRS. JAMES M. OLIM

who will live in Framingham. The bride attended the University of Buffalo. Mr. Olim is an alumnus of Boston University and the Lewis School of Hotel and Restaurant Management. (photo by the Nourses.)

Candlelight Service Unites Miss Halperin - Mr. Minkin

Mr. and Mrs. Maurice A. Halperin of Newton announce the recent marriage of their daughter, Miss Carol Anne Halperin, to Barry Howard Minkin. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Minkin of Newton.

The 6:30 o'clock candlelight service took place at Temple Mishkan Tefila in Chestnut Hill. Rabbi Israel Kazis officiated, while Cantor Gregor Shelkan assisted.

The bride's traditional gown was made of precious lace on net. Her molded bodice had a high neckline and long petal point sleeves.

A becoming lace headpiece was fastened with her bouffant illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of orchids with stephanotis.

The matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Linda Clouse of Sharon, while Miss Nancy Dean of Washington was honor maid.

Serving as best man was Mark Minkin of Newton, the groom's brother. Barry Halperin, Howard Clouse, Robert Weiner, Barnett Black, James Bohannon, Sgt. James Bonacci, Richard Denziger and Marvin Segal were the ushers.

Following a trip to Aruba, Netherlands Antilles, Mr. and Mrs. Minkin are living in Waltham.

The bride attended George Washington University and Boston University, where she received her B.A. degree.

Mr. Minkin received his degree from the New Hampshire College of Accounting and Commerce.

Miss McNamara, Former Resident Plans Marriage

Of interest here is the announcement from Mr. and Mrs. William P. McNamara of Plandome, N. Y., formerly of Newton Centre, which makes known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Janet Angela McNamara, to Dennis Mark Esposito. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferdinand Esposito of East Meadow and Montauk.

Miss McNamara, who attended Boston State College, is a graduate of Tobe Coburn School for Fashion Careers. Her father is general merchandise manager for Gertz Department Stores, Long Island, a unit of Allied Stores Corporation.

Mr. Esposito attended New York State University at Farmingdale and is now in the real estate business.

An April wedding is planned.

First Child, A Son

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Dovi, Jr. (Carla Sette) of Strawberry Hill street, Dover, are receiving congratulations on the birth of their first child, a son, John Anthony Dovi, 3rd, on November 3rd at the Glover Memorial Hospital. He weighed six pounds, one and one-half ounces upon arrival.

Sharing grandparent honors are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sette of Millis and Mr. and Mrs. John Dovi, Sr., of Dedham. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Picarello of Needham.

Columbus sailed from Palos, Spain, Aug. 3, 1492, on his first voyage to America.

of Hartford, Ct., cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids.

Young Diane Robbins of Boxboro, cousin of the groom, was flower girl. R. David Thompson of Newton Highlands, cousin of the bride, was an acolyte.

David R. Olson of New Canaan Ct., brother of the groom, served as best man. William R. Hunter of Newton, C. Bruce Jones of Jamaica Plain, Jeffrey A. Nims of Sudbury, cousin of the groom, and Joseph Strazzulla of Newtonville were the ushers.

Mrs. Hatch, mother of the bride wore an emerald green full length silk brocade gown with white glamelias. The groom's mother, Mrs. Olson, chose a raspberry sherbert silk shantung empire gown. Her flower were pink glamelias.

After a trip through Vermont and Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Olson are living in Oakdale.

The bride is the granddaughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Charles A. Thompson Sr. She was graduated from Bates College.

Mr. Olson is the grandson of Mrs. Charles H. Hawthorne of Waltham and the late Mr. Charles H. Hawthorne and of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Olson of West Newton. He is a graduate of Northeastern University. (photo by Harvard Studio)

Double Ring Ceremony For Miss Berndt - Mr. Nicolazzo

In St. Andrew's Chapel, Camp O-At-Ka, East Sebago, Me., where the bride's parents were married, Miss Elisabeth Blake Berndt became the bride recently of Richard Edward Nicolazzo.

The Rev. and Mrs. William Gardner Berndt of 280 Concord street, Newton Lower Falls, and Mr. and Mrs. Victor A. Nicolazzo of 50 Fairway drive, West Newton, are the couple's parents.

The Rev. Berndt, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Newton Lower Falls, and the Rev. Robert Carolan of the Catholic Guild for the Blind, officiated at the one o'clock double ring ceremony. A reception was held at the Bungalow, at the Camp.

Given in marriage by her brother, Mr. William G. Berndt Jr., of Chelmsford, the bride's ivory peau de soie A line gown was hand embroidered with seed pearls at the neckline, on the long sleeves and train.

A matching headband held in place her full length illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white roses with miniature carnations.

Mrs. Joel F. Koch of Port Washington, Long Island, was her sister's matron of honor. The bridesmaids included Mrs. Eric Giesler of Norwood, Mrs. Victor A. Nicolazzo Jr., of Newton, sister-in-law of the groom, and Miss Catherine McDonough of Newton. They were dressed alike in fuchsia skirts with white blouses and carried pink nosegays made of roses and carnations.

The flower girl was Kimberley Elizabeth Koch, niece of the bride.

The best man was the groom's brother, Victor A. Nicolazzo of West Newton. The ushers were David Peters of Wellesley, David D. Berndt of Framingham, the bride's brother, and Charles Nicolazzo of Newton, brother of the groom.

After a honeymoon at the New England Inn, Intervale, N.H., Mr. and Mrs. Nicolazzo are living in Newton.

The bride was graduated from Newton High School and

Not every revolution has to explode with thunderous noise. Some achieve the same goals with a quiet, understated form of power, that begins only gradually, but unmistakably.

Boston Hospital for Women's Parkway Division is small (99 beds), deep-rooted (Harvard Medical School affiliation) and specializes in highly personalized patient care (largest unit is 15 beds) in a country surrounding. Our specialty is gynecology.

We're the type of organization that doesn't go in for big headlines. Very quiet. But underneath it all, things are happening. The nurses outlook on nursing is changing, just as the role of the woman in society has changed.

Boston Hospital for Women is delineating a role for itself as that of a complete health center for all women. Treatment is geared to the way the modern woman's role is changing, both as sustainer of the species and as an intrinsic member of modern society.

We are interested in maintaining the physical and emotional health of women, not only in relation to their family, but in relation to society as a whole.

The hospital is coming to be regarded as an entry point in a medical system rather than an end point.

And that, in essence, is the revolution. It's a quiet one, but when you're helping to lead it, it's nice to have a few patriots on your side. If you're a nurse and would like to join, our Parkway Division is a good place to start. Flexible PT schedules are available.

In addition to excellent salaries, B.H.W. offers an excellent salary structure; residencies at extremely minimal cost; 8 week in-service orientation program; 100% tuition assistance; free life insurance; 10 paid holidays and many additional features.

For further information or an appointment, write or call, in strictest confidence, Miss Gail Mallard, at 734-5300, ext. 446.

THE CHAMPIONS — The Newton high school Suburban League Champion Soccer Team ended regular season action with a 9-1 record, defeating Brockton and Brookline last week in the wrap-up. The team opened Eastern Mass. Tourney action earlier this week against Andover. The Tigers' only loss was to Brookline early in the season. But the Champ's made up for the defeat by whipping Brookline in overtime last week. (Photo by Whitehouse Productions)

BREAKING THROUGH—Lion halfback, Dave Leyton, breaks through Leominster line to score in last quarter of Saturday's game at Dickinson stadium. Until the last quarter it looked as if the Lions were going to take a beating, but they surprised everyone and gained all of their 28 points in the last seven minutes of the game, bringing the final score up to 34-28. (Peter Lowy photo)

HITTING THE TURF — Senior defensive specialist Gerry Coleman of the Newton high school football squad is brought down by an eager Medford defender during last week's game which the Tigers won, 35 to 16, to post their fifth victory of the season. Coleman was a key member of last spring's State Champion Golf Team, also coached by football mentor Jim Ronayne. (Photo by Whitehouse Productions)

Tiger Soccer Team Wins Suburban Championship

The Newton High Soccer Team clinched a berth in the State Tourney, their first in five years and also their first Suburban Championship ever as they defeated Brockton and Brookline last week to wrap up their regular season.

On Monday, a combination of a Brookline loss to Medford and a Newton overtime conquest of Brockton gave Newton the tourney bid and the league championship.

Brockton was the only team to beat the Tigers previously but the booters came back to win 1 to 0 on an overtime Tim Tsochandritis goal.

Two minutes into the first of the two five minute overtime periods, Tsochandritis tallied off a corner kick.

For the second time, Newton faced superior goal tending from Brockton. The first time goalie Steve Doherty stopped 22 NHS shots, including two penalty shots and was instrumental in Brockton's 4 to 2 win.

With Doherty hurt, sub Rich Bloomstein filled well and stopped a Newton squad which had averaged over three goals a game. Goalie Elliot Baker stopped nine Brockton shots as compared

Lions Explode In Final Stanza But Lose, 34-28

Newton South High powered ground game. The Lions front four had a quarter scoring explosion, tallying all 28 of its points in the final 15 minutes to briefly overcome a 27-0 Leominster lead, before succumbing, 34-28, last Saturday, at Dickinson Stadium.

The visitors built up their fat lead with a consistent and Fullback Mike Butts dove in from the one for six points. The Newton scoring came to a close in the early minutes of the final quarter on a Brian Keefe keeper. Medford also scored in the last period on an Aquino to Mootry 43 yard aerial. Aquino ran for the two points.

The win brought Newton's record to 5 and 1 and Medford's slate to 4 and 2. The win also broke a series tie between the schools that started back in 1919 with a Newton victory.

Newton returns to Dickinson Stadium this Saturday to face Boston Latin. Although the Boston school doesn't seem to be on a par with Newton they gave last year's Class A champs a tough 6 to 0 game.

Tigers Sock Rockets 26-0 In Sunday Tilt

The Newton Tigers put it all together at Needham High School Sunday to defeat the Needham Rockets by a score of 26-0.

Scatback John Vizakis opened the scoring in the first period by jaunting 21 yards for a touchdown. That was all the scoring in the first half.

There was no scoring in the third period despite the fine running of Kevin Hoban and David Kelley. The Tigers then erupted for 20 fourth period points.

The scoring was opened when tackle Jon Donlon tackled the quarterback in the end zone for two points. John Vizakis with the aid of a Greg Moan block ran the ensuing kickoff back 48 yards to the Needham four. Two plays later quarterback Bob Kinsella hit end Dana Foley for a touchdown making the score 14-0. The points failed.

After Newton got the ball back on downs, halfback Dave Kelly went off tackle 20 yard for another score. The final touchdown came on a Bob Kinsella pass to Kevin Hoban which covered 40 yards.

The alert Tiger defense picked off five Needham passes. Hoban, Vizakis and Greg Moan picked off a pass apiece while middle linebacker Matt Sabetti picked off two giving him three in two games.

The Junior Midget Lions lost to Needham 18-0. Standouts for Newton were Pete Arnold and Dave Proia.

Next in the contests the Newton teams will host the Hyde Park Mustangs at Newton Highlands Playground starting at 1:30 p.m.

Brockton Wins Division Crown

Undeclared Suburban League champion and Catholic Memorial Invitational titlist Brockton High, added another championship to its collection, last week, capturing the state Division I crown over Franklin Park, Roxbury's 2.5 mile course.

The three-time defending New England champs destroyed all competition with a low of 37. The Shoe Citizens were paced by Mike Bessette, fourth, Everett Hayward, sixth, Gene O'Connell, seventh, Steve Silverman, 10th, and Bob Boen, 11th. Division I's individual winner was Paul Keating of Needham in record time of 13:20.

Newton High was fifth in the team competition with 144 points. Captain Doug Tomb improved his 1968 10th place finish to sixth, while junior Jay Sidman was also a medalist in ninth. Newton South High did not enter a team.

Catholic Memorial's Ed Fleming led the way in Division II, also in record time of 13:20, but Wachusett Regional upended three-time defender Memorial, 41 to 83.

Al Joseph of Lynn Classical, whose brother Larry is a star harrier for Northeastern University, crossed the finish line in 13:41 to take Division II honors with only non-record time. Barnstable repeated as class champion.

Bill Rowe of Algonquin cracked the Division IV standard with a 13:26 timing, but Dennis-Yarmouth withstood all challengers for the second year in a row, totaling the day's lowest score of 33.

With Charley Maguire shattering the Division V and course record with a 12:54 clocking, Foxboro (44) retained its title laurels in the closest race of the day, fighting off St. Mary's of Lynn (60) and Ashland (89).

Apponequet captured Division VI despite a record-breaking performance by Dom Savio's Jim Cappezzo. The Apponequet squad consisted of the curious combination of one junior, three freshmen, and an eighth grader.

The top three teams in each Division, plus the top five placing runners in each Division not one of those teams, move on to the all-state meet.

Alumnae Dinner

Mrs. Walter Hill of Waban was among those who attended a dinner Tuesday evening at the Museum of Science in Boston by the alumnae of Simmons College. The school's $6.75 million capital development program for the construction of a Science Center, was launched with this event.

Mrs. Hill is a campaign worker from the Newton area.

The previous high was in a 27-20 loss to Cambridge Latin. Staulo is South's leading scorer with five touchdowns for 30 points. Virgilio is next with 22 points.

South will be chasing its first win of 1969 against Rindge Tech, this Saturday.

The great hit of the late 30's is being Directed by Tink Rogers, known, until now, in this area for her acting ability more than as a director. Marnie & Russ MacClure are this years producers, and they have surrounded themselves with many new faces to go with the "Old Standbys". Old club and area favorites have taken roles in this delightful, comedy. Favorites like Betty Schuff, D.J. Bailey, Jane Sullivan, Pat Woodward, Bud Lapham, Milt Copp & Russ MacClure. The MacClures have also brought back two newcomers from last year, Ron Brinn & Jack Kavanaugh plus two favorites that have been away too long, Shirley Fitzgerald & Sue Malloy. The newcomers are George Jones, Pat Higgins, Jackie & Herb Melly, Ernie Berry, Dick Holmes & Paul Masse. Back stage it is again a mixture of the old and the new, Rec Rogers returns as both set designer and Lighting man, Walter Stone handles the Sound & SAM COOPER is again the Stage Manager. Marnie MacClure has taken over the Set Decoration and Janet Holmes and Barbara Barry are doing the Hand Props, while Shirley McGaw is doing Costumes & Betty Ewers the make-up. The producers hope to come up with another family show for their spring production, and they also intend to continue the present schedule of two weekends.

WOMEN VOTERS LAUNCH DRIVE—Mayor Monte G. Basbas is shown as he congratulated Mrs. F. Women Voters Zoning Committee Unit Meetings Start November 12

The Zoning Committee of the League of Women Voters of Newton will hold public hearings at unit meetings on November 12, 13, and 14. Residents are asked to come to the hearing and find out what zoning is all about and how zoning works in the Newton community. Those attending are asked to discuss the concepts inherent within the ordinance, what is allowable and what is not, the various boards involved in administering the ordinance and the relationship between them, and the enforcement of the zoning ordinance. Then participants can see where the strengths and weaknesses lie, determine if there is a need for a change and in what areas, and evaluate how zoning can and does affect the present and future development of Newton. Resource committee members are Mrs. Joseph Apfelbaum, chairman; Mrs. Joseph A. Alexander, vice-chairman, Mrs. Leon Barron; Mrs. Charles W. Bates; Mrs. Solomon Fleishman; Mrs. Stephen Goldfinger; Mrs. Arno H. Heyn; Mrs. David W. Jackson; Mrs. Blair C. Shick; and Mrs. Samuel Waldstein.

The schedule of unit meetings, to which guests are cordially invited, follows: Morning meetings are from 9:30 to 11:15, luncheon meeting is from 11:30 to 2:00, and evening meetings are from 8:00 to 9:45. Wednesday morning, November 12, at the home of Mrs. Peter Morehouse, 5 Cochituate Road, Newton Highlands (A babysitter will be in attendance). Wednesday luncheon at the home of Mrs. Roy Green, 28 Lenox Street, West Newton (Bring a sandwich; coffee will be provided). Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Robert Dinsmore, 9 Crescent Avenue, Newton Centre. Thursday morning, November 13, at the Newton Highlands Workshop, 72 Columbus Street, Newton Highlands. Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Allan Mann, 26 Merrill Road, Newton Centre. Friday morning, November 14, at the Auburndale Congregational Church, 64 Hancock Street, Auburndale (A babysitter will be in attendance).

Tomb Captures Individual Suburban League Laurels

Newton High Captain Doug Tomb captured individual Suburban League laurels for the second consecutive year, smashing his own Newton home 2.6 mile course record in 13:01, last week.

Tomb, Mike Bessette of Brockton, third in the race in 13:12, and Ron Wayne, a former Brockton harrier, shared the old record of 13:10.

Jay Sidman, also of Newton, was under the old mark in 13:03, romping home second after a fifth place finish in Brockton, however, defending everything champ, including the Catholic Memorial, state and New England titles, was an easy victor with 29 points. Newton was second with 47.

Newton South High, led by junior Chuck Pottey's 21st place, was sixth in the nine-team race with 176 points. The Lions topped Brookline, 190, Cambridge Latin, 207, and Rindge Tech, 234, the same teams they registered their dual meet wins over.

Pottey covered the course in 14:15. Dick Dickinson, 36th in 14:52, Dave Glaser, 39th in 15:07, Mike LeBlanc, 42nd in 15:11, and Matt Williams, 43rd in 15:15 rounded out the Newton South placers.

The Lions were sixth in the JV competition with 227 points, also won by Brockton, with 23 points.

It had been frustrating. Five consecutive meetings between Newton's Doug Tomb and Brockton's Mike Bessette had gone the Shoe City's way. Three times in the mile last spring and twice in cross country this fall Tomb had been beaten.

Finally last Tuesday Tomb whipped Bessette, probably when it counted most, as the long haired, bespectacled Newton senior captain captured league laurels for the second year in a row.

Jay Sidman, a Newton junior kicked by Bessette with 500 yards left to finish second, a scant three seconds behind Tomb and eight seconds in front of the visibly worn Bessette.

Brockton won the team race with a score of 29 and Newton was runner up with 47 points. Aside from Bessette's third, Brockton took fourth, sixth, seventh, ninth, eleventh and thirteenth to win the team title with their great depth.

Others placing for Newton was done by Mike O'Brien in tenth, Dave Blake fifteenth and Jim Boates in the 20th slot. Steve Caggiano in 22nd.

The winning time of 13:01 was nine seconds under the course record. However, the course had been altered some what but Newton Coach Bailey maintained that the new course was exactly the same distance as the previous standard dual meet course.

Bessette, a junior went out fast as Tomb and Sidman bid their time back in the pack. The second time around the 2.6 mile course, about a mile from the finish, Tomb passed Bessette and, although Bessette hung close, he was definitely out of it, as Sidman showed when he passed Bessette with 500 yards left and got little response from the hard kicking Brockton harrier.

Brockton also captured the Junior Varsity Race by way of taking the first three places Ed Coan, a Newton junior finished fourth.

Saturday Brockton as a team and Jay Sidman as an individual qualifier will go to the State Meet. Tomb also qualified for the meet but will be unable to attend due to SAT's.

Miss Fahy, Retiring Principal Honored At Countryside School

Miss Anne Fahy, Principal of Countryside School, Newton Highlands, from 1955 to 1969, was honored on her retirement by the Countryside school community at a PTA meeting on Wednesday evening, October 22.

Miss Fahy received a watch as a personal gift from the PTA before her departure in June, but the entire school family wanted to honor her further with a public expression of respect and appreciation.

Presentation of a Stereo sound and tape recorder to the school in Miss Fahy's honor was made by Mr. Harold Garber, immediate past president of the PTA. Money for this gift was raised at a fair held last spring on the school grounds.

This form of appreciation to Miss Fahy is especially appropriate since her professional life has centered about improving the quality of educational experience for her pupils.

During her years at Countryside School, a fine library has developed in cooperation with the PTA Cooperative teaching in the upper grades room was opened. Plans were started for a math lab. All these and other innovations were based upon a teaching staff fully involved in planning and implementation. Countryside School was one of the first schools to receive Metco children and, as a result of Miss Fahy's deep concern and expenditure of time and thought, both Boston and Newton children have had a particularly good experience.

Miss Fahy joined the Newton Schools in 1930 as a fourth grade teacher. She attended Lowell State College and received her B.S. and Ed.M. from Boston University. She continued her professional growth with advanced studies at both Tufts and Boston Universities.

As her experience in the classroom widened, Miss Fahy was able to contribute to the professional growth of other educators. Connected with Boston University in the teacher training program, she supervised student teachers. She was active in corrective reading work and was Associate Director of the Tufts University Educational Clinic for many years.

Dr. Sasahara Chaired Symposium Of 300 Medical Men In Boston

As General Chairman of the Symposium, Dr. Arthur A. Sasahara of West Newton, recently brought together over 300 physicians, physiologists and physical educators from all over the United States and abroad. The symposium, "Exercise and the Heart" was sponsored by the Greater Boston Chapter of the Mass. Heart Association and the New England Area Council of YMCAs.

Dr. Sasahara, Assistant Professor of Medicine at Harvard Medical School, was in charge of co-ordinating all speeches and workshops, and of organizing the program so that the various health and physical fitness professionals would find maximum opportunity to exchange ideas.

The conference was held at the Sheraton-Boston Hotel and emphasized the relationship of exercise and the feeling of well-being, and sought to give minimum exercise guidelines for physical fitness programs to physicians and physical educators.

It also defined when physicians should prescribe exercise for the prevention of coronary heart disease and post-coronary conditioning.

"The point of the conference was to bring together these varied groups of people who are concerned with exercise programs," Dr. Sasahara said.

"Through the exchange that took place and the publication of the proposed guidelines for exercise programs we hope to correct many popular misconceptions about exercise and to eventually guide people into the proper exercise for them."

He has also been active in the Heart Association for many years and currently is chairman of the Community Program Council for the Greater Boston Chapter. He is director of the Cardiopulmonary Laboratory and assistant chief of the medical service of the VA Hospital in West Roxbury.

He is a member of the American Federation for Clinical Research, the Society of Nuclear Medicine, the New England Cardiovascular Society, and a Fellow of the American College of Physicians and of the American College of Cardiology. He lives with his wife and five children at 221 Mount Vernon Street.

Beloit College Deans' Scholarship List

Three Newton students have been named to the Dean's Scholarship list for the summer 1969 term at Beloit College in Beloit, Wis.

They are Robert H.M. Young Jr., son of Mrs. Gloria Tenney of 30 Cedar road, Chestnut Hill; Margaret Mary Brown, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. Thomas N. Brown of 567 Walnut street, Newton; and Mark L. Friedell, son of Dr. and Mrs. Gilbert H. Friedell of 122 Temple street, West Newton.

was developed. A ceramic Miss Fahy also has authored professional educational material, which include a teaching guide to Meet Our Friends, a second reader published by Bobbs-Merrill and "Beginning Teacher's Conference," an article in the "Massachusetts Teacher" and in "Educational Horizons," the Pi Lambda Theta magazine.

A member of Pi Lambda Theta, the National Honor Society for women in Education, Miss Fahy served as president of Alpha Gamma Chapter (B.U.). She is active in other professional organizations, including the American Society for Curriculum Development, National Education Association, The New England Reading Association and the National Association of Remedial Teachers.

Miss Fahy's immediate plans include extensive travel. Conducting their first meeting as co-president of the PTA were Mr. and Mrs. Leon Freeman. Following the business meeting and presentation of Miss Fahy's gift, classrooms and the PTA Book Fair were open for parent visits.

Then a coffee hour and reception for Miss Fahy took place. Mr. Merton Tefft, Jr., is the new principal of Countryside School. Formerly principal of the Williams School, Abundale, Mr. Tefft recently returned from two years of teaching in Nigeria.

The Newton Group of Hadassah will hold its next meeting at the Chestnut Hill Country Club, on Wednesday, November 12th. The program will consist of a Coffee Hour beginning 12:30 and will be highlighted by two guest speakers, Mrs. J. Chester Webb, faculty member of Lasell Junior College, Administrator of Learning Disabilities Program at Curry College and elected member of the City of Waltham School Board. Also, Rabbi Gerald B. Zelemeyer, dynamic, young spiritual leader of Temple Beth El, Mattapan, who is deeply involved in contemporary urban problems.

The hostesses will be: Mrs. Robert R. Suchman, Group Donor Luncheon Chairman, Mrs. Albert Ober, Health Shares Chairman and Mrs. Abraham Ross, Jewels Chairman. The invocation will be given by Mrs. Sumner Rosenberg. Mrs. Mordecai Shore will report on American-Zionist Affairs. The meeting will be presided by the Newton Group's President, Mrs. Sol Chipman.

Traffic Engineer Need Stressed By Alderman

Following recommendations Wilbur Smith survey of traffic problems in several key areas of the city is "a distressing report for several reasons. Technically, it is a sloppy job. More important it is a document that elevates cars above people and represents piecemeal patchwork solutions to problems," he declared.

Small claimed that the report bears a 1968 date, but it wasn't until this past week that he received a copy. However, Acting Aldermanic Street Traffic Committee Chairman Andrew J. Magni said the report is not yet complete.

Alderman Franklin N. bag island at the junction of Union and Beacon Sts. A narrow island will also be created on Beacon St. at Centre St.

Braeland Ave. will carry two way traffic between Herrick Rd. and Cypress St. and will be one-way from Herrick Rd. to Langeley Rd. There will be no parking allowed on the two way area of Braeland Ave.

In another matter dealing with traffic the board voted currently prohibited, from to bar heavy trucks of more than five tons from Crescent St. in West Newton.

Wallis Promoted At N.E. Mutual

Charles T. Wallis of 53 Kilburn Road, West Newton, has been appointed an internal auditor in the home office audit department of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Co. of Boston.

A member of the Greater Boston Junior Chamber of Commerce and a graduate of the University of Massachusetts, Wallis joined New England Life in 1967. He is a veteran having served with the U.S. Army from 1961 to 1964.

Auction Planned By B'nai B'rith Girls Nov. 16th

The J.F.K. B'nai B'rith girls of Newton are planning to sponsor an Indian child through the Save The Children Federation. Through this plan food, medicine and education will be provided for a needy child.

To earn money for this project, the Chapter is holding an auction on Sunday (Nov. 16) at 132 Country Club Road in Newton Centre.

Individuals and businesses are solicited for donations and are asked to call 332-5437 for pickup. The public is invited to attend and assist the girls in this most worthy project.

Newton Chap. GBARC To Have Art Auction At Meadowbrook JH

The Newton Chapter of the Greater Boston Association for Retarded Children is presenting at auction a magnificent collection of original oil paintings and limited edition lithographs by the masters on Saturday (Nov. 15) at the Meadowbrook Junior High School in Newton Centre.

The staff of Clarendon House in the heart of Newbury Street's "Gallery Row" is combining forces with Newton's Association for the Retarded in this fund-raiser.

The collection will be on exhibition from 7 p.m. and the auctioneer's gavel will begin promptly at 8:30 p.m.

Arrangements for the entire affair are by Mrs. Harvey Chansky, Newton Chapter Chairman, assisted by Mrs. Moselio Schaechter and Mrs. Gerald Shaffet. A door prize will be awarded and sherry will be served during the exhibition.

For ticket information call Mrs. Harvey Chansky, B14-7310 or the office of GBARC, C06-4520.

Guests are invited to come early to inspect the offerings, study the biographies of the artists and question gallery personnel about the works of art being offered. Each guest is given a catalog marked with a "bid number", which is the number the winning bidder will give to the auctioneer. During the exhibition, guests may mark their catalogs to indicate possible interest in particular selections so

Lions Romp Over Cambridge, 6-0 For 1st Victory

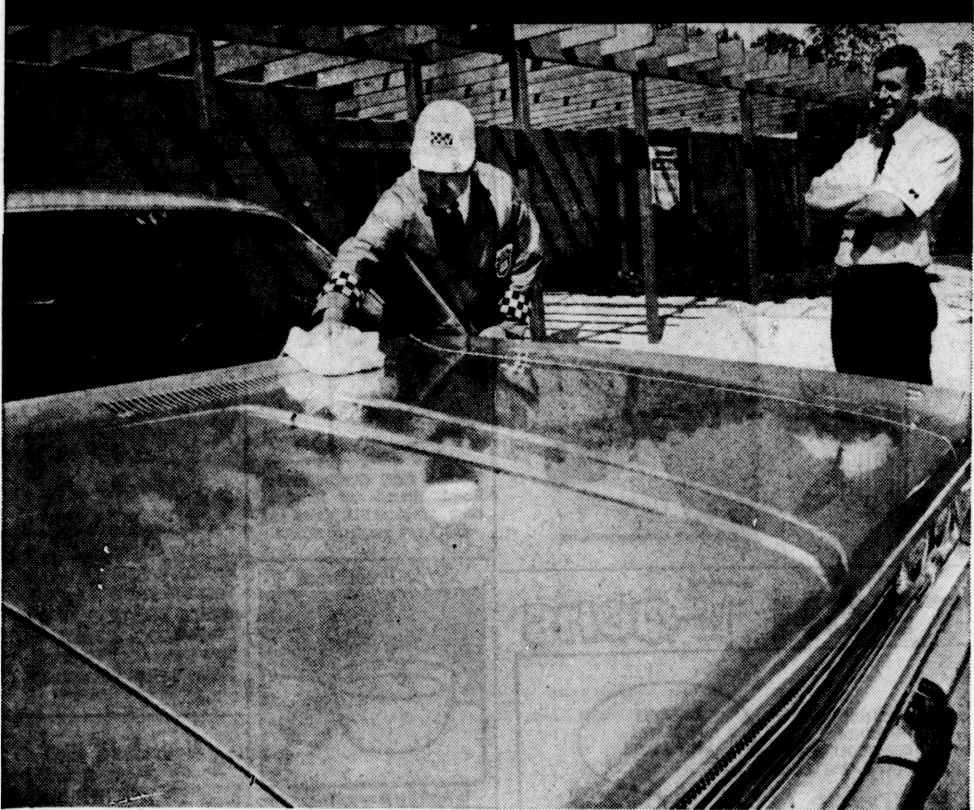

Captain Mark Young booted three goals to up his Newton South team-leading total to six and pace the Lions to a 6-0 soccer romp over Cambridge Latin to end a five-game losing streak, last week.

Young had ample offensive support as Eric Schwam, Roger Seletsky, and Nat Kaitz each blasted a goal. Seletsky and Kaitz were notching their second tallies and Schwam his first.

Dave Cohen had six saves, a very quiet day, in the Lion nets in registering his first shut-out. This marks the second time in 1969 South has topped the Cantabs.

Cohen came back against league runner-up Medford in the season's finale to make 19

Book Fair By Carr PTA Nov. 12

The Carr School PTA announces its annual Open House and Book Fair for Wednesday, November 12, 7:30 p.m., at the Newtonville elementary school.

In addition to informal welcoming talks by School Principal Joseph A. Gattuso and PTA Co-Presidents Mr. and Mrs. Martin Goldenberg, the evening will feature the opportunity for parents to purchase books for all age groups.

Mrs. Martin Karas, Book Fair Chairman, says books range in character from funny to profound, from easy to challenging — yet all are reasonably priced.

Parents will then browse through classrooms, meeting with Carr School teachers. Among those planning to attend are: Mrs. Bard and Mrs. Jedlicka, kindergarten; Mrs. Warner and Miss Parsons, grade 1; Mrs. Black and Mrs.

Walsh, grade 2; Miss Townley and Mrs. Rogers, grade 3; Miss Weissman and Mr. Dabrio, grade 4; Mrs. Cronin and Miss Webber, grade 5; Mr. Drury and Miss Carmola, grade 6; also special teachers Miss Rome, Mrs. Cahill, Miss Smith, Mrs. Cotmore, Mrs. Getzfred; and staff members Mrs. Paoletti, Mr. Troy and Mr. Robards.

Congregational Women's Ass'n Met Yesterday

An illustrated lecture "The Rise and Fall of the Shakers" was given yesterday afternoon to the Women's Association of Central Congregational Church in Newtonville by Dr. C. Allyn Russell, Professor of Religion in the College of Liberal Arts of Boston University.

Luncheon was served under the direction of Mrs. George O. Bagnall with Mrs. Amos L. Hall in charge of the dining room and Mrs. George Rowlings arranging the decorations.

Chairman of the month, Mrs. Robert L. Monroe presided at the business meeting that followed the luncheon.

78th Annual Bazaar Planned By Baptist Women Nov. 13th

The 78th annual Bazaar and Donation Day sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the Baptist Home of Massachusetts, will be held at the Home, 66 Commonwealth Avenue, Chestnut Hill, on Thursday, Nov. 13, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

More than a thousand members and friends, representing some 150 churches will take part in the day-long event which will include two luncheons served at 12 noon and 1:15 o'clock. The luncheons will feature a full-course turkey dinner with all the fixin's as an extra feature to raise funds for the Home program.

The Home, one of the first and largest of its kind in the state, has a family of more than 130 members, ranging in ages from 65 to 100 years. The big Bazaar will feature nearly twenty special tables.

Co-chairmen of the annual event are Mrs. Wallace Morse of Newton Centre, in charge of the dinners, and Mrs. Kenneth Draper of Lexington, who will supervise the other phases of the program.

Women from various churches across the state will bring annual donation of special foods.

The women of the Home will serve afternoon tea from 2-4 p.m., with Mrs. Leland Maxfield of Newton, in charge.

Evening in Italy At Temple Nov. 8

On Saturday, November 8, the Brotherhood of Temple Reyim will sponsor an evening featuring a full course Italian dinner catered by Gilbert & Davis, at 8 p.m.

Continuing the dinner theme of "An Evening in Italy" will be Jerry Benard and his six piece orchestra.

For reservations call either Saul Spitzberg at 969-4863 or Lou Tobin at 235-6786.

The first woman member of Congress to represent the United States in the United Nations was Frances P. Bolton of Ohio. She also was the first congresswoman elected from the state.

Paul W. Blazar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard A. Blazar of 67 Sheffield Road, Newton, a graduate of the Newton High School, is a candidate for the bachelor of arts degree.

Martin David Snider, son of Prof. and Mrs. Gordon L. Snider of 24 Holly Road, Waban. A graduate of Newton South High School, he is a candidate for the bachelor of science degree in Biology.

A man's alimentary canal is from 25 to 30 feet long.

Lee Loumos Says:

Every so often I like to determine just how much readership and selling impact this humble column has. This year I am trying something new and very special. For this week only I am offering (and publicising only here-in) my entire stock of new Thomas Organs at prices ranging from $100.00 to $500.00 off their regular low selling prices! So if you are contemplating the purchase of an organ (and every one should at these prices) here is your one chance for big savings, timed beautifully just before the Christmas Season. Remember, you must come in and mention this column to claim the special low prices.

Evans, Third Mayoralty Candidate, Seen As Aid To Basbas

Automatic voting machines were used Tuesday for the first time in a Newton election, but it was still after 1 a.m. on Wednesday morning before all the returns had been tabulated.

Newton voters recorded themselves overwhelmingly in favor of setting up a Charter Commission to recommend changes in the structure of the city government.

The vote was 13,510 in favor of creating a Charter Commission and 2802 against it.

The nine persons elected to the Charter Commission and the vote totals they received were:

Former School Committee
Chairman Haskell C. Freeman 9729, civic leader Jerome Grossman 9358, ex-Representative Joseph G. Bradley 9260, Alderman-elect Peter F. Harrington 9142, Alderman Adelaide B. Ball 9124, Representative-Alderman H. James Shea, Jr., 8384; Anthony J. Medaglia, Jr., 7657, School Committee Alvin Mandell 7657 (Medaglia and Mandell were tied, and Mrs. Florence R. Rubin 7262.

Richard G. Mintz, who was just nosed out for a place on the Charter Commission, polled 7258 votes, finishing only 14 votes behind Mrs. Rubin.

The totals then dropped down to 5834 for Attorney Champe A. Fisher, 5761 for former Alderman Hirsch Sharf and 5694 for former Alderman Ernest G. Angvine.

Vote totals for the other unsuccessful candidates for the Charter Commission may be found in the Graphic election tabulation.

Ward Alderman Matthew Jefferson, only black member of the Aldermanic Board, was successful in his bid for election as Alderman-at-Large from Ward 3.

Jefferson topped the four candidate field, polling 11,554 votes as compared to 10,192 for Alderman Robert Tennant, who was reelected. Totals for the two unsuccessful candidates were 5800 for Richard Costello and 4473 for Robert P. Freeto.

Eleanor S. Rosenblum won the School Committee post from Ward 2 which Mrs. Norma W. Mintz is relinquishing. Mrs. Rosenblum polled 10,104 votes to 6814 for John T. Evans.

School Committeemen Francis P. Frazier of Ward 1, Edwin Hawkrig of Ward 5 and Vincent P. Stanton of Ward 7 were reelected without opposition. Herbert F. Regal also was unopposed for election to the Ward 6 School Board seat from which Professor Harold J. Berman resigned some weeks ago. The totals of the complimentary votes they received will be found in the election tab starting on page 1.

Aldermen Joseph W. McDonnell and Adelaide B. Ball won reelection as Aldermen-at-Large from Ward 1, polling 13,119 and 11,229 votes respectively while James R. Burke, their only challenger, drew 8427 votes.

Democrat Peter F. Harrington won the seat as Alderman-at-Large from Ward 2 from which Alderman Winslow C. Auryansen is retiring at the end of the year. Alderman William H. Wolf was reelected.

Harrington topped the ticket with 10,435 votes while Wolf polled 9075 votes. The two runners-up were Wignior A. Pierson with 7132 and T. Burke with 6895.

Michael Lipof captured the seat as Alderman-at-Large from Ward 6 from which William L. Bruce is retiring. Alderman Sidney T. Small was easily reelected from that ward.

The vote totals were 14,282 for Small, 9340 for Lipof and 6192 for Stephen S. Mandile.

Harry H. Crosby made a strong run to win the place as Alderman-at-Large from Ward 7 which Alderman William E. Hopkins is giving up. Alderman Jason Sacks was reelected. Ronald S. Wilson and George W. Lowell were defeated.

Crosby, a Democrat, ran first with 10,134 votes. Sacks was second with 9025. Then came Wilson with 5978 and Lowell with 4844.

Aldermen-at-Large Louis I. Egelson, Jr., and David W. Jackson from Ward 4, Franklin N. Flachsner and Harry L. Walen from Ward 5 and Wendell R. Bauckman and Eliot K. Cohen from Ward 8 were reelected without opposition. Their vote totals will be found in the election tab.

Thomas B. Concannon, Jr., a Democrat, won the seat George L. Hicks is relinquishing as Ward Alderman from Ward 2.

Concannon polled 1490 votes compared to 755 for Peter E. Ryan.

Richard J. Bullwinkle apparently nosed out Charles E. Aucoin by a scant 32 votes in their spectacular struggle to succeed Alderman Matthew Jefferson as Ward Alderman from Ward 3. (Jefferson moved up to win election as Alderman-at-Large.)

Bullwinkle polled 1415 votes and Aucoin 1383. A recount probably will be made of the votes cast in that contest.

Arthur H. Sullivan won an eight-candidate scramble for the position as Ward Alderman from Ward 4 which Alderman William Matthews is giving up.

Ward Alderman Edward C. Uehlein of Ward 5 easily beat back a challenge by Nicholas Bibbo, Jr. Uehlein polled 2176 votes and Bibbo 718.

Ward Alderman Alan S. Barkin won out over Judith R. Shapiro after a hard fight in Ward 8, where the totals were 1849 for Barkin and 1433 for Miss Shapiro.

Andrew J. Magni was reelected Ward Alderman from Ward 6, and former Alderman William Carmen was unopposed for election to the post as Ward Alderman from Ward 7 from which Alderman H. James Shea, Jr., is retiring at the end of the year.

He also served for a number of years on the National Joint Board for Settlement of Jurisdictional Disputes. Stevens resides in Newtonville.

Board -

Its membership includes representatives of management, labor and Government, under the chairmanship of Labor Secretary George P. Shultz.

Stevens is a former personnel manager for Stone & Webster with labor-relations responsibilities, and he is a former member of the National Constructors Association's labor relations committee.

He also served for a number of years on the National Joint Board for Settlement of Jurisdictional Disputes. Stevens resides in Newtonville.

Tobago and tobacco

Tobago's name is a corruption of the word tobacco. One version of its origin is that Spanish explorers found Indians growing tobacco on the island and another is that the island is shaped like a typical Indian pipe.

Recent Deaths

Jerome A. Stylos

Funeral services were held at St. Ignatius Church, Chestnut Hill, Tuesday for Jerome A. Stylos, 19, of 60 Montvale rd., Newton Centre, who died Friday in Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

The youth died of injuries received Oct. 25 when he was struck by an auto as he got out of his car on Washington st., Newtonville, about 9 p.m. The son of Paul and Romona (Layne) Stylos, he was a 1969 graduate of Newton High School, where he belonged to Newman House. He had been attending Cape Cod Community College.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by three brothers, Steven, Scott and Mark and three sisters, Paula, Mona and Athena. Interment was in Newton Cemetery.

Antonio Zagame

Funeral services for Antonio Zagame, of 371 Cherry St., West Newton, were held last Monday with a solemn Mass of requiem at Sacred Heart Church, Waltham.

Zagame, 58, died Thursday, October 30, at Waltham Hospital following a brief illness.

A resident of Newton the past five months, he had moved there from Waltham where he lived for 20 years. A construction worker, he was born in Filicudi, Italy. He is survived by his wife, Rose (Taranto), a son, Anthony, of Waltham, and four grandchildren.

Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Maria N. Patriarca

A resident of Newton for the past 60 years, Mrs. Maria N. (Persico) Patriarca, of 62 Cook street, Newton, died Wednesday, Oct. 29, at her home at the age of 77.

She was born in Italy and was the widow of Louis Patriarca, who died in 1964. She was active with the Sons of Italy, St. Anthony's Society and the Ladies Sodality of Our Lady's Church.

Surviving are five sons, Bernard Patriarca, Samuel, and Dominic, all of Newton; John Patriarca of Needham and Raymond Patriarca of Waltham; six daughters, Mrs. Lincoln Grant, Mrs. Edward Jackson, Mrs. Francis Umbrello, Mrs. Edwin Denty, all of Newton; Mrs. Anthony Azzalini and Mrs. Joseph Paolletti, both of Waltham.

Also, one brother, Pasquale Persico of West Newton; one sister, Mrs. Frank Sinelli of Newton; 42 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. Funeral services for Mrs. Patriarca were held Saturday with a blessing in the Church of Our Lady at 10 a.m. A solemn requiem burial Mass was held at 10 a.m. Monday.

Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

All Are Welcome At Mental Health Group Meeting

The annual meeting of the Newton Mental Health Assoc., Inc. to be held on Thursday, November 13, at 8 p.m. at the Newton Mental Health Center, 393 Walnut street, Newtonville, will be open to the public in order to keep the community informed of the many services rendered by the Newton Mental Health Center and the proposals for expanded programs.

In addition to the election of officers and the Annual Report of the President John W. Corcoran, Dr. Haskell Cohen, Chief Psychologist of the Newton Mental Health Center, and Dr. Clarence Truedell, principal of the Burr School, will present a full report on the Burr School Project. Dr. William E. Stone, Director of the Newton Mental Health Center, will discuss the voluntary tutorial programs, the lecture series on "Adolescent Problems" at Newton Jr. College, university affiliations, the Nursery School for Retarded Children, the new Adult Out-Patient Clinic, and the projected plans for the Newton-Wellesley Area Program.

Dental and Medical Care in the U.S.S.R."

A member of the Massachusetts Board of Dental Examiners, he is on leave of absence as Professor of Preventive Dentistry at the Boston University School of Graduate Dentistry, and is dental consultant to the Boston V.A. Hospital and the towns of Brookline and Newton.

Dr. Maloof's lecture was particularly timely in view of the increasing concern in the United States over the rising cost of medical services and talk of a National Health Program.

Dr. Frederick Parker, Jr.

Frederic "Ted" Parker, Jr., M.D. of Newton Centre, a distinguished diagnostic pathologist at Harvard and former pathologist-in-chief at the Boston City Hospital's Mallory Institute of Pathology died suddenly, Saturday, Oct. 25. Dr. Parker was 79.

He is survived by his wife, the former Marie Custler, and a sister, Mrs. Henry P. King of Manchester, Massachusetts.

A graduate of Harvard College - he completed his A.B. degree in three years in 1913 - and then Harvard Medical School (M.D., cum laude, 1916). Dr. Parker was noted for his brilliant work on diseases of the lymphoid and Hodgkins disease. He collaborated with the late Dr. Soma Weiss, Hersey Professor of the Theory and Practice of Physics at Harvard, on the problem of changes in the lung associated with rheumatic heart disease.

After graduation from the medical school, Dr. Parker spent six months at the Boston City Hospital as Second Assistant in Pathology, interned briefly in medicine at the Peter Bent Brigham Hospital, and returned to the Boston City Hospital for a year as First Assistant in Pathology. His work was interrupted by World War I, in which he served as First Lieutenant in the Army Medical Corps. He spent the years 1920 to 1923 at Columbia University College of Physicians and Surgeons in the Bacteriology Department, returning to Boston in August, 1923 as Assistant Professor of Pathology at Harvard and Assistant Pathologist under Dr. Frank B. Mallory at the Boston City Hospital.

He was promoted to Associate Professor of Pathology at Harvard in 1934 and served the School in that capacity until his retirement. Dr. Parker was especially noted for his teaching activities involving small groups of students, house officers and post-doctoral fellows at the Hospital.

Solons Invited To Talk To Viet Moratorium Gp

Congressman Philip Philip has been invited to attend a public hearing next Thursday evening (Nov. 13) on ways of achieving peace in Vietnam by the Vietnam Moratorium Committee.

All State Senators, State Representatives, Mayors, Selectmen, and other dignitaries from the District are being invited to attend and hear their constituents speak out on the most important issue facing our country today. The focal point of the hearing will be Congressman Philip, since he is not only the District's sole Representative in Congress, but also the ranking member of the House Armed Services Committee.

The Fitchburg-Leominster area has been selected for this hearing because of its central location. Buses are being made available to take voters from distant communities such as Watertown, Newton, Waltham, and Concord to the Fitchburg public hearing. This hearing is designed to get the broadest possible public participation in the political process during the November Vietnam Moratorium.

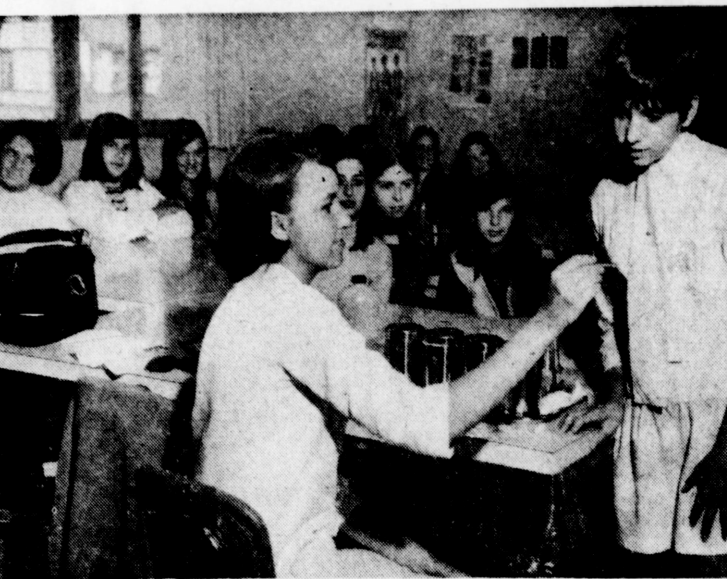

For further information call 244-2398 or 547-2353.

Circle Florence Crit'nton League

A meeting of members of the Newton Circle of the Florence Crittenton League will be held on Monday, Nov. 10 at the home of Mrs. Edward B. Farmer at 20 Manitoba road, Waban. Luncheon will be served at 1 o'clock by Mrs. Stanford D. Blitzer, Mrs. David W. Skinner and their committee. Circle president Mrs. Alfred O. Weaver will conduct the business meeting. Then Mrs. Norman E. MacNeil, program chairman, will introduce Mrs. Elaine P. Archmoody, a professional artist and art teacher, who will talk on "What to Look for in a Painting."

Recruiting For Boston C. of C.

Thomas A. McManmon of 42 Howland Rd., Newton is one of a team effort recruiting new members for the Contact Club of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce. The Contact Club supports the Chamber's financial base through membership recruitment, and has for its fall goal the sum of $42,000 of which $3,900 has been raised to date. McManmon attended the Browne & Nichols University of Notre Dame and Dartmouth College.

Conn. College Reception Set For Nov. 11th

The Connecticut College Club of Boston is sponsoring a reception for high school seniors and juniors on Tuesday, November 11. Prospective Connecticut College students from Greater Boston are invited to gather between 1:30 and 3:30 at the Browne and Nichols School, Cambridge, to meet faculty, students, and admissions aides of the college. They will have an opportunity to ask questions about the curriculum, co-education, and student activities, and to see slides of the college. Refreshments will be served.

Miss Leslie Richmond, who was graduated from Newton South High School, is one of the college's students who will be on hand. Newton alumnae who are helping make plans for the reception include Mrs. Harvey Shycon, Mrs. Philip Bowman, Mrs. Frank Wheelock, Mrs. George Ainley.

They have qualified as Red Cross Blood Program Aides; aided the elderly in obtaining books from the library, raised money for victims of Hurricane Camille, and assisted in many other ways.

Mrs. Cushman said she is proud of her young people and the work they have accomplished since this past June.

The following girls at Bigelow Junior High recently completed a course qualifying them to be Red Cross Blood Program Aides:

Linda Carmel, Diane Bowles, Lisa Burke, Donna Manning, Sharon K. Cushman, Elvira Pelligrini, Karen Kolb, Karen Gershman, Evelyn Tyler, Diane De Simone, Donna Lafoe, Maureen Cubertson, Mary Corrigan and Janice Goldberg.

This course was given by Mrs. Mary Lou O'Connell, R.N., of the Boston Red Cross Blood Center. The pilot program got under way this fall thanks to the cooperation of Robert Frost, principal of Bigelow Jr. High, and Mrs. Barbara Kelley, the girls' teacher-sponsor.

As a result of their certification, these girls worked at the Bloodmobile at Sacred Heart Church in Newton Centre, and also served at the Boston Regional Blood Center.

Mrs. Albert E. Burgess Jr. of West Newton is program chairman and will introduce guest speaker Mrs. William Appleton, member of the Guild of The Opera Company of Boston who will present as her subject "Operation Opera."

Mrs. Raymond W. Eldridge of Newton Highlands was a member of the committee in charge of the tea and Mrs. Matt B. Jones and Mrs. George W. Gibson, both of Waban, will be poovers.

Among those assisting the hospitality chairman will be Mrs. Frederick B. Walker of Chestnut Hill.

Unusual Art Program Is Set At Community Center

Registrations are now concluded for the 1969 - 70 Creative Art Program for Children (ages 5-13), Mothers and Children (ages 2 and up), and Adults, announced Art Director, Linda Jonower. Classes began the week of October 6 at the Newton 429 Cherry St., West Newton.

For Elementary School through Grade 6 and Jr. High Students a unique offering is planned. The Center's experienced Art staff, many with unusual backgrounds (see below), is geared to building a child's awareness of himself and the world around him. The aim is a wide - open experience for all youngsters participating. With this orientation the staff draws on natural sciences and experimentation, improvisation, body movement, feelings - all culminated in the art experience.

The atmosphere is one of discovery, as children are challenged to solve problems in new ways. Under consideration is the use of light and shadows, discovery of environmental space, natural forces (water, wind, air) the art of sound, etc.

Color, design and an appreciation of aesthetic concepts will permeate all of these areas.

A wide variety of two and three dimensional media will be used. Also materials from the Children's Museum, E. S. L. Film libraries, etc. However, it should be noted that the emphasis is not on the media, but rather on the individual and the group. The goal is not the finished product, but rather the total experience within the child.

If your youngster is drawn to projects which tap the intellect, the senses, the emotions, the body - indeed involve him totally as a person, he or she will find this program very exciting and lots of fun. This is a continuing program.

Second term builds on the experiences introduced the first semester with the understanding that has been gained of your child. For the greatest individual growth the Art staff urges parents to plan on a year for their youngsters. (Two twelve session blocks). Registration for the first semester (12 classes) is open now. The first session for all groups is designed for parents and children. Everyone is cordially invited to participate.

Interested parents may wish to make note of the extra section added for Kindergarten children on Wednesday afternoons. Also, an Experimental Workshop class open to students in Grades 3-6 and 7-9 on Wednesdays from 3:45 p.m. to 4:45 p.m. (This class has been formed to accommodate children in Hebrew School and other Tuesday and Thursday afternoon activities, or for those in Junior High School who wish to participate.) The schedule is as follows:

Tuesdays, 9:30-10:30 a.m. - Kindergarten - Avis Jacobson, Instructor. 2:00 - 3:00 p.m. - Kindergarten - Marilyn Bever, Instructor. 3:20 - 4:30 p.m. Grades 1-3 - Marilyn Bever, Instructor.

Wednesdays, 12:45 - 1:45 p.m. - Kindergarten - Avis Jacobson, Instructor. 2:15 - 3:20 p.m. - Special Education - Avis Jacobson, Instructor. 3:45 - 4:45 p.m. - Grades 3-6, Grades 7-9 - Nicole Murphy, Workshop Instructor.

Thursdays, 1:45 - 3:00 p.m. Grades 1-3 - Marilyn Bever, Instructor. 3:15 - 4:45 p.m. - Grades 4 - 6 - Marilyn Bever, Instructor.

A word about the instructors: Marilyn Bever comes to the Center with extensive art experience at the Children's Museum, Museum of Fine Arts, and Isabelle Gardner Museum. Avis Jacobson is an experienced teacher and social worker from Chicago who taught Creative Art at the Center last year. Nicole Murphy comes to the program from Wellesley College; she

Oak Hill School Has "Best Ever" Halloween Fun

Halloween was extra special at Oak Hill School this year. Many thanks were extended to the hard working committee chairmen Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Viselman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Maltz and Mr. and Mrs. David Traister and their helpful staff of room mothers for making such a memorable Halloween possible.

The entire school participated in festive costume parades. Grades 1-3 led by a band were the first to parade in the afternoon. Each child then received prizes and refreshments and saw movies at class room parties.

The evening parties began with an outdoor costume parade for grades 4-6. Highlights of the parties were dunking for apples, an obstacle course and fun house.

Fourth and fifth graders enjoyed a square dance with a caller while the sixth grade had social dancing. A mysterious witch then appeared to bid all the Halloween goblins farewell until next year.

assisted in the Art program last year.

For Mothers and Tots and Mothers and Children several classes are offered. This program offers young children, age 2 years old and up their first introduction to "creative" work through the special efforts of mother and teacher. Children will expand their sensory perception by experimenting with many forms of art media (visual and theatrical) in an atmosphere free of restraint and worry about mess.

Mothers gain ideas for home use with children, as well as a new perspective for themselves on the potentialities for an adult of the so-called "children's media." Seeing mothers and children involved in mutual creative efforts like puppet making, splashing in paint with bare feet to music, building "things" from boxes, etc. has made it clear to us that the values of togetherness and creativity make this venture doubly meaningful.

This group was so successful when we started it last year, that two additional class sections were added. We ask parents to register early and indicate a second choice on their application. A detailed information sheet is available. We have also added a new class this year entitled Mothers and Children to allow youngsters in the Elementary School group to work in this satisfying way.

The schedule is as follows: Monday, Jackie Mellissas, Instructor; Bea Lewis, Asst. 9:20 a.m. - 10:20 a.m. - Mothers and Tots (aged 2 years and up), 10:40 a.m. - 11:40 a.m. - Mothers and Tots (aged 2 years and up), 1:00 p.m. - 2:00 p.m. - Mothers and Tots (aged 2 years and up), 3:15 p.m. - 4:15 p.m. - Mothers and Children (Kindergarten or older).

About the instructors: Mrs. Mellissas is a graduate of the Rhode Island School of Design and an experienced art teacher from the Brookline Jewish Community Center, and Lexington Montessori School. Jackie, mother of 4, will be assisted by Beatrice Lewis, mother of 3 and designer for Photo International, Inc. in Newton.

For Adults this year, new programs are offered with Babysitting available at the Center. The first class:

Wednesdays, Experiments in New Media, 9:15 a.m.-11:15 a.m. (except as noted).

Wednesdays, Painters Workshop, 12:15 p.m. - 2:00 p.m.

Experiments in New Media is a program which was started 2 years ago. By popular demand, three areas have been picked from last year's most successful sessions to be repeated this year: Batique, Weaving and Papae Sculpture. This course gives women a chance to explore new creative techniques or develop more skill in areas already introduced. The classes are taught by professional artists and teachers, each in their own field of specialization, and will be geared to the beginner or intermediate.

Mrs. Van Buskirk's batique classes meet for 3 sessions, 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. Mrs. Marcoux's Weaving classes will meet 9:15 - 11:15 a.m. on Oct. 29, Nov. 5, 12 and 19. There will be no class Nov. 26. Mr. Bottomley will teach Paper Sculpture on Dec. 3, 10, 17 and Jan. 7 also at the regular hours.

If you have never tried a wax resist technique on fabric, an off-the-loom wall hanging, or a construction from cardboard and paper, now is your chance. If you want more advanced techniques in these three areas, take advantage of this individual instruction you can receive now.

These teachers may not be available again. Students share in the cost of supplies. More information available at the Newton Community Center, 969-5906.

Painters Workshop is a course in painting geared especially to the beginning and intermediate painter. Carole Lipsitt, teacher from the DeCordova Museum and M. I. T. emphasizes that no previous painting or drawing experiences are necessary to join. If you have painted and would like to develop a personal style that expresses what you want to say, this course will help you.

The focus will be on how to use space well, create a good composition, use color expressively and freely, and make a unique personal statement rather than a photographic representation of reality.

Students will progress at their own rate. Acrylic paints will be supplied by the students as these are easier to paint than oils. A complete list of materials will be sent to each student before the first class. This will be a two-semester program, if registration is filled; for the maximum benefit we suggest you plan on a year with Mrs. Lipsitt.

Puppet Workshop At Sidney Hill

The Sidney Hill Country Club in Chestnut Hill will be the setting for the popular "Puppet Workshop" by noted puppeteer and resident of Newton Lower Falls, Eleanor Boylan on Saturday (Nov. 8).

Designed mainly for children, the workshop has attracted many adults and will include many types of puppets including hand, string and rod puppets. Antique marionettes will also be displayed during this unusual program.

There will be two performances, 1:30 and 3 p.m. For information call 332-6571 or 237-1077.

Newtonites Tell Of Impressions After Visit To Moscow Recently

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Schneider of Newton were recent visitors to Moscow. While in the Soviet capital they discovered some aspects of Russian life somewhat at variance with a recent United Press Spotlight exclusive feature article in The Graphic in which writer Nino Lo Bello discussed women in the Soviet Union. Following is the Schneider's eye-witness view of Russia and the women of the Soviet.

Until two weeks ago we rarely took an in-depth interest in documentary-type articles. We usually read them with little more than casual or passing interest. But this has suddenly changed.

My wife and I just returned from a visit to Moscow. We were in the Scandinavian countries on business and our itinerary was such that we were free to visit Moscow from Friday, October 3rd to Monday, October 6th.

Our experiences there have had a profound effect on us emotionally. We suddenly find that what we read about Russia, its people and the way they live has meaning to us in a way that it never before had and we are sure that the "between-the-lines" meanings escape those who have not shared our experience.

In light of this, we wish to uncover several hidden myths contained in Nino Lo Bello's article published in your October 23, 1969, issue of the NEWTON GRAPHIC.

(1) The two photographs convey the image that the Russian women are quite attractive. In very few instances, this is true. By and large, however, they are chunky and peasant appearing. It also surprises us that Valentina Serghieva, "Moscow's most famous fashion model," would allow this picture to be published. Her leg is showing over the top of her stocking.

(2) On the subject of stockings, we saw them in GUM, the huge department store in Moscow. The price for stockings was in the vicinity of $6 per pair for what appeared to be very low quality by our standards. Multi-colored cotton anklets were about $2 per pair and knee-length socks about $4 per pair.

(3) The article conveys the impression that the women enjoy their work. To the contrary, they must work. This is mandatory of them as long as they are able to do anything. If they want to eat and clothe themselves, they must work.

We saw old women with homemade brooms pushing a few scraps of paper and mud from one street corner to another because this was the only type of work they could do. But they had to work or cease to exist.

(4) We spent about 2½ hours walking through GUM. We walked from stall to stall looking at the products and their prices. At the shoe stalls we had to go back two and three times to make sure that what we saw was real. Very low quality shoes, men's and women's, such as you might find in the bargain basement of a low-grade store, were running $30 to $50 per pair.

At first we thought that the prices were the sizes, and after we realized that the little signs by each pair on display were indeed the prices, we still couldn't bring our minds to accept it. We then started to look at what everyone was wearing on their feet.

It was then that we knew that the prices were correct. Their shoes were very shabby looking. Worn, cracked and torn shoes with equally shabby socks were evident everywhere.

Some were the remnants of what were, at one time, sneakers. Others were, what appeared to be, bed slippers.

(5) We saw very little in the way of cosmetics. There were a few very small stalls selling them, but at no time did we see anyone stopping to look at them, let alone buying any. Yet there were thousands of people passing through the store. We did see one girl using eye make-up.

The only problem is that she was an Intourist clerk who was supposed to be waiting on the public and while she was oblivious to all around her, she was busily making up her eyes while people waited. She could have accomplished a lot more with a good, hot, soap and water bath and a fingernail brush.

(6) As to hair styles, the most frequent were either very simple or else very ludicrous by our tastes. There were a number of women who had their hair teased up and dyed a horrendous red. The thing that made them look so ludicrous was that these hair styles were on women who referred to in your introduction as "frumpy, dumpy."

(7) We saw no mini-skirts whatever, even though we saw literally tens of thousands of people during our visit. We looked at clothing patterns in GUM and saw nothing more stylish than what was generally considered moderate to simple street wear 10 to 15 years ago here.

(8) As to being calorie conscious, we find this difficult to equate in our terms, unless the intent of these comments was to mean that the Russian women seek many calories. The food that we found was virtually inedible. While we were supposed to have deluxe accommodations with deluxe meals, we wound up eating bread, cheese, hard-boiled eggs, (when we could find them,) tea and an occasional nut cookie, shells and all.

In restaurants everyone left his food standing while he drank, nibbled on bananas, apples or grapes, had an occasional bite of bread or "show-elled" some over or undercooked vegetables into his mouth. Potatoes, bread, eggs, butter, sour-milk, cheese, fruit and tea or coffee seem to be the mainstay of their diet.

Meat, fowl and fish is quite lacking and of inedible quality. Two days of bad cases of indigestion after leaving Moscow bore witness to the quality of the food.

(9) The quality of workmanship in the construction trades was at a very low level. We wonder whether this is because women are made to do work for which they are neither physically nor psychologically suited. They are doing the work because they are obliged to do it for their own sake and because it is only through the performance of their work that they can keep body and soul together.

We were witness to many instances of lack of ambition, initiative and incentive. They performed like machines or trained animals, and not like human beings.

We likened them to the milk wagon horse which knew only to pull the wagon over a certain route and stop at various points along the way, in order to be given his bag of oats and an occasional blanket in foul weather.

We may have been unduly critical of the Russian people, particularly where we have been told that they are 100 times better off today than they were 10 years ago. But this is how we saw it, felt it, touched it, tasted it, heard it and lived with it for but a brief 96 hours. Our experiences took us much further than what we have noted here, but each was a drama, a comedy, a satire or a tragedy in itself.

Rabbis Board Meeting To Be Held Nov. 10

Rabbi Murray I. Rothman, president of the Massachusetts Board of Rabbis, has announced that the next meeting of that organization will take place on Monday, November 10, at the American Jewish Historical Society headquarters located on the Brandeis campus in Waltham.

Dr. Abram Vossen Goodman, president of the society, will be the speaker.

Dr. Goodman, Rabbi Emeritus of Temple Sinai of Long Island in Lawrence, was ordained and received his degree of Master of Hebrew Literature at the Jewish Institute of Religion (now joined with Hebrew Union College).

He studied in Vienna and took courses toward his Ph.D. at Harvard and the University of Chicago, finishing at the University of Texas where he received his degree.

Engaged in research and writing in the field of American Jewish history, he is the author of "American Overture: Jewish Rights in Colonial Times" and has contributed articles to many publications.

The Massachusetts Board of Rabbis will be the guests of Dr. Goodman at a luncheon which will follow the general meeting.

The Executive meeting is scheduled for 9:30 a.m., the general meeting at 10:15 and the program from 10:45 to noon.

DAR To Meet On Monday Nov. 10

"Old Houses and Historic Landmarks of Newton," an illustrated lecture, will be given by Dorothy Bates at the regular meeting of the Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, DAR, on Monday, November 10, at the Workshop, 72 Columbus Street, Newton Highlands.

A one o'clock dessert and social hour will precede the business session, after which Mrs. Bates will present her program.

Reports of the Fall State meeting of the Massachusetts Society, DAR, will be given by the Regent, Mrs. Harry L. Walen, and the Vice Regent, Mrs. W. A. Hurley.

Special guests will be members of Col. William McIntosh Chapter, Needham, and Lucy Jackson Chapter, Newton Lower Falls.

Fire Dept. To Have Safety Poster Contest

Students in the Senior Art Department of the Newton Schools, both public and private, are invited to enter the Christmas Holiday Safety Poster Contest sponsored by the Boston Fire Department Fire Prevention Division in cooperation with the Fire Department Council.

Posters may be any size but no larger than 28 inches wide and 22 inches in height and shall be in three colors or less. Prizes for this contest include a $50 savings bond for first place; $25 savings bond for 2nd place and $10 in cash for third.

All entries shall be mailed to: POSTER CONTEST, Boston Fire Prevention Division, 115 Southamptown Street, Boston, Massachusetts, 02118.

All entries shall not be postmarked later than December 14, 1969 and will become the property of the Boston Fire Department and Fire Prevention Council. The judges of this contest will be members of the Fire Prevention Council and Art Professors from local colleges and all decisions of these judges will be final.

The Boston Fire Department may select from all entries the poster that they wish to use for the Holiday Season on the fire apparatus and in store windows. The Fire Prevention Council also wishes to sponsor a display window in one of the leading department stores downtown with a selection of these posters and a fire safety theme for the Holiday Season.

NCRC To Meet At Emerson On November 19

The Newton Community Relations Commission conducts regular monthly meetings on the second Wednesday of each month in Room 202 of Newton City Hall 115.

The November meeting, however, will be held on Wednesday (Nov. 19) at the Emerson School in Newton Upper Falls from 8 to 10 p.m. This change is the result of the decision of the CRC to take some of their meetings into the villages and directly to the people of Newton.

The Commission seeks to build bridges of communication and understanding between the people, the neighborhoods, and the villages of Newton. Commissioner matters of this conforms with its concern to them.

Newton Junior College Gets Gifts From Women's Council

The Women's Council of Newton Junior College last week presented to Charles W. Dudley, President of the College, a gift of graduation hoods to be used each year by members of the graduating class at the Commencement exercises of the College. These hoods will remain the property of the College.

Members of the Council are: Mrs. Harry Abells, Mrs. Victor Baer, Mrs. George Brewer, Mrs. George Brookhiser, Mrs. William Bruce, Miss Ruth Burns, Mrs. Morgan S. Campbell, Mrs. Spencer Deming, Mrs. Anton Fried, Mrs. Malcolm N. Jackson, Mrs. Norman Krim, Mrs. Alan Miller, Mrs. John B. G. Palen, Mrs. J. Les Sweetnam, Mrs. Whalen Vinnicombe, Mrs. Alfred O. Weaver.

Mrs. Alfred O. Weaver, Chairman of the Council, made the presentation, and at the same time gave President Dudley $100 in support of the Scholarship Fund of the College. Still another gift was a large donation in support of the Annual Visiting Scholar Program.

The Women's Council established in 1964, was organized by Mrs. George J. Brookhiser, who was its chairman until September, 1968. Under her leadership the Council undertook various programs in support of the College, most notably the sponsorship of the Annual Visiting Scholar program and the collection and display of art on the campus. Its many benefactions also include the gifts of furnishing.

In addition to these undertakings, the Council has been responsible for hospitality on several occasions when the College has had special functions, and members of the Council have opened their homes for coffee hours for the students and President Dudley and members of the College faculty and administration.

At the Commencement in June, 1968, President Dudley awarded the Council the President's Citation in recognition of its dedication to the College and its many services to the students.

Davis School Pupils Take Part In UN Day Exercises

The Davis School in West Newton, presented a United Nations program on Friday, October 24th in honor of the 24th anniversary of the founding of the United Nations. Each class chose a song or dance representing one of the member nations. The program included songs from France, Israel, Africa and the United States.

The third grade class of Miss Anna Markus sang Cumbaya with original verses. Several American folk songs were sung as well as United Nations song "It's a Small World." Dances from Israel and Mexico were performed.

Flags of the United Nations made by 4th grade classes of Miss Ellen Shapiro and Mrs. Barbara Gumuchian were displayed. A mural of the U.N. flag made by the 6th graders was hung on the stage. After the program, a film on UNICEF called Assignment Children was shown.

The program was written, organized and conducted by the 6th grade classes of Mrs. Barbara Stephens and Miss Patricia Colapietro. Master of ceremonies was Ned Desmond.

Class Ushers were Diane Caruso, Margaret Dolson, Lee Higgins, Guy Castoldi, Lori Lapham, Kim Rucker, Russell Lapham, Fiore Graziano, Albert Dezotell, Stephen Albano, Richard Bullwinkle, Lynne Ramee, Patty Young, Gust Quaranto, Philip Edwards, Don Morrell, Steve Parker, Karen McCarthy, Ellen Burns, Bobby Davis and John Williams.

Representatives introducing the classes were Warren Hay, Karen Albano, Bobby Delaney, Cathy Brown, Kim Burns, Kim Ross, Edward Burns, and Bob Bruns. Programs were taken care of by Diane Caruso, Elizabeth Ullrich, Cathy Hascunda and Maria Talles. The mural was painted by Philip Edwards, Fiore Graziano, Guy Castoldi, Ned Desmond, John Williams, 6th graders played original instruments made by Miss Colapietro's class.

Miss Henrietta Brabbia, principal of the Davis School, concluded the program with a short address. She thanked all the classes for their participation in honoring this organization dedicated to World aid and peace.

Light, Line and Texture, a photo-show by George W. Brewer of 300 Islington Road, Auburndale, is on exhibit this month at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner.

Mr. Brewer, a versatile and creative young man who has been a teacher of the blind in the Boston schools, a Vista volunteer, and a teacher at Charles River School, Dover, became interested in photography when he was a student at Browne and Nichols School in 1958, and has been working extensively in the medium for about 9 years.

The pictures on display are, he says, "efforts mostly from the last 6 years. Most of the pictures are from Worcester, Mass., where I went to Clark University; from Albuquerque, New Mexico, where I spent a year as a Vista volunteer; and from the city, Boston.

"A great many of the pictures are experiments in tonalities and linear composition with emphasis on patterns produced by the reduction of 3-dimensional figures to the 2-dimensional surface of a print."

Mr. Brewer is currently working on a film for the Unitarian Church to promote a new church hymnal. For the film project, Brewer advances the projected slide and movie images to the beat of taped music. The hymns are sung by Brewer and Newton folk singer Joan Minkoff, with self-accompaniment on folk instruments.

George W. Brewer has also been a leading figure in productions of the Hub Theatre Group, a theatre company working out of the old West End Church, Cambridge Street, Boston.

Thieves Loot Elks Bldg.; Steal $1300

The theft of about $1,300 in cash from the Elks building at 429 Centre Street in Newton Corner highlighted police investigation of a series of robberies and breaks committed during the past several days in the city.

In some unknown manner, thieves got into the Elks building, and smashed through a metal-reinforced wall to get into the liquor room. The money was taken from three wooden and two metal cash drawers.

Three wrought iron chairs valued at $225 were stolen from the lawn of Dr. Solomon P. Bailow, 54 Park Street, Newton Corner.

Miss Clara Hutchins, the librarian, reported to police that the branch on Grove Street, Lower Falls, was broken into over the weekend and $2 in change taken from the main desk. A rear door was forced.

Police reported that the Bowker home at 9 Blackstone Terrace, Newton, was ransacked after entrance was gained by forcing a cellar window. No estimate was given of any loss.

Saturday Dance At Sacred Heart

The Sacred Heart parish in Newton will sponsor a dance for high school youth on Saturday, November 8th from 8 to 11 p.m. in the Parish Center.

The dance will feature entertainment from the famed London Fogge, a well known local group. It was announced that proper dress must be worn.

A Party For Newtonville Octogenarian

Mrs. Margaret Younker of 83 Central Avenue, Newtonville, was honored Halloween evening on her 85th birthday, with a surprise party at the Pillar House in Newton Lower Falls, given by her nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Younker came to the Newtons more than 45 years ago from Prince Edward Island, Canada, and has maintained a rooming house here ever since.

Her maiden name was Gay and she is the last living member of twelve children.

Mrs. Hannah Blair, a sister, lived for many years on Watertown St., West Newton, another sister, Mrs. Dena Van Wormer, lived for a number of years on Grove St., Auburndale, and a third sister, Mrs. Katherine Anderson lived in Waltham and died in 1961 at the age of 91. Sam Gay, a brother, was sheriff in Las Vegas, Nevada for many years.

Mrs. Younker has a most unusual and amazing remembrance of poems from her childhood and entertains her relatives and friends reciting them at great length.

She was presented a birthday cake, received an orchid corsage, many cards and gifts, and a telegram from a nephew's family stationed in Okinawa.

Relatives are present from Holliston, Harvard, Brighton, Danville, N. H., Harvard College, University of Massachusetts, the Newtons and Waltham.

Newton Gets Windfall Of $448,158

Newton will receive $336,119 in additional highway funds under the 1969 Accelerated Highway Act, the Massachusetts Dept. of Public Works announced.

A total of $15 million will be distributed to the cities and towns in the state under Section 5 of the Act. The money must be distributed on or before Dec. 1, 1970.

An additional $5 million is also being made available to the cities and towns under Section 4 of the Act. Newton will pick up $112,039 in funds.

Under Section 4, a city or town has until June 30, 1972, to spend the money for street improvements. Any unexpended balance on that date will revert to the state.

The DPW announcement emphasized the fact that the disbursements are in addition to the regular Chapter 90 funds, which will be received by the cities and towns as usual this year.

Museum of Fine Arts Schedules Family Series

During the Museum of Fine Arts Centennial, a series of seven special Saturday programs for children over eight and their parents - Family Affairs - is planned by the Museum Ladies' Committee.

Committee members include Mrs. William K. Russell of Chestnut Hill and Mrs. Frank P. Foster of Newton.

Participating families will view the Centennial Exhibitions, meet Museum staff members and learn about the behind-the-scenes activities of the museum.

Family Affairs will take place on seven Saturdays: Nov. 8, Dec. 13, Jan. 10, Feb. 14, March 14, April 11 and May 9. For full details and reservations write Family Affairs, Museum of Fine Arts, 479 Huntington Avenue, Boston 02115, or call the Members' Room, 267-9300, Ext. 260.

Community Club Meets Nov. 13 At Eliot Church

The regular meeting of the Newton Community Club will be held at 2:00 p.m. November 13, at Eliot Church, Newton Corner. Dessert will be served at 1:15 p.m. with Mrs. Russell S. Broad, Chairman of the Social Committee.

Mr. Carl S. Carlstrom in charge of the program, "From Bud to Blossom." Through the medium of time lapse motion pictures, with live narrative accompaniment, over twenty-five house plants and garden flowers unfold in colored splendor before your eyes. This one hour program of unusual photography is both entertaining and unusual.

A Food Sale will be under the direction of Mrs. George Rawson, Mrs. George Strandberg and Mrs. Edward Stone.

Club members having friends interested in plants are welcome.

Music Club At Newton High In First Meeting

The first meeting of the Newton High School Music Club was held recently. Featured was the Newton High School Stage Band, under the direction of Jerry Gardener. They performed a variety of selections, all of which were well received by the enthusiastic students.

As has been the custom at the opening meeting, elections of all officers was held.

Elected were: Jeffrey Levenson, president; Matthew Scott, vice president; Debra Johnson, secretary; Alice Goodwin, treasurer.

Future meetings will include both student recitals and concerts by guest artists.

CHILEAN AIRLINE CREW FOILS TEENAGERS' HIJACK ATTEMPT

TWO TEEN-AGED students hijacked a Chilean airliner Wednesday but were overpowered by crewmen on the way to Havana, bound with parachute cord and returned to Santiago. The hijackers were identified as Pedro Varas, 16, and Patricio Dagach, 15. Authorities declined to disclose how they were overpowered other than to say the plane put into effect a hijack-foiling operation for which they were trained. Two secret servicemen clad in civvies were shot and wounded by military police at the Los Cerrillos airport where the hijacked airliner landed. The hijackers were taken to police headquarters in a five-car convoy.

INDIA PRIME MINISTER INDIRA GANDHI EXPELLED FROM PARTY

THE CONSERVATIVE FACTION of India's governing Congress Party expelled Prime Minister Indira Gandhi from membership Wednesday, forcing Parliament to decide whether she will continue as leader of this nation of 500 million. The first test of her support will come at a meeting of party leaders in Parliament she has called for today. The party's conservative faction, in expelling Mrs. Gandhi, ordered cancellation of the meeting and directed the parliamentary leaders simply to name a new prime minister. If a majority of the leaders answer Mrs. Gandhi's summons to meet today, it will demonstrate a vote of confidence in her leadership and a rebuff to the conservative faction that expelled her. If not, Mrs. Gandhi may have to seek a coalition with the Community Party or call general elections to retain her position.

9,000 SOLDIERS READY FOR POSSIBLE WASHINGTON DISORDERS

NINE THOUSAND SOLDIERS and Marines, dressed for combat and carrying rifles, began arriving by air Wednesday in Washington to be ready for use against possible disorders stemming from antiwar demonstrations this weekend. A Defense Department spokesman said all the troops, most from North Carolina, were "thoroughly trained in civil disturbance operations" but would remain on federal property unless asked by the Justice Department of the District of Columbia to help restore order. A weekend of demonstrations organized by the new Mobilization Committee to End the War in Vietnam begins tonight and will be climaxed by a Pennsylvania Avenue parade Saturday that will pass within a block of the White House. Organizers, who have promised there will be no violence, have said they expect 200,000 participating in the Saturday parade alone.

'LEGION OF JUSTICE' RAIDS RADICAL GROUPS' OFFICES

AN ATTORNEY in Chicago for a group of Vietnam veterans, the "Legion of Justice," said Wednesday the organization has conducted raids on the headquarters of radical organizations, "liberated" their records, disrupted sit-ins, touched off tear gas grenades and "engaged in meaningful physical dialogue" with radicals. S. Thomas Sutton, spokesman for the "special striking force" of the Legion of Justice, said during a "visit" Nov. 1 at the offices of the Young Socialist Alliance. He said the materials included the names of more than 75 servicemen connected with the YSA, lists of secret supporters and financial backers, and correspondents. Sutton said a picked squad from the Legion entered the YSA headquarters and that members of the Black Panthers "assaulted the Legionnaires, which resulted in a meaningful physical dialogue between the Legionnaires and the Black Panthers as well as members of the Young Socialist Alliance." Two Black Panthers and two YSA members were injured, he said. Sutton said the material taken by the Legion members was given to "the appropriate government agencies for their examination." He refused to name the agencies. The Legion is composed of about 70 per cent Vietnam veterans and 30 per cent young men of draft age.

NIXON DEFENDS DEFERMENTS FOR COLLEGE STUDENTS

THE NIXON ADMINISTRATION defended draft deferments for college students Wednesday despite Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's charge that they let wealthier youths "avoid the shooting for four years" while hoping the Vietnam War would end. "I think it's very appropriate for that boy to finish his education, then go into the service and contribute a little something extra," John G. Veneman, undersecretary of Health, Education and Welfare told Kennedy in a Washington subcommittee hearing. But Kennedy, D-Mass., impatiently puffing a thin cigar, said neither money nor brains—the tools for entering college—should favor one youth over another in a government policy which sometimes means life or death. About 30 per cent of U.S. servicemen killed in Vietnam have been draftees.

GOVERNMENT TO CURB USE OF DDT PESTICIDES WITHIN 2 YEARS

HEW SEC. Robert H. Finch said Wednesday the Nixon Administration would implement recommendations that most domestic uses of DDT pesticides be banned within two years. Finch said he and the agriculture and interior secretaries had agreed to sign an agreement on the results of a commission's recommendations. Asked if that meant the government would curb the use of DDT and its derivative DDD Finch said: "Absolutely. We have a commitment here."

The State

IT ALMOST—BUT NOT QUITE—STOPPED RAINING

IT ALMOST stopped raining Wednesday. Ten days after the deluge began, only "traces" of rain fell on New England, the U.S. Weather Bureau in Boston reported. The accumulation was negligible, although skies remained threatening. The region was expected to return to normal today when the chance for heavier "showers" was listed as 60 per cent. Showers today would give the New England region 11 straight days of rain to tie the all-time record for consistency set in May of 1954.

COLLEGE STUDENTS STAGE SITIN OVER NEWSPAPER BAN

MORE THAN TWO DOZEN Salem State College students sat in at the administration building Wednesday to protest the shutdown of the school newspaper for trying to publish an article by black militant Eldridge Cleaver. An administration spokesman said the students were peaceful and non-obstructive. He added there would be no effort to move them under the conditions. Earlier in the day, a small number of student picketers supported by Student Association Executive Board marched outside the student union to dramatize their dispute with retiring President Frederick Meier. The students said they planned to continue their protest until Meier resumes funding of "The Log."

Noted Jesuit Receives Award

Very Rev. W. Seavey Joyce, S.J., president of Boston College, (center) is shown receiving the Newton-Needham Chamber of Commerce's Annual Achievement Award from Chamber President Robert P. Lurvey, Treasurer of West Newton Savings Bank, as former Mayor and now M.L.T. Prof. John F. Collins, who was the principal speaker at the dinner, looks on. A record-breaking crowd of 650 persons attended the Nov. 6th dinner at Sidney Hill Country Club.

Intuition Will Not Solve Urban Problems—Collins

Urban problems will not be solved by intuition and humanitarian impulses, John F. Collins, former mayor of Boston and now Professor of Urban Affairs at M.I.T., said last week at a dinner meeting of the Newton-Needham Chamber of Commerce.

Collins told the gathering at Sidney Hill Country Club in Newton that social betterment programs based on intuition "can be relied upon to produce the wrong results more than 50 percent of the time."

Mintz Wins In Charter Board Tally

Richard G. Mintz of 50 Beaumont Ave. has been elected to the new Charter Commission, and Anthony J. Medaglia, Jr., has been defeated for a place on that Commission as a result of the correction of a mistake made in tabulating Mr. Medaglia's vote total in the rush of election night.

On election night it was reported that Mr. Medaglia and School Committeeman Alvin Mandell had tied for 7th place in the Charter Commission contest with 7657 votes apiece.

At that time it appeared that Mrs. Florence R. Rubin was ninth and that Mr. Mintz was 10th, and had been defeated for a position on the nine-member Charter Commission.

Subsequently, it developed that a mistake had been made in adding Mr. Medaglia's votes and that his correct total was 4992.

This moved Mrs. Rubin up into 8th place and Mr. Mintz into ninth position, giving him the final seat on the Commission. Mrs. Rubin polled 7262 votes and Mr. Mintz 7248.

Leighton To Get Cushing Award In Hub

Joel B. Leighton of Newton will be honored by the Cushing Award for work in labor relations from the management standpoint at a dinner on Saturday, Nov. 22, at the Statler Boston.

The event will be the third annual gathering to fete persons working in the field of employee-management relationships. Awards are given each year to outstanding men from labor, management and a neutral auxiliary.

Leighton is the Executive Director of the Associated General Contractors of Massachusetts.

The dinner is sponsored by the Labor Guild of the Archdiocese of Boston.

Today's Thought

Sometimes it would seem better for the country if more emphasis was placed on observance of the law than on its enforcement.

Principals Make Requests

49 New Teachers Needed Here Say School Officials

Principals of Newton schools have requested a total of 49 new teachers, 25 teacher aides and 4 secretaries for the next school year, Assistant Superintendent for Personnel Dr. James Laurits told the School Committee on Monday night.

Laurits presented the requests for consideration by the School Committee in their 1970-71 budget deliberations. These were not yet the official recommendations of the administrative staff, but the requests are "quite conservative in their nature," Dr. Laurits said.

"In the last few years total enrollment in the schools has not increased, but we have added some new positions in every year," Dr. Laurits pointed out in his presentation of the requests.

"These modest additions have been a principal factor in maintaining quality in the schools; correcting weaknesses, keeping curriculum modern, meeting demands from parents and lowering the size of some classes," the assistant superintendent declared.

"We should continue to add new positions in a well-planned selective manner. The principals and the central staff are now working to develop some system-wide priorities on personnel needs, and these priorities will be brought to the School Committee," he added.

Broken down, the requests are as follows: elementary 11.3 teachers, 21.4 teacher aides and 1.1 secretaries; junior high schools: 19 teachers, 2 teacher aides; senior high schools: 11.5 teachers, Newton Junior College: 11.9 teachers; Div. of PPSS: 5 teachers and 1 teacher aide. Div. of Instruction: 1.5 teachers and 1 teacher aide. Div. of Instruction: 1.5 teachers and 1 teacher aide. Central Administration: 1 secretary.

According to Laurits, many teacher aides are sought by the elementary schools to help the teacher give attention to individual children. They also give the teachers some time for planning and evaluating and they bring lay people into the heart of the school, he maintained.

In the junior high schools "one notes continued enrichment in elective subjects, further development of teacher teams and attempts to reduce class sizes in the basic subjects," Laurits said.

In the senior high schools "several positions are needed to improve curriculum for students who are not motivated by traditional fare," the assistant superintendent concluded.

Machines Get Top Rating In First Newton Try-Out

General satisfaction was expressed by voters and city officials alike with the voting machines used last week in Newton's municipal election.

It was the first time machines had been used in an election in this city.

"I think the machines worked out fine considering the length of the ballot," declared Executive Secretary Alan W. Licarie of the Election Commission.

Licarie pointed out that last week's ballot was three times as long as the 1968 Presidential ballot and twice as long as the average city's election ballot.

This resulted from the fact that there were more than the usual number of contests for seats on the Board of Aldermen and School Committee and an additional 24 candidate scramble for nine posts on the newly created Charter Commission.

The length of the ballot, coupled with the fact that the city used more than an ordinary number of voting machines, slowed down the count of the vote totals on election night.

The law provides that at least one voting machine must be used for each 400 registered voters. Newton last week used one machine for each 250 voters registered at a polling place.

"The more machines you have, the more figures you must tabulate," observed Licarie, referring to the fact that the election officers at each polling place had to copy

Jerry, who died Halloween Day from injuries sustained six days before, when he was struck by a car in Newtonville, was active at Newman House from its beginning three years ago until he graduated in June of this year.

Even after going to Hyanis to start school at Cape Cod Community College, Jerry came home on weekends and joined in various social and fund-raising activities.

Newman House, located on Walnut Street directly across from the High School, was originally purchased by a group of Catholic parents as a place where all students could drop in, play ping-pong, talk or join in more organized activities.

Recount on Tuesday Of Mayoralty Votes

A recount of the votes cast in the fight for Mayor and in one contest for Ward Alderman has been tentatively set for next Tuesday (Nov. 18).

Representative Irving Fishman, apparently defeated by 255 votes in his battle with Mayor Monte G. Basbas for the right to serve as the city's chief municipal executive for the next two years, yesterday filed the necessary signatures to obtain a retabulation of the vote totals.

A petition for a recount of the votes cast for Ward Alderman in Ward 3 also was submitted by Charles Aucoin of 84 Adella avenue.

The computations on election night showed Richard J. Bullwinkle of 15 Lindbergh avenue a winner over Aucoin by the slim margin of 32 votes.

The totals were 1415 for Bullwinkle and 1383 for Aucoin.

Urge Cong. Conte To Oppose Sen. Ted Kennedy Next Year

An attempt is being made in the high echelons of the Republican party to persuade Congressman Silvio Conte of Pittsfield to oppose Senator Edward M. Kennedy in next year's election.

It almost certainly will be unsuccessful unless something develops which injures Ted Kennedy's reelection prospects.

Silvio Conte is the GOP's brightest star in Western Massachusetts. He quite possibly would be a stronger candidate for the Governorship than Francis Sargent, but he now has a better job than Mr. Sargent.

However, it's virtually certain that Conte would not give up a sure seat in Congress for the political gamble of carrying the Republican banner against Ted Kennedy if Ted is still as popular as he is today.

Retired Men's Club Hears Expert

"Watch Stocks Carefully" Is Analyst's Advice At Meeting

"The stock market is apt to experience some wide movements in this early stage of recovery," said Roger E. Spear, president of Spear and Staff, Inc., investment advisors, in an address to the Newton Retired Men's Club Financial Sub-club.

"It is probable that the market has passed the bottom of its first-half-year decline. Now, we are looking for it to begin a steady upturn which will eliminate some of the current erratic motion," he told the group gathered at the Second Congregational Church, West Newton, Tuesday.

Ralph Shaw, chairman of the meeting, welcomed Spear. The veteran analyst explained the complex approach involved in the selection of securities and the management of portfolios.

He reflected more than 40 years, to the time when he began developing a number of his theories which are now incorporated in Wall Street techniques.

Perhaps most famous of these are Spear's Normal-Value Index, Growth Channel Theory and Group Trend Studies.

"We have found, from experience, that individual industries must be observed as closely as the market as a whole," he said.

"Recently, for example, although the market has been at a low, substantial advances have been recorded by industrial groups such as mobile homes and hospital supplies," he continued.

Spear also discussed the use of his three basic theories in predicting market and stock trends. "These are some of our most useful tools," he said, "since we must always be looking forward at the economy before we can conduct an educated analysis of an individual industry or issue."

In conclusion, Spear reminded the investors to analyze an industry first. "Once you have found the industries which are participating in a long-term rising market, then you are ready to hunt out the top performers within the industry.

"Remember too, that each group usually incorporates growth stocks, speculative issues, and short-term performers," he said, "and your purchase should depend on your own personal objectives."

He also warned that in these days of rapid developments, "all stocks held must be watched carefully."

Hospital Needs Local Women As Aid Volunteers

Newton area women looking for new and varied opportunities to help the sick can do so through a new membership campaign being launched by the Women's Committee of The Children's Hospital Medical Center.

Mrs. Norman B. Leventhal of Newton Centre, Women's Committee Executive Member, said the new membership campaign will allow members to aid Children's Hospital by working in their respective homes and communities besides directly participating in activities at the Medical Center.

For the past 50 years, the Woman's Committee has served Children's Hospital in a variety of ways aimed at promoting general interest in the hospital's services, increasing understanding of the hospital's role in the community, and providing services that will insure the comfort of the patients and their parents.

Members may aid the Medical Center in their homes by making toys, jewelry, knitted gifts, and other objects that can be distributed to the patients, or sold in Children's Gift Shop, which is staffed and run by the Woman's Committee.

Community work would include collecting toys, games, and books for hospital patients, and organizing special events such as pet shows, cake sales, horse shows, and skating parties.

In the hospital, Woman's Committee members can provide services for the Gift and Coffee Shop, Patient Escort, Blood Bank, Central Supply, Recovery Room, and Plaster Room. Many other opportunities including patient librarian and recreation assistant are also available.

Hospital Gives Honors To Five Local Residents

Five Newton residents were honored for volunteer service to the Boston Hospital for Women's Lying-In Division.

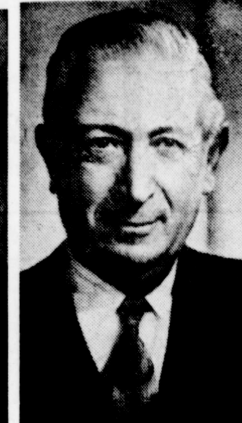

Duncan E. Reid, M.D., Chief of Staff at the BHW, and Gerald W. Mungerson, General Director of the Hospital participated in ceremonies held at the Brookline home of Dr. and Mrs. John Enders.

Among those receiving awards for 20 years service to the Hospital were: Mrs. M. Fletcher Eades, 183 Mill Street; Mrs. Judson A. Smith, 624 Dedham Street; and Mrs. John L. Newell, 35 Walnut Place.

Mrs. Morgan S. Campbell, 293 Franklin Street was honored for 2,000 hours service to the BHW. Mrs. Ivan Samuels was also honored for service.

Seven Choir Festival At Church On Nov. 16

The combined choirs of the wide range of sacred music extending from the 16th to the 20th century. An integral part of the Festival will be an organ recital by Jack Fisher, organist of the Union Church in Waban and member of the faculty of Boston University.

The Festival has been organized by the Music Directors and music committee chairmen of the seven churches. All seven organists will participate in the program.

A principal goal is to include some music which is particularly appropriate for a combined choir, and to create a stronger spiritual bond through music.

The seven participating churches are: Auburndale Congregational Church, Central Congregational Church of Newton, Eliot Church of Newton, The First Church in Newton, Newton Highlands Congregational Church, The Second Church in Newton, Union Church in Waban.

Bowen Book Fair Scheduled On Nov. 17-19

The annual Bowen Book Fair sponsored by the Bowen PTA will be held at the school on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Nov. 17, 18 and 19. There will be many good books, ideal for holiday giving. Children will have an opportunity to view the books and records during school hours. Parents will be invited to come and browse and also see their children's selections.

Profits from the Book Fair will go to support the various enrichment programs at Bowen.

Also on Wednesday, Nov. 19, the 5th grade classes will present a dramatization of their own Japanese Haiku poetry. The presentation will include music and lighting effects by the students. Parents and guests are cordially invited.

Mrs. Arnold Miller is chairman of the Book Fair. Mrs. Alene Shader is directing the Haiku program with the assistance of Mrs. Fabien and Mrs. Feiton.

Sale and Bazaar Last Day Today

Today is the final day of the Sale and Bazaar for the Sisterhood of Temple Beth Avodah.

The Sale, being conducted at the Y.M.C.A. in Brighton (on the Watertown streetcar line) closes this afternoon at 5. All are invited to come to this final day which is featuring new and used men's, women's, children's and infants clothing, bric-a-brac, skates, furnishings, furniture and toys.

Coming Events

To avoid conflicting dates, organizations, churches, clubs, etc., are invited to check and list the dates and hours of meetings, functions, with the Newton Community Council at 527-5120 for publication in this space without charge.

Schools Set For Special Scout Event

Next Thursday, November 20th, will be a special day for Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts alike. Most scouts will attend school in uniform. The day will culminate with School Night for Scouting, an all out effort throughout the City of Newton to interest boys in the Boy Scout program.

According to Paul D. Slater of Waban, Newton chairman of School Night, some schools will be open from 7:30-9:00 p.m. on Thursday, November 20th, and each boy interested in joining either Cub or Boy Scouts will have an opportunity to register in the program.

Qualified people will be on hand to render detailed explanations as to how boys benefit from "Scouts," and to answer any questions either the boys or their parents may have.

School Night for Scouting will also present an opportunity for parents to register who would like to serve in an adult capacity.

What is Christian Science?

It is a religion based on the words and works of Christ Jesus. It has helped many like you to prove in a measure the meaning of Christ Jesus' promise: "He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also." It shows the scientific basis of Christianity and how to avail yourself of the laws of God in everyday life. If you would like to learn more about Christian Science, you are welcome to come to our Reading Room and to read this week's Bible Lesson.

Noted Photographer To Be Club Guest Nov. 17

Monday, November 17th, at 1 p.m. the Waban Woman's Club will meet at the Waban Neighborhood Club to extend hospitality to the many Presidents of the Twelfth District of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Thomas D. Connolly and her Hospitality Committee will greet the guests and conduct them to the Reception. The flowers for the occasion will be arranged by Mrs. Archibald M. Price chairman of the decorating committee.

The pourers at the refreshment table will be past presidents of the Waban Women's Club: Mrs. Jerome J. Shuman 1950-52, Mrs. Henry A. Plimpton 1954-56, Mrs. Warren A. Ault 1958-60, and Mrs. Alex R. Miller 1962-64.

The Business Meeting at 2 p.m. will be conducted by Mrs. Robert L. McWilliams, the club president. She will be accompanied on the platform by Mrs. Raymond N. Peterson, president of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Robert H. Mayo, Twelfth District Director; and Mrs. George J. Brookhiser, president of the Newton Federation and State Federation Secretary and Delegate, who will each address the club members.

The highlight of the afternoon will be the film "This is New England" photographed and narrated by John Roberts. This film is one of a group of travelogues shown by the National Geographic Society and the club is fortunate to have Mr. Roberts present in person. He has photographed many of the expeditions of Lowell Thomas and his son and is considered a talented film reporter. The scenes of New England are such that even native Easterners will enjoy this beautiful movie.

At the close of this meeting, Mrs. James H. Mitchell and her committee will have tickets available for the December 8th Christmas "Antique and Handicraft Bazaar" which also include the lunch, bridge, and the "Three Gen-

Mini-Fair By Church Women Next Tuesday

Tuesday, November 18 is the date for the Mini-Fair by the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Newtonville United Methodist Church. The hours are 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

With Florence Stevens as chairman, the women are working hard to provide a tempting display of attractive and unusual items for the discriminating shopper.

One of the highlights will be a craft exhibit by Norma Garrett. The tables and their chairmen are as follows:

Aprons - Gladys Kruse; Christmas - Dorothy Smith and Faith Hawkins; Gifts - Kay Albrecht; White Elephant - Florence Munro and Emily Hudson; Food - Ruth Lombard; Candy (Kathryn Beich) - Circle I.

A snack bar presided over by Doris Huston and Gladys Morris will offer an opportunity for rest and refreshment during the sale.

Temple Emanuel Brotherhood To Meet On Sunday

Temple Emanuel Brotherhood, Newton, will hold its first breakfast meeting of the year Sunday, Nov. 16, at 9:30 a.m. at the Community Hall.

Prof. Leonard Fein, Director of Research of the M.I.T. — Harvard Joint Center for Urban Studies, and Associate Professor of Political Science at M.I.T., will be the featured speaker. His subject: "Jewish Identity."

Dr. Leon Ginsberg is program chairman, and Leonard Solov is Brotherhood President.

Underwood And Bigelow Thrift Shop Now Open

"We Try Harder" is the theme of the Bigelow-Underwood Thrift Shop. Because they are the newest resale shop in Newton, they are working even harder to attract customers and sources of good merchandise.

The shop is now selling boots, skates, and ski clothes as well as a good selection of other clothing. Pre-teen dresses and boys clothing are being featured as well as adult clothes.

The shop is open every Friday from 9 to 3 at the Grace Episcopal Church on Eldridge St. in Newton. Those with clothes to sell should bring them in between 9 and 11 a.m. They will receive 75 per cent of the proceeds and the P.T.A.s of the Underwood School and the Bigelow Jr. High School will receive 25 per cent for various student projects.

It is through the efforts of Mrs. Clifford Crowthers and Mrs. William O'Brien of the Underwood P.T.A. and Mrs. Allen Rudolph and Mrs. Hovhannes Donabedian of the Bigelow P.T.A. that the shop was started and is now running smoothly.

-Political Highlights-

The tragedy of Chappaquiddick Island, with the gossip and the innuendo it caused, eliminated Ted Kennedy as the Democratic party's top Presidential prospect for 1972.

But as matters presently stand, Ted Kennedy is not about to be defeated for reelection in Massachusetts.

Those Republican leaders who expect Congressman Silvio Conte to help balance the GOP State ticket racially and geographically next year can forget it unless the picture involving Ted Kennedy changes drastically.

One columnist recently predicted that Governor Sargent would pick Springfield Mayor Frank Freedman as the Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor next year, adding that the Governor does not expect to place an Italian-American in that space on the GOP ticket because he is confident he can convince Conte to be the nominee for U. S. Senator.

The Governor probably is in for a disappointment if that actually is his thinking. The guessing here is that he is too realistic to expect any such thing.

Mayor Freedman undoubtedly would be a help to Governor Sargent if he is tapped as the Republican nominee for Governor. Whether he would be the best choice the Governor could make is a question Mr. Sargent's advisers presumably will study carefully.

Governor Sargent, according to persons close to him, is mapping his political plans on the assumption that Mayor Kevin H. White will be his opponent next November.

Supporters of State Senate President Maurice A. Donahue, needless to say, disagree with the Governor's appraisal of the Democratic gubernatorial picture.

Since John A. Volpe won three elections to the Governorship, leaders in both political parties have become increasingly conscious of the Italian-American vote across the Commonwealth.

That is why it has been generally assumed that Sargent would select an Italo-American to be his running mate as the Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

A good possibility if he does is Anthony DeFalco of Needham, former chief secretary to Governor Volpe, Volpe's campaign manager in the 1966 election and the deputy Governor in 1967 and 1968.

Sargent and DeFalco were not the best of friends when DeFalco left the State government earlier this year, but both are good Republicans and practical politicians, and if Sargent wants DeFalco as his ticket mate, the latter is not likely to refuse.

State Senator John Quinlan, who, like Sargent, lives in Dover, hopes to get the Governor's nod for Lieutenant Governor. But persons close to the Governor say that if Congressman Conte declines to take the GOP nomination for U. S. Senate, Mr. Sargent may choose Quinlan as the man to stand against Ted Kennedy.

Child With Viet Cong Flag Causes Feeling Of Disgust

Boston's protesters and demonstrators against the war in Vietnam apparently are intent on making themselves as disgusting, revolting and obnoxious as it is possible to be.

Recently we viewed an anti-war march from the Government Centre to Copley Square in downtown Boston and the Back Bay.

We came home with a subconscious itchy sensation, a consuming desire to take a bath as quickly as possible and an overwhelming feeling of revulsion.

In the parade with the Hippies and the Yippies, the bearded and the bewhiskered, the communists and the sincerely motivated, the nutcases and the dupes—all of whom we could have taken in stride—was a little girl carrying a Viet Cong flag.

So shocking was the spectacle that the newspaper and television cameramen snapped her picture.

The little girl obviously had no realization whatever of what she was doing. The flag she was carrying might have been the Stars and Stripes as far as she was concerned. She was simply doing what she had been told to do.

She seemed to be a nice, well-disciplined little girl. This onlooker had a feeling of pity for her, a desire to pick her up and take her out of that spectacle and let her play with dolls.

Somebody in that line of march, presumably the child's mother and father, had that little girl commit an act of disloyalty to her country in order to attract attention to their communist-inspired protest.

These are the type of people striving to tell President Nixon how to end the war in Vietnam.

Kooks Who Wave Viet Cong Flags Wearsome to Writer

Maybe one of the mistakes we make is in taking too seriously the college kooks who probably would

Temple Supper Forum To Hear BC Dean Drinan

The Reverend Robert F. Drinan, S.J., Dean, Boston College School of Law, will speak on the subject "Democracy, Dissent, and Disorder" at a Supper Forum to be sponsored by the Temple Emanuel of Newton Couples Club, 6:30 p.m., Sunday, December 14th, in the Temple Community Hall, 385 Ward Street, Newton Centre.

A noted author, editor, and lecturer, Father Drinan will offer his analysis of the factors behind the student unrest which has so disrupted college campuses throughout the country.

Rabbi Samuel Chiel, Spiritual Leader of Temple Emanuel will introduce Father Drinan.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Norris are Presidents of Couples Club; Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Cohen are Supper Forum Chairmen. Dinner reservations may be made through the Temple office 332-5770.

Promotion For Newton Airman

Anthony J. Gentile, son of Mr. and Mrs. Annino Gentile, 254 California St., Newton, has been promoted to airman first class in the U.S. Air Force.

Airman Gentile is an aircraft mechanic at Luke AFB, Ariz., with the 58th Organizational Maintenance Squadron, a unit of the Tactical Air Command which provides combat air support for U.S. ground forces.

The airman is a 1967 graduate of Newton High School.

have difficulty supporting themselves but who spend much of their time telling other people how to conduct their affairs.

This is true in the vast majority of university demonstrations where it is not always clear just what the protesters are protesting.

But because it is assumed—sometimes mistakenly—that they are university students, they are viewed more seriously and treated more gently than if they were known to be the professional agitators, dupes and buffoons they really are.

For example, fewer than half the persons participating in the recent sit-in at M.I.T. were students at that great institution. Most of those who were students were not smart enough to realize they were being duped by communists.

Personally, we're getting a little weary of the young punks, students or otherwise, who wave Viet Cong flags and chant "Ho Ho Ho Chi Minh, the NLF is going to win."

The nutcases on the faculties of some universities uphold the right of students to engage in this demonstration of disloyalty. In our considered judgment, the chanting students, the Viet Cong flags and the nutty professors should all be swept up and carted to the nearest funny house.

The newspapers recently carried stories of the student newspaper at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst which published an editorial laced with obscenities denouncing President Nixon.

The editorial itself was so amateurish and poorly done that any competent newspaper editor would have tossed it in the nearest trash barrel as too silly to publish, even cleansed of its obscenities.

Here are a couple of the more tempered paragraphs from the editorial:

"I have always hated Richard Nixon because he represents the sterile, patriotic, white Anglo-Saxon Protestant, and his speech only serves to intensify my hatred."

"For any person to believe that communism is a monolithic force that is bent to destroy us is naive. For the President of the United States to believe this is tragic. He stated that the United States will not accept defeat and will not be humiliated. This I can not take."

The editorial, of course, was written as a reaction to President Nixon's speech on Vietnam.

The student who wrote it may have done a great disservice to the faculty members at the University of Massachusetts.

Legislators who appropriate public funds for the operation of the university are likely to figure they are wasting money if that's the best editorial a student can produce."

It seems that the undergraduate newspaper has a policy of publishing any editorial written by a member of its editorial staff as long as he signs his name to it.

As the dean observed in declaring that he contemplated no action against the author of the editorial: "It's a lousy way to run a newspaper."

If the student writes another editorial like that, he's likely to get laughed out of college if he doesn't get thrown out.

Newsmen, who regularly cover the protests and demonstrations, tell us they see many of the same protesters at Postoffice Square in downtown Boston, at Harvard, M.I.T., Tufts, Brandeis and elsewhere.

A scheduled demonstration at M.I.T., they point out, had to be postponed because the demonstrators were busy at Tufts that day.

They estimate that only a small percentage of the protesters at any university are actually students of that university and that 90 to 95 per cent of the students at colleges where demonstrations are staged want to pursue their studies and not be disturbed by the protesters.

One veteran reporter declared that the average citizen would be astonished and dismayed to learn how high the percentage of communists are among the demonstrators. They are the ones who usually show up as pickets at every demonstration, protest and sit-in, wherever it may be.

That would seem to be another reason why these protesters should not be treated as seriously as they are or be covered by the television stations as if they were fighting to find a cure for cancer.

THE MAN IN THE MOON

Report In Washington Says McCormack Not To Run Again

One of the most respected and reliable News Letters in Washington is telling its clients that Speaker John W. McCormack probably will not seek reelection next year despite what he is now saying.

Authors of the Letter express the opinion that McCormack could not win another term as the presiding officer of the national House even if he is reelected by the people of his district.

They believe that the scandals in his office and his age will prevent him from achieving the Speakership again.

That is contrary to the political judgment here in Boston, but the people who circulate the letter have a pretty good insight into the sentiment of the Democratic Congressmen, whose votes would place McCormack in the Speakership or keep him out of it.

If John McCormack does retire from Congress after serving 42 years on Capitol Hill, there will be a rush of candidates to succeed him.

The vote probably would be divided in so many ways it is difficult to tell who might emerge victorious.

Possible candidates include ex-Mayor John F. Collins, Mrs. Louise Day Hicks, City Councillor Thomas I. Atkins, State Senators Joseph Moakley of South Boston and George V. Kennealy of Dorchester, former State Senator James W. Hennigan of Jamaica Plain and former Attorney General Edward J. McCormack.

The position of Congressman has become an extremely attractive one, and a fierce fight would be certain to erupt for McCormack's seat if he steps out.

Dove Brooke Backs Speech By Nixon on War in Vietnam

It didn't arouse as much attention or cause as much commotion as you might expect, but Senator Edward W. Brooke, the dove of the doves, has endorsed President Nixon's Vietnam policy.

Brooke says the President's Nov. 3 speech on the war should be recognized as a basic reversal of the previous policy of ever-mounting U.S. involvement in the war.

He commended much of Mr. Nixon's address and expressed surprise so little attention was given to the fundamental commitment made by the President.

Pres. Nixon One Person Who Can Get Telegram Delivered

One of the better syndicated humorists can't figure out how President Nixon got that big pile of telegrams on his desk so quickly the morning after he delivered his speech on the war in Vietnam.

The columnist says that when he sends a telegram, the Western Union calls up and reads it to the person to whom it is directed, notwithstanding the fact that if he had wanted that done, he would have made a telephone call in the first place.

Then the Western Union mails the telegram so the person to whom it is sent will have a copy of it.

The humorist observes that if he had wanted the telegram sent by mail, he would have written a letter, and besides mailed telegrams could not have reached Mr. Nixon in time to be on his desk bright and early the morning after his speech.

It seems, according to the columnist, that for an extra 75 cents you can have your telegram delivered instead of telephoned and mailed, but he strongly doubts that many persons sending Mr. Nixon expressions of their support authorized Western Union to add 75 cents to the tab.

A very strong suspicion exists that Western Union shows a little extra favoritism for the President of the United States and delivers his telegrams by hand, especially when he gets them in wholesale batches.

Editorial . . .

Why Are They Silent?

A rather ominous contradiction appears with frequency in the behavior of campus radicals and other extremist critics of our customs and institutions and our participation in the Vietnam war.

With vituperation and brickbats they storm the establishment; they damn the inhumanity of previous generations; they have respect for neither the law nor the individual who happens to disagree with them.

While they talk of brotherhood and compassion in general terms, they seek to wipe out the structure of laws, government and business that has brought a greater measure of justice and compassion to the lives of men than any other system ever devised.

The dissenters are blind to the world beyond the continental limits of the United States. For example:

Recently, in an Associated Press story out of Washington, two American prisoners of war returned from prison camps in North Vietnam described their ordeal and those of other American prisoners still in the hands of their North Vietnamese captors.

One man told of American prisoners having their fingernails pulled out, of being burned with cigaret ends, beaten, suspended from beams by ropes and cast into tiny, almost airless cells for months on end.

By telling the truth about what treatment American prisoners receive at the hands of Communists, the freed man hoped to encourage world opinion to force Hanoi to treat prisoners more humanely.

This is a cause in which campus radicals, who profess so much compassion for their fellowmen, could well join.

Why are they silent?

Words From Another Age

On a small island in the Potomac River near the heart of the nation's capital stands the Theodore Roosevelt Memorial. The National Park Service maintains the island in its natural wooded state.

The Memorial, dedicated two years ago, was recently the subject of a moving commentary by a newspaper columnist, James J. Kilpatrick. He noted quotations of Teddy Roosevelt on the Memorial as words that belong to a different age — an age that many of the young today would call square.

To youth Roosevelt said, "I want to see you game boys. I want to see you brave and manly, and I also want to see you gentle and tender. Be practical as well as generous in your ideals."

"Keep your eyes on the stars, but remember to keep your feet on the ground. Courage, hard work, self-mastery, and intelligent effort are all essential to successful life. Alike for the nation and the individual, the one indispensable requisite is character."

Concludes Kilpatrick, "Teddy Roosevelt has been dead for 50 years. God knows we need his like today."

Fine List Of Soloists In Mozart Concert In Newton

Two Mozart works, recently completed by Robert D. Levin of Philadelphia's Curtis Institute, were given their world premiere at the Newton Symphony concert on November 9th. An unbelievably fine list of soloists joined conductor Michael Sasson for this one-in-a-lifetime musical event.

Ralph Gomberg, principal oboist of the Boston Symphony Orchestra was soloist in the Mozart-Levin Concerto for Oboe (F) K. 293. His playing was gemlike and the Levin more technically Mozart than Mozart himself. A fine performance — clear, sparkling and relaxed. There is certainly no implicit criticism here of the Gomberg-Levin effort, but this reviewer has never understood the rationalists behind any cadenza at all.

Joseph Silverstein, concertmaster Burton Fine, and Jules Eskin respectively first chair viola and first chair cello of the Boston Symphony Orchestra soloed in the Sinfonia Concertante (A) K. 320e. It was most exciting; the interplay between soloists was lovely and the orchestral intonation near perfect — a real feat after six days of rain. Mr. Levin showed his knowledge and understanding of the composer by completing this work in a manner true to the Mozartian letter and word.

We owe much to M. Sasson for his creativity, organizational ability, and devotion to the musical scene for providing us with these two rare treats.

The Suite from "La Boutique Fantasque" by Rossini (orchestrated by Respighi) provided a just plain fun start for the concert. Max Hobart, the Newton Symphony's Concertmaster, and Gloria Francis, its first chair cellist gave notably fine readings in this series of pieces in which another playing might see the omission of the Mazurka and the Valse Lente. The great contrasts in dynamic levels were handled excellently throughout.

It was in Dvorak's Symphony No. 9 Opus 95 (From the "New World") that Michel Sasson's talents showed most emphatically. The orchestra sounded truly professional — good color, never straining. A dramatic piece of music so accurately controlled. The Adagio was lyrical and finely delineated. In the Largo, mention must be made of Stephen Goble's startling fine playing of the passages for English Horn. The Scherzo showed accurate and extremely musical handling of rhythmic precision. The last movement, an Allegro brought a stirring end to a brilliant concert. Molto Bravo!

Country Players Plan New Faces For Upcoming Shows

The Country Players of Newton will introduce many new faces to the community theatre-goers with the first production of the season, "Little Mary Sunshine," on two consecutive weekends, Nov. 14-16, Nov. 21-23 at the Rebecca Pomeroy House, 34 Eldredge St., Newton. The Friday and Saturday evening performances are at 8:30, the Sunday evening performances at 8 p.m. and the Sunday matinee Nov. 16 at 2 p.m.

Making their debut with the Players are Jill Silverman, Jim Geisman and Jim Carroll. Dona Thorman is directing this musical and Mari'n Krassin is producing it. Musical director is Gary Maurer and choreography is being done by Margaret Annis.

Jill Silverman appears with the Players for the first time after being in Harvard Law School original shows for the past two years. She also starred in a 1966 Newton South High School production. Another newcomer to the Players is Jim Geisman who comes to us after starring in various MIT Community Player productions, such as "This is Bill Speaking," "Try, Try," "The Golden Screw," "Li'l Abner," "Guys and Dolls," "The Merchant," and "The Mikado."

Jim Carroll is a seasoned Corporal Billy in "Little Mary Sunshine," having played it elsewhere in 1969. He has also played such roles as King Arthur in "Camelot," the Baron in "The Madwoman of Chaillot," Billis in "South Pacific," and Prince Edward in "Richard III."

Newton-Wellesley Hospital Diabetic Lecture Nov. 18th

A major event in the statewide observance of Diabetes Month takes place at Newton-Wellesley Hospital next Tuesday evening, November 18.

At 8 p.m. in the hospital's Usen Auditorium, the Greater Boston Diabetes Society is sponsoring a special lecture for diabetics living in the Greater Boston area, as well as for people who wish to learn more about the disease.

The host chapter for the special program is the Newton-Wellesley Diabetes Club.

November has been designated Diabetes Month in a proclamation issued by Governor Francis W. Sargent.

The proclamation notes a simple and quick test detects the presence of diabetes, an illness suffered unknowingly by an estimated 2-million Americans. Early detection is the sure and positive way to bring the illness under control.

During November, a diabetes detection drive is being carried out across the Commonwealth, under the sponsorship of the New England Diabetes Association, the Greater Boston Diabetes Society and the Massachusetts Hospital Association.

The Newton meeting, open without charge to the public, will be attended by officers and members of the Newton-Waltham Diabetes Club and the Greater Boston Diabetes Society. Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the program.

Speaker for this occasion will be Dr. Ronald A. Arky whose subject will be "Obesity and Its Relation to Diabetes." Introducing him will be

Meets Nov. 19

The Newton Smith College Club invites members and friends of Smith College to a morning coffee at the home of Mrs. Philip Monahan, 5

Chester Street, Newton Highlands, on Wednesday, November 19 at 9:45 to hear the club councillor present her report on the fall meeting of Smith College alumnae in Northampton in October.

Mrs. Irving Madoff, who went as a guest of the college and as an official representative of the Smith Club, is the speaker. Mrs. Seymour Kaufman will preside at the meeting. Mrs. Donald L. Saunders arranged the program. Mrs. Melvin Chalfen is in charge of the coffee hour.

Miss Mary Ellen Collins. She is a member of the special committee planning the White House Conference on Food and Nutrition, the President of the Greater Boston Diabetes Society and a nutritionist at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital.

Appearing as well will be Diane Schulhoff, M.D. of West Newton, chairman of the diabetes detection drive presently being conducted by the Charles River District Medical Society.

Questions about the Newton meeting or about diabetes can be telephoned to a past-president of the Newton-Waltham Diabetes Club, Mr. Samuel M. Shriberg at 527-5577.

the figures from the voting machines and then add the totals for each candidate.

So while the use of extra machines helped to prevent a slowdown in the voting while the polls were open, it lengthened the time it took to tabulate the vote totals after the polls were closed.

Newton leased the voting machines for this year's municipal election and next year's primary and state elections at a cost of $25,000.

City officials must decide in December of next year whether they wish to buy the voting machines. If they elect to do so, the $25,000 will be deducted from the purchase price.

Executive Secretary Licia Licarie praised the Graphic and other news media as well as the League of Women Voters for helping to educate Newton voters on the use of the Automatic machines.

In the mayoralty race the election night tabulations gave Mayor Basbas 12,186 votes and Representative Fishman 11,931.

Since voting machines were used in last week's election for the first time in Newton's history, the recount will consist of taking the totals off the voting machines for Basbas and Fishman and for Bullwinkle and Aucoin and then adding them.

Executive Secretary Alan Licarie of the city election department hopes to have an agreement by this morning among all parties involved, that the recount will be held next Tuesday.

If so, the recount will begin in the City Hall Cafeteria at 9 a.m. on Tuesday. However, teams of observers then will visit each of the city's polling places as they watch the totals being copied from the voting machines in a repetition of the procedures followed on election night.

Newton ACLD Meets Tonight At 2nd Church

The Newton Association for Children with Learning Disabilities (ACLD) will hold an open meeting tonight (Nov. 13) at 8 p.m. at the Second Church, Highland Street, West Newton.

"BRIGHT BOY, POOR SCHOLAR" a film produced by the Canadian Broadcasting System at the Montreal Children's Hospital Learning Center will be shown as part of the evening's program.

The featured speaker will be Pamela Kvikleval, Supervisor of Tutors, who will describe "The Child in the Learning Disability Program of the Newton Schools."

Newton ACLD is dedicated to helping the child described by the National Advisory Committee on Handicapped Children of the Office of Education in the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare as "a child with special learning disabilities who exhibits a disorder in one or more of the basic processes involved in understanding or in using spoken or written languages. These may be manifested in disorders of listening, thinking, talking, reading, writing, spelling or arithmetic. They include conditions which have been referred to as perceptual handicaps, minimal brain dysfunction, dyslexia, developmental phasia, etc. They do not include learning problems which are due primarily to visual, hearing, or motor handicaps, to mental retardation, emotional disturbance or to environmental disadvantage."

The primary goal of the Newton group is to promote the education and welfare of these children by working actively to support and extend Newton's program for these educationally handicapped children; by seeking to inform professionals and parents about this rapidly growing field; by learning more about the critical role which parents play in the child's readiness for learning; by keeping informed of and supporting legislation to provide increased state and federal funding to upgrade the educational programs in this field; by learning how more effective communication between parents and school will greatly benefit these children.

Mr. and Mrs. George Fortune, co-presidents, wish to extend an invitation to all parents, educators and other interested professionals to attend this first open meeting of the 1969-1970 calendar.

A very unusual assembly was recently held to introduce sophomores to the American Field Service. Jon Scheff and Maureen Traber, co-chairmen of the A.F.S. at Newton South began by explaining how the organization was started and what its purpose is presently.

The president of the Harvard AFS Returnee Club, Tom Tiffany, then took over the assembly and greatly changed the atmosphere. His thick, bushy hair, red jersey, and dungearees exemplified his spirit.

He told very little about the AFS, but his speech was well received by the sophomores as they listened attentively and joined in his laughter. Tom insisted that now is the time to get together with people all over the world. He warned that retelling his experiences would not be as meaningful as going out and really doing something.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton South High

By JANICE E. KAPLAN

Parents of Newton South students had a chance to go back to school this week! There was an Open House from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Parents followed their son or daughter's regular Monday schedule, however each class only lasted ten minutes.

During the time, teachers briefly outlined their objectives and expectations for the particular course. The purpose of the evening was to acquaint parents with their child's teachers and classes.

The confused parents were very grateful to the student guides. Ten minutes were allotted for the adults to get from one class to another. As junior's handwriting was often hard to decipher, the guides saved many a distraught parent.

Refreshments were served in each Commons Room. The evening was, in the words of one parent: "An interesting and informative program — tiring too!"

The class of 1970 has planned a campaign to raise money. It is estimated that between five and six thousand dollars is necessary for successful class events. They include the Senior Supper, Class Gift, and Senior Prom. The class treasury currently has only two hundred dollars.

There are many fund raising activities planned for the year. Six foot scarves in school colors are now on sale. Plans are being formulated for an auction in January. It is also hoped that there will be a Newton South night at a Boston Celtics basketball game.

Denebola, the school news paper, is excellent this year. It is printed every other week. The paper sells for fifteen cents.

David Cohen is the editor-in-chief, and Laurie Shalom and Mike Tighe are the executive editors. The teacher advisor is Mrs. Breech. They are backed by large editorial and reporting staffs.

Moratorium Group Active . . . Newtonites To Take Part At Washington, Fitchburg

A minimum of 200 Newton adults and students will travel by bus to the Washington Moratorium demonstration on Saturday, November 15.

The New Mobilization Committee in Cambridge has reserved at least five buses to leave from two departure points in Newton, the "Peace Boutique", 811 Washington St., Newtonville, and Newton

South High School at approximately midnight, Friday, November 14.

Most buses will leave Washington at 8 p.m. Saturday to arrive in Newton between 6 and 7 a.m. Sunday morning. One Newton bus will remain overnight to make the return trip on Sunday.

At least 100 students from the three local high schools plan to attend the march, but all buses will carry adult monitors, and written permission is required for bus transportation for demonstrators under 16.

Local organizers have strongly recommended that each traveler take sufficient food and drinking water for the day. The Newton Moratorium Committee is making an effort to include medical personnel on each bus.

Participants in the earlier "March Against Death" will leave by bus from Freedom Square, Boylston and Mt. Auburn Sts., Cambridge, at 5 p.m., Thursday, Nov. 13, with at least one person to march for each of the 1000 approximate, listed Massachusetts war dead as well as for a group of destroyed Vietnamese villages.

Newton High school students, organized by Larry Stern and John Scheff of South School and by Michael Alpert of North High have made signs carrying the individual names of the state's war dead.

Newtonites observing the November 13 and 14 Moratorium days are also asked to participate in community leafletting and to attend a Third Congressional District Assembly directed at the attention of Congressman Philip Philbin, a ranking member of the House Armed Forces Committee.

Retired Masons Asked to Attend

The Newton Moratorium Committee, chaired by Michael Malec of Newton Highlands, has joined with similar committees in other District Towns to sponsor a public assembly on Vietnam on Saturday evening, Nov. 15 at 8 p.m. at Weston Auditorium of Fitchburg State College in cooperation with the "Peace Now" Committee on the campus.

A program of Vietnam films and speakers is planned. Congressman Philbin, whose home and office is in nearby Clinton, has been invited to attend or participate in the assembly.

Bus transportation to Fitchburg will leave from the "Peace Boutique" at 811 Washington St. at 6:45 p.m. Saturday. Reservations can be made at 332-6507 (days) and 332-0121 (evenings).

Leaflets presenting rebuttals of President Nixon's Nov. 3 address will be distributed both Thursday and Friday, Nov. 13 and 14 at MBTA stations and shopping centers.

Material will be supplied to Moratorium days are also volunteers from the Peace Boutique which will be open from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. both days. Mrs. Mary Hadcock of District Assembly directed at

1500 To Attend Next Sunday Forster To Be Keynote At Annual B'nai B'rith Event

Arnold Forster, General Counsel of the B'nai B'rith Anti-Defamation League, will be keynote speaker at the 17th annual Covenant Breakfast of the B'nai B'rith Council of Greater Boston, Sidney Silberberg, chairman, announced last night.

More than 1500 are expected to attend the annual breakfast, which will be held Sunday morning, Nov. 23, at the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Boston starting at 9:30 a.m.

George Roberts, past president of the Council, will introduce the head table guests. Mr. Forster, nationally known authority on human and constitutional rights, will discuss "Discrimination and Bigotry Today."

As General Counsel to ADL, Mr. Forster has directed a staff of legal associates in the preparation of numerous legal briefs involving fundamental issues of civil rights.

Included among these were friend-of-the-court briefs submitted to the Supreme Court of the United States in the historic public school segregation case and in many others involving constitutional rights.

As an author, he has written such publications as "A Measure of Freedom," "Some of My Best Friends," "Danger on the Right" and most recently, "The Radical Right."

A highlight of the 17th Annual Covenant Breakfast of the Greater Boston B'nai B'rith Council will be the presentation of various awards to outstanding leaders ers and organizations in the community. Two such awards will be "Man of the Year" and "Lodge of the Year" citations.

President of the B'nai B'rith Council is Nathan C. Wyman. Coordinator of the breakfast is Philip L. Buxbaum, director of the Boston B'nai B'rith office.

Dean's List Student

At convocation exercises held November 12 in Laetare Hall of Cardinal Cushing College, Brookline, Mrs. Carole Felopulos, a junior, won high honors for the second semester, attaining the Dean's List.

Carole is the wife of John P. Felopulos and resides at 86 Waban Ave., Waban.

Open House At Mass. Bay C.C. Jewish Center

Newton students and parents interested in the annual open house at Massachusetts Bay Community College are invited to attend from 2 to 5 p.m. at the campus at 57 Stanley Ave., Watertown, on Sunday (Nov. 16).

M.B.C.C. opened its doors in September 1961, to its first class, numbering few more than 400 people. In September 1969 the day school registered more than 1360 students. The Summer session which concluded in August, and the Fall Evening Division combined to accommodate over 2700 additional students.

Degree Programs are offered in Liberal Arts, Business Administration, Secretarial Science, Electronics Technology and Nursing. In addition the College also offers programs in Early Childhood Education, Federal Employees Career Program, Fire Science, Law Enforcement and Rehabilitation, Specialization Program for the B.R.A. and to conclude, in 1964 the College initiated the Summer-Evening Entrance Program, which enables students who haven't met college day standards, to further their education and eventually enter the day division.

Exhibits and tours of the major facilities of the campus will be offered with students, faculty and administration hosting the event.

To the President of the United States of America:

On November 11, 1967, two hundred and thirteen professional employees of the Newton, Massachusetts public school system sent this statement to the President of the United States:

We, the undersigned teachers and staff of the Newton public schools, call for an immediate end of the bombing of North Vietnam to provide a climate for a negotiated settlement with the North Vietnamese government and with the National Liberation Front.

The war is not only destroying, physically and morally, the country it is supposed to be saving, but it is conditioning Asians to suspect American motives and acts. And the conduct of the war negates the very humanistic values we try to encourage in our students.

Today, we, the undersigned professional employees of the Newton public school system, reaffirm these sentiments and call for an immediate end to the war.

Double Ring Ceremony For Miss Fiorentino, Mr. Lind

Now residing at 30 Howland street in Needham are Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Kirby Lind (the former Mary Edith Fiorentino), who were married at a recent ceremony in St. Joseph's Church, Needham.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Fiorentino of Needham; her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Lind of Newton Upper Falls.

The Rev. John Garrity officiated at the double ring ceremony, after which a reception was held at the Lakewood Country Club in Natick.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by Miss Jane Marie Brown of Needham as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Ann Fiorentino of Dedham, cousin of the bride; Miss Ann Marie Coughlin of Needham, and Miss Antoinette Guardabascio of Dedham.

Serving as best man for his brother was Mr. G. Carlton Lind of Needham, and ushers included Mr. Nicholas J. Fiorentino of Needham, brother of the bride; Mr. David R. Downs of Needham, and Mr. Steven A. Lind of Newton, brother of the bridegroom.

For their wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Lind went to New York state, Pennsylvania and Virginia.

Miss Jane Dewey Becomes Mrs. Stephen B. McKenna

St. John's Lutheran Church, Green Lane, Pa., was the setting recently for the marriage of Miss Jane Cornell Dewey to Stephen Brian McKenna.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert C. Dewey of Green Lane, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Frank McKenna of 270 Linwood avenue, Newtonville, are the groom's parents.

The Rev. Robert J. Harding of the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville, officiated at the 11:30 o'clock double ring service. A reception was held at Candlewyck Inn.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's silk and worsted gown was fashioned with an empire bodice, long bell sleeves and skirt panels banded with lace.

A Dior bow was fastened with a short illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of white asters, mums and daisies. Miss Linda Husted of Boulder, Colorado, was maid of honor. She wore a dress similar to the bride's but in purple. She carried a bouquet of purple and lavender asters with white daisies.

Similarly attired, the bridesmaids were the bride's sister, Mrs. Ronald Godshall of Pennsburg, Pa., and Miss Roberta Harding of Boston.

Young Christina Jane Godshall was her aunt's flower girl. She was a miniature of the other attendants and carried her flowers in a basket.

The best man was Kenneth Doane of Newtonville. Craig McKenna and John Harding, both of Newtonville, joined John Leehman of Greene, N.Y., as ushers.

Mr. McKenna and his bride are living in Boston.

The bride was graduated from Solebury School and attended the University of Colorado. She is associated with the Francis Countway Memorial Library of Harvard Medical School.

Mr. McKenna is a graduate of Newton High School and is now attending the Northeastern University College of Education.

Jewish Center Annual Cabaret Due on Dec. 6

The 13th Annual Cabaret Night of the Brookline-Brighton-Newton Jewish Community Center will be held Saturday evening, December 6, at 8:15 p.m.

Announcement of the event, which will be held in the Singal Gymnasium of the BBN Center, 50 Sutherland Road, Brookline, was made this week by David L. Weltman, president.

A special Mardi-gras theme will highlight the festivities which will include both a supper and a midnight snack. Tony Vye and his orchestra will be featured. Favors and door prizes will be given, including a free vacation at a Catskill Mountain resort.

Proceeds from the evening will go to the Center's Camp Fund. The Brookline-Brighton-Newton Jewish Community Center is an affiliate of the Associated Jewish Community Centers, a constituent agency of the combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston.

Lions Blank Rindge Tech 16-0, For First Victory

By STEVE SAHL

After six straight losses this year, the Newton South Lions, led by a staunch defense and fierce ground attack, defeated Rindge Tech, 16-0.

South had many chances to score, but failed to capitalize until the fourth quarter. In the first period, the Lions received the ball on their own 41 via a Rindge punt and marched all the way down to the Rindge two. Then with only 1:06 left in the first period, a fumble on the center exchange gave the ball to Rindge.

The second period began and the Lions stopped Rindge cold. Rindge was forced to punt and South got the ball back on their own 49. This time, they were unable to move the ball. Co-captain Paul Dumais got off a very weak punt and Rindge began to move. They drove from their own 40 to South's 32. Here, South's tough defense took over and gave the ball to the Lions through downs. With 4:22 left in the half, the Newton South Lions began to drive. Junior halfback, Dave Leyton, starting in his first varsity game, sparked the drive. He gained 11, nine, seven and four yards to give the Lions four first downs. With fourth down and 15 on the Rindge 24, Nelson threw a screen to co-captain Fred Virgilio who rambled down to the Rindge 11-yard line. With third down and nine yards to go for the first down, Nelson attempted two passes, both of which were unsuccessful. The half ended in a scoreless tie.

Newton South kicked off to Rindge to open the second half and Senior Ed Glazer made the tackle. Again the Lions' defense held and Rindge was forced to punt.

Senior John Corcoran, who played an excellent game at safety, was back to receive the punt. He took the ball deep in his own territory and returned it to his 44. If he had not slipped in the mud, he could have gone all the way. From here, South's ground game took over.

Leyton ran for 12 yards and a first down, Staulo for 10, and Leyton for 15. After a hard series of downs, South found itself with fourth and a foot at the Rindge seven yard line. Nelson gave the ball to Leyton, who barreled over the four for the first down. Staulo moved the ball to the two but the Lions were given a 15-yard penalty. With third down and 17 to go for the T.D., Nelson faked a pass to Levine and fired one to Fred Virgilio who was standing all alone in the end zone. Nelson ran the ball in for the conversion to make the score 8-0.

The Lions kicked off and again Ed Glazer made the tackle. Again, the South defense held and the Lions received the ball at their own 28. Nelson, on third down, went back and fired a 23-yard pass to Emmmons Levine, who had been double covered all afternoon. Virgilio ran for 12 yards and South had the ball on the Rindge 10 with a first and goal to go.

Junior Dave Leyton ran to the five yard and Bob Staulo carried the ball to the one yard line. Nelson handed the ball off to Staulo again, who plunged into the end zone. The conversion play was the exact same play as the one before and South led 16-0 with 1:45 left to play.

South's defense, which played its best game by far held Rindge on four downs. The Lions got the ball back and with the help of Howie Haines' spectacular 23 yard run, ran out the clock to preserve a 16-0 victory.

Thus, South won its first game. Dave Leyton gained over 100 yards. The defensive secondary led by John Corcoran, John Delaney and Rich Lerner held the Rindge offense to one-pass completion all day. Steve Hurter who played a kind of tight safety was all over the field and played a sensational game. Deluca and Selli played a fine game in the line and Bruce Gordon did a fine job facing 310 lb. Dennis McCarthy of Rindge. The game was a hard-fought, spirited contest in which South outplayed Rindge and emerged victorious.

Newton Bombs Boston Latin 33-7, For Sixth Grid Win

By JEFF GROSSMAN

The Newton High defense set up three first half scores with fumble recoveries and the offense moved when given the opportunity as Newton High bombed Boston Latin last Saturday at Dickinson Stadium, 33 to 7.

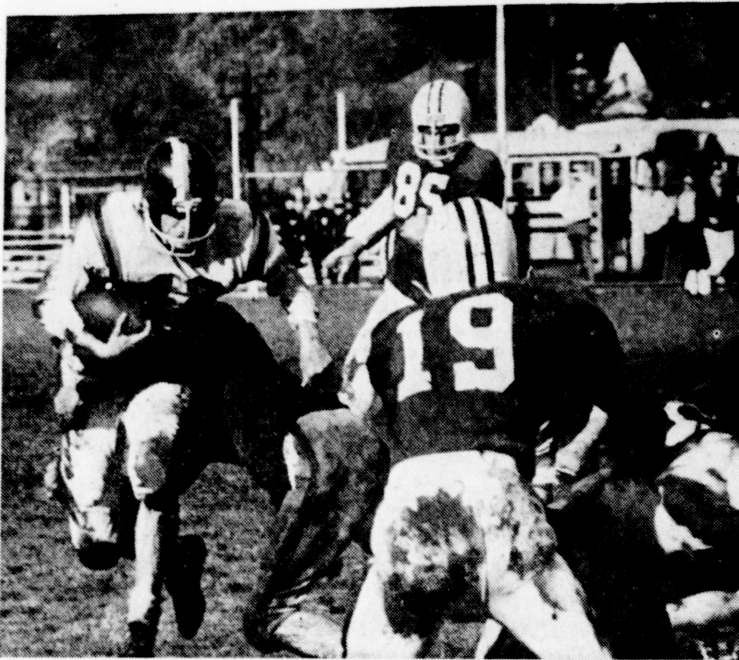

The victory pushed Newton's record to 6 and 1 while Latin has won four times. Newton plays a tough Waltham team this Saturday at home.

Co-captain Bob Wargin scored first in the opening period on an 8 yard run over right tackle. Mammoth defensive end Steve Frager recovered a fumble at the visitor's 12 to provide the scoring chance.

Keith Kozlowski booted the extra point. The usually consistent place-kicker hit on only three of five PAT's last Saturday, far below his average.

Newton scored on the second play of the second stanza on a Keefe to Norcross 25 yard scoring strike. These six points were also provided largely in part by the defense.

Ray Ball, who also intercepted a pass, recovered Bill McHugh's fumble at the Latin 40 after the Boston back had gained 18 yards on a draw. Not too much later, exactly one play to be exact, NHS again had the ball at the vic-

ALL WRAPPED UP — Halfback Mark Lennon runs into a wall of Boston Latin School defenders during last Saturday's game at Dickinson Stadium which Newton won, 33-7, for its sixth victory of the season. Later, Lennon scored on a touch-down pass from Quarterback Keefe. Lennon, a junior, also plays in the defensive secondary and returns punts and kickoffs. (Photo by Whitehouse Productions)

Profile of an Athlete

By LEWIS FREEDMAN

The tall, lithe black man rocked forward slightly on his right foot, his whole body tensed. He began his approach slowly, then quickened his step. A long, tautly muscled leg kicked up; the entire figure wrapped itself around the bar and the trailing leg kicked out. The smile spread over his face before he landed on the foam-rubber sponges.

John Thomas, 1969. Now, two years into retirement, the world's greatest high-jumper still leaps over the 6-10 barrier with the same seemingly effortless style that catapulted him to world fame at the start of the decade at Boston University.

At 23, John Thomas is still a superbly conditioned athlete. His 6-5½, 190-pound frame is still slender and well-muscled. Only the competitive edge is missing. For two years now, in addition to his job as probation officer in Roxbury Court, Thomas has been assistant Boston University track coach.

It was a new challenge for the man who had everything. Thirteen different times John Thomas had broken the world high jump record, clearing the seven-foot, four-inch mark. 191 times he had leaped over the seven-foot barrier—nearly 150 times more anyone else. Twice being a member of the United States Olympic team (1960, 1964), he had gold and silver medals for his efforts.

And John Thomas looked around for new worlds to conquer. It took adjustment, but Thomas thinks he's made it. "I enjoy coaching very much now. When I first started I was very frustrated. For years, since I started college, I had only been competing against and associating with world class athletes. It was very difficult for me to realize that not every boy had the talent to become a world champion. I think I pushed some boys too hard because I did not realize this right away. I thought he wasn't trying, and yet he was trying his best. Gradually, I've made the adjustment and now I try not to expect too much from a boy with limited potential and ability.

"This year is different, though. Ten members of the freshman team are potential stars." JT, as he is called by his athletes, is looking forward to big things this year from Terrier Co-captain John Winkowicz. Winkowicz was over 6-8 and grabbed second place in the IC4A's as a sophomore. Last year, he suffered a broken leg in the fall, but came back to jump 6-7. Thomas feels that Winkowicz can get up to 6-10.

It is doubtful, though, whether Thomas' old school marks are in danger. His standards of 7-3½ indoors and 7½ outdoors, will most likely not be menaced.

Born in Cambridge, Thomas came to Boston University by way of Rindge Technical High School where he had already established a national reputation.

Three times in high school Thomas leaped over the 6-8¼ mark, which still ranks him as one of the top prep jumpers in history. He still owns every Massachusetts class record that he competed in, plus the New England standard.

Rindge Tech was a track power in the late '50s and for that reason John Thomas first became interested in track and field. That, and, as he puts it, "I couldn't make any other team, except tennis, which I soon forgot about because of its conflict with track."

This seemingly derogatory statement about his own athletic ability is curious, for only a few years later Thomas was an all-purpose superstar for the Terriers, combining spring, speed, strength, power, and remarkable coordination.

Present BU varsity coach, Billy Smith, thinks, "Thomas could have been a great decathlete."

Boston Latin scored at 2:01 of the final period on a four yard halfback option pass from Co-captain Norm Finley to end Fran Cronin. Paul Nicholas kicked the seventh point.

With 3:59 remaining, Mark Lennon was on the end of Keefe's third touchdown pass from 26 yards away. Newton faces a tough Waltham team Saturday. The Hawks have shot down Haverhill (undefeated at the time) and Weymouth earlier in the year.

The NHS secondary has intercepted 18 passes in seven games. The pillars are well divided between nine individuals. Frank DiReubis, Ray Ball and Chuck Pendergast have three steals. John Murphy, Bob Wargin and Mark Lennon have two apiece. Gerry Coleman, Jim Doolin and Dan Borden have one each.

Tiger Soccer Team Eliminated In Tourney Semi-Finals, 3-2

The Newton High soccer team spotted New Bedford three first period goals and scored two in the final period to just fall short, 3-2, in the semi-finals of the Eastern Massachusetts State Tournament last Saturday at Gordon Field, Waltham.

After New Bedford had controlled first half play, the Suburban League Champs came storming back in the second half for two goals and numerous near misses left them one short at the end.

"When a team is down 3 to 0 in the first half, it is quite easy to fold up but we refused to and came back. If the game had gone a few minutes longer, I feel certain that we could've tied the score and taken the game in overtime," Coach Gordon Elliot stated.

The first period was demoralizingly all New Bedford. Tom Borgeis scored from Wayne Cadieux and Cadieux tallied from Borgeis for the first two scores. Junior Cardoza scored on a long curving shot just before the conclusion of the quarter.

Newton's only first half hope occurred when the Tiger's were awarded a penalty kick. Penalty kicks have been a Newton weakness this year, however, and Abe Oros, who, along with Aronian led Newton with three tourney goals, missed the free kick.

In the third period the play began to shift as Newton began their comeback. First, Aronian scored on an assist from Mark Volk. Volk, one of the tri-captains stood out all year as one player who possessed an abnormal amount of intestinal fortitude as displayed by the time he spent on the turf. After a scramble in front of the goal, Oros scored with an assist going to tri-captain Jim Broderick. That was it for scoring. There were other chances but Newton couldn't convert. The Newton backline kept the ball in enemy territory and provided the chances.

Newton's last and, perhaps, best chance came on a break-away. Aronian broke up the middle and the New Bedford goalie came out to cut down the angle. The short senior booted the ball and the goalie fell on the ground with it and Aronian, unable to stop, cart-wheeled over him.

The win put New Bedford into the finals against Duxbury. For Newton, it was a season which began with three lettermen, the last ever, and ended with a Suburban League Championship and two tourney wins.

The team entered Tournament action last week by up-ending Andover on Monday and Braintree on Wednesday to move into the semi-finals.

The Andover game was to be played at Lincoln Sudbury but rain had turned that field into a quagmire so the site was shifted to Framingham. Newton pulled away in the last period of the Andover contest after being tied 2 to 2 going into the final period. Abe Oros and Paul Aronian scored a pair for NHS while Emilio Mazzola also tallied. Leon Sharpe, State Champion in the 100 yard dash last Spring, did all the loser's scoring, 4 to 2.

Oros scored first off a Tom Donovan throw-in and also the winner on a head-in, after Aronian had centered a corner kick.

"Steve Scrimshaw and Elliot Baker played well for us. Baker thwarted a few Andover opportunities which could've changed the complexion of the game. Scrimshaw was also effective as a few times he caught Sharpe from behind on rushes," Coach Elliot said.

Scrimshaw is no mean 440 yarder in track, either. The Andover coach who was definitely perturbed at the outcome stated that, "We have one of, if not the fastest teams in the State but they just didn't hustle today."

Newton's win over Braintree proved their ability as mud-ders as they advanced to the semi finals by defeating the Bay State League Champs (12-0-1) Braintree, 2 to 0.

Tim Tsochandritsis and Aronian scored for Newton in a game that was played in heavy rain and mud. Bob Doyle, versatile left winger and defenseman, broke two bones in his hand.

He played briefly Saturday. Coach Elliot expressed praise for the defense as but rain had turned that field into a quagmire so the site was shifted to Framingham. Newton pulled away in the last period of the Andover contest after being tied 2 to 2 going into the final period. Aronian was cited for his tenacious play.

In Newton's previous tourney appearance (in 1964, in Newton's second year of soccer) they reached the finals only to lose to Lincoln Sudbury, 4 to 2.

Davis School Gym Backed By Council

The Newton PTA Council last week unanimously backed a resolution asking that a gymnasium be constructed at the Davis School in West Newton.

The request for Council support came from Adolph Casso, president of the Davis School PTA, who said the school is the only one in the system without a gym.

Beginning last year pupils have been bused to the Hawthorne gym during the winter months.

The resolution read: "Whereas it is the considered opinion of the PTA Council that each child in this community is entitled to a complete education, including physical education, and inasmuch as there exists a situation in our city where the Davis School does not have a gymnasium, be it resolved that the Newton PTA Council supports the petition of the Davis School for the construction of a gymnasium for their school."

Rec. Dept. To Have 6-Week Fitness Club

The Newton Recreation Department is offering a fitness course - a tonastic club - beginning next Tuesday (Nov. 18) from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. The bi-weekly sessions will be held at the Academy of Physical and Social Development at 782 Beacon St., Newton Centre, continuing for six weeks.

There will be a total of 12 classes per session under the instruction of Mrs. Estelle Williams who is the exercise director of the Boston Y.M.C.A. and Bonnie Prudden Francis, director of physical fitness.

Registration for the first session is now open and will be on a limited basis of 25 per session. Phone applications in today and pay the fee the first day of class. Call the Newton Recreation Department 244-4700 Extension 266 to begin the physical fitness course.

Deadline date for applications today (Nov. 13).

To The Faculty At Framingham

Miss Mary Lee Haugum of Newton has been named to the faculty as English instructor at Framingham State College according to President D. Justin McCarthy.

Miss Haugum, a native of Seattle, earned her B.A. degree in speech and drama from Mills College in California and her M.A. in drama from San Jose State College. She taught for three years at Westbrook Junior College in Portland, Maine; three years at Northwest Community College in Powell, Wyoming; and for the past six years at Burdett College in Boston.

OH HAPPY DAY! — Fred Virgilio, co-captain of the Newton South Lions, reflects the feeling of the entire team, after the Lions won their first football game of the year when they downed Rindge Tech, 16-0. The Newton South lads didn't score until the final quarter and it was Virgilio who scored the first touchdown. His was the sweet grin of victory. (Photo by Peter Lowy)

Presented To Dodgers . . .

Berkman Award Is Memorial To A Man

At the Newton East Little League dinner held Sunday, November 2nd, at Amaru's Restaurant, an annual award was inaugurated.

The Stanley J. Berkman Memorial Trophy was conceived and funded by his many friends as a living symbol perpetuating the memory of a man who always demonstrated unusual enthusiasm in all sports, both as a participant and as a spectator.

The award, a large silver trophy, was presented by his sons, Jeffrey, 14, and David, 12, to the Dodgers, who are the 1969 Newton East Little League major champions. It will be on display in the foyer of the Mayor's office at Newton City Hall until the next annual presentation.

The trophy's inscription, "Dedication, pursuit of excellence, and courage," personifies Stanley Berkman, whose life was deeply involved in many areas of athletic competition.

Stan lost his long and courageous fight against illness last August at the age of 39, leaving his wife Arlyne and two sons.

At Tilton Academy, Stanley was co-captain of the varsity basketball and football teams. During his college career at Johns Hopkins, he was elected captain of varsity basketball and led his team in scoring.

PRESENT TROPHY — This beautiful award, the Stanley J. Berkman Memorial Trophy, was presented to the Dodgers, champions of the Newton East Little League, at the recent dinner. Named in memory of the late Stanley J. Berkman, the trophy was presented by his two sons, Jeffrey Berkman, 14, left in photo, and David Berkman, age 12.

So. American Trip Films To Show Tuesday

For an easy trip to South America without passports and vaccinations, members and friends of the Union Church in Waban are invited to the Church Vestry on Tuesday, November 18th at 7:30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Alcaide of Waban will show slides and discuss their fascinating trip in South America this year. Penetrating insights into the religious, social, economic life of the various countries will be expressed, based on their extensive tour.

A special missionary project, "Shelter of Christ the King," will be described. Located in Guayaquil, a seaport of Ecuador, "Shelter of Christ the King" provides a residence and school for homeless boys. Founded in 1967 by an American Episcopal priest, Rev. Raymond K. Riels, the school has served some two hundred boys. Food, shelter, and an elementary trade education are offered. The school is aiming for local support, but at present is maintained largely by contributions from the United States.

Coffee and cake will be served under the supervision of Mrs. Franklin Jerome, followed by the program.

Cantor Shelkan To Be Honored Sunday Morning

A "Breakfast with Cantor Gregor Shelkan" will be held by the Brotherhood of Temple Mishkan Tefila on Sunday (Nov. 16th) in the Temple Social Hall at 300 Hammond Pond Parkway at 9 a.m.

The movie of the Ralph Edwards television show "This Is Your Life: Cantor Gregor Shelkan," will be shown.

Proceeds of the Breakfast will be donated to the Cantor's Assembly in the name of Cantor Shelkan.

Maurice Perlman is Brotherhood President; Martin B. Hoffman is chairman for this event and reservations are being handled by Bernard Gitlin.

Rummage Sale For Research On Cystic Fibrosis

A rummage sale sponsored by the Newton - Brookline Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation will be held on Thursday, (Nov. 20) from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Newton Centre Women's Club, 1280 Centre Street, Newton.

The chairman of the sale is Mrs. William Hecht of Newton. Her assistant is Mrs. Sumner Tye of Newton.

An interesting assortment of clothing, books, games and household items has been collected and will be sold during the day.

Admission is 15 cents. All proceeds support the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation.

Cystic Fibrosis is one of the most serious and common of the life-threatening diseases of the young. There are 40,000 American children with this disease. C/F attacks the lungs and digestive system of its victims.

Other Newton women on the committee are: Mrs. Albert Sibley, Waban; Mrs. Malcolm Kates and Mrs. Richard Barnett.

Generation Gap Fades

Teens, Adults Join In "Freeport" Plan

"The generation gap was lost, for a few hours at least, during our meeting tonight." These were closing comments of President Peter Scott of the Newton Council of PTAs during the November meeting of the Council.

Expressing admiration for students who had just finished presentations on programs initiated and executed by high school students in the Newton Schools, he concluded, "As individuals we can help, and should try to translate their enthusiasm to bring closer the students, teachers, parents, and community at large."

The excitement being created within the high school campus by the three student groups received the awed respect and applause of the adult community present.

First of these projects was "Freeport." It was conceived by Newton High School students and intended to benefit high school students. Its basic aim is to provide a home for high school students who have reached a breaking point in their relationship to their immediate family.

It is an attempt to provide for a limited number of children in the Newton community an alternative environment, when an extraordinarily unhappy home life becomes a threat to their mental health and their proper social integration.

It is an attempt to tackle problems while they are still manageable, rather than to let them grow into disasters.

Speaking for Freeport were Barbara Litman, Nancy Myerson and Joanne Linden. "Introduction to Freeport," an artistic study in filmed slides, was used to portray the potent force present in the enthusiasm and emotion of those involved in the progress to date.

Miss Myerson spoke of the "tremendous learning which has taken place" by those involved — by community leaders supporting their endeavors, and segments of community already reached for endorsement.

Officer Charles Feeley of the Newton Police Dept., on tape was heard to speak of the need to find a house in a neighborhood where the immediate community can be reached to enthusiastically receive such a community of students.

Judge Julian Yesley of the District Court, also on the filmed presentation, spoke of the "explosive (situations) in homes which could possibly result in acts of violence. (Students) must be separated from their homes — and the question is, where should they go?"

Newton High School Principal Richard Mechem's voice on the sound — track spoke of his personal support for the program. He commented that this should have no formal connection with the schools to eliminate, quite necessarily, one of the factors causing the unrest for some of the students — the school situation.

Principal of Newton South High, William Geer, in speaking of some alternative to unbearable home situations added, "If a center like Freeport existed, students might be able to at least continue and maintain some reasonable order of living and not have to drop out of school."

This home would hopefully be of only months in duration — be supportive to help in the reentry into their own homes with less intensity. In response to questions, students stated this home will have house parents who will not necessarily serve as professional therapeutic counselors. Most important, they will hopefully serve mainly as warm and understanding adults available in a home situation.

Drug problems will not be main concerns, they are not particularly equipped to handle this; however, no one will be denied facilities should they be in need.

Fund raising teas are being held throughout city to raise immediate funds needed for purchase of a house presently being considered.

State and Federal funds not readily available to them in view of the fact that this project is aimed directly at Newton community. Mental Health Foundation is considering a special funding to them.

The responsiveness of the community will be barometer for their success within the next few months. January 1970 is presently their target date for commencement of activities.

The "Newton Youth Center" was introduced to the Council by Karen Wright, Central Coordinator of the Youth Center, of the Newton Community Service Center. Barbara Zeles and Martin Cohen, Student Chairmen were also present to acquaint parents, principals and teachers in attendance with their involvement.

The program consists of

diverse neighborhood drop-in centers for students and staffed by students. They vary from a coffeehouse to multi-purpose meeting rooms, from trips and movies to discotheques. Basic philosophy is that young people know what they want — that they need a creative outlet, a learning experience, a place to go, a place to communicate and a place to be with their peers.

Program started six years ago — has expanded to seven centers. Well over 600 students have attended single "paint on" dance recently at Warren Jr. High. Schools, churches and temples being used. Central Office is at Cherry St. Center.

Branches at Warren Jr. High, Newton Highlands Congregational Church, First Methodist Church, Pomroy House, Mason - Rice School, with the seventh one to be announced.

Important fringe benefit derived from such centers is a line of communication available during programs with presence of coordinators who are turned to with pressing personal problems and fears that they may not be able to discuss with parents, teachers or other adults supervising their lives.

There exists at least in some way a bridge between youth and their parents, between youth and the adult world.

The "Newton Educational Workshop" was refreshingly portrayed by one of its initiators, Stephen Porter, a student at Newton South High, and three Dept. Heads from the Student Faculty. — Harvey Andelman.

With a staff of 50, all students at Newton South High, this group holds classes for 140 upper - elementary school students on Saturday mornings in English, Science, Art, Music, Drama, Dance, etc. It was not designed as a tutorial program. It is an enrichment program developed and run by high school students. Amazing amount of dedication on part of student teachers, plus wholehearted response from youngsters in program, will bring them into a second year of more concentrated programming.

Classes meet on South High campus. Mrs. Ruth Pitts, member of Science Staff at the high school received thanks from students for opening up and supervising use of science lab by elementary school youngsters.

"Dual roles" played by teachers — students themselves during the week, and teachers during the weekend — gave them opportunity not to impose the restrictive conditions that they themselves lived with during the week.

Children were encouraged to make their experience more of what they themselves wanted, rather than what the teachers wanted to bring to them.

Acquainting youngsters with merely the physical plant of the high school — its special classrooms, study halls, cafeteria, assembly rooms — was a calming experience to those youngsters already having fears related to going to college, no less entering the awesome buildings in the high school complex.

Youngsters came from all levels of achievement. Sharing is the important ingredient — not acquiring facts. English, for example, was Creative Writing — printed words from songs of Simon & Garfunkle became first-hand sources for studies in poetry, and music.

Graphic pictures from weekly periodicals were used to help create individual stories and develop social studies sessions. Range of studies went from biology to optics and relativity. Elective periods had "Harvey's (Andelman) Bull Session" to sports programs. Teachers and student had equal status for positions on soccer teams. Mixed teams of all ages and sexes made sports program "egalitarian" — everyone could knock someone about — no expertise was needed.

Seeking funds this year will also be new venture for them. New teaching aides will be purchased and an attempt will be made to develop this into an on - going program to be carried on as each set of students leaves for college.

Girl Scouts Enjoy Outdoor Skills Day

Quinobequin and Westdale, Judy Curby of Cadette Troop Newton neighborhoods of Bay 879 led the demonstrations. Path Colonial Girl Scout Council, recently held an outdoor skills day at Auburndale Playground. The event was planned and run by Cadettes for Junior patrol and assistant patrol leaders, under the direction of Mrs. David A. Kendall, Junior Consultant, and assisted by Carol Clinton, Senior Scout of Troop 55. The object of the event was to help Juniors learn or review their outdoor skills. It was done as a "wide-game". The various stations demonstrated the following skills: fires - basic "A" and charcoal; knives - use and care; first-aid; personal equipment (rolling sleeping bags, packing); knots; and tent pitching. Amy Teixeira, Susan Lanning, Judi Harding, Martha Patterson, Jean DuBois, and Jane Mosher of Cadette Troop 596, and Sarah Kendall and Maureen MacLean.

Mrs. Peterson Addresses Secretaries Association

Mrs. Janet Peterson was the guest speaker, Wednesday evening, November 5, at the Fairbanks Chapter of the National Secretaries Association. The group is currently conducting its second Secretarial Study Course.

The course is being offered as a means of self-improvement for the secretary by bringing her information which she may find useful in the management of her office, with her daily work, and keeps her informed of the latest innovations in the secretarial field. The course is also a basic review of some of the tools of the trade, from business vocabulary to work organization, office grammar, math, and other subjects which are an integral part of her secretarial background.

Mrs. Peterson, a graduate of Tufts University, cum laude, and an alumna of Pierce Secretarial School, is presently manager of Dedham Park Placement, specializing in the permanent placement of female office personnel, and Temporary Talents, Inc., featuring temporary office assignments.

Prior to joining the female placement division of E. P. Reardon Associates of Dedham, Mrs. Peterson herself pursued a career as a secretary before becoming a college admissions officer at Boston University and later a personnel director.

She addressed the group on the subject of Personnel and Personnel Management with special emphasis on interviewing and being interviewed. A question and answer period followed her talk, when the secretaries had the opportunity to ask any questions they had on wages, employment, and best way to go about furthering a career as a professional business woman.

Mrs. Peterson resides with her husband, Roland F. Peterson, at 33 Old Post road, East Walpole.

Newton Awaits HUD OK On Lower Falls Renewal

Only one step remains before the Newton Lower Falls urban renewal program can be implemented. The city must receive the go-ahead from the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development. However, approval from HUD is seen as a mere formality because the agency has already set aside the necessary funds. The Massachusetts Department of Community Affairs approved the urban renewal program and has forwarded the plans to the federal government.

According to an announcement by Julia D. Steele, Community Affairs Commissioner, the approval was reached "after a careful and complete review" by his department. Steele said the plan is physically and financially sound and "conforms to a comprehensive plan for the locality as a whole." The $23 million plan will

Miss Irwin-Mr. Kirkpatrick Wed at Military Service

The marriage of Miss Judith Carol Irwin to Lt. James Robert Kirkpatrick took place recently at the Trinity Episcopal Church, Newton Centre.

Mr. and Mrs. David C. Irwin of 73 Spiers road, Newton Centre, and Mr. and Mrs. James K. Kirkpatrick of Flint, Mich., are the couple's parents.

The Rev. Howard R. Dunbar, pastor, officiated at the five o'clock double ring service. A reception followed at the Colonial Inn in Concord.

Given away by her father, the bride's full length white velvet gown had a cowl collar, three quarter length sleeves and a chapel length train which fell from a matching hood. She carried a traditional bouquet of white orchids with stephanotis.

Miss Susan Murray of London, England, was the bride's sole attendant.

The couple left on a trip to Washington, D.C., New York City and then to Flint, Mich., where the groom's parents gave a reception in their honor. They will live in Flint. The bride was graduated from Newton South High School and attended Newton Junior College.

Lecture Series By Sisterhood Starts Nov. 18

Sisterhood Temple Reyim Fall Adult Education Series will present Rabbi Herbert Rosenblum to discuss an historical approach to the American Jewish Community. The topic will be divided into three sessions commencing on Tuesday morning, November 18, with "Development of our Religious Groups." The second session, on Tuesday, December 2, will discuss "The Institutions of American Jewish Life." "The Origins and Development of the American Jewish Social Structure" will close the Series on Tuesday, December 16. Rabbi Rosenblum, of Temple Emunah, in Lexington, Mass. was ordained at the Jewish Theological Seminary of America at which time he also received his Master of Hebrew Letters. He has traveled and studied extensively in Europe and Israel and has published articles on the Jewish community.

Rabbi Rosenblum is an active civic and town leader as well as being Vice President of the New England Rabbinical Assembly, an officer of the Massachusetts Board of Rabbis, and the Rabbinic representative to the Greater Boston Jewish Community Council.

Mrs. Robert Colton, Chairman of the Adult Education Committee of Sisterhood promises this to be a most vital, informative and exciting series. Working with her are Mmes. I. Larry Morris, Joseph Appelbaum, Parviz Darviche, Larry Grodman, Darville Kieval, Robert Levin, Herbert Shulman, Samuel Waldstein and Milton Lewinger of Newton; Mmes. Sidney Dockser and Leon Levitan of Needham; and Mrs. Robert Kramer of Wellesley.

The series will be held at Temple Reyim, 1860 Washington Street, Newton. A coffee hour will be held at 9:30 a.m. followed by the lecture and discussion at 10:00 a.m. Babysitting will be available at a nominal fee. The series is open to the community. For further information contact the Temple at 527-2410.

Wentworth Inst. Advisory Groups Hold Meeting

Three Newton residents and businessmen are among more than 100 business, industrial leaders attending the fall meeting of Wentworth Institute Industrial Advisory Committee this week at the Boston school.

The committee meets twice annually to exchange ideas and data between industry and education in the technology field. Dr. H. Russell Beatty, Wentworth president, will report on new developments in engineering and industrial technology education during the dinner meeting.

Local residents include: Alvin N. Page of 36 Canterbury Road, Newton, a Wentworth Institute instructor in Architectural Engineering Technology; William F. Collins of 16 Albermarle Road, Newtonville, a member of the Materials Engineering Technology committee. Robert M. Hayward, production manager, Farrell-Ash Company, of 26 Farwell Street, Newtonville, a member of the Machine Processes Technology committee.

The annual fall meeting and election of officers for the New England Sculptors' Association was held at the Massachusetts College of Art. Aims of the Association are to promote public interest in good contemporary sculpture by means of indoor and outdoor exhibitions, under its own auspices and that of museums in New England; to give lectures and demonstrations and to encourage students who are reaching professional standards.

State Approval Is Given For Lower Falls Renewal Proj.

On October 31, after a careful and complete review, the findings: Massachusetts Department of Community Affairs approved the Urban Renewal Plan alone, and without the aid the Newton Redevelopment Authority's proposal for relocation for the Federally-aided Portion of the Newton Lower Falls Renewal Project.

The documentation required by the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development, including the letter of approval from the Massachusetts Department of Community Affairs, has been forwarded to the Regional Office of HUD today.

Mario DiCarlo, Chairman Newton Redevelopment Authority, 210 Webster Street, West Newton, Massachusetts 02165. Re: Lower Falls Project, Project No. Mass. R-122 26ZZ, Newton, Mass.

Dear Mr. DiCarlo:

We acknowledge receipt of your letter dated October 3, 1969 together with other documents pertaining to the noted project and plan submitted for our approval.

The Department acting in accordance with Chapter 121 of the General Laws, Section 26ZZ concurs in the findings of the Newton Planning Board that the urban renewal plan dated January 1969 for the noted project is based upon a local survey and conforms to a comprehensive plan for the locality as a whole.

Furthermore, this Department in accordance with the provisions of said Section 26ZZ makes the following findings:

a. The project area would not be private enterprise and sought from the Federal Government or other subsidy, be made available for urban renewal; b. The proposed land uses and building requirements in the project areas in the City of Newton where the project area is located will afford maximum opportunity to privately financed urban renewal consistent with the sound needs of the locality as a whole; c. The financial plan is sound; d. The project area described in the urban renewal plan is a substantial area; e. The urban renewal plan is sufficiently complete as required by the noted Section 26ZZ; f. The relocation plan has been approved under Chapter 79A.

We note that the urban renewal plan has been approved by the Newton Board of Aldermen and Mayor after due notice and a public hearing. No public hearing by this Department has been requested.

Urban renewal assistance grants for this project are subject to appropriation by the Legislature. It is the intention of the Department that this letter shall serve as an approval of the urban renewal plan and Lower Falls Project No. Mass. R-122, Newton, Massachusetts.

Sincerely, Julian D. Steele, Commissioner

Junior Girl Scouts Hike For Badge Requirements

Junior Girl Scout Troop 614 (Burr School, Auburndale) of the beautiful hotel, a famous Bay Path Colonial Council, recently took two hikes as part of the requirements for Scouts rested by the pond, the Foot Traveler and then retraced their steps along Woodland Rd., on the stagecoach route to Vermont and New York. General Burgoyne and his defeated army had been marched along here to Charlestown. The troop crossed the bridge, stopped to view the Whitmore Tavern on Auburn St., built in 1724. It was from Whitmore Tavern that the men of Auburndale left to go to the Battle of Concord and Lexington.

The hike ended at Lyons Park, where the girls deposited their collected litter in trash barrels. One Junior Scout commented that the grounds around public buildings were neat—most of the litter had been picked up around private homes.

The second outing was a supper hike at Cedar Hill in Waltham. This was planned by the Scouts to accommodate their short treasury and the short days of October. The menu consisted of baked potatoes, carrot sticks, hot dogs, and a caramel-mallow-filled baked apples. A shopping committee: Gail Leone, Brenda Staley and Ann Mahon - accompanied Mrs. Mahon to the super market.

The girls made their fire upon arrival at Cedar Hill, each patrol taking a turn fire watching while the other patrols went on treasure walks to find a treasured view or moment or souvenir. One patrol stopped on its walk to clean out a brook that was clogged up with leaves and debris. The fourth grade Scouts were instructed in proper hike clothing and "wood manners" by the fifth and sixth graders. After supper and cleanup the troop gathered to sing songs and to share their treasured moments with one another.

The transportation committee of parents included: Mr. and Mrs. Danny Antonellis, Mrs. Will Bussink, Mr. Dean Freudenberger, Mrs. Martha Hatch, Mrs. George O'Dowd, and Mr. Walter Stone.

More than 100 members and their wives and guests attended from all over New England. Prominent alumni present included charter member Edward D. Hassan, former chairman of the Boston Housing Authority and Thomas J. Thistle, former Mayor of Melrose as well as the Honorable Francis Tomasello, Judge of the Superior Court of Massachusetts. Hugo Nelson of Belmont and Jerry Tripp of New York, former B.U. football greats attended and J. Otis McMillin of Needham and Gregory Shorey of Belmont, members of Lambda Chi Order of Merit, were honored guests.

Richard Cairra Wins Promotion Richard A. Cairra, a vehicle operator with the U.S. Air Force, stationed at Hickam AFB in Hawaii, has been promoted to sergeant. He is a member of the 61st Field Maintenance Squadron, a unit of the Military Airlift Command.

Sgt. Cairra, a graduate of Newton High School, is the son of Casperino Cairra of 16A Middle St., Newton.

National Parks Nine of the national parks are in New Mexico.

Lion JVs Lose To Watertown The Newton South JV football team ran into a staunch Watertown High defense and were toppled, 34-12, last week, at Newton South.

Watertown powered to a 28-0 lead before sophomore back Dave Lechok electrified the sparse Newton crowd with a dazzling 75-yard kick-off return late in the second period.

The Lions didn't make it on the scoreboard again until late in the fourth quarter when halfback Dave Leyton dashed five yards around right end to the end zone. Both South tries for extra points failed.

Coach Dick Ashworth was disappointed with his team's performance, especially since he is a former Watertown assistant coach and wanted the victory even more than normally.

South is 1-2 with Xaverian, Rindge Tech and Brookline remaining on the schedule.

New Manager At Charter House

David W. Cunningham has been named General Manager of Newton Charter House on Route 9 in Chestnut Hill.

Cunningham, who attended Northeastern University and the University of Maryland, joined the Hotel Corporation in 1964 and has been assigned to Washington, D. C., Buffalo and Annapolis prior to coming to Chestnut Hill.

A native of Boston, he was Commercial Sales Manager for Northeast Airlines in Boston and Director of Marketing for Greyline Sight Seeing in Washington, D. C., before joining HCA.

President Of Hebrew U. To Present Award

Avraham Harman, president of The Hebrew University of Jerusalem and former Israel Ambassador to the United States will personally confer an Honorary Fellowship upon Philip W. Lowry of Newton at the Annual Dinner of the Greater Boston Chapter, American Friends of The Hebrew University, on November 20 at the Hotel Somerset, according to Dinner Committee Chairman Maurice M. Cohen.

The academic tribute is being bestowed upon the prominent business man and philanthropist because of his interest in and dedication to the development of Jewish education both in Israel and in the United States.

Avraham Harman, president of The Hebrew University of Jerusalem, assumed his post after thirty years as a public servant, most of them as a member of the State of Israel diplomatic corps. Immediately prior to his election as president of the University, he served for eight years as Ambassador of Israel to the United States.

Born in London in 1914, Mr. Harman settled in Palestine

Art Auction for GBARC At Meadowbrook on Sat.

If you have been waiting for the right opportunity to purchase an original art work for your home or office, this Saturday evening (Nov. 15th) may well be the occasion. The Newton Chapter of the Greater Boston Association for Retarded Children will conduct a benefit art auction at the Meadowbrook Junior High School, Waverley Road, in Newton Centre. Proceeds will go to the Chapter.

The staff of Clarendon House of Newbury Street, Boston, has selected more than 100 original oil paintings and a limited edition lithographs to be auctioned. The collection to comprise the oils feature mostly living European artists whose works are well recognized on the continent, and the lithographs are by such masters as Chagall, Picasso, Buffet, Dali and Miro, Hebbald, Irving Amen and others.

The collection will be exhibited from 7 to 8:30 p.m., during which time sherry will be served; and the auction will begin promptly at 8:30 p.m. In all cases opening bids will be below gallery prices, and in some cases may run as little as $10, and usually between $25 and $100.

In charge of auction arrangements is Mrs. Harvey Chansky, chairman of the Newton Chapter. She is being assisted by Mrs. Moselio Schaefer and Mrs. Gerald Shaffer. Tickets may be purchased at the door. For further information, contact Mrs. Chansky at BI 4-7310.

This is an unusual opportunity to invest not only in art, but also in the future of our retarded children.

Eastman's Flower Shop Celebrates 35th Anniversary

Eastman's Flower Shop at 340 Walnut St., Newtonville, is celebrating their 35th year in business with Open House on Saturday, Nov. 15, and on Monday, Nov. 17, (which is the anniversary day) to which the public is invited.

A lovely red rose will be presented to each patron and the opportunity afforded to meet the staff — Mr. Carl Christenson, Mr. Roger Carpenter and Mrs. Mabel (McHugh) O'Connell.

Al Eastman started his flower shop in Newtonville on Nov. 17, 1934. He had been in the florist business since 1922 working in flower shops in Dock Square and Copley Square.

He has introduced a number of original ideas in his shop not found in other flower shops. The scientific handling of the choicest flowers obtainable contributes to the long-lasting qualities of the arrangements he uses.

Spaulding PTA Activities Are In Full Swing

After a successful pumpkin sale early in October, the Spaulding School children were treated to a fun filled Halloween Party under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kamowitz.

A party for kindergarten through grades three was held in the afternoon with the room mothers, under the direction of Mrs. Aaron Teicher and Mrs. George Star, serving the children refreshments and playing games. The house of horrors transformed the gymnasium into an exciting witches den and was very popular with all of the children. Movies were shown in the auditorium.

The children from grades four through six were treated to fun, games, refreshments and movies in the evening. The Spaulding School P.T.A. Book Fair was held from Monday, November 3 through Friday, November 7. Chairmen for this event were Mrs. Jack Marcovitch and Mrs. Stanley Robbins.

A Bake Sale was held on election day under the direction of Mrs. Herbert Carver, Mrs. Ronald Winfield and Mrs. Hugh Stone. Dr. Gerald Sowsky, president announces that Spaulding School P.T.A. will host the next meeting of the Newton Council of P.T.A.s on Wednesday, Dec. 3rd.

Iron Sculpture Displayed At Newton Corner Library

When is a doctor a musician? When the doctor is Leonard J. Cibley, M.D., a Newton Corner obstetrician who has developed an award-winning "Symphony of Life" in his hobby, iron sculpture.

In a one-man show at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner, from Nov. 10 through Nov. 28, Dr. Cibley will include the "Symphony of Life" grouping which won him the first prize in sculpture at the Beth Israel Hospital's Staff Art Show last month.

Dr. and Mrs. Cibley will be guests of honor at a reception on Tuesday evening, November 18, from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Main Library (414 Centre Street), to which interested members of the community are invited.

Dr. Cibley draws his sculpture themes from the areas he knows: medicine, music, motifs from religion and from entertainment. His "Orchestra," a harmonious group of musicians bent over their instruments, plays a large part in the library showing. In other groups of men with instruments, "Operation" and "Self Portrait," both drawn from his life work, medicine, anatomy shows in the utterly fluid lines he has achieved even with the giant cut nails he employs in his figures.

Dr. Cibley, a staff member at the Beth Israel Hospital, the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Jewish Memorial Hospital and the Brookline Hospital, says iron sculpture, which he has been doing for about 7 months, is an outgrowth of another hobby, work with gem-cutting and jewelry.

In addition to the 400 pounds of cut nails the doctor has bought for his iron sculpture, he haunts junk yards for unusual pieces of discarded metals to work and braze. His well organized, spacious workshop has a place for everything, even for display of finished works like the circus scene, with its tight-rope walker who actually trembles under the high wire when Shirley Cibley, the doctor's wife and a 4th grade teacher at the Angier School, Waban, demonstrates the sculpture's moveable parts with a flick of her finger.

Both Cibley sons, 18-year-old Larry, a B.C. freshman, and Jerry, 13 and an 8th grade student at Weeks Jr. High, are interested and involved in the doctor's hobbies, and can handle the torch and goggles, the saws and polishers, with skill.

Dr. Cibley has recently returned to Newton from a Montreal meeting of the American College of Obstetrics and Gynecology where he delivered a paper based on original medical research which he did with his associate, Dr. S. Charles Kasdon.

Richard Marks Is Promoted To Captain In AF

Richard D. Marks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Marks of 1224 Boylston street, Newton, has been promoted to captain in the U.S. Air Force. Capt. Marks is a supply officer at Tyndall AFB in Florida, with the 73rd Aerospace Surveillance Wing, a unit of the Aerospace Defense Command. He is a graduate of Newton High School, and received the BS degree from Northeastern University. He was commissioned upon completion of Officer Training School at Lackland AFB.

His wife, Sandra, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur L. Gardner of Walpole.

Lee Loumos Says:

I was happy to hear that the Apollo 12 mission will televise from the moon in color. Not that I expect to see to many colors on the moon — at best some shade of brown is about the only color reported — but the quality of transmission should be greatly improved. This is one fact of which most people are not cognizant, that a color set will show better black and white pictures. In other words, if you want to buy a fine black and white picture, buy a color set. I'm anxious to see how the halation, that was so disconcerting on the first moon telecast, will show up this time. Isn't it wonderful how far we have progressed in our space effort? Now it isn't a question of if we reach the moon, it's just when, so let me ask you, when are you coming to get your color TV set from me?

Intuition Not Answer

evaluated by a research firm, was found to lose whatever good result it produced by the time the children reached primary schools.

"All that is needed is not money," Collins told the group of some 635 persons of the newly-merged dual-community Chamber. "Too few people know what to do with the money once they get it."

He charged that government officials have no real idea of which programs will work or which will not. He termed lack of pre-planned evaluation "wasteful," and said that systems analysis techniques used in industrial problem-solving may offer more reliable guidelines for the future.

Collins called for "town meetings of the 1970's to be conducted on the national level with maximum feasible participation" from all socio-economic groups.

Since World War II, Collins said, "everything seems to be getting worse. Intuition or listening to the people who make the loudest noises is not the answer. It is time for soul-searching investigations into urban problems."

Collins was the principal speaker at the dinner where the Very Rev. W. Seavey Joyce, S.J., president of Boston College was honored for "distinguished achievement in education and community betterment."

Fr. Joyce is a founder of the Metropolitan Area Planning Council and of the Boston College Seminars.

The former mayor of Boston noted that the Rev. Joyce "has devoted his life to the creation of a dialogue between different segments of our society."

Newton's Mayor Monte G. Basbas and Paul F. Saint, chairman of the Needham Board of Selectmen, brought the greetings of both communities to the gathering. Chamber President Robert P. Lurvey presided and distinguished guests included Cong. Philip J. Philbin and M.D.C. Commr. Howard Whitmore, Jr., former mayor of Newton.

Officers and directors of the merged Chamber of Commerce present at the dinner included: Lewis Songer, executive vice president; Victor A. Nicolazzo, first vice president; Gerald McCluskey, second vice president; Albert W. Tocci, treasurer; Arnold Lambert, former president, Needham Chamber of Commerce; Cecil DeVarennes, former executive director of the Needham Chamber, and Kevin F. Hughes, former presi-

Wheaton Group Meets Nov. 18

The Newton Wheaton Group will hold its fall meeting Nov. 18 at 12:30 p.m. at the home of the chairman, Mrs. Alan Shoolman, 371 Highland St., Newtonville.

Prof. Willard Enteman of the Wheaton Philosophy Dept. will speak on "A Look to the Future." Dessert and coffee will be served. Guests will be welcome.

Mishkan Tefila Forum To Offer Musical Comedy

The Education of H*Y*M*A*N K*A*P*L*A*N, a musical comedy based on the stories of Leo Rosten, is to be the featured presentation of the Temple Mishkan Tefila Forum on November 22 and 23. A superb committee and cast are hard at work and enthusiastically guarantee that the play will be an artistic success.

Heading the list of dedicated workers are Harriet Wilson, director and Avis and Ronnie Pritzker, Producers. The rest of the committee include: Margie Baraban, stage manager; Eileen Kaplan, assistant stage manager; Barbara Brown, Musical Director; Ellie Grossman, Choreographer; Brenda Gitlin, Set Design; Alan Singer, Technical Director; Charlie Silk, Properties; Sandy Grasfield, Costumes; Joel Gray and Harold Polen, Lighting; Mike Jaffe, Sound; Sandy and Sid Sandler and Eve and Jerry Popkin, afternoons (Nov. 19) at the Tickets; Bascha and Julie Snyder, Publicity; Marcia and Harvey Fleischman, Program; Ellie and Walter Lipsett, Ushers.

The role of H*Y*M*A*N K*A*P*L*A*N is being played by Harvey Silverman. The rest of the cast features Barbara Brilliant, Jean Weinstein, Avis Pritzker, Bill Stein, Marilyn Stein, Dorothy Blank and Joan Stone.

2-Man Show By Newton Artists At Free Library

A two-man show of the art works of Charlotte Lockwood and Ruth Golub, Newton artists, will be held at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre St., Newton Corner, beginning this week and continuing until Nov. 23. They are celebrating their tenth anniversary as team teachers in West Newton.

Mrs. Golub, who works in oils, and Mrs. Lockwood, the watercolorist, teach together in their Washington Street studio, and exhibit together all over the country, as close to home as Framingham, and as far away as Palo Alto, California.

Mrs. Golub and Mrs. Lockwood, who are both represented in the Newton Free Library's Circulating Art Collection, are members of the Rockport Art Association, the DeCordova Museum of Fine Arts, and the Newton Art Association, of which Mrs. Lockwood is currently vice-president.

Aldermen To Set Hearing Date On Apartment Plans

The Board of Aldermen will set a hearing date at its Nov. 17 meeting on plans filed for the development of an apartment complex on a 10-acre site off Stanford St., Auburndale.

The plans for 250 units were filed by Atty. Lawrence Shubov for John and Joseph Melsaac, Boston contractors. The apartments, if approved, would be English tudor style, 2 1/2 stories high. The Land Use Committee will require the developer to set aside a percentage of the units for use of low income families.

A hearing must be held before the Board of Aldermen's Land Use Committee because a zoning change is necessary. The land is vacant.

Volunteers Are Soliciting In Newton For UF

Some 2000 local volunteers are circulating throughout Newton to collect funds for the Massachusetts Bay United Fund.

Newton agencies receiving aid from this fund include YMCA, American Red Cross, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, Newton Community Council, Visiting Nurse Association, Family Counseling Service, Newton Community Service Center, Rebecca Pomeroy House, the Newton - Wellesley Hospital and the Society of St. Vincent de Paul.

"Please contribute as generously as your means will permit when a volunteer calls on you. In the event no solicitor has come, send your fair share to West Division Office of United Fund, 2042 Beacon St., Waban, Mass., 02168," United Fund officials urge.

Newton Choral To Entertain At Donor Dinner

The Newton Choral will provide the entertainment at the Annual Donor Dinner of the Lynn Senior Hadassah to be held next Wednesday afternoon (Nov. 19) at the Town Line House in Lynnfield. Mrs. Hans J. Seligman is the director.

Featured in the "Musical Moments" will be original arrangements of show tunes, Israeli and Yiddish folk tunes. Mrs. Ralph Dephore is the accompanist. Soloists are Mrs. Joseph Zalman, Mrs. Jack Cohen, Mrs. Theodore Nissen, Mrs. William Green, Mrs. Julius Finn, and Mrs. Frank Greene.

Other members are Mrs. Samuel Adelman, Mrs. Milton Banner, Mrs. Sidney Cahan, Mrs. Irving Derak, Mrs. Benjamin Fastov, Mrs. Aaron Givinsky, Mrs. Myer Gorkin, Mrs. Tillie Marcus Lotow, Mrs. Bernard Thal, Mrs. Henry Weisgold and Mrs. Sidney R. Yoffe.

Funds raised by the Choral will be used to continue its program of Scholarships allocated through Hadassah's Youth Aliyah program to further the musical education of talented youngsters.

On Monday evening (Dec. 8) the Choral will perform a concert for Temple Agudas Achim in Brockton.

Chanukah Songs will be featured at the Chanukah Party of the Golden Agers of Temple Emanuel to take place Tuesday afternoon (Dec. 9).

Women Voters Take Up Issues At Next Event

Issues to be studied next year will be discussed at the next meeting of the League of Women Voters of Newton on Tuesday (Nov. 16) at the home of Mrs. Jack Fleishman, 65 Stuart Rd., Newton Centre, at 8 p.m.

Economy, human needs, environment, crime control, and trade with the less developed countries are but a few pressing national issues. Members are urged to come to the meeting to air their own ideas and hear those of others.

Mrs. Ernest H. Picard will lead the discussion. Those who cannot attend can submit their ideas for the national program to Mrs. Edward Morrison, Chairman, or Mrs. Asgeri Asgerisson, vice-chairman.

STEVEN K. HELMAN

Funeral Rites Are Held For Steven Helman

Funeral services were held for Steven Keith Helman, 22, on Sunday, Oct. 26, in Brookline before burial at the Helman family lot in Sharon Memorial Park.

Steven was the dearly beloved son of Attorney Irving J. Helman and Mrs. Belle R. (Crystal) Helman and the devoted brother of James R. Helman and Mark David Helman of 114 Bellevue Street, Newton.

He was born in Washington, D. C., and was brought to Newton as an infant. He attended the Newton public schools, including the Cabot School, Bigelow Junior High School and was graduated from Newton High School in 1965.

Steven attended and was confirmed from the religious schools of both Temple Emanuel in Newton and Temple Israel in Boston.

He spent his freshman and sophomore college years at Drexel University in Madison, New Jersey, where he was an editor of the school paper and Parliamentarian of his class. He attended classes at Boston University the following years.

Among his many interests was politics. He served as Chairman of the Teenage Republican Caucus of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for two years and represented the State as a delegate to the Convention in Miami Beach, Florida.

His articles and speeches for the Massachusetts Committee on Fluoridation will also be remembered.

He will be sadly missed by his family, classmates and friends.

James H. Loughman

The Rev. James Boyd Johnson will officiate today at 2 p.m. at memorial services in Union Church, Waban, for James Howard Loughman, 70, of 6 Vaughn ave., Newton Highlands, who died Monday at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

He was chairman of the Newton Planning Board.

He was also a staff member of the John Druker and Son Real Estate Brokers of Boston, and a member of the Union Church in Waban.

Mr. Loughman is survived by his wife, Mrs. Pauline (Eaton) Loughman; a son, Robert E. Loughman, of Westford, and three daughters, Mrs. John C. Cowden Jr. of Brunswick, Ga.; Mrs. Barclay M. Shepherd of Baldwin, N.Y. and Mrs. John A. Robbins of Wellesley Hills. Mr. Loughman was the father of the late Mrs. Norma L. Hall.

He also leaves a sister Mrs. Kathryn Wheeler of Dorchester, and 13 grandchildren.

Weekly Program At Lutheran Church, Newtons

The Rev. Robert L. Griesse will conduct worship services at 9:30 and 10:30 a.m. on Sunday. Holy Communion is celebrated each Sunday at the early service and at both services the last Sunday of each month. Sunday School meets at 10:30 a.m., and a nursery is provided for preschoolers. A coffee hour takes place in the parish hall after the late service.

On November 19, at 7 p.m. the Rev. Richard Koenig will speak to the congregation on his recent book, "If God Be God." It involves God-talk on the campus and his conversations on faith, doubt, freedom, and love with students. Pastor Koenig is the campus pastor at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst.

The Couples Club will meet for a pot-luck supper at 7 p.m. November 21 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Merrill Kidman. Guest of honor will be the Rev. Henry Horn of University Lutheran Church in Cambridge, who will discuss the subject of unrest on the campus.

NE Color Slides Shown at Local Retired Meeting

Original color slides "New England Nostalgia" by Lawrence S. Coryell of the Needham Retired Men's Club, will be shown at the next meeting of the Newton Chapter, American Association of Retired Persons. The slides cover all the New England states, from the mountains to the shore.

The meeting will be held at St. Paul's Parish Hall at 1135 Walnut street, Newton Highlands on Monday, Nov. 17 at 1:30 p.m. There will be group singing under the direction of Frank P. Pickett and a business meeting conducted by the president, Richard B. Simmons.

For information on the meeting or the organization contact Mr. Simmons at 104 Harvard street, Newtonville.

N-W Hospital Jr. Aid Meets Next Thursday

The Newton - Wellesley Hospital Junior Aid will hold their November meeting at 9:30 a.m. next Thursday (Nov. 20) at the Allen Riddle Hall, "Glimpse of Mexico" — (It's people, architecture and flowers) with colored slides will be the feature of the day.

Mrs. Alfred A. Gillette will give the travel - talk. The photographs which she has taken are of locales unknown to the average American tourist.

A short business meeting will be held by Mrs. Kevin Hughes of Wellesley, President of the Junior Aid. Mrs. James T. Godino of Waban will give a report on the Valentine Ball, which will be held next Feb. 6 at the Sheraton - Plaza Hotel.

Coffee and refreshments will be served prior to the meeting by the Hospitality Committee, headed by Mrs. D. J. Saraceno of Newton and Mrs. Richard H. Schradieck of Wellesley. All members and friends are cordially invited to attend this meeting.

Newton Citizens Mobilize For Pollution Hearings

A group of Newton residents attended a meeting recently of the Metropolitan Boston Citizen's Coalition for Cleaner Air. This is a confederation of individuals and organizations devoted to organizing public pressure for effective air pollution control.

First goal of this group is to mobilize public attendance and testimony at a public hearing to be held at 10 a.m. in the Gardner Auditorium in the State House in Boston on Tuesday (Nov. 25).

The hearing is to be on proposed standards the Mass. Department of Public Health has set for two pollutants (sulfur oxides and particulates) as required by Federal law. The law requires that the public have an opportunity to express its views on the proposed standards, and the Dept. of Health, Education and Welfare's eventual approval of them is based on citizen testimony at the public hearing.

The purpose of the meeting on Nov. 5 was to present and discuss an evaluation of the proposed standards, made to aid the citizen in understanding them and gauging their effectiveness. The evaluation detailed discrepancies between the proposed standards, and the Federal criteria and guidelines for setting them. It concluded that no safety margin had been allowed for human health, and recommended improvements that citizens should ask for.

Attending the meeting were Dr. John Tyler of Newton Centre, a member of the board of advisors of Newton Citizens for Clean Air, who plans to testify for the Mass. Medical Society; Edward Kovar of Newton Centre, Health Director of United Community Services of the United Fund, who will present testimony; Mrs. William Kierstead of Newton Centre, chairman of Newton Citizens for Clean Air and Air Conservation; Chairman of the Newton Conservators Inc., who will circulate a petition based on the Coalition's evaluation, for presentation at the hearing.

A group of volunteers will meet tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Kierstead to get out a mass mailing list of petitions and organize a canvass for signatures. Among them will be Linda Tempesta of West Newton with a group of Newton High School students interested in organizing an "anti-pollution" club and Camp Fire Girls led by Mrs. Paul Wiggins of Waban.

Other members of Newton Citizens for Clean Air also present: Mrs. Christopher Hohenemser of Waban; Mrs. Jeremy Slinn of Newtonville; and John Heywood, also of Newtonville, Professor of Mechanical Engineering at M.I.T. and a member of the Union of Concerned Scientists.

Information on the hearing and the evaluation may be had from the Coalition Secretary, Miss Sauter at 536-0935.

Taxpayers Poll Members On Vet's Preference, Housing

Consolidation of official Newton agencies dealing with housing, a constitutional initiative to modify absolute veteran's preference in civil service as well as to limit the legislature's powers over executive staffing, and the recently proposed extension of metropolitan government in greater Boston are issues on which the Newton Taxpayers' Association is polling its members in its current bulletin.

Noting that the Redevelopment, Housing and Code Enforcement agencies all have essentially in direct city relationships but that the executive department of the city is not directly accountable to or accountable for the authorities' actions, the association is asking its members whether or not it should take steps looking toward consolidation of policy and other personnel, to simplify the channels of communication by which the many rules and regulations are processed, and toward making the mayor's office more precisely responsible for the actions taken in this area.

"From the purely political point of view, diffusion of accountability may be more protective of officials but it seems to be less help to the citizens and taxpayers at first glance," observed Loren F. Muther, Jr., the association's executive director.

On veterans' absolute preference and legislative prerogative as exercised by the state's Committee on Ways and Means and the Committee on Counties, the bulletin wants to know if any members individually are interested in circulating a petition for signatures for a constitutional amendment modifying the present practices.

Veterans now automatically go to the top of civil service lists for promotions as well as original appointments; the legislature blocks or creates new administrative staffing positions.

"It seems apparent that the legislature will never of itself modify veterans' preference or curtail its present authority so it is up to the constitutional amendment method to do it if you want it to be done," the bulletin states. Individual members wishing to collect signatures are asked to contact the association office.

Discussing the present "recurring spasm" for further metropolitanization or regional government in greater Boston the association asks whether the members would modify the group's present policy of general opposition and if so, how. The Taxpayers' Association in the past has opposed several metropolitanizing proposals because of the probable financial impact on Newton. It has supported others.

"A key element in the association's decisions has been whether the continuing personnel costs would be high in proportion to the capital investment," Muther stated.

"Thus the association backed water, sewerage, highway construction and would likely back anti-pollution projects, but at present it would look askance at metropolitanizing schools, fire and police," he said.

The bulletin questions the claim that metropolitanization would benefit the property tax and suggests that proponents of regional government, if insistent, try their proposals out in sections of the area first, to find workable solutions to the inevitable problems and see if the savings claimed actually do result — for instance in Boston and Cambridge, the two largest population units, or the municipalities in Suffolk County — without disrupting the whole area.

"We already have had an unusually large number of responses," Muther said, "and we hope each member will respond so the directors can better determine what, if any changes in policy are desired."

Noted Author Cites Problem . . .

Standing Room Only on This Planet Soon Says Newtonite

At our present rate of population increase, there will soon be standing - room only on earth, says Dr. Isaac Asimov, noted author and Newton resident whose one-hundred-and-third book will be published this week.

Speaking at the First Unitarian Society of Newton on Sunday, November 9, Dr. Asimov stated that the world population is doubling every 47 years. Some parts of the world are experiencing even more rapid population growth, such as the Philippines which doubles its population every 22 years.

Whereas population doubling once took as long as 1400 years, the present rate of increase means that in 2152 A.D. the world's people will number 50 billion or fourteen times our present population. To continue beyond 50 billion people without birth control, says Asimov, is to have Manhattan Islands at the lunch hour (100,000 people per square mile) covering the entire world.

Space travel is no solution to the population problem. By exporting settlers to all available planets, we would be able to cover them with Manhattan islands within 4200 years. Asimov foresees that if population continues at its present rate, there will not be room on earth for animal life by the year 2600 A.D. He predicts that the earth will be covered with a large building with plants growing on the roof.

Claiming not to be a prophet of gloom and doom, Asimov says that population will reach a plateau by the year 2000 A.D. Something will occur so that either the birth or death rate goes down. The world cannot evade the choice, says Asimov, who predicts great famines beginning around 1980 which will frighten the world into pursuing a saner policy toward population control.

YMCA Youth Selling Candy To Help Kiddies Of World

Newton YMCA youth are selling candy to aid YMCA World Service. The Newton YMCA World Service Campaign will begin November 21 and end December 24.

Newton Y members want to help make our world a better world to live in for all peoples. Many warning signals are facing the happiness and security of the world. More and more these days, nations are turning inward. The focus is on internal problems, and programs of international cooperation take second place.

In the developing countries of Asia, Africa, and Latin America, the theme is nation-building. Nationalism is on the upswing.

In North America, too, the trend is the same. Our internal problems are becoming increasingly critical. Interest in foreign affairs is on the wane.

Yet, now as never before, nations need the outward look — the global view. There are few major problems that are not part of world problems. More and more, the internal crises of one country automatically trigger economic, social and political upheavals in others.

This is one world. What happens now in cities thousands of miles away affects our lives in cities here at home — in the taxes we pay, in our business life, our commitments abroad, our mental health, and in many other ways. In this push-button age, survival itself is at stake — for ourselves and for all mankind.

Mindfulness becomes more and more a desperate need. As world tensions mount and more wars erupt, the over-all problem of building a world community confronts man with ever-increasing urgency. Thus it is, too, that we thoroughly endorse the work of the world-wide YMCA — and the World Service program of our local YMCA which is helping to build it.

YMCA World Service is helping to develop nation-building, self-supporting YMCAs today in 39 countries. Wherever it operates, YMCA World Service aids people to tackle basic internal problems of health, education, economic development, and character training. It is a welcome help-meal everywhere in the nation-building process. But hand in hand with nation-building goes its world-building program — its daily demonstration of people working together across all barriers of race and nationality for the common good.

YMCA World Service, on a non-governmental, people-to-people level, is one of the best global, brotherhood-building programs we know. It depends upon voluntary contributions to carry on its work. The world needs more YMCA World Service. Let's give it our whole-hearted support!

TV Talent Hunt At Sacred Heart

The Sacred Heart parish Youth Fund will present WBZ-TV's Community Auditions Talent Hunt with Dave Maynard in charge, Saturday, December 6th at 8 p.m.

The affair will be held at the Meadowbrook Junior High School. It was announced that the winner will appear on television for auditions.

Newton Area Experiences Minor Floods

More than 60 streets in Newton experienced minor flooding over the past weekend because of the heavy rain, police reported.

The blocking of catch basins by leaves was blamed as the primary cause. Especially hard-hit were roadways along the Charles River and in other low spots in the city.

Newton police also reported that a few small wires were downed by the high winds that accompanied the rain, but no major interruptions of service were noted.

There were a number of minor fender-bender auto accidents, apparently caused by the hazardous driving conditions. Boylston st., which experienced minor flooding at a number of points, was especially treacherous.

Art Assoc. To Feature Noted Artist, Teacher

The Newton Art Association will present an outstanding guest artist at its next meeting, on Thursday evening November 20 at 7:45 at the Beethoven School, Waban.

Mr. Ken Gore, artist and teacher, whose paintings and demonstrations have received the most enthusiastic notices, will display his talented mastery of the palette knife. He appeared on radio and television and at art associations and before business groups as a lecturer-demonstrator. Mr. Gore has exhibited his numerous paintings in one-man shows and group exhibitions throughout the United States and Canada.

Among the more than thirty distinguished honors and awards that have come to him, is the Richard Milton Memorial Award given to him twice by the Jordan Marsh Company's jury committee.

Members and their friends will surely want to be in attendance for this exciting event.

Sidney Small Is Top Vote-Getter

Alderman Sidney T. Small was the top vote-getter in last week's municipal election. He rolled up 14,282 votes as he won reelection as Alderman-at-Large from Ward 6.

Alderman Franklin N. Flaschner was the second high vote-getter with 14,244 votes, but he was unopposed for reelection as Alderman-at-Large from Ward 5. He received 14,244 votes, 34 less than Small.

School Girls' Art Exhibit At Local Library

Leaf and lino prints, handsome heads from light bulbs, fantasy animals and hand puppets will highlight the art exhibit by girls of grades 5 through 8, Country Day School of the Sacred Heart, at the Boys' and Girls' Library, 12 Vernon Street, Newton Corner, through November 23.

Under the guidance of Sister Emily Butler, the class has been working on basic skills and techniques to enhance each girl's own imagination and creativity.

In the studio at the Country Day School of the Sacred Heart, Sister Butler encourages the growing process via utter freedom of expression.

Through the art experience, she expects that each girl will grow in self-confidence and resourcefulness, and will find at least one area of art in which she can feel competent, either for a career or as a hobby.

The media in which the class is working this year are newspaper, linoleum block, clay, papier mache, household items, charcoal, pastel, water color, wood and wire.

Miss Jane Granstrom, Newton's Boys' and Girls' Librarian, reminds youngsters and their parents that their own library at 126 Vernon Street, Newton, Corner, is now open 9 to 9 on Mondays, and 9 to 6 on Tuesdays through Saturdays.

City Requests $500,000 More For Code Work

The Board of Aldermen last week authorized Mayor Monte G. Basbas to ask the federal government to increase the Upper Falls code enforcement money by $500,000.

The additional money would make the total appropriation $1.3 million. The city's share of the increased funds will be a third, or $192,000. The total original funds were $700,000.

Ald. David W. Jackson told the full Board the money is needed for street construction.

The San Diego Chargers set club attendance records for the second successive year across the board, 303,188 for seven home games, 278,612 for seven road games and 581,800 for the 14-game league season.

10 Percent Of State's Teachers Practice Here

Some 10 per cent of the teachers trained in Massachusetts do practice teaching in Newton schools, school officials estimated at a meeting of the School Committee on Monday night.

During a discussion on a recent student teaching conference, it was also noted by Assistant Superintendent for Personnel Dr. James Laurits that about 20 per cent of the teachers hired by the Newton schools annually had some experience as practice teachers or interns in Newton while they were in college.

Supt. Aaron Fink told the School Committee of a joint conference held last Friday at which Newton school officials and representatives of 14 area colleges and universities discussed possibilities for future methods of teacher training.

Fink said that during the 1968-69 school year 615 college students did practice teaching in the Newton schools at one time or another. Our concern relates not only to the quality of education we provide for the future teachers but also to the quality of instruction for the children in

Vandals Hit Five Newton Area Schools

Sixteen windows were smashed as a wave of vandalism hit five Newton schools over the weekend.

In addition, files and doors were smashed and red paint was sprayed on windows.

Eight large windows were broken at the Murray rd. School, the Newton High School annex, at 35 Murray rd., West Newton.

A break was reported at Building 1, Newton High School, where a master file on the second floor was smashed. The library door on the first floor was also smashed open. It was not determined immediately how the vandals got into the school.

There were three windows broken at the Burr School on Ash st., Auburndale.

A bicycle rack was tipped over and red paint was sprayed on three windows at the Angier School, 1697 Beacon st., Waban.

At Newton South High School on Brandeis rd., Newton Centre, five windows were broken in a door.

the classrooms," the superintendent said.

Mrs. Hope Danielson, assistant personnel director and coordinator of the student teacher conference, reported that discussion at the conference concerned such topics as the need for a full partnership between the school and the university; consideration of joint appointments on both school and university faculties for those dealing with teacher training, and the advantages and disadvantages of teacher trainees having field experience during each year of their college training.

Another joint conference will be held in late January, Mrs. Danielson said.

The group will also confer with officials in the State Board of Education because the efforts to improve teacher training may be relevant to discussion of changes in requirements for state certification, she noted.

"The nature of the experience in teacher training is very uneven," Supt. Fink declared. The relationship with some universities is better than with others and we want to provide some sort of a model which benefits us and the trainee," he added.

Committeeman Edwin Hawkrige said that he hoped from this study would evolve the means to provide a greater degree of supervision over teacher trainees in the school classroom than is now being given in some cases.

He noted that most School Committee people at one time or another have received complaints from parents about some experience with a practice teacher. "It is a subject worthy of more study," Hawkrige said.

Aldermen Praise Work of Sealer

J. Ellis Bowen, Sealer of Weights and Measures, has been commended through resolution of the Board of Aldermen as follows:

"WHEREAS: The City Sealer of Weights and Measures has filed an outstanding annual report on his 20th year in that capacity,

BE IT RESOLVED That this Board of Aldermen commend the City Sealer of Weights and Measures on his unusual report and that a copy of this resolution be included in the permanent records of this Board."

Sealer Bowen's report which is highlighted by many pictorial illustrations discusses the past, present, and future in weights and measures administration, stresses the protection of the public pocketbook, the importance and need for accuracy in commercial quantity determinations, and the almost infinitesimal cost of this municipal administration.

According to the report, as submitted to Mayor Monte G. Basbas, nearly $53,000,000.00 was expended in Newton for three items; food, motor vehicle fuel, and fuel oil for heating.

The report points out that a 2 per cent error in quantities delivered would result in a loss of over $1,000,000.00 in such three items alone, and that the chief function of the Weights and Measures Department is, to the greatest degree possible, to prevent inaccuracy of quantity determinations in all commercial transactions.

Today's high prices, avers the report, with a 1939 dollar having declined to a worth of about 38 cents, and with the National Consumer Index continually climbing, make it more important than ever that quantity determinations be accurate.

A multiplicity of small errors is very expensive, either to the consumer, or to the merchant, depending upon whether long or short measure is involved.

Sealer Bowen, and Deputy Sealer Robert E. Silver, in addition to testing and approving or condemning gasoline and diesel and grease and motor oil pump meters, the scales of the butcher, grocer, junk dealer, express company, candy stores, hardware stores, laundries, and the delicate prescription balances and tiny weights of drug stores and the hospital pharmacy where accuracy can spell the difference between death and life itself, counting scales used for the determination of piece work wages, also inspect and tested yard sticks and taxi meters for determining charges based upon linear measure, all of which fall within the jurisdiction of the Department. 2464 such devices were inspected.

UNICEF Greeting Cards In Newton Are Now Available

The local sale of UNICEF Greeting Cards and Calendars is underway under the sponsorship of the Newton Community Peace Center.

UNICEF Cards, which are sold for the benefit of the Nobel Peace Prize - winning United Nations Children's Fund, help provide food, medical care, and education for sick and underprivileged children all over the world.

Nineteen new designs, all donated by world - famous artists as their contribution to children in need, are being offered with a wide variety of scene and subject.

In announcing the local UNICEF Card sale, Mrs. Melvin Cohen, who is the volunteer chairman in charge of sales, indicated that UNICEF Cards over the years have helped provide millions of needy children with the chance for a better and longer life. The proceeds from one box alone, for example, will protect twelve children from malaria for a year.

"These cards, sold mostly by volunteers, can spell the difference between life and death for countless boys and girls in Latin America, Asia, Africa and the Middle East," Mrs. Cohen said. Proceeds from the world sale last year netted UNICEF more than $3,750,000, nearly 10 per cent of its total income.

The cards are packaged with an appropriate Greetings message or as Note Cards with no message on the inside pages. There are also UNICEF Birthday Cards at the same price, and a Wall Calendar.

The public is invited to visit a display of the 1969 UNICEF cards which can be seen daily from 9-12 a.m. at the Newton Community Peace Center, 474 Centre Street, in the Eliot Church, or by appointment by calling Mrs. Elizabeth Merrill, hospital.

tested and approved during the year, 228 of them requiring prior adjustment, and 93 were condemned.

Over 1-1/2 tons of merchandise prepackaged in anticipation of sale was, through spot checking, actually reweighed or remeasured, 837 items, mostly food, were so treated, 569 were correct, 70 were under declared quantity, and 198 were in excess of declared quantity.

The seller is responsible for correct weight and measure at the time of sale regardless of the cause of error. However, of the 268 packages found incorrect, 198 were in excess quantity rather than short, an indication that the great majority of merchants definitely make every effort to be sure that the consumer receives the full quantity for which he pays.

The report notes that in only one instance, during the year, was Court prosecution necessitated for violation of weights and measures law, and that in such case the defendant was found guilty.

Without the surveillance of weights and measures administration with reference to quantity determinations of food, motor vehicle fuel, fuel oil, food, seed, grain, animal foods, fertilizers, pharmaceuticals, the linear measurement of fabrics, rope, wire, mileage measured by taximeters and a myriad of other commodities and services, losses would be substantial.

All clinical thermometers offered for sale to the public must bear marking designating State approval and come with the inspection functions of the department. Such identifying mark related to quality, and thus, such inspection service is directly related to the matter of both public, and individual, health in the community.

Newton Ordinances prescribe certain truck inspections, and the Sealer is the local licensing authority for certain peddling licenses as well as acting in a police capacity with regard to all peddlers.

Carton inspections have been accomplished to ascertain that those commercially employed, as milk cartons, are marked with approved quantity designations. In this division of the department's functions 1268 inspections and tests were conducted.

In conclusion the report states that weights and measures administration in the City of Newton saved every family unit, businessman, and the community at large, many dollars, yet of the 1 968 tax of $88.60 only 5 1/10th of cents is attributable as the net taxpayer cost of this Department, for such protection and service for the entire year.

Investigate Incident At South High

Fifteen Newton youths were being held out of school this week pending an investigation by school officials of an incident in Newton South High School Monday.

The fifteen were arrested on disturbing the peace charges after about 25 youths swept through the halls of the South high school, in apparent retaliation for a stabbing incident Friday night.

Police said Lawrence T. Ruffo, 18, a student at Newton North High School, was stabbed in the abdomen while attending a dance at the Sacred Heart High School.

Most of those arrested attended Newton High School and their cases were continued to Nov. 24 after they appeared in district court.

The incident was discussed at the meeting of the School Committee Monday night when Supt. of Schools Aaron Fink told the members the parents of the youths had been advised to keep the boys home pending further review of the case.

WHISTLING ASTRONAUTS SET UP NUCLEAR MOON BASE

THE HAPPY CREWMEN of Apollo 12 whistled while they worked with hammer and tongs Wednesday and set up a functioning nuclear powered scientific base on the moon. Viewers on earth were denied a closeup view of the efforts of Charles "Pete" Conrad and Alan L. Bean when their color television camera failed, but this did nothing to dampen the spirits of the astronauts. Bean got out a hammer and gave the $78,883 camera a few good whacks, and when this failed to correct the problem, he turned his attention to other matters. Conrad's first moonwalk lasted 3 hours and 39 minutes. Then they returned to the lunar lander for about eight hours' rest before setting out again today for another 3 1/2 hours of exploration. Conrad and Bean steered their landing ship, Intrepid, to an incredibly accurate touchdown on the dark Ocean of Storms at 1:54 a.m. EST Wednesday while a third astronaut, Richard F. Gordon, kept the command ship, Yankee Clipper, in a 65 miles high lunar orbit.

U.S. CASUALTIES IN VIETNAM HIGHEST IN TWO MONTHS

AMERICAN combat casualties have soared since the Communists launched their winter campaign 17 days ago and last week were the highest in two months, allied military sources said Wednesday in Saigon. The sources said the weekly casualty report to be issued today will show that the number of Americans killed last week was the highest since 135 died in action in the week ended Sept. 20. The sources said Communist and South Vietnamese losses also had increased sharply during the first two weeks of the offensive. They said 5,331 Communists and 674 South Vietnamese had been killed during the two-week period ended last Saturday. The exact number of American losses was not disclosed, pending the release of the official report.

HAYNSWORTH NOMINATION PICKS UP 2 MORE SENATE VOTES

THE SUPREME COURT nomination of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth Jr. picked up two more Senate votes Wednesday, said Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del., a sticler for high ethical standards in government, said he would vote against the confirmation. Williams' decision, expected to carry considerable weight with those senators still undecided, was disappointing to the White House, but it was offset by pledges of support from Sen. J. Caleb Boggs, Williams' Republican Delaware colleague, and Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska. With the 1 p.m. EST Friday showdown vote less than 48 hours away, there were only 10 senators still undecided on President Nixon's nomination of the Greenville, S.C. federal appeals court judge to succeed former Associate Justice Abe Fortas.

JAPANESE PRIME MINISTER SATO CONFERES WITH NIXON

PRIME MINISTER Eisaku Sato of Japan conferred with President Nixon for nearly two hours Wednesday and reported that they were "about to reach a settlement" of conditions under which Okinawa will be returned to Japanese control. The White House indicated the Okinawa question was just about wrapped up when it said that a second Nixon-Sato session today would concentrate on economic and trade matters. Nixon, it said, regarded their talks as "productive." A joint communique, already months in preparation, will be issued Friday and was expected to outline a timetable for reversion of Okinawa and other islands in the Ryukyu chain in the Pacific to the Japanese by 1972.

SERVICES, BURIAL TODAY FOR JOSEPH P. KENNEDY

SERVICES AND BURIAL will be held today for former Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, 81-year-old patriarch of one of the nation's most politically powerful but ill-fated families. Kennedy, father of a President and two U.S. senators among nine children, died Tuesday of a heart attack. The body of the former envoy rested Wednesday in Hyannisport in a simple metal casket placed near his "favorite view" of Nantucket Sound. Members of the glamorous family, led by his widow, Rose, and last surviving son, Edward, now head of the "clan," attended a simple mid-morning Mass Wednesday in the parsonage where Kennedy's body was placed. Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston will celebrate the funeral Mass today at St. Francis Xavier Roman Catholic Church, a short distance from the Kennedy compound. Burial will be in Holyhood Cemetery in Brookline. The Kennedys lived in Brookline when they first were married.

ANOTHER WEATHERMAN MEMBER ARRESTED FOR SHIPING

ERIC MANN, a member of the militant Weatherman youth group was arrested Wednesday in Cambridge on charges arising from shots fired at the Cambridge police station. Mann appeared at the police station with his lawyer, and was charged with conspiracy to murder, assault with intent to murder, threatening violence and promotion of anarchy. He was to be arraigned in East Cambridge District Court. Mann had been named in one of the arrest warrants issued when police raided three Cambridge houses Monday. Twenty-three youths, all said to be Weathermen, were picked up in connection with the shots fired at the police station Nov. 8. The Weathermen broke with Students for a Democratic Society last summer in an ideological dispute.

Fight Local Cut-Off Of Anti-Poverty Aid

A resolution urging the federal Office of Economic Opportunity not to cut off funds for anti-poverty programs in Newton and four neighboring communities, was adopted by the Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night.

The measure, introduced by Alderman H. James Shea, Jr., specifically requested federal officials "not to act hastily in denying central staffing funds for WEMBROC."

It also asked OEO "to conduct a public hearing in the WEMBROC area with adequate notice to the communities involved before curtailing any funds for the central staffing of WEMBROC."

The Western Metropolitan Boston Regional Opportunity

Council, Inc., (WEMBROC) is the official agency handling anti-poverty programs such as Headstart for Newton, Arlington, Waltham, Watertown and Brookline.

Alderman Shea declared that WEMBROC on Monday received a notice from the OEO Regional Office in New York that "it has five days in which to show why the $51,700" which it receives from the federal government for central staffing "should not cease immediately."

Shea in his resolution maintained that such a stoppage of central staff funding would wipe out the entire anti-poverty program in Newton and the other four communities, including such activities as

Aldermen Vote Transfer Of 3 City Buildings

On Monday night the Newton Board of Aldermen approved an agreement between the city and the Newton-Wellesley Hospital which would officially turn over to the hospital for $1 three buildings on the hospital grounds owned by the city.

In return, the hospital has agreed to treat police officers and firefighters injured in the line of duty at workmen's compensation rates, which are lower than the usual hospital rates.

The agreement approved this week is, in effect, a termination at the end of 69 years of what was supposed originally to be a 99 year lease. The buildings in question were built on hospital-owned land at the turn of the century, originally for isolation wards for the hospital.

They have been maintained all through the years by the hospital and in recent years have been used for other

Suspend Leaf Burning Ban Temporarily

Mayor Monte G. Basbas announced last week that his administration, acting in concurrence with Citizens for Clean Air, decided to place a temporary suspension of the city's ban on leaf burning

"The unusually heavy volume of rainfall we have experienced during the past several weeks has created a leaf disposal emergency," Mayor Basbas said.

"While city workers and equipment have been putting forth the maximum effort to collect the sudden leaves before freezing and snow set in, it has become necessary to call on the citizens of Newton for their cooperation. We are announcing, effective Monday, Nov. 17, a two-week suspension of the 'no-burning' law."

One Vote Gain By Mayor In Recount

Mayor Monte G. Basbas was definitely re-elected to a third term over Representative Irving Fishman by a thin 256-vote margin as a recount of votes cast in the Nov. 4 mayoral election for all practical purposes was completed on Tuesday.

Representative Fishman and his counsel, Attorney Gordon A. Martin, are making an inspection of the voting machines used for the first time in the recent election.

They are making a precinct-by-precinct check of the mechanical aspects of the voting. Their inspection probably will not be completed until early next week.

However, political observers can see no way their inspection can make any change in the vote totals of the candidates.

Mayor Basbas gained one vote in the recount, boosting his total from 12,186 votes to 12,187. That was the only change resulting from the retabulation of the return.

Thanksgiving Will Repeat 1621 Spirit

"There is one day that is ours."

"There is one day when all we Americans who are not self-made go back to the old home to eat . . .

"Thanksgiving Day . . . is the one day that is purely American."

When he left his North Carolina home at the age of 15 William Sydney Porter, who was to become known to the world as O. Henry, became a drifter. Until he was 40 years old and found a city called New York, with which he fell in love, he found it difficult to stand still.

O. Henry, who became enchanted finally with Bagdad-on-the-Hudson, would seem to be one of the last of all American writers to have found inspiration in a day proclaimed at Plymouth almost 250 years before he was born. Yet, he was the author of the above.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale Forte, a lifelong resident of Newton and a graduate of Newton High School.

No Class A Hopes On Line

Newton-Brookline Set For Big Game

By JEFF GROSSMAN

Seemingly, the stakes in this year's Newton-Brookline football game are not as high as last year when a part or all of the Class A title was clearly ready for the victor in the annual Thanksgiving holiday struggle.

This year both teams have lost once, Newton to Arlington and Brookline to Weymouth. Only a Peabody loss to Saugus on Thanksgiving, a win over Brookline, an Arlington loss and a few other major upsets are necessary for Newton to take the title.

Brookline could tie for the title with a win next Thursday, and a Saugus loss.

Regardless of the Class A ratings a share of the Suburban League Title will be lying around waiting for one of the arch rivals to grab it.

Arlington wrapped up Suburban League play last Saturday with a win over Brookline and finished loop play with a 4-1 slate. Brookline and Newton are 3-1

Xaverian Is Turkey Day Test For South

By LEWIS FREEDMAN

For the first time in two years Newton South High has a Thanksgiving Day football opponent.

South will face Xaverian High of Westwood, Thanksgiving Day, November 27, 10:30 a.m. at Dickinson Stadium.

The last time the Lions played a Thanksgiving game, in 1967, they trounced Oliver Ames, 26-6, en route to a 7-2 season.

1969 is a different season and a different story. The Lions are 1-7 and their November 8 victory over Rindge Tech was their only win since the Oliver Ames encounter. Xaverian, meanwhile, is 5-2 and is holding down first place in the Catholic Conference.

Coach Al Caravelli has literally built his team from scratch. Xaverian High is only eight years old and its football program is three years younger. Caravelli has coached the team since its inception and in three contests versus Malden Catholic High, it has never dropped a Thanksgiving Day decision.

The Crusaders have a strong offense directed by quarterback Pete Marinelli. Junior Ralph Hiltz has bulked his way to 42 points this fall from his tailback position. He is also Xaverian's leading ground-gainer.

The visitors will also feature a big, strong defensive line anchored by 6-2, 220-

Agnew Right, But Distorted TV Coverage Made Him Veep

There was solid substance to much of the criticism Vice President Agnew directed against the television networks.

Ironically, however, Richard M. Nixon probably would not have been elected President of the United States except for the distorted television coverage of the rioting in Chicago's streets during the 1968 Democratic national convention.

That means, of course, that Mr. Agnew himself would not be in his present position of power and prominence except for the sins of television.

Nevertheless, the Vice President performed a public service in bringing this matter out into the open even though other persons in public life prob-

Forum Players To Stage Musical Hit Nov. 22, 23

The hit of the year is coming to Temple Mishkan Tefila in Newton on November 22 and 23, with the Forum's production of the musical comedy, The Education of Hyman Kaplan, directed by Harriet Wilson and produced by Avis and Ronald Pritzker. For ticket information, contact Sandy Sandler, 527-1379 or Eve Popkin, 332-7960.

Harvey Silverman will star in the role of Hyman Kaplan. He brings to the role a fantastic background as star of many local productions, such as Can Can, Guys and Dolls, and numerous others. He is a well-known accountant and insurance man whose talent, devotion and love of the theater led to his presidency of the Country Players. He has had a positive influence on his four children, and his oldest daughter is starring in a Boston University production.

Starring with Mr. Silverman are a group of trained and talented performers all of whom are well-known for their exciting past appearances: Barbara Brilliant, Avis Pritzker, Marilyn Stein, and Jean Weinstein.

Also featured in the play are an experienced, and dedicated group of actors, actresses, singers, and dancers: Mira Birnbaum, Dorothy Blank, Marilyn Brecher, Jackie Bronstein, Al and Shirley Freeman, Harvey and Sandy Grasfield, Joan Gray, Mike Jaffee, Frances Matthews, Gloria Nathanson, Gloria Polan, Ronnie Pritzker, Stanley Robbins, Jimmy Rodman, Cynthia Rosenthal, Bill Stein, Ellen Stein, David Stone, Harmon Stone, Lisa Stone, Selma Stone, Elinor Weisman, Leslie Weisman, and David Wilson. The dancers are: Ruth Birnbaum, Marilyn Brecher, Jane Jaaffee, Gloria Nathanson, Jane Pritzker, Cynthia Rosenthal, Rochelle Tucker, and Kim Wolfe.

Library Shows Jewish Month Book Exhibits

A magnificent Star of David in iron sculpture, created by Dr. Leonard J. Cibley of Newton Centre, towers above the Jewish Book Month exhibit at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner.

The exhibit, arranged this year and for many years past by Mrs. Jack Gordon, Education Chairman of Sisterhood Temple Emanuel, features a basic bookshelf for every Jewish home.

Newton Free Library staff has coordinated with Mrs. Gordon's book suggestions and Dr. Cibley's religious-motif sculpture a selection of fiction by Jewish authors about Jewish themes, recordings of Jewish interest, and non-fiction about Judaism and Israel today.

The Star of David is part of a one-man show of iron sculpture by Dr. Cibley on display at the Library. Included in the groups drawn from the worlds of medicine, music, entertainment and religion is the "Symphony of Life" which won for the prominent obstetrician a first prize for sculpture at the Beth Israel Hospital's Staff Art Show in October.

The entire exhibit will remain on view through November 30.

Mayor Praises Election Help For Accuracy

Mayor Monte G. Basbas last night commended the city election workers for a "remarkably accurate count" in tabulating the returns in the Nov. 4 mayoralty contest.

He pointed out that a change of only one vote in a city-election fight on a recount is amazing.

That lone vote, which Basbas himself gained, resulted from the fact that a vote on an absentee ballot had not been credited to him.

"I think the voting machines proved themselves most satisfactory," Mayor Basbas declared. "I am also pleased that I insisted on the 'print-out' type of machines which allows us to take out five copies of the vote totals from each machine."

"This eliminates the need for election workers to read the small figures from the back of the machine as well as the possibility of making a mistake by transposing the figures of different candidates," Mayor Basbas asserted.

Outfielder Ollie Brown was the No. 1 expansion draft choice of the San Diego Padres. Brown came to the major leagues with the San Francisco Giants.

Information and materials that will spell out helpful guidelines for interested citizens planning to submit oral or written testimony to the Commission on Air Quality Standards can be had by calling Miss Hilda G. Hope at the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association headquarters at 244-4911.

23rd Annual Art Exhibit Is Held By Auburndale Woman

The Auburndale Woman's Club held its 23rd Annual Art and Craft Exhibit at the clubhouse on November 4th during American Art Week, featuring the work of local artists. There were thirty-six entries of paintings and handicrafts.

One of the paintings by Martha Hatch, a picture of a house reflected in the water, turned out to be the home of club member Mrs. Charles S. Butler of 81 Kingswood Rd. Mrs. Hatch had painted the picture from across the river at Ware's Cove and had no idea to whom the house in the exhibit and the painting is now hanging in her living-room.

Sixty-five club members and friends enjoyed the exhibit and social hour during which time afternoon tea was served and a generous contribution was made to the Federation "Pennies for Art" scholarship and awards fund.

Pouring at the tea were Mrs. David Kanef, Mrs. LeRoy A. Faulkner, Miss Jane Wyman, and Mrs. E. J. Ramsden.

Art committee chairmen Mrs. Charles B. Cossaboom and Miss Lillian Birrell were assisted in the exhibition at the Brookline - Brighton Newton Jewish Community Center, 50 Sutherland Road, Brookline, at which Miss Linden discussed the Improvisational Workshop and answered questions.

Arrangements by Mrs. Richard Keyes and her hospitality group. Helping with collecting, arranging, and publicity were Mrs. Harold Mulock, Mrs. Philip McDonald, Mrs. Heinz Speier, Mrs. Walter Frost, Mrs. Philip McDonald, Mrs. Heinz Speier, Mrs. Walter Frost, Miss Wyman, and Mrs. David Roberts.

Currently the art committee is holding a series of painting classes under the direction of John Head, a Monday morning workshop for a Christmas bazaar, and a Wednesday morning workshop for those interested in painting and other art media.

Peace Group To Pass Out Yule Seals

The first item of the December Peace Moratorium in Newton has been announced by committee co-chairman, Arthur Obermayer of Waban, as the distribution of special Christmas seals reading "Peace on Earth... Change In Traffic Rules Under Study By Aldermen

Two resolutions that would change Newton's methods of handling traffic regulations and problems were referred to committees for study by the Board of Aldermen on Monday night.

One called for the board to urge Mayor Monte G. Basbas to hire a traffic engineer and was submitted by Aldermen Sidney T. Small and H. James Shea Jr. The second, introduced by Alderman Franklin N. Flaschner, called for the board's Traffic Committee to review the desirability of creating a Traffic Commission which would have the exclusive authority to regulate traffic and to employ expert assistance necessary to do the job.

Small and Shea's resolution argued that "the present Traffic Commission and Board of Aldermen method without a professional traffic engineer of ordering Newton traffic patterns has not been sufficiently effective in solving Newton's expanding traffic problems."

Flaschner noted that the Traffic Commission as it presently exists is hampered in doing its job because it doesn't have the services of experts and has no real power except to present recommendations to the aldermen. Flaschner also maintained that a political body shouldn't have control over regulatory decisions.

Exhibit of Dance Last Request is Made For Masks at Church Names of Men in Vietnam In Auburndale

During the remainder of November masks created as a form of fine art will be exhibited in the parish hall of the Auburndale Congregational Church on Woodland Rd. and Hancock St. in Auburndale, to which the public is invited between the hours of 9 and 12 morning and 1 and 5 afternoons.
The masks by Marlene Wallin suggest a mysteriousness and a fantasy play of colors and textures. Miss Wallin explains the masks were inspired by her involvement with the media of dance, as she has worked professionally as both dancer and painter.
Marlene Wallin has been a member of the Cambridge Dance Theatre as well as having received her dance training in the United States, Europe, Pakistan and Ceylon. She received her art training at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts School where she later taught as well and since 1966 has been an instructor of painting at Curry College in Milton.
In 1961 she received a traveling fellowship, studying in Europe, Pakistan and Ceylon. In 1964 she exhibited at the Museum of Fine Arts-Retained Traveling Scholars Show. She also exhibited at the Cochran Biennial in Washington, D. C., and the DeCordova Museum. Her masks have recently been exhibited in the Museum of Fine Arts, the Galeria Neri Zagal in Peterborough, N. H., and at the Ceylonesse Embassy.

Newton Artists Work Displayed At Centre Art

Newton artists are participating in an exciting new gallery which has opened in the Boston area at 195 Harvard street, Brookline. Local artists who are exhibiting some of their works are Frances Mordecai, Estelle Altman, Doris Weiner, Judi Daner and Frances Held.
The Centre Art Gallery shows works in a variety of media by both foreign and American contemporary artists, also antiques and collectables.
The gallery will open its Holiday Season Exhibit to the public on Sunday, Nov. 23 from 4 to 8 p.m., presenting for the first time in America a one-man show of paintings by Yuste of Spain, an artist whose work is being received well here and abroad. There also will be a group show of works by eminent New England artists.
Daily hours are 11-2, Wednesday evenings 7-10 and Saturdays 10 to 4 o'clock.

Brazen "Heroes"

Recently Denmark had occasion to consider an appeal for asylum from two U.S. Army deserters. They had come from France where one of them had been ordered out for his involvement in a drug case. Denmark told the deserters it didn't want them.

Soon they turned up in Sweden. There, under that country's undisguised anti-American policies, they were welcomed and presumably joined the coterie of some 400 U.S. deserters who have found protection in that country which became financially robust by staying neutral through two World Wars.

Out of Sweden and Canada, another haven for deserting American servicemen and draft-dodgers, there has issued in recent months a pretty steady stream of propaganda. It has been pushed forward by professional, international do-gooders and a number of college professors.

Its aim, it is clear, is to seek amnesty for the deserters when the Viet war ends. The craven cowards are even held up as sort of heroes who sacrificed their native land and their own homes, to live out the war as aliens abroad.

Imprisonment and dishonorable discharges should not be made the price of their return, argue the propagandists.

Maybe, we should be arranging for ticker tape parades and wild welcome-home celebrations.

The Real Gap

Retired Bishop Fulton Sheen deplores the permissiveness of present-day society and what he terms "the continued breakdown in Christian discipline."

He says the only place discipline can be found today is in the military and on the football field. The bishop doesn't add that there seems to be attempts recently to weaken those fonts of discipline, too.

There's a good reason to believe the so-called "generation gap," the phrase so blithely tossed around by interpreters of the modern scene, is nothing more than a suspension of a virtue called discipline, that modus operandi of growing up which placed more than a modicum of value on self-respect and a recognition of the rights of others.

"Discipline of thought and action, self-imposed or applied from the outside, when necessary, could do a lot about closing that 'gap.'"

Night To Join Scouting

On June 15, 1916, the Congress of the United States passed legislation incorporating the Boy Scouts of America.

The act said that the "purpose of this corporation shall be to promote . . . the ability of boys to do things for themselves and others, to train them in Scoutcraft, and to teach them patriotism, courage, self-reliance and kindred virtues, using the methods which are now in common use by Boy Scouts."

It was a tall order, but it was accomplished successfully. At least Congress thought so, for in 1968—52 years later—Congress passed a resolution directing the Boy Scouts of America to advance its service to youth so that more boys in every segment of society will be involved.

If you believe in a program of patriotism, self-reliance and courage—along with generous helpings of fun and adventure—today Thursday, Nov. 20 is a day for you to remember.

The schools believe in Scouting just as strongly as Congress and they have turned over nearly every school in New England to the Scouts today so that every boy, every parent will know just where to learn about Scouting and just where to go to sign up.

The Boy Scouts are accepting the challenge of Congress. They are ready and waiting to serve all boys. The opportunity is now. The schools will be open. Local leaders are waiting to greet you.

What are you waiting for?

TOUGH JOB

ably have been hurt more by distorted television news coverage than was President Nixon when TV gave him the back of its hand after his recent speech on the war in Vietnam.

Vice President Agnew was the first one to focus nation-wide attention on the fact that one network showed a riot scene in Chicago during the Democratic convention from three different angles, creating the impression with the public that it was three different riots.

This reporter can testify that the television networks did provide distorted coverage and untrue reporting of both the Democratic and Republican national conventions last year. (Mr. Agnew did not mention the GOP conclave.)

First, it should be explained that big television sets, showing the coverage of each of the TV networks, were set up in the press section at both national political conventions.

When the television networks, actually covered the events in the convention hall, it was easier to follow the proceedings on TV.

This observer became accustomed to shifting his attention between the huge television sets and the convention floor.

The television networks were trying to make the news, not cover it.

They were running their own candidates for Presidential nominations when the candidates themselves were not running.

In their attempts to create an excitement which didn't actually exist, the television networks sent out untruthful reports.

They were listing Senator Edward M. Kennedy as a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination after it was common knowledge that Ted had eliminated himself from any consideration as a Presidential contender.

When the Republican convention opened in Miami, newsmen knew that Richard Nixon had the Presidential nomination sewed up.

By twisting the answers made by political leaders to tricky questions, the TV reporters tried to create an atmosphere of behind-the-scenes maneuvering and wheeling and dealing to deny Richard Nixon and Hubert Humphrey of the respective Presidential nominations when the whole thing really was cut and dried.

President Nixon and Vice President Agnew have a justifiable complaint against the television networks, but they can't begin to match the grievances of Chicago's Mayor Daley, the Chicago police or, for that matter, Hubert Humphrey who might be President today if the networks hadn't decided to give the people of the United States a false picture of supposed police brutality during the Democratic convention.

A Combat Helicopter Pilot Writes on Being Involved

It was only a few years ago that he was "the kid across the street." He was a polite, well-liked, manly boy.

He attended Roslindale High School, and after his graduation he entered the army and in time went off to Vietnam with other youths to help roll back the spreading tide of Communism.

Now he's the pilot, captain and commanding officer of a helicopter crew which is not one of the recommended occupations for those looking to grow old gracefully.

He looks death in the eye regularly does Captain Thomas H. Dowling, 3rd, of 173rd Assault Helicopter Company, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Dowling of 64 Perham street, West Roxbury.

To us his views on the war in Vietnam are much more important than those of the half-baked punks who demonstrate their disloyalty to their country by carrying Viet Cong flags and chanting "Ho Ho Ho Chi Minh, the NLF is going to win."

(Newspaper accounts on the antics of those communists or communist dupes must make great reading for relatives and friends of youths like Tom Dowling who places his life on the line every time he takes up his helicopter.)

Tom Dowling does have his own ideas on the war in Vietnam and the demonstration staged by the protesters far from the danger of combat in Vietnam. This is what he had to say in his last letter home:

"The Stars and Stripes didn't give too much coverage to it, but in the news magazines I saw pictures of the crowd on the Common for the Moratorium demonstration. A lot of guys feel the same way I do. That we are coming close to selling out the Vietnamese.

"We can leave here either in victory or covered with disgrace. There can be nothing in the middle.

"It seems that most of the people who demonstrate for a withdrawal are the same ones who advocate brotherhood, help your neighbor, get involved.

"Now we are involved, and it becomes clear the price involved in helping thy neighbor is heavy. Quite obviously, there is a lot of difference between saying it and doing it.

"I better quit now before I get carried away." That's the message from a brave young "involved American" who knows that his life might be part of the price paid for doing what he says should be done.

He will not get home for Thanksgiving or Christmas or New Year's. He tried to call home last time he was in Saigon, but the U.S.O. was closed that day because of a fire set by terrorists.

The young man says, incidentally, that he's flying as much as ever and that the only indication he has that the war is slowing down is what he reads in the papers and that not so many flares are being sent up at night in the efforts to search out Viet Cong guerrillas trying to enter his camp.

He and some of his buddies will have a week's leave between Christmas and New Year's, and they'll spend it in Taipei on Formosa.

If you would like to send him a Christmas card to let him know we're not walking away from him or his comrades who are fighting to uphold the honor of the American Flag in Vietnam, his full name and overseas mailing address are:

Democratic Chiefs Unlikely To Take Lindsay Into Fold

Could New York's Mayor Lindsay jump the political fence, run as the Democratic nominee against Governor Nelson Rockefeller next year and then carry the Democratic banner against President Nixon in 1972?

That's a question being asked by Lindsay's top supporters and being pondered by the political pundits. From where we sit it does not seem to be within the realm of political possibility.

Lindsay, doubtless, would do anything within his power to help accomplish Rockefeller's defeat next year, including running against him, but it is highly unlikely Democratic leaders in New York State would be enthusiastic about giving him their party's nomination.

Rockefeller is now completing his third term as Governor of New York. The odds are against his winning a fourth term for the very simple reason that he has been in office a long time, and the people are getting tired of him.

So the Democratic high command in New York State is not disposed to give the privilege of opposing Rocky to a Johnny-Come-Lately to their party.

The path to the Presidency is probably blocked for Mayor Lindsay. A new political pattern is emerging in the United States. Indications are that future Republican candidates for President will be conservatives who will seek to win their fights in the South and Middle West and will write off much of the Northeast, including Massachusetts.

Lindsay definitely does not fit into that mold, and it is improbable the Democrats will nominate him even if they encounter a scarcity of Presidential prospects in their party.

LETTERS TO THE GRAPHIC

American Reality

Editor,
The Graphic:
The total failure of the Newton Graphic to understand American radicals stems from its misconception of American reality. America does not stand for truth, beauty, and democracy. Rather, it is American policy to support thieves and dictators around the world and suppress popular revolutions in order to preserve the status quo, and make the world safe for American business.

The consequence of this policy is the death of millions, the oppression and exploitation of millions more, and great profits to American business. Vietnam is not a "tragic mistake," but another in a line of deliberate, aggressive interventions into other countries to preserve American control.

American troops have fought in Lebanon, the Dominican Republic, Laos, Thailand; and American "advisors" and the CIA are active in many more. How we can condemn the rape of Czechoslovakia while murdering Vietnam is incomprehensible.

America is fundamentally an imperialist, aggressive nation and to say that there are other such nations (e.g., Russia) does not justify the fact.

Americans concerned with the absence of ethical values from American life should place the blame where it belongs; on our War-economy, our acceptance of violence as a universal solution, our placement of property and power above human beings; not on those who seek a radical change in this condition. Because they recognize the failure of American society, they are condemned as its destroyers. The destroyers are the Nixons and Agnews who would lead the country deeper into a moral vacuum, until every vestige of humanity has been bled into the soil of Vietnam.

The blind "patriotism" dictated by the Newton Graphic serves only to postpone the decline and fall of the American Empire. As more and more Americans become conscious of American reality, change becomes inevitable. A consistently just and moral society will arise from the ashes of American imperialism. This is the hope of America's radicals, a hope that will not be crushed by Mayor Daley, or John Mitchell, or the many other penny-Hitlers who now possess power.

Douglas B. Levene,

P.S. If you have any concern at all for your vaunted freedom of the press, you will please print, unedited, the above letter. Thank you.

Ed. Note — We are happy to extend Mr. Levene the courtesies of press freedom and publish his "unedited" opinion. "Vaunted" or not, this always has been The Graphic's policy; we only reserve the right to edit where letters are of unreasonable length, are libelous or obscene.

Praises Editorial

Editor of The Graphic:
Your editorial "Child with Viet Cong Flag Causes Feeling of Disgust" deserves the compliments of any straight-thinking citizen.

At last the time has come to explore this small minority of the people who are not doing our country a service. They tear down the principle of good Americanism which has made our country great. Keep reporting these facts. John E. Bouchard, P.D.C., Disabled American Veterans

Headstart Thanks

Editor of The Graphic:
I am taking this means on behalf of the Newton Headstart Advisory Committee, Headstart Families, Newton Community Action, Inc., and the Newton Community Service Centers, Inc. to express our appreciation to Mayor Monte G. Basbas, the Board of Aldermen, and the many individuals and groups who contributed financially and worked towards the attainment of funds necessary for the continuation of the Newton Headstart Program.

This was indeed a community effort in keeping with the fine tradition of the city. The 14 percent cutback in federal funding would have resulted in the closing of the school five weeks early, depriving youngsters of a full year's pre-elementary school experience enjoyed by a great many Newton children and also would have eliminated five salaried positions held by adults from the group to be served under OEO guidelines.

A plea made by various sources and means to secure necessary funding for the continuation of the program through the remainder of 1969 year resulted in a wide response including private and public support through the Mayor, Board of Aldermen, group donations, and individual contributions.

Again, let me express our appreciation and add a note of thanks to your newspaper for its assistance in publicizing the need to the Newton community. I do hope that all who worked towards the fulfillment of the objectives of the fund raising drive will derive the benefits inherent in helping others.

Yours sincerely,
Anthony J. Bibbo, ACSW
Executive Director
Newton Community Service Centers, Inc.

College Responsibility

Editor of The Graphic:
Newton College Moratorium Committee, as a member of a community of higher learning, thinks that it is the responsibility of every college and university to educate not only members of its own institution, but also members of the surrounding community.

We think that the Vietnam war is not only a grave problem in itself, but also indicative of graver problems in the American system, problems which can only be remedied by a drastic change in U. S. policy.

We do think that mass demonstrations are valuable in demanding a halt to the war; however, we think it is time to study the problems of American policy which the Vietnam war represents. With this in mind, we think that the university community of Boston has an obligation to fulfill its role as educator.

The Student Senate of Newton College of the Sacred Heart, speaking for the entire student body, has passed a resolution endorsing their Moratorium Committee's efforts to bring these problems to the greater municipal community.

We think the re-evaluation and reform of American policies can come about through co-operation between the university and municipality; through the opening of university facilities to the municipalities; through greater publicity of the universities' anti-war programs. Democracy only works through the combined efforts of its citizens.

Yours truly
Newton College
Moratorium Committee

Use of Names of Viet Dead Without Consent Questioned

Anyone would be moved by the words of the Baptist minister from Kansas City who participated in the "March Against Death" in Washington with a placard around his neck bearing the name of his son who had been killed in Vietnam.

As he said, he had paid a terrible price for the right to speak out against the war in Vietnam.

So there may be no misunderstanding, we feel everyone has a right to voice his honest convictions and opinions about the war in Vietnam and how it should be ended, whatever those views may be.

We reserve for ourselves the right to disagree with those opinions, just as we recognize the right of others to take issue with our frequently criticized observations.

We do believe it is disloyal, unpatriotic and bordering on treason to carry a Viet Cong flag and chant the Ho Chi Minh jingle expressing hope the NLF will win. That we condemn.

But it also seemed extremely poor taste—if indeed, it wasn't sacrilegious—for the marchers in Washington to wear around their necks without permission the names of Americans killed in Vietnam.

The minister father, of course, had every right to bear the name of his dead son. Some marchers obtained permission to bear the names printed on their placards. Others did not.

Those persons who were embarrassed and saddened because the name of a hero son, brother, husband or father was worn by a marcher and shouted in the direction of the White House should have the right to prevent that from being done if they so desire.

Young Puppeteers To Present Plays On Next Saturday

On Saturday, Nov. 29, a group of young people who have been studying puppetry under noted puppeteer, Eleanor Boylan of Newton, will have a chance to display their talents when they present two puppet plays, "Rip Van Winkle" and "Jack the Giant Killer" at the Newton Centre Woman's Club, 332 Centre Street, corner 6571.

These young puppeteers, who have been studying both voice and manipulation, will perform "Rip Van Winkle" using some of the puppets they have made themselves. In "Jack the Giant Killer" they will assist Mrs. Boylan by "becoming" a huge, larger-than-life dragon which performs with the puppets in the manner of the Japanese puppet theater. The program will be presented on the Saturday of Thanksgiving school vacation at 1:30 and 3 p.m., Newton Mrs. Eleanor Boylan, 332 Centre Woman's Club, corner 6571.

Newton Clean Air Group Lists Objections To State Programs grams per cubic meter. (State Newton Citizens for Clean Air, 43 Kenwood Avenue, Newton Centre — a voluntary organization for citizen involvement in air conservation through education and responsible political action — will submit the following statement for presentation on November 25, at a public hearing on the ambient air quality standards for the Metropolitan Boston Intra-State Air Quality Control Region.

"The standards proposed by the Mass. Dept. of Public Health for allowable limits in the atmosphere of sulfur oxides and particulates do not satisfy the requirements of the Air Quality Act of 1967, in that:

1. They will not protect and enhance the quality of the air — attainment of proposed standards would reduce air
2. They do not protect public health and welfare — no safety margin for human health has been allowed, in that adverse health effects occur, and material and plant damage is significant, at the proposed levels.
3. They do not include a timetable for realization of goals.
4. They do not include a comparison with present levels of pollution.

We ask that the following revisions be adopted:

"Particulates: Annual mean level not to exceed 50 micrograms per cubic meter; 24 hour mean level not to exceed 150 micrograms per cubic meter. (State proposes 180)

"Sulfur Oxides: Annual mean level not to exceed 20 parts per billion. (State proposes 31); 24 hour mean level not to exceed 60 ppb. (State proposes 105); 1 hour mean level not to exceed 250 ppb. (State proposes 280).

"Provide an anti-degradation clause to prevent deterioration of the air where present levels are below recommended standards.

"Provide a timetable for attaining the recommended goals in three (3) years.

"Provide measurements of existing levels of pollution for comparison with proposed standards.

"Make provision for periodic review of the standards, in case future findings indicate need for revision."

Writers and Wavers

Editor of The Graphic: It is very rare that I take time out of any day to reply to a news or editorial feature that is part of a daily or weekly newspaper. This is the exception.

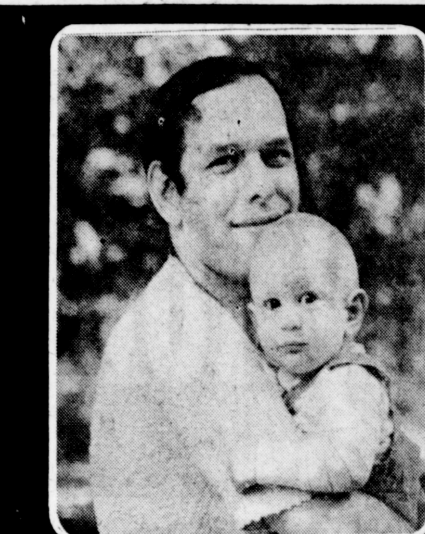

The editorials in your November 13 edition border on the ridiculous. Your writer of the editorial "Kooks Who Wave..." takes to task an editorial that recently appeared in the student newspaper at the University of Massachusetts with these words: "The editorial itself was so amateurish and poorly done that any competent newspaper editor would have tossed it in the nearest trash barrel..."

Of course, that's why the college writer is in college — to learn how to write properly. What's your writer's excuse. He is supposed to know how to write properly.

Take the lead editorial. It has seventeen paragraphs (some of them incidentally not more than a single short sentence). Of the seventeen paragraphs, at least nine have such phrases and/or words as "almost certainly," "quite possibly," "probably," "if," "generally assumed," "may," etc. An editorial, even political in nature, should be based on some information; certainly, probably and possibly are not accepted as substitutes for fact and truth.

Since "Political Highlights" has no use for college editorials and I have no use for assumptions in news misdirected by personal hatreds (note some of the language used), may I suggest you get one or two high school youths to write your columns. They couldn't be more laughable!

M.I.T. Chapel Setting For Salter - Norr Wedding

In the Massachusetts Institute of Technology Chapel, recently, Miss Barbara Jane Norr became the bride of Malcolm Stephan Salter.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Norr, Rabbi Ronald Gittelson of 143 Hobart road, Newton, performed the two o'clock Centre, and Mr. and Mrs. single ring ceremony. A Paul Salter of Swampscott are the couple's parents.

Mr. Norr gave his daughter in marriage. She wore an off-white crepe dress and carried stephanotis. Similar flowers were worn in her hair.

The bride was graduated from Abbot Academy, Andover, and Wellesley College. Having studied at Brandeis as well as in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, she is now a graduate student in Fine Arts at Boston University.

Her mother is editor of the New England Economic Review, published by the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, while her father is a research associate on the staff of the International Tax Program at Harvard Law School.

Mr. Salter was graduated from Phillips Academy, Andover, and Harvard College. He received both his master's degree and his doctorate from the Harvard Graduate School of Business Administration, where he is now an assistant professor.

Miss Margaret Connor of Houston, Texas, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Christine Miller of Boston, Mrs. Frank DeCesare of Troy, N.Y., Mrs. Dan Kaljian of Marblehead and Miss Richard H. Kulis of Bangor, Me.

All the attendants were dressed alike in willow green crepe A-line skirted gowns with matching headpieces. They carried cascades of bronze and yellow pom poms.

The best man was Elliot S. Grupp of South Weymouth, brother-in-law of the groom. Ushering were B. Edward Fitzgibbons of Hudson, Thomas Cibotti of Nashua, N.H., Lawrence Grupp of Brookline and Michael Rudy of Belmont.

The Greenhoods left on a cruise to Bermuda and the Virgin Islands. They will live in Salem, N.H.

The bride attended the Amherst public schools and received her B.A. degree

Patricia A'Hern Becomes Mrs. Robert S. Greenhood

Miss Patricia Ann A'Hern of Boston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William F. A'hern of Indian Orchard, and Robert Sheldon Greenhood of Salem, N.H., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest J. Greenhood of 33 Paul street, Newton Centre, exchanged vows recently at the High-point Motor Inn in Chicopee.

Rabbi Henry A. Zoob of from Florida Southern College, Temple Emanuel in Lake, Lakeland, Fla., and her Worcester, officiated at the M.A. degree from Northeastern University.

Mr. Greenhood attended the Newton public schools and Worcester Polytechnic Institute. (Photo by Bridal Memoires).

Given away by her father, the bride wore an A-line gown made of peau de soie. Peau d'ange lace motifs fashioned the bodice, bodice, bateau neckline and Bishop's sleeves. Her chapel-length train was detachable.

Her elbow length bouffant illusion veil was fastened to a matching peau leaf headpiece. She carried a cascade of carnations and butterfly roses accented with ivy.

Miss Margaret Connor of Houston, Texas, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Christine Miller of Boston, Mrs. Frank DeCesare of Troy, N.Y., Mrs. Dan Kaljian of Marblehead and Miss Richard H. Kulis of Bangor, Me.

All the attendants were dressed alike in willow green crepe A-line skirted gowns with matching headpieces. They carried cascades of bronze and yellow pom poms.

Candlelight Service Unites Miss Gibson-Mr. Libbey

The marriage of Miss Carol Louise Gibson to Earl Russell Libbey Jr., took place recently at the First Parish Congregational Church, Wakefield.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth R. Gibson of Wakefield. Mr. and Mrs. Earl R. Libbey of 98 Sheridan street, West Newton, are the groom's parents.

Dr. John Prescott Robertson performed the five o'clock candlelight service at which the bride and groom exchanged rings. A reception followed at the church.

Mr. Raymond G. Doucet of Wakefield gave his granddaughter away. Her full length gown of ivory antique satin was fashioned with an empire bodice designed with a high neckline and long angel sleeves. The A-line skirt was enhanced with a pearl trimmed detachable train.

She carried a Colonial bouquet of roses, carnations and mums. A cluster of pearls formed the becoming headpiece which held in place her triple tiered illusion veil.

Miss Joyce Libbey of West Newton, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. Mrs. Frederick Pitman of Melrose and Miss Cathy Keegan of Wakefield were the other attendants.

William Leather of Lynnfield was the nephew's best man. The ushers were Westley Medaglia and Laurence Merullo, both of West Newton, as well as Russell W. Gibson of Swampscott, brother of the bride.

The couple left on a trip to Europe. They will make their home in Wakefield.

The bride is a graduate of Wakefield High School and for the past three years has been a dental assistant.

Mr. Libbey was graduated from Newton High School and the East Coast Aero Tech. Having served with the Navy for two years, he is now associated with Northeast Airlines.

Nine of the 13 all-time money winning horses in the world were bred in Kentucky.

How to Help Strengthen Israel with Very Little Effort:

Enroll as a volunteer for ACTION DAY, to be conducted in Greater Boston on SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 30.

You will visit Jewish families in your own community, your own neighborhood, and ask them to invest in Israel.

It will benefit Israel enormously, and it does not take an enormous effort on your part.

You'll feel better for it, too.

Because you'll know you have done something important for the economy of Israel, which is important to the economic stability of the Jewish State.

ACTION DAY is dedicated to Prime Minister Golda Meir, who is dedicating her life to the preservation of Israel and what Israel means to Jewish people everywhere hospital associated purposes.

Alderman David Jackson was defeated in his attempt to amend the agreement asking the hospital to treat the city employees for less than the usual rates. Jackson declared that the buildings should be turned over without imposition of any conditions.

He said the agreement was "wrenched from the hospital" and almost amounted to "blackmail." He maintained that the hospital has had enough financial difficulties without the city's insisting on conditions, particularly since the city has not maintained those buildings over the years.

In other action the aldermen approved an appropriation of $1,000 for the installation of gas lights on Brae Burn Road in Auburndale.

In giving the report of the board's Public Works Committee, Acting Chairman Jason Sacks noted that the committee was split in its vote on the issue 4-2.

He said that arguments against the gas light installation noted that none have been put into the city for 10 years and that the upkeep of such lights is more expensive.

However, those who concurred with the requests of the residents of the street, said that the original installation would be less expensive than that of electric lights. There are only seven houses on the street; there are no lights presently there; and this is what the residents want, Sacks pointed out.

According to Sacks, installation of electric lights would cost $1,740. With underground wires they would cost $7,344. The cost of installing gas lights would only be $988, he said.

The aldermen also approved a $100,000 appropriation for snow and ice removal. The appropriation was made to insure adequate preparation for storms that might occur before the end of the year. Finance Committee Chairman Winslow C. Auryansen pointed out that despite the appropriation from the city's surplus account, $146,000 will still remain in that fund.

In further action the board approved a $4,753 appropriation to pay the Cardarelli Construction Company for work performed during construction of the Horace Mann School in Newtonville.

Finance Committee Chairman Winslow C. Auryansen explained that during the construction several changes in the plans were requested by the city's building and electrical inspectors. The changes, which were authorized by the architect, necessitated the payment of additional funds to the electrical sub contractor working on the building.

This request for additional money as a result of changes in plans pointed up what some aldermen considered could be a problem with future construction, particularly with the soon-to-be-started new $15 to $18 million Newton High School.

Acting City Solicitor Charles Morang reported that to prevent this the city has decided to notify each prime contractor that each sub-contractor must be bound in writing to the prime contract.

Temple Emmanuel Couples Club Social Next Sunday

Temple Emanuel Couples Club has scheduled an exciting social meeting for November 23rd in the community hall, 385 Ward street, Newton Centre. Lee Daniels and his orchestra will play from 8:00 p.m. to 12:00 midnight. Mr. Daniels is a past director of many couples club musicals

Burn your leaves on:
Sunday, Nov. 23.
Tuesday, Nov. 24
Wednesday, Nov. 25
Thursday, Nov. 26
Friday, Nov. 27

The Mayor again stressed that "this is only a temporary measure due to the emergency situation caused by the constant rain. I ask all those who will burn their leaves to remember that fact, and to do their burning in accordance with existing fire laws."

The laws referred to by Mayor Basbas are those requiring a permit from the Fire Chief to burn leaves in the open, and requiring that such fires be properly supervised to insure safety.

Citizens for Clean Air adds that wet leaves should not be burned, as the resultant heavy smoke can add considerably to air pollution.

THANK YOU

TO THE VOTERS OF NEWTON:

Your response to my candidacy was truly heartwarming as was the support of the hundreds of people who helped to get me elected.

Be assured that my endeavors shall be to help make a fine city even better. I stand ready to serve you.

Yours truly,
ALDERMAN-AT-LARGE ELECT

Junior Guild Has Mexican Theme For Social Affair

The Junior Guild of the Infant Saviour opens its fall social season tomorrow evening (November 21) in the Tiara Room of the Sidney Hill Country Club with an informal dance on the theme of "A Fall Fiesta."

Music for the South of the Border fete will be supplied by Jack Hahn and his orchestra. Mrs. Edwin E. Bastoni of Newton is a member of the committee.

The Junior Guild through all of its activities supports the maternity division of the Catholic Charitable Bureau of Boston under the direction of Rt. Rev. Eugene P. McNamara.

Operation Headstart, on the job-training and referral and information services for the elderly.

In his resolution Shea also argued that "the cooperative efforts of the citizens of Newton, the Board of Aldermen, Mayor Basbas, and the mothers of the Headstart group were recently responsible for raising $4,203.48, including $2,500 appropriated by the city of Newton, for the continuation through the end of the year of the Newton WEMBROC head start program."

This year's overall annual WEMBROC budget for the communities of Newton, Brookline, Waltham, Watertown and Arlington amounted to $325,000, Shea said.

He also asserted that the communities served by WEMBROC have a combined population base of 300,000 with 8.3 per cent of this population having an income below the minimum OEO financial base.

In addition to the resolution, Shea said a letter signed by nine state legislators from the area served by WEMBROC is being sent to OEO.

The letter states: "WEM-

Coming Events

To avoid conflicting dates, organizations, churches, clubs, etc., are invited to check and list the dates and hours of meetings, functions, with the Newton Community Council at 527-5120 for publication in this space without charge.

BROC is essential to effecting institutional changes in these five communities in the west of Boston with a combined population base of 300,000 and an 8.3 per cent level below the OEO financial base, which makes it the second largest concentration in New England and that in order to rejuvenate and realign existing agencies and to create new programs to serve the poor, the agency must not only continue to exist but must receive increased funding on a per capita basis appropriately comparable with ABCD."
Legislators who signed the letter were Representatives James DeNormandie, H. James Shea, Jr., Irving Fishman, Paul Malloy, Paul Menton, Charles O'Hanion, Michael Dukakis, Jack Backman and Edward Dever.

Recount-

The vote total of Representative Fishman remained unchanged at 11,931 as did the total of Davis F. Evans, retired black city employee and the third candidate in the mayoralty contest, who polled 526 votes.

Richard J. Bullwinkle is now the official winner over Charles E. Aucoin by a scant 32 votes in their hectic fight for election as Ward Alderman from Ward 3.

Their totals were unchanged, with Bullwinkle getting 1415 votes and Aucoin 1383.

The fact that the recount of a city-wide mayoralty contest resulted in a change of only one vote and that a retabulation of a Ward Alderman contest caused no change at all indicated that city election workers adjusted well to the use of the new voting machines.

Instead of a lick and a promise, a 100% guarantee.

Here at the bustling new Johnson waxWay Auto Wash, we don't just wash your car and hope you like it.

We wash it, check it, and guarantee you'll like it. How can we do that? By drenching your car with the finest Johnson Wax dirt cutters. Scrubbing it till it's showroom clean. Rinsing it in softened water. If you choose, we'll give it a coat of Johnson waxCare Instant Auto Polish as it moves down the line. Then we vacuum the interior. Dust the dash. Even wash the inside windows and mirror. (At the waxWay we do it all.)

And then our CheckerMan will take over. He'll check our performance, inside and out, and what isn't right, he'll make right—on the spot. Come see. And you'll come see us again.

100% satisfaction. Our CheckerMan guarantees it.

"Man Of Year" Award To Be Given To Newtonite Sunday

More than 1500 members from the 50 men's B'nai B'rith Lodges in the Greater Boston Council will attend the 17th annual Covenant Breakfast of the Council Sunday morning, Nov. 23, at the Statler-Hilton Hotel, Boston; starting at 9:30 a.m.

Arnold Forster, General Counsel of the B'nai B'rith Anti-Defamation League, will be keynote speaker. He will discuss "Discrimination and Bigotry Today."

Mr. Forster has directed a staff of legal associates in the preparation of numerous legal briefs involving fundamental civil rights issues.

Another feature of the morning program will be the presentation of awards.

The B'nai B'rith "Man-of-the-Year" award will be presented to Herbert Skalsky of Waban. Mr. Skalsky is a member of the ADL National Commission.

Other outstanding awards will include: Chai Awards for fund-raising; Market Lodge and Boston Apparel Lodge; Outstanding B'nai B'rith Lodge for 1968-69; Boston Apparel Lodge; Jack Silberberg, Newton, president; Community Project of the Year; Information Processing Lodge; Service to the Community; Mayflower Lodge.

Chain-Maker Awards, presented to B'nai B'rith members responsible for making the initial contacts for the purpose of organizing new lodges, will be given to: Ben Faneuil, Newton; Ben Averbrook, Medford; Murray Reiser, Milton; Edward Rasmick, Newton.

Chairman of the Covenant Breakfast is Sidney Silberberg with Charles Ginsberg serving as ticket chairman.

The invocation will be delivered by Rabbi Samuel Perlman of the Boston University B'nai B'rith Hillel Foundation. George Roberts, past president of the Council, will introduce the head table guests.

Purpose of the event tonight is to further publicize and distribute information about Scouting and to register all boys eight years old in the third grade, and up to 18 years, in either the Cub Scout or Boy Scout program.

Chairman Slater stated that the following elementary schools will be open to register prospective Cub Scouts and Boy Scouts:

Albert E. Angier, Beethoven, Bowen, Burr, Cabot, Frank E. Carr, Clafin, Countryside, Davis, Ralph W. Emerson, Franklin, Hamilton, Hyde, Lincoln-Eliot, Horace Mann, Mason-Rice, Memorial, Oak Hill, Pierce, Spaulding, Underwood, John Ward and Williams.

He also stated that the following parochial grammar schools will be open:

Miss Butera and Mr. Fucci Wed In Auburndale Church

Corpus Christi Church, Auburndale, was the setting for the recent wedding of Miss Theresa Rose Butera, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Butera of 13 Winona street, Auburndale, to Mr. David Louis Fucci, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis E. Fucci of 14 Arnold street, Needham.

The Rev. James P. Byrne officiated at the 11 o'clock, double ring ceremony and nuptial mass, and a reception followed at the Hibernian Club in Watertown.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an off-white gown of peau de soie designed with a full hoop skirt and long train, appliques of Alencon lace and seed pearls, cap sleeves, and a portrait neckline with matching half sleeves.

Her elbow-length veil of silk tulle was caught to a double crown of crystals, and she carried a bouquet of white flowers.

Miss Patricia Jean Fucci of Needham, sister of the bridegroom, was the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Fallon of Newtonville, Miss Madeline Cairn and Miss Angela Butera of Auburndale, Miss Barbara Fucci of Needham, and Mrs. Mary Linda McCabe of Watertown. The little flower girls were Mary Caruso and Theresa Raso, both of Newton.

Serving as best man was the bride's brother, Mr. Nicolas Butera of Auburndale. Ushers included Mr. Thomas Sammarco, Mr. Michael Anzino, and Mr. Paul Fucci of Needham, Mr. Michael Butera of Auburndale and Mr. Arthur McCabe of Watertown.

One U.S. gallon of water weighs 8.33 pounds, says the National Bureau of Standards.

After a trip to San Juan, Puerto Rico and St. Thomas, Dr. and Mrs. Falchuk are living in Rockville, Md.

The bride was graduated from Salve Regina College. Dr. Falchuk is a graduate of Dartmouth College and Harvard Medical School.

Natural gas was discovered in Texas in the 1860s.

Among the recent births recorded at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital are the following:

To Mr. and Mrs. Ronald W. Yerardi, twins, a boy and a girl, born on October 29. The Yerardi's live at 31 Arlo road, Newton.

To Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Slamin of 35 Washburn street, Newton, a girl on October 31.

To Mr. and Mrs. Augustine A. Creonte, Jr., of 13 Smith Court, West Newton, a boy on November 1.

To Mr. and Mrs. David F. Fureolo of 56 Byron road, Chestnut Hill, a girl on November 2.

To Mr. and Mrs. Edward B. Morrison of 837 Chestnut street, Waban, a boy on November 5.

To Mr. and Mrs. Francis J. Coven of 64 West street, Newton, a boy November 6.

To Mr. and Mrs. William Morgan of the Virgin Islands, a girl on November 1. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert M. Sullivan of 24 Garland street, Newton Centre.

Tommy McDonald, the Brown's flanker who retired after 12 seasons of National Football League play, caught 493 passes for nearly five miles during his career. McDonald scored a total of 85 touchdowns.

Announcement from Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Roth of Newton makes known the engagement of their daughter, Miss Arlene Roth, to Mark Lowenstein. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lowenstein of West Roxbury.

Miss Roth is attending the Boston University College of Liberal Arts.

Mr. Lowenstein was graduated from Huntington School and the University of Vermont. He is now attending Suffolk University Law School.

An August 16 wedding is planned.

Mr. MacKinnon and Bride Will Tour U.S. and Hawaii

When Mr. Gilbert E. MacKinnon and his bride, the former Miss Dorothy J. Perkins, return from a tour of the United States and Hawaii, they will live in West Newton.

The bride is the daughter of Chief Frederick A. Perkins Jr., of 1164 Centre street, Newton Centre, and Mrs. C. Evelynne Perkins of 40 Washington park, Newtonville. Mr. and Mrs. D. Douglas MacKinnon of 195 Waltham street, West Newton, are the groom's parents.

The couple were married in Trinity Episcopal Church by the Rev. Howard Dunbar and the Rev. John Corcoran. A reception followed at Caesar's Monticello in Framingham.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a traditional gown made of antique white peau de soie. Her full length skirt terminated in a train.

Her cathedral length illusion veil fell from a becoming headpiece. She carried a cluster of white roses.

Miss Janet Robson of Newton was honor maid. The other attendants included Miss Ellen Rosenberg and Miss Kathryn Lane, both of Waban, Miss Nancy Finn of Newton Lower Falls, Miss W. Jeanne Pennington and Miss Janet Lombardi, both of Newtonville.

George Maxcey of West Newton served as best man.

The Rt. Rev. Francis Rossiter officiated at the 11 o'clock double ring ceremony. A reception followed at Monticello's in Framingham.

The bride's nieces, Donna Marie Shores, Julie Ann Shores and Rita Christeen Shores, were flower girls. Their full length pink linen frocks were trimmed with white lace. They all carried baskets of the same flowers.

Serving as best man for his brother was Gregory Cahill of Auburndale. Ushering were Ernest Rossi of Watertown, Raymond Deluca of Newton, Robert Tucci of Watertown and Jerry Moscato of Cohasset.

New York City was the honeymoon destination of the couple who are now living in Newtonville.

Hodges Was Catcher-Shortstop

New York Mets manager Gil Hodges one of the National League's all-time star first basemen, first attracted scouts' attention as a catcher and sometimes shortstop at St. Joseph's College in 1943.

The bridesmaids were Miss Kathy Cahill of Auburndale, Miss Candy Hewett, Miss Pen Wilson and Miss Donna Rizzo, all of Weston. Identically attired, they all carried European baskets of the same flowers.

Newton High Driving For First Suburban Soccer Championship

By JEFF GROSSMAN
Newton High Statistics

	G	A	TP
Paul Aronian	14	6	20
Abe Oros	8	2	10
Emilio Mazzola	6	4	10
Jim Broderick	2	8	10
Tim Tsochantaridis	5	2	7

Shots on goal: Newton 247, opposition 134.
Goals scored: Newton 40, opposition 16.
In Newton's drive for their first Suburban League Championship and a subsequent tournament play the shots on goal was probably the key factor in determining the booters' success.
Generally, the team that controls the action and forces the play into the opposition territory will get more shots and thus, have more of a chance to score.

Newton outshot every opponent they encountered this year including their two losses to New Bedford and Brockton. The fact that Newton lost those two and outshot the winners would tend to disprove the above conclusion.
Newton came back in the New Bedford game after a poor first half however to control play and almost pull out a win.
Against Brockton the Hawthorne habitants were just unable to convert opportunities.
The Frontline, which usually consisted of Paul Aronian, Abe Oros, Emilio Mazzola, Tim Tsochantaridis, Jeff Copeland, Tom Donovan and Jim Broderick, kept the ball in the enemy end with their passing and ball control.
When an opponent got by the frontliners the defense consistently gave Goalie Elliot Baker first rate protection. Steve Scrimshaw, Richard Cory and Elliot Nusbaum usually manned the two fullbacking while Charlie Levin, Dave Goodman, Tom Donovan, Mark Volk and Bob Doyle played halfback.

Wrenn Wins In Jr. High City Cross Country

Peter Wrenn of Warren Junior High captured the first annual All-City Newton Junior High Cross-Country meet, last week, touring the 2.6 mile Newton High course in 15:11.

Last month, Wrenn was victorious in a meet containing a combined junior high team versus Newton High and Newton South's separate j.v.s. His time over the same course then was 14:57.

Warren was an easy meet victor over second-place Bigelow, 22:38. George Wright, second in 15:22, Brian Coffey, 5th in 16:19, John Carey, 6th in 16:27, and Mark Freedrenburger, 8th in 17:04, were the Warren scores behind Wrenn.
Warren also won the j.v. race, 15:52, over Bigelow, grabbing the top seven positions.

Test-

pound tackle Bill Fraser. Fraser is tough against the run and has great mobility for a man his size.

Newton South will counter with an offense overloaded with talented backs. Fullback Bob Staulo is the team's leading rusher, twice gaining over 100 yards in a game this season, and is also the Lions' top scorer with eight touchdowns for 48 points.

Co-captain Fred Virgilio has tallied 22 points and averages nearly four yards per carry. Dave Leyton, in his first varsity start, after some impressive work on the JV squad, churned out 86 yards. Sophomore Howie Haines has been doing double duty in both backfields for the Lions.

Quarterback Tommy Nelson has a strong arm and his favorite target this year has been Emmons Levine, who has 19 receptions.

If the Lions are to beat Xaverian the defense will have to duplicate (or come close) its brilliant efforts of two weeks ago when South white-washed Rindge Tech and the Technicians were held to 90 yards in total offense.

Xaverian is an explosive, tough team and Newton South will not be favored. If the offensive line gives the backs protection and the defense stiffens, however, South could spring an upset.

A foursome from the Woodland Golf Club will be among the more than 80 teams converging on this mid-Atlantic British colony in early December for the 17th Bermuda Goodwill Golf Tournament. Woodland pro Francis J. West Germany.

Captain Young Leads All Scoring For Soccer Team

Captain Mark Young, the exception of the two blasted six goals this fall to against league champ Newton lead the Newton South High High, were one or two-goal soccer team in scoring.

The Lions, finishing next-to-last in the Suburban League with a 2-10 mark, did not score many goals this season. Young tallied exactly half of the South total. Roger Seletsky booted two, and Rich Kumor, Steve Porter, Nat Kaitz and Eric Schwam netted one apiece.

Both Newton South wins came over Cambridge Latin, 3-2 and 6-0. Every game that the Lions participated in, with and unless they tie one of them will finish first with the Spy Ponderers.

As for a comparison of total yardage, defense and comparative scores — there is no comparison. While Brookline has been steady, with no great offensive eruptions, Newton has put 30 or more points on the board six times.

Brookline has scored 154 points and allowed 51. They were beaten on opening day by Weymouth 27 to 6 as they performed shakily. They came back the next week to down Waltham 26 to 12 on the work of diminutive (5'11", 155 pound) quarterback Rich Patenude. The junior signal caller swept end for scoring runs of 62, 14 and 6 yards. Patenude duplicated this feat against a weak Boston English team the next week.

The Wealthy Towners trimmed Brockton by a 12 to 0 score. The defense allowed a bare 69 yards total offense. The Indians defeated a 500 Boston Latin Club 16 to 6.

The Brookline squad then came up with their best effort all season and ended Arlington's perfect record by a 14 to 6 count. Jim McCaffrey, center, linebacker and co-captain, intercepted three Spy Ponder passes and anchored the stout Indian defense against a tough Arlington offense.

It was the only team to score more than two touchdowns against Newton's first defense.

In contrast Newton outscored their opposition 235 to 87. They dumped Weymouth after the Maroons whipped Brookline. The first stiffens, however, South could spring an upset.
Doyle will lead the local team. Players who have already been selected to accompany him are Dr. George L. Bero of Westwood, Dr. James F. Kenney of Dedham and Mr. Charles E. Smith of Newton. The Goodwill event takes place Dec. 9-13 and invitations have been sent to clubs all over the U.S., Canada and the United Kingdom. Three Bermudian teams will take part this year — and one from Three Bands To Take Part . . .

Pre-Game Night Concert By Newton High Bands Nov. 26

"Something Different" will be the Concert, Stage, and be at Newton High School Marching Bands, under the direction of Jerry Gardner, November 26 at 8:00 p.m. Thanksgiving Eve is the date selected by the various Newton High School Bands for an evening of entertainment entitled "Something Different."

In an attempt to offer more Thanksgiving Weekend activity to both students and alumni alike, the N.H.S. Bands have planned "Something Different" to kick-off the traditional Newton-Brookline football rivalry. This Wednesday night entertainment before the big game is a first for Newton High.

For "Something Different," Tickets will be sold at the door. Friends and alumni of Newton High are cordially invited to have the opportunity to meet each other before the big game at "Something Different" Wednesday evening.

Newton Hi Clobbers Waltham Hawks 41-8

The Waltham High War Hawks had their feathers plucked painfully and quite unceremoniously as they succumbed to the Newton High onslaught, 41 to 8 last Saturday at cold Dickinson Stadium.

Three late second quarter touchdowns within four minutes finished Waltham eleven before the end of the half. Mike Butts and Jerry Beatrice combined for the

AA Tigers In 24-8 Loss To Hyde Parkers

The Newton Athletic Association Tigers lost to the Hyde Park Mustangs by a score of 24-8.

The Tigers who led 6-0 after the first period succumbed to mental errors. The Tigers took the opening kickoff and went 68 yards in 12 plays with John Vizakis scoring from the five yard line. The points failed.

Hyde Park had their big break in the second period when the Newton halfback pass was intercepted and returned to the Newton four. Two plays later the Mustangs tied the score. Quarterback Taminini then scrambled 47 yards for a touchdown. He then threw a 52 yard scoring strike to End R. DiCenzo.

That was all the scoring until the final period when Hyde Park scored on a 46 yard touchdown pass, Newton Defensive lineman Steve Berkowitz nailed the Hyde Park ball carrier in the end zone for a safety to leave the score 24-8. Kevin Hoban, Jerry Sullivan and Steve Berkowitz were outstanding for Newton.

The Junior Midget Lions lost to the Hyde Park Junior Midgets by a score of 6-0.

Next week the Tigers and Lions will host the Hull Knights at the Newton Highlands Playground at 1:30 p.m.

LeBlanc To Captain Cross-Country Team

Mike LeBlanc has been elected captain of the 1970 Newton South High School Cross-Country team.

A two-year letterman, LeBlanc was fifth man as a sophomore and advanced to second man this fall.

LeBlanc's fastest clocking on the home 2.6 mile Mount Melinda Junior College course is 14:38.

NEWTON SOUTH ACTION—As Lion quarterback Tom Nelson tried to pass to one of his teammates, the pass was blocked by Melrose opponent and the ball was knocked back into Nelson's hand where he in turn reconverted his form and ran to score for the Lions in the second period. In spite of this incentive Melrose went on to defeat Newton South 46-12. (Peter Lowy, photo)

AA Tigers Set For Big Bowl Game in Maryland Next

The Newton Athletic Association Tigers will travel to Glen Burnie, Maryland, to play in the Chesapeake Charity Bowl game on Thanksgiving weekend. The proceeds of the bowl game will benefit the Anne Arundel County Retarded Children's Home in Maryland.
The Newton Athletic Association in its first year has fielded five football teams. Three pee-wee teams represented Newton Centre, Highlands Upper Falls and Waban. The Junior Midget Lions competed in the South Shore Pop Warner Junior Midget League and the Midget Tigers competed in the South Shore Pop Warner Midget League.
The Tigers will face the Hull Knights next Sunday at the

'Y' Boy Swimmers Win Over Quincy In Dual Meet 48-29

The Newton Y.M.C.A. Boys' Swim Team is off with a strong start, as they defeated the Quincy Y.M.C.A. in an exhibition dual swim meet in the Quincy Y.M.C.A. pool. The Newton Y.M.C.A. Boys' Swim Team commences its regular league season November 29.

Swimming to victory in Class D competition (ages 10 and under) were: Howie Silverstein, first in the 20-yard freestyle and 20-yard breaststroke; Mark Melanson, second in the 20-yard freestyle; John Lory, first in the 20-yard backstroke and third in the 80-yard individual medley; Warren Cole, first in diving and third in the 20-yard butterfly; Doug Jasset, first in both the 20-yard breaststroke and 20-yard freestyle. All swimmers tallied a 48-29 victory.

In Class C (ages 11-12) Newton squeaked out a 41-36 victory led by Neal Drobnis, first place in both the 40-yard freestyle and 40-yard backstroke; John Boyle, second in both the 40-yard and 100-yard freestyle; team captain, Mark Jackson, first in the 100-yard freestyle and third in the 80-yard individual medley; Jon Wish, first in diving and second in the 40-yard butterfly; and Mark Alford, second in the 40-yard breaststroke.

Newton was not so fortunate in their newly formed B (13-14) team, as Quincy slipped in a 25-23 victory. Phil Hawkins swam the most exciting race of the day, edging out his opponent for a first place in the 160-yard individual medley and taking third in the 100-yard freestyle; Dave Judelson, too second in both the 100-yard and 200-yard freestyle. Newton took over at the Waltham 43. Butts crashed the middle for five. Two Keefe aeriels were overthrown. On fourth down Butts broke at least three tackles within ten yards of scrimmage and sprinted in for a 38 yard scoring run.

Besides this brief but costly explosion the Tigers scored three more times. Beatrice opened the scoring in the first period on a 49 yard touchdown pass from QB Brian Keefe.

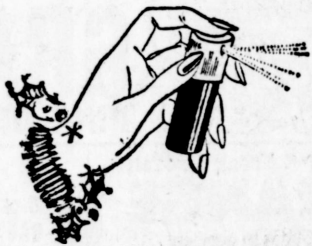

Defensive tackle Steve Frager picked off a pass deflected by end Skip Fawson which he returned 29 yards for a third period score.

Ray Ball intercepted the fourth Waltham pass of the afternoon to set up But's third score. Bob Wargin ran for the two points.

Waltham scored early in the offense had only to move 40 to defensive lapse of the day, that being a 72 yard gallop by Waltham's Joe Sarno. A very fast Mark Lennon came a long

Christmas Mail Closings On Saturday For SAM

The final closing date for mailing SAM packages to the 1969 Christmas postage stamp has now been furnished to all postoffices in the Boston Postal District. The demand has been attributed to the regulation that greeting cards, whether sealed or unsealed, must have six cents postage.

All postoffices will be decorated for Christmas beginning Monday, Dec. 1 through the courtesy of the personnel as their contribution to the spirit of Christmas and appreciation for public cooperation.

The importance of early mailing this year and the problems of the postoffice this Christmas has prompted a number of the larger firms and the federal agencies to set up "Christmas Card Day" on Dec. 15 when all employees will bring their cards to work and the postoffice will have special facilities for their deposit.

Officer-in-Charge George K. Walker also announced that 650,000 Christmas Mail Closing Date leaflets will be delivered by letter carriers on November 28 and 29 to every home and business office in the Boston Postal District. This schedule calls for parcels to distant states, including Hawaii and Alaska to be mailed by Monday, Dec. 1 to assure delivery by Christmas.

Street letter boxes, especially decorated for Christmas, will be placed in downtown Boston and in the major shopping centers of cities and towns in the postal district on Friday, November 28th to encourage mailing early.

Through the cooperation of the MBTA, subway postoffices will be in operation at Park Street and Washington Street on Monday, Dec. 1 for the sale of stamps and acceptance of Christmas cards.

In view of the heavy demand, additional supplies of mailing SAM packages to the 1969 Christmas postage stamp have now been furnished to all postoffices in the Boston Postal District. The demand has been attributed to the regulation that greeting cards, whether sealed or unsealed, must have six cents postage.

Dr. Goldhaber Leads Meeting

Dr. Paul Goldhaber, D.D.S. of Waban, presided at the initial meeting of The Friends of the Harvard School of Dental Medicine, featuring addresses by three national figures in fields of dental medicine, last Sunday evening.

The Friends of the Harvard School of Dental Medicine is an organization founded to interest the public in the school's work against oral disease and to seek broader support for it.

First Meeting Of FISH To Be Held On Sunday

The first meeting of all Newton FISH will be held Sunday, November 23 at 7:30 p.m. at the Central Congregational Church, 218 Walnut St., Newtonville. All persons interested in participating in this non-denominational neighborhood program are urged to attend. The meeting will discuss what FISH is, how it works, what it's like to be a FISH-er and how to answer FISH requests.

FISH, an ancient symbol of the Christian church, is people helping people to fill an emergency need at no charge and with no strings attached.

Started in England and brought to the U.S. in 1964 by Rev. Robert Howell of West Springfield, FISH has flourished as a way for lay people to assist their neighbors in time of need.

Typical services provided by FISH include emergency child care, meals, housework and transportation, plus companionship for shut-ins and information on community agencies.

Volunteers are needed to start Newton FISH, both to provide these services and/or to take telephone duty one day a month. The proposed starting date is December 1 with a 24 hour professional telephone answering service to provide a central call-in number. The co-chairmen are Mrs. Robert Mezzoff, Mrs. James Ferner and Mrs. Robert Corning, all of Newtonville.

Federation To Hear Mr. Croll

A Newton man will be one of the speakers at the 21st annual program of the Federation of Nursing Homes to be held in December at the Marriott Motor Hotel in Newton.

Sidney Croll of Newton Highlands, long-time official of the Federation, will speak at the day-long session at which several hundred Nursing Home and Extended Care Facility leaders from all parts of the state will attend.

Ruth Hamilton Wins Scholaristic Honor

Church of Messiah Plans 7th Annual Antique Show

Gadgets, gimmicks, and treasures of the past will all be on display when the Church of the Messiah on Commonwealth Avenue in Auburndale conducts its seventh annual Antique Show and Sale on Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 1 and 2 from 1 to 10 p.m.

Christmas shoppers, collectors and lookers will be treated to two floors of fascinating antiques collected by 21 select New England dealers.

This all-parish endeavor, sponsored by the Messiah's vestry, is under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Stoner assisted by vestrymembers John Ekiesian, Robert Freeto, Mrs. Ruth Crosby, Mrs. D. J. Bailey, Alan Eldridge, William Powers, Frank Farar, John Clemons, Richard Dahlberg, and Robert Bancroft. Mrs. Grendell Cate is in charge of the Messiah booth that features many old and interesting items donated by parishioners.

The food served, as in years past, will be of the home-cooked variety. Heading the food committee is Mrs. Ruth Crosby and Mrs. Ronnie Reed aided by Mrs. William Powers, Miss Ann Golding, Mrs. Robert Smith, Mrs. Martha Hatch, Miss Hazel Turner, Mrs. Helen Wallstrom, Mrs. D. J. Bailey, Mrs. John Allen, Mrs. Hubert Ames, Mrs. Bennett Berry, Mrs. Nancy Leventhal, Mrs. Barbara MacLeod, Miss Laurie MacLeod, Mrs. Joseph Scott, Mrs. Ernest Flagg, Miss Lillian Birrell, Mrs. Nelson Burnside, Mrs. Richard Dahlberg, Miss Cheryl Douglas and Mrs. Record Rogers.

The Call Committee, headed by Mrs. Nancy Quinn, includes Mrs. John Ekiesian, Mrs. Walter Dennison, Miss Virginia Houghton, Mrs. Henry Graves, Mrs. Benjamin Solomon, Mrs. John Berquist, Mrs. Florence Osborne, Miss Jane Wyman, Mrs. Grendell

Cate and Mrs. Ronnie Reed. Mrs. Charles Higgins Jr. is chairman of the ticket committee. Assisting her is Mrs. Paul Tardivel, Mrs. Charles Ansley and Mrs. Esther Jackson.

The success of the previous Messiah shows has established it as a very popular event with dealers and collectors. Rev. Robert W. Gollidge, the Messiah rector, extends a cordial welcome to the public to come and enjoy this holiday season show.

Thanksgiving-

Long after the short stories which issued from his most prolific pen have been forgotten, O. Henry will be remembered for those words he wrote in 1907.

Truly, the holiday which Governor Winthrop proclaimed in 1621 is indeed a purely American holiday. No doubt before he proclaimed it for the Plymouth Plantation and his little band of Pilgrims, John Winthrop had read about such a day.

In the literature of the ancients — in different continents and far different cultures — it had been related that man had set aside a day now and then to give an Almighty Being a token of his thanks for boon bestowed upon him.

And yet O. Henry wasn't thinking of the Thanksgiving Days of long-dead civilizations. Nor was he thinking of the observation of such a day on the North American continent before the Pilgrims landed.

O. Henry was thinking of that first Thanksgiving as it was observed in "Plymouth."

John Winthrop had a "big crowd" on hand at the first Thanksgiving of which O. Henry wrote. There were not only the survivors of that first punishing 1620 winter at Plymouth which decimated the passengers the Mayflower had brought across the Atlantic. To their number were added some 90 Indians, headed by their great Chief Massasoit.

Thanksgiving, 1969, comes to this area and to all the United States at a time when the "whole family" in many homes will not sit down together. It comes at a time when another war will be observed by many Americans far from home.

Through a long day, in a country which wasn't important in their geography books only a few days before they found themselves in the middle of the maelstrom of the strangest of all American wars, their thoughts will often turn to home.

For most of them, their official commands will make every effort to provide something they will call turkey and the fixings. Some of them will have to consume the feast quickly, even as they prepare to avoid the deadly fire of an implacable enemy.

At home their chairs will be empty at dinner time and as a devoted mother adds the finishing touches on the family dining table she'll find herself wiping away unbidden tears.

In the tradition of the day, men and women will know in their hearts a gratitude to a Supreme Being and with silent words of gratitude they'll be asking for an end of war and a Thanksgiving of which O. Henry wrote.

As he wrote he thought of BRANDEIS WOMEN'S COMMITTEE—Tomorrow Friday, November 21 has been designated as "Book and Art Collection Day" by the Greater Boston Chapter, Brandeis University National Women's Committee, with collection depots at Stop & Shop parking lots located in Chestnut Hill (Newton), Brighton, Dedham, Cambridge, Lexington, Chelsea, Waltham, Medford, Quincy, Needham and Lynn. Books and art collected will be sold at the 11th Annual Sale set for May 15-20 at Burlington Mall, and proceeds will buy new books for the Brandeis University Libraries. All donations are tax deductible. Key committee members are (left to right) Mrs. David Goldman, Mrs. David Stearns, Mrs. Jack Fisher, Mrs. Albert H. Jacobson, chairman, and Mrs. Leon Margolis, all of Newton. Donors are urged to leave books and art at their nearest Stop & Shop parking lot on Nov. 21st.

Final Weekend Performances For "Little Mary Sunshine"

Don't miss the final weekend of "Little Mary Sunshine" performed by the Country Players of Newton at the Rebecca Pomroy House, 84 Eldredge St., Newton. The Friday and Saturday evening performances (Nov. 21 & 22) are at 8:30 p.m.; the Sunday evening performance (Nov. 23) is at 8 p.m.

One of the active members of the Country Players of Newton, Sis Kramer returns to the footlights as Madame Ernestine in this production. Her experience is vast, ranging from writing and directing musicals to character parts and dancing and singing her way through a variety of exciting roles.

Sis has appeared as Sister Sarah in "Guys and Dolls," reporter in "Mrs. Popper's Pen-his boyhood and of "saleratus biscuits..." and he marvelled "how much nearer to the porch the old pump looks than it used to Actually the first Thanksgiving at "Plymouth" lasted three days we are told in the chronicles of Edward Winslow. He relates how Governor Winthrop excused four men from the last days of the harvest to go "fowling" and a single day they brought to the colony enough meat to last a week and to which King Massasoit's braves added five deer, they brought down for that Thanksgiving.

There'll be the usual big turnouts at the now traditional Thanksgiving Day football games... there'll be more than the wild game birds and venison which the women of the colony prepared for that first Thanksgiving... there'll be more than the saleratus biscuits which O. Henry recalled in the Bagdad of his last years.

Yet, there will be a spirit that is unchanged from that which those Pilgrims and their leader knew when they gathered in a still untamed country back in 1621.

Second Lecture At Temple To Be Held November 25th

Dr. Yosef Hayim Yerushalmi will present the second of a two-part lecture at the Fall Session of the Combined Adult Jewish Education Program being held at Temple Mishkan Tefila, 300 Hammond Pond Parkway, Chestnut Hill, Tuesday evening November 25th, at 8:00 p.m.

Dr. Yerushalmi will lecture on "Jewry Under the Rule of Its Daughter Religions." The lecture this evening will be "The Jews under Medieval Christendom."

This part of the lecture will deal with the contemporary attitudes of both the Christian and Muslim worlds to the Jews and Israel cannot be fully understood without an awareness of the legacy each has inherited from the Middle Ages. To contribute toward such an understanding, these lectures will examine the status and treatment of the Jews in Muslim and Christian theology, law, and society.

Dr. Yosef Hayim Yerushalmi is Assistant Professor of Hebrew and Jewish History at Harvard University. A native of New York, he was educated at Heshiva University and the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, and holds both the M.A. and Ph.D. in Jewish History from Columbia University.

Specializing in Sephardic and Marrano history, he has engaged in extensive research in the archives of the Inquisition in Portugal, Spain and Italy. Dr. Yerushalmi is the recipient of numerous academic honors, and has lectured widely in the United States and Canada. His book, "From Spanish Court to Italian Chetto," a study of Marranos in the 17th Century, is to be published shortly by Columbia University Press.

He has just returned to Harvard from a seven (7) month sabbatical which he spent in Spain and Israel under a research grant from the National Foundation for Jewish Culture.

High school and college students are admitted free to all classes and lectures. Refreshments will be served following the lectures. This will be the last evening for classes and lectures in this particular series of Adult Educational Programs.

Participating Temples are:

Temple Emanuel, Eric E. Ungar, chairman. Temple Emeth, Daniel C. Smolens, chairman. Temple Mishkan Tefila, William B. Nathanson, chairman. Temple Reyim, Gerald Cohen, chairman.

Annual Open House and Fair At Franklin S.

The West Playroom at the Franklin School, West Newton, was the scene of the annual Open House and Book Fair Tuesday (November 18) for Grades 4, 5 and 6 and yesterday (November 19) for Grades 2 and 3 as well as kindergarten.

Parents who normally help with library services at the school were on hand to accept purchase orders and decorations were by the children of the upper grades. A varied selection of literature featuring a new line of inexpensive hard covered books was offered, along with accompanying records, crossword puzzles and playtime kits of magic, arts and crafts, etc.

Chairman of the fair this year was Mrs. Gloria Jackson.

Headstart Sets Area Meeting In Newton Nov. 24

Mrs. Lester Havens, chairman of the WEMBROC Headstart Advisory Committee has announced that a new dimension has been added to the November Regional Committee session.

Scheduled to be held at the First Unitarian Society, 1326 Washington street in West Newton on Monday, November 24, the meeting will include representatives from Newton, Waltham, Brookline, Arlington and Watertown. A business meeting will be convened at 8 p.m. for all delegates.

Following this session, a new activity will be added to the Advisory Committee Program. At 9 p.m., Mrs. Claire Pitlar, Public Relations Chairman for the office of the Greater Boston Chapter of Parents Without Partners will be present to discuss the role of a parent in a one parent family. The Regional Committee is fortunate in that it has obtained the commitment of Mrs. Pitlar to address this session.

In addition to the Advisory Committee, all Headstart Parents have been extended an invitation to participate in this program. Mrs. Pitlar brings with her a wealth of knowledge and should provide those in attendance with a stimulating experience.

Services Set At Lutheran Church For Thanksgiving

The Rev. Robert L. Griesse will conduct worship services at 9:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Holy Communion is celebrated each Sunday at the early service and at both services the last Sunday of each month. Sunday School meets at 10:30 a.m., and a nursery is provided for pre-schoolers. A coffee hour takes place in the parish hall after the late service.

The festival of Thanksgiving will be celebrated at the Lutheran Church of the Newtons on Thursday morning at 10:30 a.m. On Wednesday, November 26, at 8:00 p.m. there will be an ecumenical service at the First Baptist Church of Newton.

The choirs of all the Newton Centre churches participating will sing an anthem and special music will be provided by the Myrtle Avenue Baptist Church of Newton, an outstanding group of black singers. The sermon will be delivered by Father John Corcoran and the Rev. Robert Griesse will lead the prayers.

Traditional Thanksgiving Sale At The First Church

The Thanksgiving Food Sale at the First Church in Chestnut Hill is being held on Tuesday (Nov. 25) from 9:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Parish House on Suffolk Road.
This year is the golden anniversary of this event which began in 1919 when Mrs. Arthur T. Bradlee, Mrs. Francis W. Lee and Mrs. Edwin S. Webster organized the first one.
Carrying on the family tradition, this year's honorary chairman is Mrs. Webster's daughter, Mrs. Henry Harris and the active chairmen are Mrs. Donald V. Baker Jr., Miss Louise Baldwin and Mrs. William A. Lincoln.
Mrs. Webster's golden chrysanthemum cascade will again occupy a place of honor near the table of plants and flowers - many from the Webster greenhouse. At this table will be Mrs. John G. Cornish, in charge, and Mrs. Edward Dane, Mrs. Herbert Dane, Mrs. Harry I. Klotz, Mrs. H. Kimball Faulkner, Mrs. James Orr and Mrs. Frank Sawtell.
Fruit arrangements, suitable for centerpieces, in a variety of shapes and sizes have been assembled by Mrs. E. Peirson Richardson and Mrs. Andrew Jessamin.
Mrs. Wheaton Kittredge and Mrs. John P. Cotton have charge of a display of top quality fruits and vegetables including persimmons and pomegranates for decoration, also grapes. Measuring and weighing will be by Mrs. H. Day Brigham, Mrs. Arthur Laughland and Mrs. Barbara M. Marshall.
Mrs. Stevens T. M. Wright and Mrs. John Alles are in charge of hors d'oeuvres and salted nuts. Helping them will be Mrs. Henderson Inches, Mrs. Burton Hamilton and Mrs. Hamilton Thornquist. Bread, cake and cookies will be sold by Mrs. Joseph McNay, Mrs. John Morris, Mrs. Philip Morris, Mrs. Joseph Bassett, Mrs. John MacDuffie, Mrs. Hazel Wightman and Mrs. Van Oterloo.
The traditional Thanksgiving dessert - pies - may be purchased from Mrs. Richard A. Butler, Mrs. Ronald Moir and Mrs. John B. Swift.
Steaming clam chowder will be served by Mrs. Joseph Mattison, Mrs. Frederick L. Dabney, Mrs. Kenneth Gesner, Mrs. Leon Little and Mrs. Lewis Perry. The snack bar is under the direction of Mrs. John Knowles, assisted by Mrs. Albert Damon and Mrs. Clinton McKim.
Frozen casseroles, more popular each year, have been collected by Mrs. Richard I. Johnson and Mrs. Carroll Dwight, with Mrs. Robert Donahue and Mrs. Francis T. Hunter as chief salesladies.
The aroma of bubbling fudge, which has characterized this fair for 50 years, will be provided by Mrs. John C. Kiley Jr., Mrs. Douglas Farrington, Mrs. Eugene Lyne, Mrs. Edmund Ritter and Mrs. Edward D. Rowley.
Old-fashioned, natural cider is under the direction of the one male table chairman who will be posted near the door. Door prizes have been donated.

Mrs. Goodall Shapiro of Star Market in Newtonville announces CARIH's on December 12th. Golden Key's Jewelry Boutique Committee, Mrs. Shirley Abramson, Mrs. Robert Jaffe, Mrs. Sidney L. Cohen, Mrs. Harry Finn, will be on hand during the day and evening to assist interested shoppers in the selection of fashionable "RINGS 'N' THINGS" at their October Annual Theatre Benefit party. Scheduled for the immediate future are CARIH JEWELRY BOOTHS at Stop & Shop on Route 9 December 5th and belts and chains will be available. Money spent will "help a child to breathe." All money raised through the efforts of Golden Key Chapter of Children's Asthma Research Institute and Hospital care (CARIH) are for the free care and treatment of the hundreds of children devastated by asthma presently being rehabilitated at CARIH's hospital facility in Denver, Colorado — the only one of its kind dedicated exclusively to asthma and its related allergies.

File Petition For Garden Apartments In Auburndale

Proposals for a zoning change and permission to construct a 250-unit garden apartment complex on 10 acres of vacant land off of Staniford Street in the Auburndale section were filed November 6 with Joseph Karlin, Newton City Clerk, by the Auburndale Development Corporation. Principals of the Company are John and Joseph McIsaac, both officers of the 80-year old L. H. McIsaac Co., Inc. of Boston, contractors and engineers. The proposals call for 11 different kinds of buildings with apartments ranging in size from 952 square feet down to 488 square feet. The developers are planning to install pollution-free gas fired incinerator devices, to supply private small bus transportation to nearby public transit facilities, to repave Staniford Street, and state that their designs and architectural specifications are unusually high for garden apartment buildings. They have publicly announced they are prepared to see a reasonable proportion of the units be made available for low-income and elderly housing. They are preparing studies which they contend will demonstrate that their plans entail no significant impact on the local school. It is not known what date will be set for public hearings in the matter. Their architect, John G. Danielson of Lexington, has stated his design seeks to achieve an English Tudor affect through the use of wood and stucco trim. All of the proposed buildings will be below thirty feet in height. The developers also contend that the unusual terrain features require so much fill that the site is unusable for single-family or two-family residences and that the only feasible residence use is for apartments and that in their opinion, garden apartments represent a smaller change in neighborhood patterns than high rise proposals.

Nonantum's Annual Santa Parade On November 30th

The Third Annual Nonantum Christmas Parade Committee gathered last week to map out details of the coming of Santa Claus via helicopter to Our Lady's school yard and his gala parade through Nonantum.

Santa will arrive on Sunday, Nov. 30, at 1:30 p.m. The Committee, which met at the Italian American War Vets Post 50, decided on a route which will begin on Washington St. in front of Our Lady's Church; proceed westerly on Washington St. to Walnut St.; turn northerly on Walnut St. to Watertown St.; then turn easterly on Watertown St. to Pearl St.; through the Kennedy Memorial project for the Elderly; back to Adams St.; and end at the intersection of Adams and Watertown Sts. The first Christmas party took place in Nonantum 1899. Over the years many Newton Mayors have paraded along with American Legion Post 440, Italian American War Vets Post 50, Sons of Italy Umberto Primo 1069, the St. Mary of Carmel Society and Nonantum merchants.

The financial help of all Nonantum merchants make it possible for children to come to the parade. Santa Claus will receive a token for Christmas, according to parade committee chairman Anthony Pellegrini. Pellegrini said he then turn easterly on Watertown St.; southerly on Pearl St.; through the Kennedy Memorial project for the Elderly; back to Adams St.;

Camp Fire Girls To Open Annual Candy Sale Today

Camp Fire Girls will start their annual candy sale today and it will continue through December 1. Mrs. William Tompkins, chairman of Ways and Means is organizing the sale in Newton assisted by Mrs. Rex Vermilyea.

There are four Depot Mothers to keep all group throughout Newton supplied with candy. They are Mrs. Richard Green for Angier, Auburn, and one of the finest programs of Horizon Club girls, Mrs. David Blau for Mason Rice, Davis and Cabot schools, Mrs. George Idlis for Bowen, Oak Hill and Spaulding schools, and Mrs. George McKinnon for Hyde and Countryside schools.

Proceeds are to be used to enable the Greater Boston Council to continue to serve the more than 10,000 girls within its district.

The Camp Fire Girls' program stresses both group activities within a home atmosphere as well as appreciation for the things that grow and live outdoors. It is one of the finest programs of Horizon Club girls, Mrs. David Blau for Mason Rice, Davis and Cabot schools, Mrs. George Idlis for Bowen, Oak Hill and Spaulding schools, and Mrs. George McKinnon for Hyde and Countryside schools.

Beethoven Teacher Honored After 15 Years of Service

On Tuesday evening, November 18th, the Beethoven P.T.A. presented Mrs. Marguerite Fitch with a Revere Bowl for her fifteen years of devoted service as school secretary.

Mrs. Fitch came to Beethoven when the school opened in April 1954. She was president of the Newton Secretarial Association for two terms, 1960 and 61. She was instrumental in the creation of a handbook called "Key for Secretaries," which is used in the city.

In November 1959, she served as a panel member in the first workshop for education secretaries of Newton. This active and delightful woman plans to retire and move to California.

2 Are Elected To High Posts In Hebrew Union

A prominent local resident, long active in Jewish affairs and the civil rights struggle, and an undergraduate student of Harvard University were among those elected to high posts within the Union of American Hebrew Congregations, it was announced this week by Earl Morse, chairman of the UAHC Board of Trustees.

The two are Kivie Kaplan, a Jewish philanthropic leader who is president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, and Sanford Borins, a Harvard sophomore. Both were active in the programs of the recent UAHC biennial convention in Miami Beach, Florida.

Both Mr. Kaplan and young Mr. Borins were reelected to second terms as members of the Board of Trustees, and Mr. Borins also was named to the board's Executive Committee. He is the first youth ever elected to the board and executive committee of the UAHC, which is the central congregational body of Reform Judaism in the United States and Canada, embracing more than 700 Reform synagogues. Mr. Borins, a native of Toronto, Canada, is a member and youth leader of Holy Blossom Temple in that city.

Mr. Kaplan, former president and general manager of the Colonial Tanning Company of Boston, has held numerous offices with the NAACP prior to his election as its president. A well known philanthropist and activist in the field of equal rights for blacks, he and his wife, the former Emily Rogers, have donated the Religious Action Center building in Washington, D. C., to the UAHC, and buildings to the Jewish Memorial Hospital, Brandeis University, the Boston branch of the NAACP and a reception hall to the Boston Dispensary Rehabilitation Institute.

Mr. Kaplan is an active member and past officer of the Jewish Memorial Hospital, the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, the Newton Community Chest, and many other civic organizations. He is a co-founder and life trustee of Temple Emanuel of Newton and a trustee of Temple Israel of Boston. He also serves on the board of Lincoln University in Pennsylvania, Tougaloo College in Mississippi, and Brandeis University in addition to countless other educational and charitable institutions.

He is the recipient of the doctor for humane letters degree from Portia Law School, doctor of law from Wilberforce University in Ohio, doctor of humanities from Lincoln University, and has received innumerable other awards from various organizations for his outstanding contributions to humanitarian causes.

Mental Health Deficit Appropriation Studied

A resolution urging an emergency $10,000 appropriation for the Newton Mental Health Center was sent back to its Finance Committee for further study by the Board of Aldermen on Monday night.

Acting Finance Committee Chairman Adelaide B. Ball reported that after attending a meeting of the Area Board of the State Dept. of Mental Health she was unable to ascertain who wrote or who authorized an unsigned letter sent to aldermanic candidates last month describing an anticipated $10,000 to $15,000 deficit by the end of this year of the Newton Mental Health Center.

Alderman Ball declared that three representatives of the Mental Health Center went to see Mayor Monte G. Basbas last August about the expected deficit. She said the Mayor told the representatives that the Center's needs would be presented in the city's 1970 budget.

The Mental Health Center had borrowed money to cover their deficit, Miss Ball stated, and no longer requires the city's help for the balance of this year.

Alderman H. James Shea, who along with Alderman Joseph M. McDonnell submitted the resolution, replied that he was sure the Mental Health Center would rather wait for action in the coming year.

Shea asked that the resolution be sent back to the Finance Committee so that representatives of the Mental Health Center and the Area Board could be invited to present their views and clarify the situation.

He said that the Center in order to continue to qualify for state funds had to expand its facilities and open a clinic for adults at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. That was the primary reason for the shortage of funds, he maintained.

In addition, officials of the Mental Health Center feared that the towns of Weston and Wellesley which are also served by the facility would withdraw their offers of assistance if Newton didn't make a similar commitment, Shea claimed.

Noted Political Figures Will Speak At GOP Event On Dec. 4

Well known public personalities will feature the program of the Newton Republican Club at its general meeting being held Thursday evening, December 4, at the Workshop, Columbus street.

The event is open to all interested citizens as well as to the membership of the club, according to a statement made by Anthony J. Medaglia Jr., club president, who announced the program.

Speakers who will participate in the program are: William I. Cowin, chairman of the Massachusetts Department of Public Utilities; Rep. Martin A. Linsky of the 15th Norfolk District; Rep. John A. S. McGinnon of the 13th Middlesex District; Rep. Theodore D. Mann, of the 5th Middlesex District, and John Larkin Thompson, chairman of the Massachusetts Port Authority.

Arrangements for the event are being made by a committee headed by Lawrence Applefield.

Applefield an attorney, who is active in Newton's civic and political circles, is a member of the Ward 5 Republican Committee and a member of the Club's Executive Committee. He is also a director of the Massachusetts Council for Older Americans.

Officers of the Newton Republican Club, one of New England's largest GOP organizations of its kind, are: Anthony J. Medaglia Jr., president; Gerald G. Aransky and Mrs. Whelan Vinnicombe, vice presidents; Norman Buchbinder, treasurer; Mrs. David S. Bard, recording secretary; David A. Lurensky, corresponding secretary, and Donald P. Quinn, administrative vice president.

Expressing a combination of anger and amazement, Newton Director of Public Works Willard S. Pratt commented Thursday on allegations by State Rep. Alderman H. James Shea that the City incinerator is contributing to the pollution of the Charles River.

"I find it both amazing and repugnant," said Pratt, "that an individual would go to this extent to glorify his political career." He referred to a report that Shea had conducted an impromptu inspection of the facility at 3 A.M. Sunday and then immediately phoned a state pollution agency to report that his check revealed "an exceptionally high pollution rate and thermal pollution as well."

"Water overflow from the incinerator's lagoon is absolutely minimal," stated Pratt, "and pollutants in this overflow are practically nonexistent. In fact, they are far less than occur in storm drainage systems which conduct water from private property into public ways and contain sand, dust, fertilizer, oil and organic substances."

Insoluble as thermal pollution is concerned," he added, "whatever overflow there is has to travel approximately one-half mile through an estuary that is almost entirely under the open Waltham dump before it reaches the main thread of the Charles River. Any small thermal differentiation is completely dispersed before it reaches the river. The lagoon does not lead, as Alderman Shea would have us believe, directly into the river."

The Department of Public Works is vitally concerned in seeing that requirements for both air and water pollution control are complied with and, as such, insisted that design of the incinerator met standards more restrictive than those in existence at the time the facility was constructed. This design was subsequently approved by the State Department of Public Health," Pratt further stated. "Furthermore, since construction of this facility, little or no combustible material has been deposited in any open disposal since about March of 1967, all such matter having been incinerated. This has removed many objectionable problems which existed prior to construction of the incinerator, such as open burning, cockroach infestation and constant problems with rodents."

The Public Works Director went on to add that "Mr. Shea's inspection of the bin could hardly have revealed 20 to 25 feet of fermenting refuse, since the bin was cleaned to within one foot of depth three weeks ago. Additionally, there is bound to be some backup in the bin during this period due to the additional burden placed on the facility by leaf disposal. Under normal conditions, one half of the bin is cleaned to depth while the other half is used and then the procedure is reversed so that the bin is constantly being cleaned."

As far as any dust problem is concerned," he further stated, "I fear Mr. Shea is rather tardy if he is thinking of proposing purchase of masks for the protection of the incinerator workers. They have been supplied with special clothing and equipment, including masks, goggles and boots. Furthermore, the workers most in contact with dust would be the crane operators who deposit the refuse, but they are located in air-conditioned cabs with air filter. They are completely protected from dust provided, of course, they keep the windows of the cab closed."

Pratt finished his comments by saying that "efforts on the part of Alderman Shea to embarrass the City's administration seemed to have reached their high point, when we are told that a cursory and completely unscientific inspection of the incinerator conducted at 3 A.M. revealed a high pollution rate and thermal pollution as well. I would call it not only melodramatic, it insulting to the intelligence of Newton's citizens."

"Evasions" Charged By Rep. Shea As He Replies To Director Pratt

Representative-Alderman H. James Shea, Jr., charged yesterday that Director Pratt's statement contained "evasions, untruths and unanswered questions."

"First, let me make clear," declared Shea, "that I have continually inspected our incinerator at least once a month for the past 19 months. These inspections have become more frequent in recent months. On a number of these occasions, at random hours of day and night, I have been accompanied by fellow aldermen. My visits indicate a frequent, insensitive pollution of the Charles River estuary."

"In fact, in October, 1968, I visited the incinerator with a recently elected alderman and we observed extensive water being discharged directly into a trench leading in a few hundred yards to the Charles River estuary," he said.

"This led me to introduce an aldermanic resolution on October 21, 1968, naming the Newton Board of Aldermen on record opposing this obviously deliberate DPW policy. In July of 1969 the Board, upon recommendation of its Committee on Public Works, enacted this resolution stating: 'That it be the sense of this Board of Aldermen that it discourages except under dire emergency conditions the emission of any such pollutant fly ash residue from the Newton Municipal Incinerator or from its Lagoon into said tributary of the Charles River," Shea continued.

"I have been appalled to witness Mr. Pratt's continued insensitivity to the pollution of the Charles River estuary, especially after aldermanic enactment of my resolution. His statement that the pollution content of this emission is 'absolutely minimal' is absolutely false. I have tested this residue on frequent occasions and have found that its PH count has consistently been 3 (a clearly acidic reading), its temperature 100 yards from the Lagoon has been over 110 degrees Fahrenheit, and the water's discolor and fly ash content has been readily visible," Shea said.

"Furthermore, the overflowing of the lagoon into the Charles River estuary is not a rare happening. To my knowledge, this overflowing of heated acidic fly ash residue has occurred on three separate occasions in the last three weeks. (Due in part to a defective front bay valve). Indeed, after my observation last Saturday night, the state Department of Natural Resources inspector who investigated Monday found clear evidence of the pollution despite intense rain that weekend. He is requesting that the City cease this pollution and fully connect the Lagoon overflow to the M.D.C. sewerage system."

"Mr. Pratt's glib willingness to continue polluting the near dead water in the estuary, but not the main thread of the Charles River deserves the strongest of censures. The very fact that the water has limited flow demands that we avoid its pollution which otherwise turns the estuary into an open sewer," Shea stated.

"The DPW Director's assertion that 'the DPW is vitally concerned in seeing that requirements for both air and water pollution controls are complied with' just doesn't square with the facts. 'I cite the following facts: (1), that the incinerator has been operated for some months now in open violation of the Metropolitan Air Pollution Control District's order regarding fly ash pollution necessitating the intervention of the Attorney General's office against Mr. Pratt's Department; (2), the frequent complaints of West Newton and Auburndale citizens about the emission of fly ash, usually more frequent in night time hours, from this DPW facility; (3), the continuing insensitivity to pollution of the Charles River despite the obvious harm to the estuary and the willingness to pollute that estuary despite many aldermanic calls and an aldermanic resolution discouraging such emissions; And (4), the DPW's failure to connect the Lagoon completely to the M.D.C. sewerage system thus making river pollution possible. These facts indicate that Mr. Pratt's Department has little regard for the pressing need in our time to reduce environmental pollution," Shea maintained.

"Mr. Pratt's statement that the design of the incinerator is sound may be true, but I submit that the more than two years' operation of this incinerator based upon policy set by Mr. Pratt's office is evidence of a defective," Shea argued.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Criticize Tactics Employed To Muster Haynsworth Vote

President Nixon employed some strong-arm tactics and a clumsy, meat-axe diplomacy in his attempts to line up votes to confirm his appointment of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth to the U.S. Supreme Court—if Washington newsmen know what they are talking about.

It is understandable that Mr. Nixon and his aides would apply pressure, twist arms, make deals and use patronage in their efforts to get votes. That's a common practice in politics. It is done every day by Governors and Mayors as well as Presidents.

For example, Senator George Aiken unexpectedly voted for Judge Haynsworth's confirmation because his wife, a relatively new bride, likes to be invited to the White House and her husband did not want to be scratched off the invitation list.

That's one thing, but it's something else again if a Senator is told he'll be indicted if he doesn't vote the way the President wants him to, and Capitol Hill observers insist that White House lobbyists came very close to doing that in the case of Senator Thomas J. Dodd of Connecticut.

Dodd, who already has been censured by his colleagues and is facing probable defeat when he stands for reelection next year, reportedly was told in thinly disguised terms that he might be indicted on income tax evasion charges if he didn't vote for Haynsworth. (The indictment supposedly would be based on widely publicized past allegation that Dodd used campaign contributions for private purposes.)

If that is true, then those are tactics few fair-minded persons will condone.

Dodd reportedly would have voted for Haynsworth if his vote could have saved the day for President Nixon's high court nominee.

He waited until the issue had been settled before he stood up to be recognized by Vice President Agnew who was presiding over the Senate at the time. Fifty-three Senators had recorded themselves against Haynsworth when Dodd took the floor to vote. President Nixon had lost his fight. Dodd cast the 54th vote against Haynsworth as the labor organizations in Connecticut had asked him to do.

If he could have turned the tide for Judge Haynsworth or created a tie which Vice President Agnew would have broken with a vote for Haynsworth, Dodd would have recorded himself for Haynsworth, according to the newsmen, but Dodd's vote was meaningless when he cast it.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania and his top assistant, Senator Robert P. Griffin of Michigan also would have voted for Haynsworth if they could have swung his appointment by doing so, the reporters insist.

But if Scott, Griffin and Dodd had all voted for Haynsworth instead of against him, it would only have made the count 52-48 against him instead of 55-45, and President Nixon would still have lost his fight.

It is somewhat surprising to this writer that President Nixon didn't know precisely what the vote would be on the confirmation of Judge Haynsworth. It certainly was a reasonable assumption that those Senators the President could not line up behind Haynsworth were going to vote against him even if they didn't say so.

Poll Returns Show All-Time High Popularity For Nixon

President Nixon has a more accurate finger on the public pulse than do his critics if the latest Gallup Poll is accurate.

The nation's most famous test of public opinion indicated that Mr. Nixon's popularity reached an all-time high after his Vietnam speech and during the mid-November anti-war demonstration.

The pollsters reported that 68 percent of the people interviewed approved of the job the President is doing as against only 19 per cent who disapproved and 13 per cent who had no opinion.

Call For More Heat At Craft St. Works

Atty. Peter F. Harrington, a leader in a non-at-large election, from Ward 2, and Thomas B. Concannon, Ward 2 Alderman-elect, have requested city officials to provide indoor heat at the crafts street work area for recreation department employees.

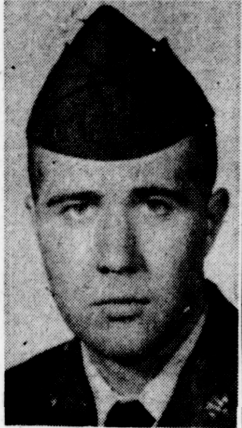

In a letter to Mayor Basbas they said that during the winter months, city employees, "are painting and repairing outdoor equipment used throughout our city... we have been told that often, during December, January and February, the new coat of paint freezes before it dries."

In addition to Mayor Basbas, a copy of the letter was sent to John Penny, recreation department, and Charles Herbert of the building department.

Harrington went on to say "during my campaign I heard some complaints about the effective work capacity of city employees. In answer to these complaints I visited the city yards. What I found was amazing. The 2nd floor work area of the Recreation Department has no heating facilities.

"The heat is provided by having two square un-railed 'holes' in the floor above a garage. It is in this area that men, dressed in gloves, parkas and other outdoor clothes paint equipment during the winter. In my opinion these conditions are intolerable and beyond justification."

In their letter Harrington and Cannon went on to say, "we suggest that the above HEAT—(See Page 3)

PFC. PAUL H. DUNNE

PFC Paul Dunne South High '66 Killed in Viet

Relatives, friends and former classmates learned with sorrow this week that Pfc. Paul H. Dunne Jr., 1966 graduate of Newton South High School, was fatally injured while on a mission in Phan Thier, Vietnam, on Nov. 19. Further details were lacking.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Dunne of 141 Spiers road, Newton Centre, and was 22 years of age. He played hockey at Newton South.

Young Dunne attended Newton Junior College and Boston University before he volunteered for military service in October, 1968. He was attached to the 527th Artillery.

In addition to his parents he is survived by one brother, Richard, 16, a student at Newton South; and two sisters, Gayle, 21, of Florida, and Nancy, 14, a student at Meadowbrook Junior High School.

$60,000 Short Of Goal

United Fund Total Is Lagging Behind

United Fund in Newton is coming down the home stretch in its fund drive for 1969. It has been slow going this year because the solicitors were handicapped by the two weeks of bad weather.

The goal for Newton is $162,492. To date only $102,245.78 has been collected; therefore United Fund is $60,000 short of its goal in Newton.

Twelve agencies in Newton benefit from United Fund. They will only be able to continue their work in assisting over 20,000 people in Newton if its goal is met.

Assistance to the aged, the Red Cross, Scouting, the family counseling services, the Newton - Wellesley Hospital, the YMCA — all these varied agencies serving Newton residents will be handicapped in their work for the coming year if the goal of $162,492 is not met.

United Fund has had to raise its sights this year because there has been an FUND—(See Page 2)

Santa Here For Gay Yule Parade Sunday

After jolly old Santa Claus arrives by helicopter at Our Lady's Schoolyard on Sunday at the corner of Washington and Adams streets, the annual Nonantum Christmas parade will step off with four divisions in the line of march.

Preceding the parade there will be a huge Christmas Party which begins at 1:30 o'clock on Sunday, Nov. 30, and the invitation from the sponsors is "Come One — Come All!"

This year instead of winding through Nonantum streets the parade will proceed from Our Lady's up Washington St. to Newtonville Square. It will proceed right on Walnut St. on to Lowell Ave. to Watertown St. From Watertown St. it will proceed to Pearl St. onto Green and Kennedy. Cir. onto Chapel to Middle St. and finally on to Adams St. to the Coletti Magni Park where it will end.

The Christmas Party was first given in 1899 at the 24 Elementary Schools Would Benefit

$36,000 Sought By School Principals For Expansion

Newtons 24 elementary school principals recommended to the School Committee on Monday night that $36,000 be included in the 1970-71 school budget for an expansion of educational opportunities for pupils. Each school, under the proposal would receive $1,500.

In addition, results of a survey indicated that the principals were unanimous in considering reduction of class size in Kindergarten through grade 2 as their highest priority of need.

A committee composed of five principals reported to the School Committee on discussions held over the last two months and a beginning survey of a total, city-wide assessment of what they consider to be critical program and staffing needs for next year with some indication of future needs.

One of the principals reported that the goal in reduction of the pupil-teacher ratio in the early grades is 20 to 1.

They said they would propose use of teacher aides in classes larger than this size and to accomplish this goal city-wide would require 20 additional aides in the kindergarten, 44 in the first grades and 40 in the second grades.

Committeeman Edwin Hawkridge estimated this would cost about $225,000 a year.

The increase in the number of teacher aides was proposed informally and the committee of principals said they would come back with specific proposals at a later date.

Superintendent Aaron Fink commented that it is obvious that the principals feel Grades Kindergarten through two are the places to start to make improvements.

"There is a real need here," he said. Members of EXPANSION—(See Page 31)

Yule Gifts Set To Go

Final Call To Send Servicemen Names

Mayor Monte G. Basbas will send a Christmas gift package to each serviceman from the Newtons who will spend the Yuletide in Vietnam.

However, the Mayor reports that his gifts must be mailed by Friday of next week (Dec. 5) in order to insure they will be distributed in Vietnam by Christmas.

So residents of Newton, who have a son, a brother, a husband, a father or any other relative in Vietnam, are invited to send both their overseas mailing address and their home address to the Graphic.

Please address them to: News Editor, the Graphic, Box 102, Newtonville, Mass. Please do it today!

We can process requests only for youths who live in Newton. That's why we must have the home address of the serviceman involved as well as his mailing address.

Mayor Basbas is helping out in this endeavor in a big, warm-hearted way.

Now we are asking clubs, organizations, PTAs, church groups and especially women's clubs to join in this undertaking.

Please call the Graphic editor at DA 64000, get the names and addresses of a few servicemen and send them Yuletide gifts.

We are requesting that you obtain the names from us so there may be an equitable distribution of the names and to avoid the possibility that those at the top of the list will be showered with gifts while those at the bottom of the list are overlooked.

Please let us know what you are doing so we may report your generosity in our news columns.

Board Honors Dr. Beckwith

The Newton School Committee on Monday night congratulated its Chairman, Manuel Beckwith, for the achievements of his son, Dr. Jonathan Beckwith, who directed the Harvard Medical School team that isolated the gene.

Dr. Beckwith is 33 years old and a professor at Harvard Medical School.

Chairman Beckwith pointed out that his son received his pre-college education in the Newton public schools. He attended the Burr Elementary School, Warren Junior High and Newton High School.

Mayor Has Plans

City Request For Schools Rejected

The Newton School Committee on Monday night tabled request from Mayor Monte G. Basbas that the old Stearns School on Watertown St. and the old Pierce School on Chestnut St. be released to the city three months after completion of construction of the new Day Junior High and Newton High Schools.

School Committee Chairman Manuel Beckwith said "It is premature to vote on the matter. The new buildings won't be ready for occupancy for about four years and the School Department needs cannot be ascertained this far in advance."

He observed that the results of a demographic study of the city which should be concluded in January may help to determine future school space needs.

The old Stearns School currently houses the School Administration offices and the old Pierce School has been used for some time for quarters for the Division of Instruction.

Mayor Basbas said that the city must think in terms of planning too.

"Everyone pitched in to give boys a chance to join Scouting — and join they did."

This is how Dr. Edward Michaud of Weston, Norumbega Council BSA School Night Chairman summed up the results of Thursday nights' successful recruiting effort which brought nearly four hundred new boys and adult leaders into the Cub Packs and Scout Troops in Newton, Wellesley and Weston.

Thirty-eight elementary schools became one-night recruiting centers manned by Scout leaders and uniformed boys. It is anticipated that five new Cub Packs and two new Scout Troops will be organized as a result of the one night activity.

District School Night Chairman, Paul Slater of Newton, and Walter Woods of Wellesley acclaim the project a revolutionary new method of enrolling boys and adults.

Masow New Head Of GOP In Newton

Julius L. Masow of West Newton has been elected Chairman of the Newton Republican City Committee to succeed the late William A. Lincoln.

Elected to vice chairmanship were Mrs. William L. Bruce and William H. Wolf. All are well known in Newton's political, civic, and community activities.

Masow assumes the top post in the Newton GOP after serving many years in the ward organization. He served several terms as Chairman of the Ward Three Republican Committee and has been vice-chairman of the City Committee.

Until his election as Chairman this week he carried on the work of the City Committee as its acting Chairman.

Mrs. Bruce, who is Republican State Committeewoman from this area, has been Second Vice-Chairman. She now moves up to the first vice chairmanship.

William H. Wolf, a member of the Newton Board of Aldermen, has been actively identified with Republican affairs, particularly as a member of Ward Two. As Second Vice-Chairman he now heads the

Women's Society Of First Church Yule Party Dec. 2

The arrival of Christmas will come to the Women's Benevolent Society of First Church in Newton on Tuesday afternoon, December 2nd, at one-thirty in the Brigham Chapel on Homer Street, Newton Centre.

Two seminarians from St. John's Seminary will lead the service being presented by Mrs. Clarendon Southmayd, program chairman.

Austin Fleming and Joseph Coletti, the seminarians, will develop the theme, "Reconciliation in a Broken World," the subject which is the study for the Women's Benevolent Society in 1969-70.

The Service will consist of readings from Scripture, selections from relevant contemporary authors and music chosen from the growing repertoire of religious folk music which is finding its way into Christmas worship.

The young guests from the Seminary will use guitars for accompaniment and they will welcome comments and reflections from the audience during the service.

The Christmas celebration of the Society is the high point of the year. All members are urged to invite guests to join them at this worship service.

The audience will adjourn by invitation to the Parish Hall as guests of the Homer Circle to enjoy a tea chairmaned by Mrs. Warren T. Hollis III and Mrs. John Lamos, leaders of the Circle. The president of the society, Mrs. Peter Coogan and the wife of the minister, Mrs. Newell H. Curtis, Jr. are to be pourers.

Members of the community are most cordially invited to attend this interesting afternoon affair.

Flood Of Story Book Folks Hits Newton Library

Four sixth - grade girls from Memorial School stole the show from the more than 70 witches, knights, lions, tigers, clowns, Indians, jesters and fairy princesses who popped out of storybook pages Thursday, November 20 at 3:30 p.m. to overflow the Oak Hill Park Branch of the Newton Free Library for a party to celebrate Children's Book Week.

The four girls, Ronna Chersonson of 272 Spiers Road, Maureen Foley of 55 Colella Road, Lynn Rubin of 5 Keller Path, and Sharon Dudson of 21 Cavagh Path, saw their duty and did it when the capacity crowd of costumed children threatened to inundate the librarians who had come to the Branch to help Branch Librarian Elizabeth Rubin with the Book Week celebration.

Ronna Chersonson shared song - leading with Assistant City Librarian Virginia A. Tashjian, who as the green clown really didn't need rescuing; and with Boys' and Girls' Librarian Jane Granstrom, a shiny - eyed seers in a black gown and pointed hat.

Mrs. Marion Wagner, assistant librarian at Oak Hill Park, Miss Lois Linsky, page, and Mrs. George Michaels of the Library staff joined in the songs and games preceding and following "A Chairy Tale," a 10 - minute movie which the children clamored to see again.

Punch, cookies and a book - cake baked by Miss Granstrom and decorated with Wizard of Oz Tin Man and Scarecrow in frosting were dispensed to the young crowd before the party goes reluctantly dispersed.

The costume party was the culmination of Newton Free Library Book Week activities which included story hours all week at city - wide branches; a live showing of "The Wizard of Oz" on November 13 at Meadowbrook Jr. High; a chat with author Bernice Chesler ("In and Out of Boston With Children") at Centre Branch on November 17; and a reception for iron sculptor, Dr. Leonard J. Cibley on November 18 at the Main Library.

More gala library days are ahead for Newton youngsters as the Boys' and Girls' librarians plan winter family - festival parties for each branch, including a Swedish celebration at the Boys' and Girls' Library, 126 Vernon Street, Newton Corner, and a Chanukah festival at Newton Highlands Branch.

Detailed schedules of library winter festivals will be publicized next week.

Drama Career For Ina Ames

Playing the role of Mrs. Smith in Northeastern University's Silver Masque Theatre production of Eugene Ionesco's "The Bald Soprano," recently was not the first stage appearance for Ina Ames, of 915 Dedham St., Newton Center.

Miss Ames, 20, a sophomore drama major at Northeastern, began acting in plays at summer camp at the age of eight. She is a 1966 graduate of Newton South High School where she was also active in theatre productions. The highlight of her theatrical experience was the production of her own play, "Why Not," by the Playhouse Workshop.

The Playhouse Workshop is a television program affiliated with WNBC-TV, Channel 7. It airs plays by unknown playwrights and utilizes non - professional actors such as Miss Ames, who also appeared in one production, "The War is Over," last year.

Ina's main interest in theatre is not acting, however. Play - writing is her major interest, because she sees writing as the best way to help people see what stops them from communicating with other people. This is her main focus.

has declared. They are looking forward to acquiring some city owned land because of the high cost of private land, he asserted.

"We're providing you with new schools. Now let's make the old ones available for other uses," the Mayor said. "I am concerned that the city has other needs too," he added.

Basbas maintained that the School Committee had voted about a year and a half ago to release the two buildings subject to the proposed new construction. He said he wanted re-affirmation of that vote.

The Mayor explained that the School Committee had talked of moving their administration offices and Division of Instruction into the Day Junior High building when it becomes available. He suggested instead that consideration be given to the idea of placing these facilities in Building 3 of Newton High School and using the old Day Junior High for Newton Junior College.

Committeeman Edwin Hawkridge declared that "no member of the School Committee wants to hold onto property it doesn't need." But, he said, all possibilities should be explored first so that the School Committee doesn't have to go back to the city to ask return of the buildings. "We need an in-depth planning session first," Hawkridge maintained.

Women's Club Of Highlands Meets Dec. 3rd

The Woman's Club of Newton Highlands will meet at the Workshop on Wednesday, December 3rd.

This meeting at the Columbus St., location will be under the auspices of the Education Committee, Miss Clara L. West, chairman. She will be assisted by her committee, Mrs. Clarence E. Churchill, Mrs. James S. Gove, Mrs. Vincent J. Marotto and Mrs. Ralph K. Shaw.

A dessert and social hour will be held at 1 o'clock. The business meeting will be held at 1:45 p.m.

Following the business meeting, program of the afternoon will take place with Dr. James Laurits, assistant superintendent of schools, speaking on the subject, "Directions in Secondary Education." A question and answer period will follow.

Diet Workshop Has Recipes For Gay But Slim Holidays

Some of the happiest holidays of the year are upon us - namely Thanksgiving, Hanukkah, Christmas and New Years. Entertaining will swing into high gear and people will be eating, eating, eating - much to their regret in January when they have to finally reckon with the scale. "Just this once" will be heard ringing 'round the nation while clothes get tighter and tighter and finally don't even fit!

The problem of weight gain during the holidays is quite understandable. It's sort of like the weather - everybody talks about it but nobody does anything about it, or so most people think. However, low calorie food can be tasty and quite satisfying when it is cooked with know-how and skill plus there is the necessity for good recipes with which to work. The Diet Workshop feels that they are developing just such recipes and the know-how which they are currently passing on to their members who are always amazed at the good food they can eat and even serve guests.

In Newton they meet at the Stop and Shop on Route 9 in Chestnut Hill every Tuesday

Time is growing short so please make your arrangements today.

School teachers - especially those in the lower grades - are asked to have their pupils send Yuletide greetings to servicemen from their neighborhood who will spend this Christmas in Vietnam.

Greetings from an entire class could be mailed in one envelope.

This Christmas cannot be a truly festive one for lonely young men who will spend the day in a strange land far from their homes, their families and their friends.

But if each of us does just a little, we can let them know in a most convincing manner that we are not forgetting them at the Yuletide.

The first thing we must do is to get the name and address of every serviceman from Newton who will spend Christmas in Vietnam. Please send that information to us today.

Blue Cheese Dip

1 1/2 pound cottage cheese
1 tablespoon blue cheese
Buttermilk
Garlic salt, minced onion (optional)

Blend all ingredients until creamy, using enough buttermilk to get desired consistency, then season to taste. Serve cold with chilled, cut up vegetable sticks for dipping. Can be thinned out for salad dressing.

Chicken California Style

1 cut up chicken
1/2 cup lemon juice
1/2 cup orange juice
1/2 tsp. marjoram
1/2 tsp. thyme

Artificial sweetener to equal 1/4 cup (scent) sugar 10 saccharin tablets

1 cup water
Combine all ingredients and pour over chicken which has been placed in a large baking pan. Bake for 1 hour at 375 degrees, then drop oven to 350 and 1/2 hour more. Turn chicken several times while baking to insure moistness.

Pumpkin Pie

1 1/4 1/2 ounce can pumpkin
4 saccharin tablets*
1/2 tsp. salt
1 1/2 cups skim milk
1 tsp. ginger
1/2 tsp. nutmeg
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
1 egg well beaten

Mix all together and bake in pyrex pie plate for 1 hour at 375. Make two, one with crust and one without for dieters.

* The new Sweet 'N Low is made without cyclamates and saccharin is also safe and can be easily dissolved in a little water.

described conditions require immediate corrective action and would recommend the following:

1. Radiators be provided for second floor work area in adequate number and be connected to the new heating unit recently installed in the building.

2. The exposed beam roof be insulated and a ceiling be installed with access to the above storage area.

3. In the event that the city can not afford to include the cost of installing radiators in its $40 million dollar budget, large fans (in addition to insulation and a ceiling) should be installed in the 2 unfenced or non-railed (square) holes in the floor. We would suggest that fans would only be a stop-gap measure and would only conform to minimal heating standards on the second floor.

Both Harrington and Concannon visited the crafts street area after election to confirm that no action was being taken.

The Honorable Monte G. Basbas
1000 Commonwealth Avenue
Newton, Massachusetts

Dear Monte:

During our most recent visit (November 13, 1969) to the Crafts Street facilities of the Recreation Department we were amazed to learn that no corrective action has been taken to provide adequate heat for the second floor. It is our understanding that the second floor was used, last year, throughout the winter months, for annual painting and storage of outdoor stands, tables, benches, etc. Comments from department employees would lead to the logical conclusion that conditions are no better than a Siberian work camp. City employees, dressed in arctic gear (including parkas, gloves and other miscellaneous outdoor clothes) are painting and repairing outdoor equipment used throughout our City during the summer months. We have been told that often, during December, January and February, the new coat of paint freezes before it dries.

We would like to take this opportunity to protest against these intolerable conditions. It is bad enough that these men must work for what we consider inadequate and unjust wages, but to require them to paint equipment in near or sub-freezing temperatures is beyond justification.

We suggest that the above described conditions require immediate corrective action and would recommend (without the need of a study by professional heating experts) the following:

1. Radiators be provided for second floor work area in adequate number and be connected to the new heating unit recently installed in the building.

2. The exposed beam roof be insulated and a ceiling be installed with access to the above storage area.

3. In the event that the City can not afford to include the cost of installing radiators in its Forty Million Dollar Budget, large fans (in addition to insulation and a ceiling) should be installed in the two unfenced or non-railed (square) holes in the floor. We would suggest that fans would only be a stop-gap measure and would only conform to minimal heating standards on the second floor.

In conclusion, we can only say, that to continue to require City employees to labor under these winter conditions is not in the best interest of the City.

important Special Committee on Organization and Coordination.

Appointed to serve on the Special Committee headed by Wolf are Charles E. Aucoin, Mrs. Nancy Dawson, Edward C. Uehlein.

In other business, the group heard reports from Wigmore A. Pierson, Treasurer and Finance Chairman, Charles E. Aucoin. Both reported an excellent response to the Committee's campaign for funds through its "Loyalty" campaign directed to its membership.

The Committee expressed its appreciation to Mrs. Eugene M. Hirschberg who served as its representative on the Citizens' Charter Review Committee.

The Nominating Committee which presented its report was made up of the following members: Adelaide B. Ball, Ward One; George Hicks, Ward Two; Stanley Miller, Chairman, Ward Three; Mrs. George Jones, Ward Four; Edward C. Uehlein, Ward Five; Mrs. William L. Bruce, Ward Six; Melvin Norris, Ward Seven; and Melvin Clayton, Ward Eight.

Other officers of the City Committee, in addition to those elected at this meeting, are: Wigmore A. Pierson, Treasurer; Mrs. Maynard M. Slessinger, Recording Secretary; and David A. Lurensky, Corresponding Secretary.

Rubbish Pick-up May Be Delayed Due To Holiday

The Street Department of the City of Newton announces that, because of Thanksgiving, the rubbish collection in some parts of the city may be somewhat slower than usual.

"Total rubbish collected is up 18.71 percent over last year at this time," states Street Commissioner Edmund Bolduc, "and lately, we have been consistently collecting nearly 300 tons per day." As an example of the sharply increased workload facing his department, Bolduc cited figures showing that "in all of 1968, the total rubbish collected amounted to 43,870.71 tons, while up to the present, in 1969, we have collected 46,531.94 tons. In addition, the increase in volume has led to a considerable increase in number of pieces necessary to handle. This is a factor that contributes much to the time involved in collection."

The Street Commissioner added that all available resources are being put to the task of collecting the city's rubbish, and apologizes for

Apathetic Voters

Editor of The Graphic:
As usual, large numbers of Newton citizens did not vote in the recent municipal election.

This great mass of apathetic voters is not an anonymous body confined to textbooks. They are all around us. I know many of them and so does each of us.

Whatever number of reasons each of these persons might give for not voting, it appears from several comments that many did not bother to vote simply because they thought one of the majority candidates did not stand a chance of winning.

To these people I can only say what should be self-evident: that it is not for any of us to decide whether a candidate has a chance of winning, and on the basis of that choose whether or not to vote.

The idea of the democratic process is to vote for the man of your choice, not to decide as a condition of voting at all, whether that man has a chance.

The democratic process would work far better if people would spend less time weighing the odds and more time deciding when and how they will get to the polls on election day.

Thanks Graphic

Editor of The Graphic:
Tuesday, November 25th was the last session for the Combined Adult Jewish Education Program of Conservative Temples in the Newton-Chestnut Hill Area.

In behalf of this program and all the people associated with it, may I extend our very sincere thanks for your wonderful cooperation over the past six to eight weeks in accepting and publishing our publicity. Many thanks.

Sincerely,
Sumpster Barnett

Veiled Threat

Editor of The Graphic:
Mr. Colbert's weeks of hawkish clichés about patriotism remind me of the radical students' adolescent platitudes about the "system."

However, when you start to Agnewize about TV, then you forget that your own press freedom is also threatened.

As commercial broadcasters we know that newspapers have never particularly enjoyed our companionship, but publishers should remember that the censorship song is sung in all keys.

If you don't understand this, then you draw yourself into a parallel with the radicals who shriek madly about revolution while they indulge lavishly in democracy.

To begin with, if Mr. Nixon's hand-me-down war is so rational and deserves defending by broadcasters, then why is it that some Americans (including students) are able to sun in warm Caribbean islands while others must die in hot Vietnamese jungles?

Do you call this condition worthy of support? Perhaps we need a war-time austerity program that would affect each American every single day.

This might change the minds of a great many super-patriots who now go about their daily lives unrestrained by the game of death checkers we play.

Many of us who worked long and purposeful hours on the Moratorium were betrayed by small gangs of student — and non-student — thugs who are nurturing every latent reactionary mood of this country.

(These students don't really want to end the war — just to transfer its locale). They forget that it is more important to win people over than to alienate.

Meanwhile, Mr. Nixon forgets that we are supposed to be fighting to save freedom in Vietnam; yet the administration would curb this freedom at home. The situations are analogous.

Since your editorial columns print only one side of the issue (and that is your right in a free press), perhaps you will permit some quotes from one of our editorials, as broadcast on Providence radio and representing another view.

"Mr. Agnew's speech has signaled what may be the launching of a propaganda campaign of great danger. It is the tactic of the power-grabber to publicly discredit the social commentator."

"Mr. Agnew would have us believe that righteousness follows only in the path of the Nixon administration, and that righteousness is so revealed and so hallowed that it may not be questioned or inspected."

"We fail to see the logic in the argument that television picks and chooses what it will broadcast when, in the interests of open coverage, the man making the charge partakes of television's microphones to tell his story."

"Selective bias would have very nicely confined his comments to a banquet hall in Des Moines."

"Journalism has a job to do — to report honestly and to comment on the news. We submit that the Eric Severeids have covered the many state houses, watched the White House too long and reported international affairs too often to be told that they have no credentials to make fair comment."

"What is most dangerous of all, however is the veiled threat by Mr. Agnew that something ought to be done about news coverage."

"It takes little imagination to foresee the day when some power-grabber would use his high office to quiet the free voices of broadcasting first and then, surely, the newspapers."

"It seems to be so frequently true that the most fanatic exponents of law and order are the very ones to treat it so shabbily."

Very truly yours,
Joy Kierstead,
Chairman

The meeting was constructive in its intent and outcome except insofar as Newton Citizens for Clean Air was misrepresented as having concurred with the Mayor's decision. In any case, Newton Citizens for Clean Air could not be said to have a position until its board and officers met to agree on an official stand, as reported above.

We note that today's Boston newspapers quote an appeal by the state air pollution control authorities to the "conscience of the homeowner" to halt burning of leaves, stressing that not only smoke but harmful particulates and gases result from leaf burning. Ironically, Newton is cited as having banned open burning.

Very truly yours,

Learson New Trustee For Sacred Heart

International Business Machines President T. Vincent Learson has been elected to the board of trustees at Newton College of the Sacred Heart.

The announcement of Mr. Learson's election, which brings Newton's total board membership to fourteen, was made by Dr. James J. Whalen, president of the Catholic women's college near Boston.

Mr. Learson, a resident of Rye, N. Y., was born in Boston, and was graduated from Boston Latin School and Harvard University. After joining International Business Machines Corporation in 1935, he held a number of managerial positions, before becoming a Corporation vice president in 1954.

He was elected a member of the board of directors in 1961, a senior vice president in 1964, and president of IBM in 1966.

A director of the Chemical Bank and the Carborundum Company of New York, and Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, Mr. Learson is a member of the Board of Overseers at Harvard College.

He also serves as a trustee of the National Industrial Conference Board and the Spencer Foundation, and as vice chairman of the New York Chapter of the American Red Cross Executive Board.

Newton College, one of some 200 educational institutions conducted by the Society of the Sacred Heart throughout the world, has an enrollment of 800 students working toward baccalaureate degrees in 21 major fields.

"WELL DONE"

Apollo 12

From just about every aspect the moonflight of Apollo 12 was a scientific miracle. It would have been considered unbelievable and impossible only a relatively short time ago.

This time millions of Americans took for granted many of the achievements and accomplishments in connection with the second walk on the moon although every American must have experienced an overwhelming feeling of pride at the fabulous feat.

Planning is underway for further flights and future landing on the moon to add to the scientific knowledge and data already gathered from the flights of Apollo 11 and 12.

While there is no doubt that we should continue our scientific explorations into space, many persons will wonder whether we have achieved the proper ratio in determining what proportions of available funds we should spend to probe the problems in outer space and those here on earth.

Until we have solved some of the problems on earth which in a comparatively short period, as time goes, may threaten our very survival as a people, it may be in our human interest to curb our expenditures on moon flights and concentrate more heavily on improving the conditions in which we live.

Asterisk Degrees

Educators across the country will be watching closely the New York City experiment by which the doors of City College will be open to enrollment of students who would have no chance of attending college on the basis of their high school marks and scholastic achievement.

If the only idea is to attach a graduate label from a college or junior college on a young man or woman, maybe the sponsors of the idea have something. It is pretty difficult to see, however, that they have come up with a system which can add anything worthwhile to any sound concept of American higher education.

Indeed, the appeal of one City College official that high-ranking school juniors be admitted to the college to help "counter-balance the influx of unprepared students," is indicative of how low those responsible for the idea have fixed their sights.

To the shame or to the glory of baseball statisticians the feat of Roger Maris in surpassing Babe Ruth's home run record by getting 61 in 162 games while Ruth got 60 in a 154-game season will always be marked with an asterisk.

Could it be in the future that we'll be marking some bachelor and doctorate degrees with asterisks, too?

Gone Forever?

Some time in February an estimated total of 2000 doctors will take examinations in New York to determine their ability to fill roles in something new to the late 20th century called the family practice of medicine. Of course, it will be nothing new to the older generations among those who can remember the family physician answering calls in the early morning hours, often traveling into the teeth of a punishing storm.

Those old practitioners are gone forever — particularly those who could never find it possible to turn down a call for their assistance — as well as those who carried the monetary debts of poor families on their backs forever.

Medical science has gone a long way since the turn of the century. Its great advances in surgery, pediatrics, obstetrics and other highly specialized fields have been one of the hallmarks of the century.

We don't know whether the present movement to bring back the old general practitioner, with his worn bag and capacity to "take" house calls through any and all of the 24 hours, will gain success or not.

Probably it would be too much to expect. Yet, looking back on him today and attempting to assay the role he played in making our communities worthwhile, we are disposed to offer the old family doctor a belated "Well done."

tickets was revived back in 1954 the Democratic delegates have been left free to make up their own minds about the choice of a candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

Foster Furcolo wanted to pick his running mate in 1956. But he was still trying to persuade one of his choices to accept the nomination when the convention endorsed ex-Representative Robert F. Murphy of Malden.

Governor Sargent, incidentally, is in his present post because both ex-Governor Volpe and former Attorney General Elliot Richardson rallied their supporters behind him when he was seeking the GOP endorsement for Lieutenant Governor at the 1966 Republican State Convention.

Until Volpe and Richardson went to work, it seemed likely that Representative Francis W. Hatch of Beverly would defeat the present Governor for second place on the GOP ticket.

As things have turned out, that convention clash proved to be a highly important one.

What was especially significant about that poll was that many persons, who want the war ended and the troops brought home as quickly as possible, think that the President is doing the best he can under the circumstances and that his policy in Vietnam is about the only one which can be followed at the present time.

On the basis of the poll returns Mr. Nixon has cause to assume he must have been doing something right.

It will be interesting to see whether his popularity has been hurt by what seemingly was an inept handling of the Haynsworth case.

White House Making Balls For the Busy Veep To Throw

This department is unable to accept the claims that the distinguished dissenter—Vice President Spiro T. Agnew—is talking strictly on his own and not clearing it with his immediate superior.

In the first place, Richard M. Nixon, busy as he is, doesn't operate that way.

This writer knows of no way in which a Vice President can be fired, but we suspect President Nixon would try to find one if his Veep independently and without authorization reared back and fired away at the major television networks and such newspapers as the New York Times and the Washington Post.

Mr. Agnew hardly has the credentials and qualifications to criticize the New York Times' handling of news stories. On the surface, however, it does seem strange that the Times failed to carry a story about 300 Congressmen and 59 Senators signing a letter endorsing President Nixon's policy in Vietnam.

The omission of that story apparently was accidental and resulted from a mixup at the Times office, it is now understood.

What we started out to say was that it seems quite obvious that Vice President Agnew not only is clearing his speeches with President Nixon but is firing the balls made for him in the White House.

The Veep, incidentally, is proving quite a rough and tumble debater in public combat.

Haynsworth Defeat May Make Richardson Secretary of State

Elliot L. Richardson of Brookline, former Attorney General and Lieutenant Governor, might become the nation's next Secretary of State as a result of the Senate's action in blocking the appointment of Judge Clement F. Haynsworth to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Washington newsmen believe that Secretary of State William Rogers is now one of the persons under consideration by President Nixon for appointment to the nation's highest judicial tribunal.

If Secretary Rogers is finally chosen by the President to go on the Supreme Court, it is expected that Richardson, the No. 2 man in the State Department, would be promoted to the position of Secretary of State.

It would be the climax of a strange chain of events if that happened.

Richardson probably would be serving in the U.S. Senate today instead of Edward W. Brooke except for a mistake made at the 1962 Republican State Convention when the two were battling for the GOP endorsement for Attorney General.

Richardson almost certainly would be serving as Governor today if he had not yielded to pressure and sought election as Attorney General in 1966 in order to hold that office for his party instead of standing for reelection as Lieutenant Governor.

His appointment as Under-Secretary of State came as a great surprise because he is considered to be much more liberal than President Nixon.

However, Secretary Rogers knew Richardson as a highly able and articulate public official during the Eisenhower administration, and he persuaded the Brookline man to resign as Massachusetts Attorney General and become his top assistant. Richardson has done an outstanding job in that capacity.

Dem. Nominee for Governor May Handpick Running Mate

Political observers take it for granted that Governor Sargent will handpick the members of the Republican State ticket who will stand for election next November.

At the same time they assume that an open fight will be waged for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant Governor, the only position on the Democratic ticket which will be up for grabs.

The latter assumption may be a risky one since the respective party nominees for Governor and Lieutenant Governor will run as a team in 1970. A gubernatorial standard-bearer obviously will want a running mate with whom he can work in harmony.

While supporters of Senator Edward W. Brooke may offer a dissent, Governor Francis W. Sargent is now the leader and boss of the Republican party in Massachusetts.

Brooke, whose views and opinions undoubtedly are sought by Sargent on many matters, is too deeply involved in federal problems in Washington to give much more than passing attention to political developments on the home front. If any conflicts do develop at the state level, Brooke probably would side with Sargent since the two are both Republican liberals.

Sargent's leadership is presently being challenged by the conservative wing of the Bay State GOP over the selection of a new Republican State Committee Chairman to succeed Josiah Spaulding who is resigning from that post in order to be free to seek his party's nomination for U.S. Senator and the right to stand against Senator Edward M. Kennedy next year.

In the end Sargent will prevail, but the fight which will be waged before he does could leave some political scars and bruises. A similar group installed Frederic C. (Buck) Dumaine as State Committee chairman over the opposition of the then Attorney General Brooke, the then Senator Leverett Saltonstall and ex-Governor Volpe a few years ago.

However, the maverick group at that time was not contending with a Republican Governor in office, and the present rebels do not have a candidate for the GOP State Chairmanship with the strength and stature of a Buck Dumaine.

The revolt against Sargent's leadership within his own party will be embarrassing for him if it comes out into the open, but the Governor has the political muscle to put it down quickly.

Senator Edward M. Kennedy is still the boss of the Democratic party in Massachusetts, but he's not likely to get involved in the selection of the Democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

If there is an attempt to dictate the choice of a contender for that office to the Democratic State Convention, it will be by the man who wins the convention endorsement for governor.

If State Senate President Maurice A. Donahue gains the gubernatorial endorsement, he might well tap State Senator Beryl Cohen of Brookline for second place on the Democratic ticket.

If Boston Mayor Kevin H. White emerges the victor from the main fight at the convention, he probably would ask Donahue to run on the ticket with him as the candidate for Lieutenant Governor. Whether Donahue would agree to do so, is of course, uncertain.

Senator Cohen and Representative Michael Dukakis, both of Brookline, have been working to line up the support of Democratic ward and town committee members in anticipation of an open fight at the convention.

It seems unlikely, however, that the man who gains the endorsement for Governor will not use his influence with the delegates in behalf of the candidate for Lieutenant Governor he believes would be the most help to him.

Since the convention system of endorsing State

Clair Buick Announces Arrival Of 1970 Opels

The 1970 Opel Kadetts, featuring numerous styling refinements along with engine and other mechanical improvements is now on sale, according to an announcement from the Metropolitan Buick/Opel Dealers Assn.

President J.E. (Ernie) Clair of Clair Buick, 1575 VFW parkway, West Roxbury, reports that the new Opel is expected to make the same swift sales start as did the 1970 Buicks when introduced about a month ago. Clair Buick offers the same six models as last year - the two-door sedan, deluxe wagon, sports sedan, super deluxe sport coupe, Rallye Kadette, and the Opel GT.

New features include a new ignition system, new tail lamps, new front and rear side marker lights, and optional wood grain applique with moldings on the wagon. The Opel Kadetts are manufactured by General Motors in Europe and distributed in the U.S. through some 1,900 Buick-Opel dealers.

The 1970 line-up offers three engines. The 1.1 R, liter engine, standard on all models but the Rallye and GT, has been increased to 63 horsepower, up from 60 last year.

It is a four cylinder, in-line overhead valve engine with an 8.2 to 1 compression ratio, and 65.8 cubic inch displacement. It has two single barrel carburetors and uses regular fuel.

Standard engine for the Rallye Kadett and GT is the 67 horsepower 1.1 SR with two single barrel carburetors, 92 to 1 compression ratio, operating on premium fuel.

Among its new features for 1970, the GT offers a black simulated leather steering wheel, a convenient storage tray on the console, and a new anti-lift windshield wiper.

Liners List Record Number of Cruises

More Americans are expected to go down to the sea in ships on cruises, that is - this season than at any time since the jet planes began flying 10 years ago and captured the bulk of the travel market.

Industry surveys indicate an upward trend in cruise passengers this year and predictions are the boom will continue.

As a result, steamship companies are offering a record number of cruises during the 1969/70 season, ranging from overnight sailings to round - the - world voyages.

New York remains the major port of embarkation but more departures are scheduled from Los Angeles, San Francisco, Miami, Port Lauderdale and the warm water ports in the West Indies. Destinations include the Caribbean, Bermuda, the Bahamas, South America, Mexico, Hawaii, the Far East, Australia and the South Pacific Islands.

Two of the newest luxury liners, Cunard's Queen Elizabeth 2 and German Atlantic Line's Hamburg, will make their debuts in Caribbean cruise service this year.

The 65,863 - ton QE2 has 10 cruises scheduled from New York, ranging from an eight - day voyage to two ports (minimum rate $295) to a 13 - day Christmas - New Year sailing with six ports of call (from $595).

The 25,000 - ton Hamburg and its sister ship, the 25,300-ton Hanseatic (formerly the Shalom) have 17 cruises scheduled to the West Indies from Port Lauderdale. They range from seven days (from $270) to 16 days (from $730).

Thirty - nine cruises have been listed for the Greek Lines 26,300 - ton Olympia from New York, two from Baltimore and two from Boston. Ports of call include Bermuda, the Bahamas and the Caribbean. There are two - Christmas - New Year cruises (from $295 and $350) departing Dec. 22, and a special 11 - day Passover voyage under rabbinical supervision leaving April 20 (from $295) from New York.

Holland America is offering 25 cruises from New York aboard the Nieuw Amsterdam and Rotterdam through next May. They vary from five - day cruises to Bermuda (from $150) to a 16 - day nine - port voyage to the West Indies (from $615). Others include an 85 - day round - the - world cruise by the Rotterdam departing from New York Jan. 22 (from $3,745).

The Italian Lines has 17 cruises scheduled from New York to the West Indies for the Michelangelo, Raffaello and Leonardo da Vinci, from two - port seven - days (from $240) to six ports in 16 days (from $375). In addition, the da Vinci will make a 31 - day cruise to Rio de Janeiro for the carnival (from $1,110) and a 41 - day voyage through the Pacific (from $1,475) the line's first venture in that ocean.

A total of 35 cruises have been listed for North German Lloyd's Bremen and Europa - 28 from New York and seven from Port Everglades - to the West Indies, Bermuda, Bahamas, South America and Canada. They range from five days (from $175) to 21 days (from $710).

On the west coast, Princess Cruises is offering 53 cruises to Mexico, South America, the Caribbean and Miami from Los Angeles. Included are three - day Party Cruises (from $95) to 17 - day voyages (from $595) and 15 and 17 - day air/sea combinations passengers flying one way and sailing the other.

Air/sea cruises also are offered by American President Lines and P & O Lines out of San Francisco, in addition to sailings to the Far East, South Pacific, Hawaii, Caribbean, among other destinations. Matson Lines also provides cruise services to Hawaii, Mexico, South America and other Pacific ports from the west coast.

Out of Miami, the Norwegian - Caribbean Lines has listed 88 cruises for the Sunward, Starward and Skyward, which is scheduled to begin operations early in 1970. They vary from three - day voyages to Nassau (from $85) to nine - day cruises through the Caribbean (from $275).

Costa Lines has a variety of cruises to Nassau, the Caribbean and South America from Miami, Port Everglades and San Juan, Puerto Rico, aboard the Frederic C. Fulvia and Flavia. Eastern Steamship Lines Ariadne has regular scheduled three - day cruises to Nassau (from $85) and four - day voyages to Nassau and Freeport (from $105) from Miami.

Machine Uses TV to Detect Eye Trouble

By PRESTON MCGRAW

A research team at the University of Texas Southwestern Medical School in Dallas has developed a device that uses a computer and a rewired television set to detect early symptoms of major eye ailments.

What the device can do in about 30 minutes is make a full visual field examination of a patient's eyes. It takes an hour to an hour and a half and a trained technician with the best present optical method.

"The seven major causes of blindness each affect a person's field of vision," Dr. John H. Lynn said. "By analyzing electronically produced maps of one's field of vision, we can help diagnose an ailment at an early stage and then monitor the effects of treatment."

Dr. Lynn, chairman of Southwest Medical School's department of ophthalmology, has guided development of the device.

The testing system won a certificate of merit in the July meeting of the American Medical Association in New York. It won third prize at the American Association of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology meeting in October at Chicago.

Doctors Tested

Dr. Lynn tested the eyes of 150 ophthalmologists at the Chicago meeting and found in several the symptoms of glaucoma, one of the main causes of blindness.

The ophthalmologists, specialists in eye diseases, had no idea they were affected.

Ophthalmologists already are trying to buy the testing system. Dr. Lynn and Southwest Medical School have refused to sell it.

"The ophthalmologists see what it will do," Dr. Lynn said. "But it is not a first class machine yet. It has the potential of becoming a first class machine but it will take about two more years to perfect it."

Southwest Medical School, with government help, has spent about $250,000 on the system. Dr. Lynn estimates it will take $250,000 to $1 million to perfect it.

Miss Morgan-Mr. Lucey Wed At Second Church In Newton

The marriage of Miss Kathryn Jeanne Morgan to Frederick Richardson Lucey took place recently in the Second Church in Newton.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Melbourne Morgan of 304 Lowell Avenue, Newtonville, and Mr. Daniel A. Lucey of South Portland, Me., are the couple's parents.

Dr. Ross Cannon officiated at the two o'clock double ring afternoon service. A reception followed the pretty fall wedding.

Mr. Morgan gave his daughter away. Her silk organza gown was trimmed with lace on the sleeves, empire bodice and border of her skirt.

Lace edged the illusion veil and she carried her white Bible with white roses.

Miss Virginia Lee Morgan of Newton, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids included Miss Cynthia Morgan of Newton, another sister of the bride, Miss Donna Garrow of Newton, and Miss Pamela Hosselbee of Sherborn.

All the attendants carried white Bibles with yellow roses and wore olive green princess gowns.

Young Elizabeth Gibbs of Newport, R. I., was flower girl, while Master Larry Teenan of Portland, Me., nephew of the groom, was ring bearer.

The best man was Daniel Lucey of Hawaii, brother of the groom. Ushering were Peter Lucey of Chicopee, another brother of the groom, Larry Teenan of Portland, Me., brother-in-law of the groom, and Bradford Morgan of Newton, brother of the bride.

After a trip to Vermont and Canada, Mr. and Mrs. Lucey are making their home in West Newton.

MRS. RICHARD M. WILE

Pretty Fall Bridal Unites Miss Flansburg - Mr. Wile

Miss Jacqueline Mary Flansburg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Flansburg of Voorheesville, N.Y., was married to Richard Mansfield Wile, son of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Wile of Waban, at a recent afternoon ceremony at the First Methodist Church, Voorheesville, N.Y.

The Rev. Walter E. Taylor, Johnstown, Pa., where Mr. Wile is affiliated with the Penn.-Central Corporation, officiated. Mrs. Joseph Gage was organist, while Mrs. Robert Morse was soloist. A reception followed at the Bavarian Chalet in Guilfordland.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride's Victorian gown of ivory satin was made with a yoke of re-embroidered Alencon lace to match the cuffs of her full puffed sleeves, entraine.

A bonnet of matching Alencon lace held in place her double tiered full length silk illusion veil. She carried a Colonial bouquet of white roses and gardenias.

Miss Darlene Feldman of Voorheesville was maid of honor. The bride's sisters, Mrs. Robert Traver of Ravena, N. Y., and Mrs. Gerald DuBois of Voorheesville, N. Y., were bridesmaids. They were dressed alike in full length empire gowns designed with ivory lace bodices and brown velvet skirts. Their flowers, arranged in a nosegay, were yellow pom-poms and daisies.

Randolph Grotzinger of Forest Hills, N. Y., served as best man. The ushers were Stephen Dewire of West Newton and Kenneth Clarke of Norwood.

The bride was graduated from Voorheesville High School and Syracuse University and has been associated with the New York State Education Department in the division of Educational Testing.

Mr. Wile is a graduate of the Belmont Hill School and Syracuse University.

After a trip through the southern states, Mr. and Mrs. Wile will make their home in

Young Guitarist Part Of Combo At Murray School

Rodney Dean Farnsworth (called Algy by all), a rhythm guitarist who is a junior at Murray Road School, is one-third of a 3-man-band which also includes two Newton High students: Jeff MacLure, a drummer, and Nick Branch, guitarist.

Music theory with Ron Blake is one of Algy's courses this year. U. S. history, experience writing, psychology, linear algebra, math, physics, and oceanography round out the heavy schedule which seems to be typical for many Murray Road students.

Son of Mrs. Laing Farnsworth of Newton Lower Falls and Mr. Edward V. Farnsworth, Algy elected to join the Murray Road student body this year because of "the smallness of the school and the community it is."

"The students here like what they're doing because it is of their own work that it exists," Algy says.

What's in the future for Algy? He says it's open end, but music will probably always play a part. For now, he, Jeff MacLure and Nick Branch are concentrating on their 3-man venture, a band called "Roach."

Sisterhood Has Petite Luncheon

"All work and no play" is a familiar and true expression. The Sisterhood of Temple Beth Avodah has had a busy Fall. This week the ladies took time out for a "petite luncheon" at the Kovacs Home Gallery.

After a Gallery Talk by Mr. Kovacs about paintings and how to judge them, the Sisterhood members browsed through the gallery, enjoying the works of art. A luncheon and meeting followed.

Miss Irene Leacu Becomes Mrs. Patrick E. Dougherty

The marriage of Miss Irene Anne Leacu to Patrick Eugene Dougherty took place recently at Corpus Christi Church in Auburndale.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Leacu of 70 Bowen street, Newton Centre. Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Dougherty of 31 Newell road, Auburndale, are the groom's parents.

Th. Rev. John Feehey performed the double ring ceremony, which took place at 12 o'clock, noon. A reception was held at Ristorante La Bimba in Framingham Center.

Mr. Leacu gave his daughter away. She was attired in an empire gown fashioned of satin. The bodice, high neckline and long sleeves were marked with jeweled peau d'ange lace.

A petal headpiece, made of matching jeweled satin, held in place her bouffant veil. She carried a bouquet of white flowers.

Library Offers Copper Enamel Exhibit In Dec.

Copper enameling by Mrs. Felice Kahn's students in the Newton High School adult education course is on display during December at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre street, Newton Corner. The exhibit, which starts December 2, features three groups: one by beginners, one by advanced students, and a third showing the various stages of the work from the plain copper piece to the colorful glazed and fired finished product.

Enameling is the fusing of glass to metal, such as copper, silver and steel. Mrs. Kahn's students have been concentrating on copper so far this year. The enamel is really specially formulated glass which comes in granular form resembling salt. It is adhered to the metal piece by use of a gum applied by brushing or spraying. The enamel is usually sifted over the gum and then the object is dried and placed in a hot kiln for firing. At 1450 degrees the enamel melts and fuses to the metal.

Many of the display pieces which are first efforts are just as impressive and satisfying as those of the more experienced enamellers. The color and brilliance achieved in enameling have always made it an exciting hobby, and the popularity of this centuries-old craft is undoubtedly at its peak today.

Mrs. Felice Kahn, who is teaching for the second year in the Newton Adult Education program, is a graduate of the University of Michigan with B.A. and M.A. degrees.

Students participating in the exhibit, which will be on view at the Main Library through mid-December, are Mary Antonellis, Marie Fahen, Pauline Barooshian and Diane LaPierre; Myrna Crutt, Bernice G. a. h. m., Veronika Stephens, Margaret Jones, Celia and Samuel Weinstein, Richard Douglas, Florence Alsmeyer and Betty Loew; Alice Price, Gertrude Pokaly, Marie Hackett and Madeline Savickas.

A unique feature to be included is a Polaroid photograph booth providing a handsome seasonal Christmas setting for single or group color photograph with which to capture and remember the 1969 holidays.

This booth is being planned by Mr. George Clifford, Jr. There will be a prize booth under the chairmanship of Mrs. Robert Crane which will feature as the first prize a personal pastel portrait to be done by a noted Wellesley artist, Mrs. Natalie Haller.

Other prizes include a Morning of Beauty at the Elizabeth Arden Salon; theater and dinner tickets; Celtics and Bruins Tickets; Gift Certificates from Star Market and Stop & Shop; a handmade Afghan, Boys' and Girls' bicycles and transistor radios.

The popular Holiday tables will abound with many unusual handmade gifts and goodies which include a Handmade Apron Boutique; Stocking Stuffers and Penny Candies; Attic Treasures; Christmas Decorations and traditional and gourmet baked foods.

Mayor Basbas Leads Fight Against Plan To Discontinue M & B Subsidy

Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas has called a meeting on December 2nd of representatives from the 16 communities served by the Middlesex and Boston Street Railway in order to marshal opposition to a recommendation made by the MBTA Advisory Board which would result in discontinuation of the M & B's subsidy as of June 30, 1970.

The recommendation came as part of a ten million dollar across-the-board cut in the MBTA's budget proposed by the Committee and passed by the Advisory Board at a meeting yesterday morning in Boston.

The MBTA had announced its budget for the thirteen month period from December 1, 1969, to December 31, 1970, and it included a $46,500,000 net deficit of $73,000,000 by 1976.

The Budget Committee, stating that the property taxes of the cities and towns could no longer bear the strain of the deficit assessment, recommended the ten million dollar cut and called for an emergency "Summit Conference" to include Governor Sargent, legislative leaders, the MBTA Board of Directors and General Manager and representatives of the Advisory Board in order to examine additional sources of funding.

At the meeting, Mayor Basbas and Newton's Acting City Solicitor Charles H. Morang proposed a measure which would restore $300,000 to the budget and keep the M & B operating until December 31, 1970. The motion was defeated.

Mayor Basbas stated, "The Advisory Board Budget Committee has taken the very cavalier attitude that the cities and towns served by the M & B should contract directly with private carriers for continued service, citing the fact that the city of Brockton has done so. They ignore the fact that the city of Brockton is outside of the MBTA district and that there was no obligation on the part of the MBTA to provide such service."

They do admit that legislation would be required to permit such contracts in the M&B Area. In summary, the report would seem to be a move to shock the Governor and Legislature into providing a different source of funding for the MBTA deficit.

Mayor Basbas added, "The losers in this case would appear clearly to be the cities and towns served by the M&B. The report of the Committee did, however, state that any substantial change in the transit service should be deferred until the Governor and the General Court have been given an opportunity to act."

The meeting called by Mayor Basbas will take place at Newton City Hall on Tuesday, December 2. Representative of all 16 cities and towns served by the M&B have been invited and MBTA General Manager Leo Cusick has agreed to attend.

The 16 communities are Arlington, Bedford, Belmont, Concord, Dedham, Framingham, Lexington, Lincoln, Maynard, Natick, Needham, Newton, Waltham, Watertown, Wayland and Wellesley.

UNICEF Greeting Card First Inspired By Tot

The grim realities of life school vegetable gardens, often lead to feelings of great frustration and despair. War, poverty, disease and starvation around the world leave us with a feeling of utter helplessness. While no one person can put right all of what's wrong with the world today, one can make a contribution and put a little more meaning into the Holiday Season.

The greeting cards sold each year by the United Nations Children's Fund provide the means by which you can help give some of the millions of underprivileged children throughout the world a chance for a better and longer life.

Now in its 20th year, the greeting card segment of this life-saving program goes back to 1949 when a naive drawing by a seven-year-old Czechoslovakian girl became the first UNICEF card.

It was the spontaneous creation of little Jitka Samkova, who was so grateful for the food and medicine that UNICEF gave to the children of her war-ravaged village in southern Bohemia that she drew a group of happy children playing around a maypole wreathed with flowers to express what she felt in her heart.

"The picture means joy," she wrote, "and the wreath shows that the line of children being helped is endless." Since then more than 100 of the world's most prominent artists have contributed their designs to UNICEF to help children in need, and more than 300 million greeting cards have been sold, bringing help and hope to countless millions of children in every corner of the world.

Today in Latin America, Asia, Africa, and the Near East, children are being helped and taught with UNICEF funds. As the only United Nations agency exclusively concerned with the needs of children, UNICEF provides supplies and equipment not available within the assisted countries.

Its major programs are in the fields of health services, disease control, nutrition, welfare and education. UNICEF aid means more penicillin, sulfone, BCG vaccine and antibiotics to combat disease. It means tools for development of high-protein foods and the training of nurses, teachers and social workers so that they, in turn, can train others.

With the emphasis on self-help, UNICEF aid means helping people to help themselves, as the assisted countries provide matching funds on the average of $2.50 for every dollar allocated by UNICEF.

With the sale of UNICEF cards and calendars now providing about 10 per cent of UNICEF's world-wide budget the number of children assisted each year is directly related to the number of cards sold. This makes buying UNICEF Greeting Cards an act that is directly related to the spirit of the Holiday Season.

The 19 designs for the 1969 collection were donated by celebrated artists from nine countries, and capture the flavor of the Holiday Season in a wide range of mood and background.

Some are seasonal and religious; others are non-seasonal and secular. Many are ideal for year-round use. All are a wonderful way of expressing your Holiday children in need somewhere in the world.

UNICEF cards are offered in boxes of ten, priced at $1.50 with the exception of one special-edition card priced at $2.50 per box. They are inscribed with an appropriate Holiday greeting or with blank inner pages for your own personal message.

Also available for $2.50 is the UNICEF Engagement Calendar, and the second edition of the popular Wall Calendar for Children priced at $1.00. A free full-color brochure is available from the Newton Community Peace Center, 474 Centre St., Newton Corner.

When you purchase your greeting cards this year, think of UNICEF and the contribution you can make to help children in need throughout the world.

UNICEF Cards are available Monday - Friday, 9-12 a.m. at the Peace Center, located in the Eliot Church of Newton, Newton Corner. Beginning Dec. 1 the office will be open from 9-2:30 p.m.

Passing Scene In 40 Pictures

High School Shows Photos in Library Exhibit

Photographer Peter Lowy of Newton Highlands shows the passing scene in an exhibit of 40 photographs of people and places on view beginning December 2 at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre Street, Newton Corner.

Peter, a Newton South High junior and photo editor of Regulus, the 1970 yearbook, started working with film in a weeks Jr. High photo elective back in '66. As he became more adept at darkroom techniques, he knew he had found a consuming interest, bought a used 35 mm camera from a friend, and began to work on his own darkroom.

He made his darkroom from a former cellar storage area where he plastered up cracks in the wall, covered and rearranged shelves to gain working space, and fitted up a kitchen sink he had salvaged from a remodeling job.

He likes best what he calls candid and creative people pictures, has done some portraits, and occasionally spots an architectural shot, a photo of something built by man. He has also taken some unusual pictures of simple things in nature, such as an extraordinary view of a pile of rocks.

Peter, who has previously shown his works at the Newton South High Arts Festival (1969) and at the Brighton-Brookline-Newton Community Center, is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Louis Lowy of 72 Fisher Avenue, Newton Highlands, and brother of Susan Lowy, a South High graduate who is now a freshman at Boston University.

The Lowy exhibit, newest in an on-going series of shows by local young photographers, will be on display from December 2 through the 18th.

Kindergarten Topics Studied At Conference

David Armstrong of the Educational Development Center, Newton, and Fro Georges, Elementary School consultant for the Newton School System, are members of the 1969 New England Kindergarten Conference steering committee. The results of this committee's work was studied at the annual conference, Nov. 21 at the Hotel Somerset, Boston.

This conference, sponsored by Lesley College with the cooperation of many public and private school systems, colleges and universities, was an effort to highlight the relationship of the kindergarten to the total elementary school program, and to keep professionals involved in Early Childhood Education abreast of new developments.

Topics covered at the conference include reading at the kindergarten level, the transition class, activities to aid the perceptually handicapped child, and use of the space program as a new classroom resource.

South High Harriers Compile 3-5 Record in Suburban League

By Lewis Freedman

Newton South High's Cross-Country team compiled a 3-5 record this fall in the Suburban League.

South's mark, however, hardly reflected the quality of the team. The recent realignment of the Suburban League made it into the toughest league in the state. Twenty-five teams were entered in Division I in the state meet, including seven of nine Suburban squads. Brookline, Newton, Arlington and Weymouth finished first, fifth, 12th and 14th, respectively.

So, despite having a much faster contingent than in 1968 the Lions could not improve on that team's 3-4 record.

This year's performance greatly resembled that of its predecessor. Only three seniors ran varsity, whereas in '68, two seniors received varsity letters. Four of the top five were underclassmen—the same as last season, but for the fact that this year three are juniors. Both squads compiled similar records and both came on strong near the tail end of the season after slow starts.

Junior Chuck Pottey was the first Lion across the finish-line in every dual-meet, plus the league and Catholic Memorial meets, despite suffering a pulled leg muscle midway through the fall. Pottey won one individual contest, against Brookline. He streaked to a 13:59 clocking on the NSHS home 2.6 mile Mt. Ida Junior College course. Pottey earned a 20th place medal in the league meet.

Mike LeBlanc and Dickinson, both juniors, fluctuated between the second and fourth positions throughout the year. Senior Dave Glaser, though never moving as high as second ran a consistent third man.

Captain-elect LeBlanc has covered Mt. Ida's scenic route in 14:38, a 35-second improvement over his sophomore year, and was second man in four meets.

Dickinson, who had an up and down season also sports a 14:38 timing for the home course. This represents only a four-second increase, however, from his sophomore year.

Glaser is the only member of the top five to graduate. He showed immense improvement from his junior year, developing from an occasional placar to a solid third man and lowering his time from 15:37 to 14:43.

Junior Steve Reef, although missing half the season with a leg injury proved a capable fifth man, scoring in the first five meets and dashing to a 15:21 effort.

Sophomore Mat Williams came on big at the end of the season, logging a 15:05 and scoring in four meets.

Captain Steve Sahl, returning to running after missing the 1969 indoor and outdoor track seasons with a back injury, cut 22 seconds from his time, down to 15:20.

Senior Scott Lampert's best effort was 15:58. John Scheff registered a 16:04.

With five of the top six runners returning, and additional help on its way up in the persons of juniors John Seeler, 15:44 and Paul Nisson, 16:23, and sophomores Ed Forman, 15:57, Pete Harvey, 16:16 and Aryan Halpern, 16:16, next year's team could surprise some of the Suburban League powerhouses.

Jewish Book Month Marked At BBN Center

A special book review and discussion program entitled "Is it true what they say about the Jewish mother?" Another look at Portnoy's Complaint" will be held Wednesday morning, December 3, at 10 a.m. at the Brookline-Brighton-Newton Jewish Community Center. Sponsored by the Center's Women's Auxiliary, in conjunction with its library program, the event will honor Jewish Book Month.

Mrs. Ronya Schwaab, lecturer and news analyst, will present a review of Phillip Roth's bestseller, and David Dublin, Executive Director of BBN, will offer "A Jewish and Clinical Response — A Social Worker Reacts."

According to Mrs. Jacob Kagan, President of the Women's Auxiliary, the program will not only feature a stimulating discussion of the book, but will also focus on its implications for understanding the problems of Jewish identity.

Prior to the book review program, there will be a Chanukah Gift Sale at the Mini Boutique. In addition, new library books will be on display.

For parents of small children, a free baby-sitting service will be available.

Hospitality Chairman for the morning is Mrs. Bernard Golis.

Hostesses of the Library Committee include: Mrs. Elmer Gorin, Chairman; Mrs. Nathan Simat, Library Fund Chairman; Mrs. Albert Dennis, Library Fund Co-Chairman; Mrs. Sidney Novak, Librarian; and Mrs. Joseph B. Barron and Mrs. Bertram Fogel advisors.

Airman Leone Is Promoted

Gerard A. Leone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nino R. Leone, 35 Emerald St., Newton, has been promoted to airman first class in the U.S. Air Force.

Airman Leone is an aircraft mechanic at Pease AFB, N.H., in a unit of the Military Air Force Command which provides global airlift for U.S. military forces.

The airman is a 1969 graduate of Newton Technical High School.

Shelly Katzeff Is Cheerleader At Pa. College

Shelly Katzeff of Newton is one of seven students at Cedar Crest College, Pa. chosen to join the Lehigh University cheerleading squad. When the nearby engineering college issued a call to all Crest girls to try out, 50 girls auditioned for cheerleading spots at the all-male school and Shelly was chosen for one of the coveted roles.

This is the first year that any girls have been asked to supplement the squad at the Bethlehem, Pa. college.

Shelly and her fellow cheerleaders participate at all home and out-of-town football games and until their uniforms and pompons arrive, they are attired in brown skirts, the male cheerleaders' brown letter sweaters and pompons of brown and white crepe paper.

Shelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max L. Katzeff of 50 Carlson Avenue, is a freshman at the 103-year-old liberal arts college for women.

Newton Tigers Are Underdogs In Maryland Midget Grid Game

The Glen Burnie Rebels of Maryland will host the Newton Athletic Tigers in a Midget Charity Bowl game this Thanksgiving Day weekend for boys 13 and under and weighing less than 115 pounds, and the home team should be heavily favored. The bowl game is being played for the Anne Arundel Retarded Children's Home.

The local group will leave Newton Highlands Playground on Friday morning at 7:45 a.m. for Glen Burnie, Maryland.

The Rebels scored a total of 226 points this season and 74 allowed opposing teams in points in finishing second in the Northern Division of the Anne Arundel County Maryland Football League.

The outstanding Rebel defensive unit is led by Dave Huss, Bob Gull, Pete Ildefonso, Mike Platt and Tim Wilburn.

The Tiger's defensive unit which is inconsistent at times is led by linebackers Matt Sabetti, Dave Kelley and Rick Paglis.

Defensive linemen are Joe Donlan, Steve Berkowitz and Bill Bertrand. The Tiger's secondary is comprised of Kevin Hoban, Jerry Sullivan and Bob Kinsella.

The Glen Burnie offense is a well balanced ball-control unit. The leading ball carriers are Lynd Thomas, Jerry Morgan, Mike Hoey and Dwan Lingenfelter. The Rebels are possessed with three fine signal callers who are Dave Reeves, Brian Clevenger and Mike Evans.

All three boys can pass and often hit Bill Naegle, Mike Hoey or Chris Golinski. The Rebels offensive line was one of the most feared in their league and is comprised of Center Kenny Lloyd, guards Paul Tryon and Jim Raszewski and tackles Bob Gull and Dave Huss.

The Tiger offense has been spotty to date but coming off a 20-0 victory in its last game may pick up enough momentum to upset the heavily favored Rebels. Newton's top scorers have been John Viazakis with 42 points and Kevin Hoban with 34 points.

The fullback duties have been shared by two 11 year old boys who are Matt Sabetti and Jim Viazakis. The Newton offensive line is comprised of center Drew McAuliffe, guards Mike Malizia and Dennis Cameron, tackles Ron McGerigle, Dave Prince and ends Dana Foley and Glen McKenzie.

The Newton Athletic Association Tigers exploded for 20 second-half points in defeating the Hull Pop Warner Knights at Newton Highlands Playground.

After a scoreless first-half, halfback David Kelley took the first play from scrimmage 43 yards behind the fine blocking of Mike Malizia and Ron McGerigle. Dave then raced the ball to the 11 yard line.

Two plays later fullback Jim Viazakis bulled his way into the endzone from the six. The points failed.

The fired up Tiger defense held Hull on the next two dueling plays. On third down and long yardage Kevin Hoban intercepted an errant Hull pass at mid field. From there the Newton running backs took over.

Hoban himself displayed some fine running ability along with Matt Sabetti and David Kelley. Hoban eventually went in for the score from 13 yards out. He also rushed the points. Kevin also scored that final Tiger touchdown on a 4 yard tackle slant.

The points failed. In all Kevin picked up 70 yards in carries and upped his season point total to 34 points.

Dave Kelley also had a fine afternoon picking up 50 yards in 5 carries and John Viazakis who leads the team in scoring with 42 points picked up 35 yards in seven tries.

The Junior Midget Lions won their third game of the year by defeating the Jamaica Plain Junior Midgets 6-0.

Quarterback Ned McCarthy hit end Jack Ryan on a 4 yard touchdown pass mid-way through the third period.

The Newton Centre Jets tied the Jamaica Plain team in a pee wee game 0-0. Both the Lions and Jets closed out their season Sunday.

Basketball Co-Captains Named at Junior College

Sophomore Billy Wellford and freshman Eric Kohn have been elected as Co-Captains for the 1969-1970 Newton Junior College Basketball team.

Bill Wellford, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wellford of 15 Beech Street, Newton, is a sophomore at the College majoring in Business Administration. The 1965 graduate of Newton High School is returning to the Junior College after three years in the military and is actually picking up where he left off.

As a freshman in 1965-1966, Billy starred in both basketball and baseball and was elected co-captain of both teams for the 1966-1967 seasons but left school to enter the service.

Eric Kohn, son of Mrs. Anne

Kohn of 39 Harvard Ave., Brookline, is a 1969 graduate of Brookline High School and a freshman at Newton Junior College.

While at Brookline High School, Eric participated in basketball, baseball, and track. Eric is majoring in business and hopes to transfer to the University of Massachusetts after completing his studies at Newton Junior College.

First year coach Jerry Ready, a former NJC eager himself, feels the team made an excellent choice in selecting Wellford and Kohn as their leaders. Both are small (5-9), but are excellent ballhandlers and playmakers, as well as being good floor leaders, and both are the type who give 110% all the time.

Tiny Tots Swim Classes At YMCA Register On Dec. 1st

Dr. Schleifer Is Chairman Of Newton Social Services

Mr. Albert R. Beisel, Jr., president of the Newton Community Council, announces the appointment of Dr. Maxwell J. Schleifer, research and teaching psychologist, University of Massachusetts, as chairman of a study committee on Newton's Social Services.

The purpose is to develop a vehicle that would help in clearly identifying the range of needs in Newton — those that are adequately being met — those that are not adequately being met and those that are likely to emerge in the future.

Mr. Beisel stated that this committee is an outgrowth of several agencies in Newton attempting to project future programs and expressing the felt need to the Newton Community Council for increased central planning.

There has been expressed concern over the ever decreasing amount of funds available, both public and private, and thus the necessity for maximum coordination of all endeavors. Dr. Schleifer stated, "In approaching this problem it becomes clear that current socio-economic information about Newton's population is inadequate to identify the present and future needs of its citizens."

It will be necessary to develop a mechanism by which citizens and agencies, both public and private, can mutually contribute to the solution of citizens' problems, both present and future.

"Initially," Dr. Schleifer continued, "it is most important to bring together, in a meaningful way, groups who have an interest and investment in meeting the human needs of the community. We would hope, in the process, that questions and problems that require definition will emerge. In this way, the questions that can be raised and answered will have more direct meaning for the groups involved and to the overall benefit of the city."

Preliminary meetings have been held with the following individuals and organizations: Dr. Maxwell J. Schleifer, Chairman, research and teaching psychologist; Mr. Henry E. Bates, Jr., Newton Library; Mr. Anthony J. Bibbo, Newton Community Services; Mrs. John Bliss, League of Women Voters; Mrs. Catherine Geiman, Head Start; Mr. John E. Gilleland, Div. Business Administration, School Dept.; the Rev. Robert L. Griesse, Newton Clergy Assoc.; Mr. Robert Julier, Red Cross; the Rev. Thomas H. Lehman, Newton Clergyman; Mr. James Miller, Planning Dept.; Mr. Paul Moan, Newton Health Dept.; Mr. Chester L. Mosher, Newton Y.M.C.A.; Mr. John Penney, Newton Recreation Dept.; Mr. G. Peter Pulsifer, WEMBROC; Chief William F. Quinn, Newton Police Dept.; Mr. Dar R. Robison, Newton Community Council; Mr. Mar. Slotnick, Newton Community Development Foundation; Mr. Lewis B. Songer, Chamber of Commerce; Dr. William E. Stone, Newton Mental Health; Miss Susan Swift, Family Counseling Service; Miss Florence M. Tankevich, Visiting Nurse Assoc.; Mr. Henry VanUnen, Housing Authority; Judge Julien L. Yesley, District Court; and Mrs. Marjorie Zerin, Community Relations Commission.

As this effort progresses, the Community Council would hope that many citizens of Newton will participate in the study for the mutual benefit of all concerned.

For further information, interested persons are asked to contact the Council office, 12 Page Road, Newtonville — or phone 527-5120.

Robt. Capeless To Address Ward 8 Dems

A Newton resident and former mayor of Pittsfield will be guest speaker, Dec. 2, at a Ward Eight Democratic City Committee meeting at the Newton Highlands Women's Club, honoring several newly elected Newton aldermen and their wives.

Newtonite Has Role In Play December 4, 5

Mrs. Marjorie Laxer, 45 Newbury St., Newton Centre, will play the part of Martha in the Brookline Amateurs' production of "Design for Murder," a mystery in three acts by George Batson.

The play will run Thursday and Friday, December 4 and 5, and is presented at Willett Hall, Harvard Congregational Church, on Marion St. in Brookline. Curtain is at 8:30. Donations are optional.

In "Design for Murder," the gracious traditions of a Hudson River mansion are upset when a maid is killed and eventually every member of the cast is a suspect. Humor and suspense are effectively mixed in this drama which once starred Tallulah Bankhead.

Mrs. Laxer's past experience with the Amateurs includes roles in the group's productions of "The Broom and the Groom," "A Date With April" and "Never Too Late."

The Amateurs, one of the longest continuously operating amateur groups in the country, have been performing in the Brookline community for the past 65 years.

Health Department Warns Of Accidents in the Home

The Newton Health Department has issued recent warnings of the increasing number of accidents occurring in the home. The victims could be people of all ages and of both sexes, although the elderly are particularly vulnerable. The holiday season also provides additional safety hazards.

People 65 years of age and older become victims of more than 30,000 fatal accidents each year. Although this age group only constitutes about 10 percent of the total U.S. population, it experiences nearly 75 per cent of all fatal falls.

The severity of accidental injuries occurring to our senior citizens is extremely high. The National Safety Council reports that 800,000 persons of this age group annually incur disabling injuries of at least one day duration. In addition, their average number of hospital days is longer as a result of accidents than from cardiovascular disease, cancer, diseases of the respiratory system and other diseases.

On the whole, most fatal accidental injuries occur in private homes. This is most likely due to their extended exposure to their environment.

These falls can be prevented or controlled with awareness to a few simple rules:

Any quick movement of the head such as tilting the head backwards or moving suddenly may cause dizziness and result in a fall.

If required, wear your eye glasses at all times. Be alert for tripping hazards — toys, mops, brooms, etc.

Don't carry items that will hinder your vision. Wear sturdy low heel shoes at home.

When climbing to reach something, use a firm ladder or stool.

Let each member of the family think daily about how to prevent falls.

Maintain halls and stairs well-lighted, without glare and shadow. Be able to turn on light before you walk into an area.

Install, use and maintain in good condition, strong banisters and handrails on stairs. Painting the top and bottom stair with a light paint is also a good idea.

Use a non-slip mat in the bath tub. A grab rail near the tub is desirable.

Repair broken floors and stairs; mend or replace worn carpeting.

Wipe up spillage promptly. Use floor wax sparingly or not at all.

Fasten rugs securely — avoid using loose scatter rugs. Keep low furniture and electrical cords away from walking areas.

Place night lights in locations that will illuminate walking areas.

Umbrellas Matched With Clothes Styles

By WALTER LOGAN

Lawrence Katz was looking around recently at the upheaval in men's fashions and decided to start one of his own. So now you can get men's umbrellas to match your raincoat — beige, dark green, brown, navy blue and even checks and plaids.

Katz, 38, is president of the Polan Katz Umbrella Company of Baltimore, Md., a manufacturer of fashionable umbrellas for women since his father founded the firm back in 1905.

"Take a look at some of the new men's styles," he said. "The new double-breasted coats, the wide lapels, the fitted shapes. The new shirts and the wide ties. Why if you wear a black umbrella with them you might as well be wearing tennis shoes."

"You must have something that has the feel of style. If you're still wearing the old fashioned English tab collar with a new tie that is four or five inches wide you will look idiotic. It's the same thing with old fashioned umbrellas — and that includes the color, the fabrics and the handles which are real style items."

Katz also manufactures walking sticks and predicts a resurgence in them, especially with their new designs and application. By application he referred to the shillelagh, the old Irish walking stick which is traditionally made from the blackthorn and is apt to be crooked as a dog's hind leg.

"Think how it would look with the new weekend costumes," he said. "Wonderful for walking in the suburbs and it is good protection. As a matter of fact it might not be a bad idea to carry one in the cities."

MATCHING RAINCOATS

But umbrellas are Katz's first love and he waxed enthusiastic at the thought of doing away with the tightly furled black English broly and replacing it with colors to match the new Spring raincoats — brass, copper, bronze, Apollo blue (lighter than navy), ivory, cornsilk, British tan.

He said he had been working with one raincoat manufacturer Harbor Master, and as new raincoat colors and patterns emerge he will bring out umbrellas to match the coats. The ones on view at the recent Men's Sportswear Buyers Show in New York were fairly subdued but will get less so as men get accustomed to the idea of colored umbrellas, he predicted.

"What if someone brings out a denim blue raincoat for the young man?" he asked. "We will bring out a denim blue umbrella. We're already experimenting with new colors and patterns although now we are pretty much sticking to muted patterns."

But even if you insist on a black umbrella you can carry it in a fancy case. Katz told of some cases in checks and plaids in a nubby material "that will give a lift to an ensemble." "And you could have a bold black and white check or houndstooth case with a conventional umbrella inside," he said.

Handles are a big thing in umbrellas from a style standpoint and he said the traditional handles of fake leather, malacca and wicker which are sometimes called bamboo might become a thing of the past "except for the old never-say-die Ivy League type."

For the 1970's, he said, a man in a new kind of costume might have a handle formed like an opera handle (T-shaped) or shaped like a golf club or even a dog's head," he said. "They're amusing conversation pieces."

If a man is a racing nut he could have a handle shaped like a jockey's whip. Or if he likes modern art "we've just got in some Austrian handles that look like a display at the Museum of Modern Art of horses heads by some wild modern artist in light horn and also in rosewood."

the school administration will meet with the principals to come up with a proposal that would be acceptable to the School Committee, he noted.

Committee member Alvin Mandell pointed out that in computing the pupil-teacher ratio, the principals were not taking into account specialists in the schools such as in the areas of art, music, physical education and reading.

With regard to the formal recommendation for $1,500 for each school, Ruth Chadwick, principal of the Horace Mann School, said there is a need to allow for enriched educational experiences for elementary school pupils and a need to equalize educational opportunities.

Up to this time individual PTA's have generally supported almost all of the special programs and people who visit classrooms and perform in school, she said.

However, elementary schools cannot be totally dependent upon PTA's and philanthropists to support those opportunities which would be available from a fund appropriated to schools through regular budget systems, she observed.

According to Miss Chadwick, the money would be spent to bring an author to a classroom, have a poet work with pupils, pay a visitor from India a fee for his talk to the school, bring specialized consultant services to the schools, send small groups to museums for a day's study, etc.

In discussing two questionnaires sent to all of the elementary school principals to determine priorities of need, Joseph Gattuso, principal of the Carr School, commented, "For the first time in the 12 years that I've been principal there is unanimous agreement as to the need for commitment to reduction of class size."

"What really matters," Gattuso insisted, "is establishing a setup where pupils can be successful. A teacher needs all the resources we can provide for her. She needs time to invest her human resources to their best advantage."

"To foster individuality is a most fundamental thing," he stressed. "This fosters an atmosphere of growth."

He pointed out that in studying 50 children in the 4th grade it was found that their reading abilities spanned a range of six years.

In making recommendations for increased staff in the earliest grades, the principals agreed that attention to prevention of problems was preferable to remedial work later.

Committee member Francis Frazier declared that reduction of class size is "no panacea." "It doesn't make an average teacher a better teacher and it's a very expensive way of achieving good goals," he noted.

Committee member Edwin Hawkrige pointed out that some communities such as Evanston, Illinois, have attacked the problem with volunteers from the community.

A summary statement of the principals' report stated:

Dr. James Laurits responded that teachers would prefer adults who would be there and could be trained on a more permanent basis.

In responding to the questionnaire on priorities, principals listed small classes in grades kindergarten, one and two as the top one.

Other priorities listed in the order of the importance voted by the elementary school principals were: small classes in grades 3-6; teacher aides, kindergarten program improvements, libraries, psychological services, specialist time in reading, science, physical education, art, music and math; clerical help, in-school coordinators and assistant principals.

A second questionnaire asked "How satisfied are you with existing services and programs in your schools?"

The list starts with what the principals felt were the greatest areas of dissatisfaction and ends with the program with which they are most satisfied: Lack of teacher aides, kindergarten program, class sizes grades K, 1 and 2, library, psychological services, specialist time in sciences, class size grades 3-6, clerical help, specialist time in math, in-school coordinator, specialist time in music, specialist time in art, assistant principal, specialist time in physical education, and specialist time in reading.

Principals on the committee were Mrs. Mary Winslow, Cabot School; Elaine Panaretos, Mason-Rice; Mary Nethercote, Franklin; Joseph Gattuso, Carr; and Ruth Chadwick, Horace Mann.

A summary statement of the principals' report stated:

Mishkan Tefila Bloodmobile Is Great Success

One hundred and eighty-three people came to donate blood at the Temple Mishkan Tefila bloodmobile on Wednesday of last week. The temple membership included 114 of those volunteering to give blood.

Newton Red Cross officials expressed their delight at the turnout. They explained that Massachusetts hospitals need 1000 pints of blood each day. Donors are not only the source of blood but also of its derivatives which are used to control hemorrhage during childbirth, surgery and to combat shock.

Other groups whose members came to donate blood included Church of the Redeemer, Temple Beth-el, Temple Emeth, Temple Reyim, Carson Post of the American Legion, Knights of Pythias, Sylvania Corp., Ludlow Corp., Newton Police Dept., Newton - Wellesley Hospital, Oak Hill Park Association, Newton Elks, Unitarian Society in Newton, Temple Emanuel, Knights of Columbus and the Masons.

The ladies of the Temple cooked and served dinner to the workers. Among the volunteers from the Temple were Mrs. Bertram Rodman, and Mr. and Mrs. Allen Tichnor. The Red Cross Supervisor of the day was Mrs. Abraham Kaye, who is also a member of Temple Mishkan Tefila.

Red Cross volunteers in addition to Mrs. Kaye were Mrs. Alice Blackall, Mrs. Dorothy Mentzer, Mrs. Herbert Connolly, Mrs. Walter Irvine, Mrs. Leslie Little, Helen Hanson, Mrs. Edith Chapple, Mrs. Harold Amidon, Mrs. Izora Henley, Mrs. Margery Stober.

Also Mrs. Dorothy Goulston, Mrs. L. Warshawer, Mrs. George Lennihan, Mrs. Morton Smith - Petersen, Mrs. James Dealy, Mrs. Jan Stoughton, Mrs. Manuel Taylor, Mrs. Sloane, Mrs. Dorothy Smith, and Mrs. Bertram Rodman. Also assisting at this bloodmobile were members of Newton's Red Cross Youth. They were: Patti Annino, Pat D'Andro, Ellie Goode, Margo Abiondi, Melanie Woodhouse.

The next bloodmobile will be at the United Methodist Church in Newtonville, 440 Newtonville Avenue, on December 9th, from 1 until 6:45 p.m.

Senior Class Officer

Miss Nancy E. Wasserman of Chestnut Hill has been elected treasurer of this year's Senior Class at Radcliffe College.

Miss Wasserman is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Max Wasserman of 52 Malina Terrace. She entered Radcliffe from Boston's Winsor School, and will be graduated in June with honors in Social Relations.

Brotherhood To Sponsor Annual Auction Dec. 13

Temple Reyim Brotherhood will hold their annual Auction on Saturday, December 13 at the Temple's Ordos Social Hall, 1860 Washington street, Newton. All proceeds of this event are used to aid the Temple's religious school. The auction is open to the public.

The evenings festivities will begin at 7:00 p.m. with a free champagne hour. Admission is free and free refreshments will be served throughout the evening. There will be a cavalcade of valuable merchandise plus plenty of laughs.

One of the highlights of the affair will be the crowning of Miss Moon Maid of 1970! The winner this year is a student at Cinderella Finishing School and a cheerleader for the Boston Patriots.

The committee invites everyone to "Blast Off to the Auction" for a guaranteed evening of excitement. For further information contact Milt Lewinger or Harry C. Lewis, co-chairmen of the affair.

Newton Buick Announces Arrival Of Opel Kadetts

The 1970 Opel Kadetts, featuring numerous styling refinements along with engine and other mechanical improvements, is now on sale, according to an announcement from the Metropolitan Newton Buick/Opel Dealers Assn.

Local members Leo and Bob Dwyer of Newton Buick, 371 Washington St., Newton, report that the new Opel is expected to make the same swift sales start as did the 1970 Buicks when introduced about a month ago. Newton Buick offers the same six models as last year - the two-door sedan, deluxe wagon, sports sedan, super deluxe sport coupe, Rallye Kadett and the Opel GT.

New features include a new ignition system, new tail lamps, new front and rear side marker lights, and optional wood grain applique with moldings on the wagon. The Opel Kadetts are manufactured by General anti-lift windshield wiper.

Standard engine for the Rallye and GT is the 67 horsepower 1.1 SR with two single barrel carburetors, 9.2 to 1 compression ratio, operating on premium fuel.

Among its new features for 1970, the GT offers a blacking simulated leather steering wheel, a convenient storage tray on the console, and a new

Needed: one million dollars

If you write a check for one million dollars we will cancel Action Day for Israel, which is Sunday, November 30.

(We're waiting)

(Still waiting...)

(Men ken oisgehn vartendig)

Very well, Action Day will be held as planned. A volunteer will ask you to loan money to Israel. You'll be repaid in full, plus interest.

The million dollar check is a pleasant dream. Better results are obtained from the Small Loan Department, from Jews like you. You're Israel's dependable ally. Demonstrate it again Sunday.

Say "Yes" when you are asked for the loan. It means so much to Israel. And to you, too.

Greek's Constantine Shums World Spotlight in Italy

Next month it will be two years since young King Constantine of Greece went "on strike" against the ruling military junta in Athens and chose exile.

Today, living quietly in Rome with his queen, the lovely former Princess Anne Marie of Denmark, and their three children, the 29-year-old Constantine shows no outward signs of being ready to return to his country unless on his own terms.

The terms are said to include free elections and a political climate of open and free debate.

SHUNS LIMELIGHT
Though they have been assiduous about shunning the limelight during their self-exile in Rome, the Greek royal couple came briefly back into the headlines on Oct. 1 when the 24-year-old Anne Marie gave birth to her third child, a son whom they have named Nicholas. In addition to the infant Prince Nicholas the children are Crown Prince Paul, 2, and Princess Alexia, 4.

Ever since they fled to Rome on Dec. 14, 1967, after Constantine tried unsuccessfully to overthrow the leaders of the army coup d'etat which took power in April that year, the Greek exiles have sought to attract as little attention to themselves as possible. Constantine wants to do nothing that will make it harder for him to return some day to the throne that is still officially his.

The Athens regime still considers Constantine the king of Greece although it has appointed a regent to discharge royal functions in his place. It put out a cautious feeler to the king earlier this year by sending Foreign Minister Panoyotis Pipinellis to meet Constantine in Switzerland.

There has been no comment on the meeting from members of Constantine's entourage in Rome, but information leaked in London at the time said the king told Pipinellis he was willing to return to Greece only if there were free general elections held after an open political campaign.

QUET CONTACTS
The young king has maintained quiet contacts with Athens by means of two courtiers, Court Marshal Leonidas Papagos and Marinos Ieroulanos, who commute regularly between the Greek capital and Rome.

At the same time, Constantine appears to be keeping some lines open to rightwing opposition leaders in exile, such as ex-Premier Constantine Karamanlis in Paris.

Greek political sources said the king and Karamanlis appeared to have agreed to shelve differences dating back to the times of Constantine's father, King Paul.

NEARLY RECLUSES
Things have since changed. Now he and the queen live almost as recluses. When occasionally they venture out, perhaps to quiet dinners in out-of-the-way Roman restaurants, they draw little attention.

In the first weeks of their Italian stay, the royal couple lived at the Greek Embassy across the street from the Rome zoo. They then moved to a luxury hotel near the Via Veneto nightlife street and later to a secluded villa off the ancient Via Cassia 12 miles northwest of Rome. Queen Mother Frederick rented the villa from a Mexican millionaire.

ANOTHER MOVE
About a year ago, Constantine and Anne Marie moved to another and less palatial villa on the Via di Porta Latina at the other end of Rome. Its owner is Countess Alice Paozzoli, whose daughter Christine made news several years ago by posing topless for a magazine photograph.

The royal couple share the 10-room villa with their children and a Greek and an Irish nursemaid. Queen Frederika and Constantine's sister, Princess Irene, now live in another villa on the northern outskirts of Rome.

Police assigned by the Italian government to guard the king—one uniformed Carabinieri who stands at the gate of the royal villa and two plainclothesmen who follow Constantine wherever he goes—have most of their trouble with photographers trying to take pictures of the couple.

ROYAL COMPLAINT
Photographers also irritated the king during their summer vacation at Ansedonia, a Tuscan beach resort. Constantine complained to Italian authorities against camera hawks who took long lens pictures of himself and his wife in bathing suits.

Constantine and Anne Marie also spent part of the summer in Denmark with her parents, King Frederik IX and Queen Ingrid. Earlier in the year, Constantine went to Washington for the funeral of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and was received there with full royal honors.

$500,000 ALLOWANCE
Athens reports say the king's exile has not affected his royal allowance, which amounts to $500,000 annually. The pay is supposed to cover the king's salary, travel expenses and maintenance and operation of the royal palace and gardens.

An undisclosed share of the allowance is deducted and retained in Athens to cover palace expenses, but the remainder reportedly is sent to the king in Rome each month by special courier.

Auto Insurance Per Mile
Insurance costs only 1.4 cents of the total 11 cents per mile needed to operate an automobile, says the Insurance Information Institute. I.I.I. notes that the car owner pays more for parking and tolls than he does for auto insurance.

Holiday Programs Are Readied At Boston's Prudential Center

Many Newton residents are planning to attend some of the Holiday functions being planned for Boston's Prudential Center during the next few weeks.

More than 2,000 singers from Maine to Cape Cod will take part in the Prudential Center's fourth annual Christmas Concert Series December 15 through 23.

Thirty-six choirs with voices up to 100 each will journey from widely-scattered points including two from Maine: the 45-voice St. Francis College Glee Club, Biddeford, and the 50-voice St. Patrick's Choir from Lewiston to sing carols and other Yuletide selections. The 85-voice Bourne High School Choir will bus to the Prudential Center from Cape Cod.

The choirs, performing from a specially-built stage in the lobby of the 52-story Prudential Tower, sing four times daily in the late afternoon and early evening from December 15 through 23. The 30-minute choral performances will start at 5 p.m., 5:30 p.m., 7 p.m., and 7:30 p.m. each day. Many of the choral productions will be tape recorded for later broadcast on local radio stations.

There will be 45 organ concerts by Boston's John Kiley and Richard Kullberg on a magnificent theater organ. The organ concerts will be held five times each weekday, starting at 11:45 a.m., 1 p.m., 4:30 p.m., 6:45 p.m., and 8 p.m.

The concerts in the Prudential lobby will be held against the backdrop of two huge floor-to-ceiling stained glass panels depicting "Christmas City."

The panels, each seven feet wide and 19 feet tall, are decorated modernistically with the Christmas star and angels hovering over a stylized Boston skyline.

"Christmas City" was designed by Jean Fleming, noted church window artist, and built for Prudential by Stained Glass of Hanover, Inc.

Also, for youngsters and oldsters alike, a snowman will patter about to pass out candy and to lend a sympathetic ear for last minute requests to relay to Santa Claus.

On December 1 the Snowman's debut will be marked by flipping a giant switch at 4:45 p.m. near a 20-foot high live Christmas tree in the lobby to illuminate the 31-acre Prudential Center into a brilliant array of multi-colored lights.

Each day, the Snowman in his polar costume will roam the entire Prudential Center distributing goodies and tidbits and conducting drawings for prizes contributed by Prudential Plaza merchants.

Marines will be on hand to collect Toys for Tots so that underprivileged children will wake up to find a gift Christmas morning. The Marines' Drum and Bugle Corps will kick off the toy collection drive with a performance that also will signal the Snowman's lighting of the Christmas tree, December 1.

Speed Kills

The Insurance Information Institute reports that more than 40 per cent of all traffic fatalities in 1968 - 18,700 - occurred in accidents attributed to speeding. More than 90 per cent of all traffic casualties were in accidents involving known driver violations.

Some Fires Expensive

While spectacular fires in business or industrial areas cause headlines, fires in residences account for more than 25 percent of the nation's total fire damage, says the Insurance Information Institute. Of 960,900 building fires reported in 1967, more than two-thirds - 663,100 - were in residences.

An estimated 900,000 persons have been killed in the past century by earthquakes.

The Marines will man their Toys for Tots booth from December 1 to December 19, 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily in the Prudential Center lobby.

The nine-day Christmas pageantry will also include for the first time an ice show presented by the Boston-based United States Figure Skating Association on Saturday afternoon, December 20, at 2 p.m.

Gov't Gives Priority To Homebuild'g

By NORMAN KEMPSTER

Chairman Preston Martin of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board says President Nixon's annual housing message to Congress next year will make plain the administration puts high priority on homebuilding.

Martin says housing has not been made the stepchild of the administration's economic policies despite the tight mortgage money market that has depressed the industry.

"The priority has been set and housing is prominent among those priorities," Martin said.

Martin said the Federal Home Loan Bank System, the central bank for savings and loan associations increased its total outstanding advances to the savings associations to more than $8 billion during the first nine months of this year. That was a $2.7 billion rise.

The advances were intended to offset declining savings deposits and to permit the associations to continue making mortgage loans.

"Over one-third of the funds available to savings and loan associations so far this year have come from system advances," he said. "Another way of looking at this is that system funds have financed about 10 percent of total housing starts for the year 1969 to date."

Calls for more But the president of the National League of Insured H. Courshon of Miami Beach, thinks the government can-and should-do more.

"Unless the Nixon administration issues a firm commitment to aid housing, the already-crippled home building industry will enter the decade of the 1970s in an atmosphere of crisis," Courshon said.

"Conditions in the housing market already look bad, and if present trends continue, things will be worse before they're better."

"While the administration has discussed the need for housing, discussion doesn't build housing."

Courshon called on Congress to pass legislation directing the Federal Reserve Board to purchase the securities of the Federal Home Loan Bank Board and the Federal National Mortgage Association (FNMA) to help channel new funds into the mortgage market.

The Federal Reserve opposes the legislation. Martin said his bank system and FNMA are already putting more money into mortgage than "ever before in their history."

He said the agencies' activities are "channeling these funds into housing mortgages which otherwise would find their way into other sectors of our economy."

"The Federal Home Loan Bank system is deliberately pursuing this policy," Martin said. "It is not a reflex action, it is not a simple carrying out of a statute."

"It is part of the policy of the Nixon administration within the overall financial exigencies of our time—it is a policy of support housing credit so that we do not repeat 1966's experience."

U. S. Merchant Marine Small And Obsolete

By ROBERT F. BUCKHORN

The gracefully curved prow of the 115,000-ton tanker Manhattan sliced through the ice of the Canadian fabled Northwest Passage.

The nuclear ship Savannah cruises the world as a showpiece for the future. It flies the American flag.

The U. S. government is doing research on big air cushion passenger vehicles designed to skim over the surface of the ocean . . .

naval architects talk of giant cargo-carrying submarines, and 300,000-ton tankers, a fifth of a mile long . . . President Nixon is expected to send Congress shortly a maritime program designed to increase production of American ships.

All this might lead the casual observer to believe the U. S. Merchant Marine is a pacesetter. It isn't. In truth, it is small, mostly obsolete, and bogged down in a paralyzing maze of economic and labor-management problems.

For example: —Once the largest, the U. S. merchant fleet now is sixth in world standing.

—Two-thirds of its ships are over 20 years old.

—Only about 5 per cent of all U. S. foreign commerce is carried in American flagships.

—The United States ranks eleventh in ship construction among the nations of the world.

—Its once famous fleet of luxury passenger liners is down to a handful, and expected to get smaller.

U. S. Role Dwindles There are many reasons for the decline. But the most important is foreign competition. Big ship building nations such as Japan build and operate ships more cheaply than the United States because their expenses — particularly wages — are sharply lower.

To offset this competition, the United States has worked out a complicated subsidy program. But it is costly — about $200 million a year — and most observers consider it ineffective.

Marine Administrator A. E. Gibson put it this way: The U. S. merchant fleet has declined "because of its high cost compared to that of its foreign competition and because there seemed to be no other way to overcome this disadvantage except through government subsidies."

But both Gibson and Commerce Secretary Maurice H. Stans believe the ills of the U. S. merchant fleet can be eased, if not completely cured, through a program of modernization.

In a program unveiled last month, the two officials backed an industry-government research and development plan designed to bring this about.

It calls for a $32 million, five-year program to double the present 20-knot speed of merchant ships by the 1970s and to increase speeds to 100 knots by the 1980s through the use of exotically-shaped hulls.

The idea is that such speeds, coupled with increased cargo capability,

Headlights and Highlights From Newton South High

By JANICE B. KAPLAN

Everyman performed his march to death for three nights last week to the enjoyment of large audiences. "One For the Grave," a modern morality play, made its United States debut at Newton South. The play had an unusual format as there were no curtains. The stage was turned into a television studio complete with cameras and lighting equipment. Four TV monitors showed what was happening at different places on stage.

The floor manager led the action on the stage as he cued Everyman through life. Everyman was portrayed by Paul Eisenberg who reviewed his life as he prepared to die. Herb Lustig was the domineering floor manager who kept the play moving smoothly at all times. Above the stage sat the director of the studio, Larry Sterne, whose face was never seen. Sheila Schneider was Admon, who provided song and laughter.

Backstage Cindy Goldberg and Eileen Greene prepared costumes and makeup respectively. The stage crew worked hard on properties, lighting, sound, and scenery. It was led by Suzi Cahill, Bruce Cohen, and Jeannie Klugman.

Bebe Axelrod was the student production manager. She was assisted by Judy Stone. "One For the Grave" was a production which will long be remembered as a great success at Newton South.

The Newton South High School library was dedicated to the late Margaret W. Erskine on November 23. She was the head librarian at Newton South and Newton High School for many years and was responsible for the exceptionally good library South has presently.

On the occasion of Mrs. Erskine's death, several of her friends decided to set up a memorial. They formed a committee consisting of Miss Helen Sweeney, Mr. Wayne Altree, Miss Anne Sanguinetti, Miss Eleanor Trawbridge, Mrs. Alice Shaw, and Miss Ann Donovan.

On November 23 about one hundred fifty people including friends and former colleagues of Mrs. Erskine were asked to attend the dedication. Also invited were the Mayor, the school officials, and the school committee.

At the dedication a portrait of Margaret W. Erskine was unveiled. A bronze plaque was presented naming the library the Margaret W. Erskine Library.

Mr. Wayne Altree, chairman of the social studies department, spoke at the occasion. Mr. David Levenson led the string orchestra in a concert. Miss Helen Sweeney presented a scholarship which presently consists of $1150. A sum of fifty to sixty dollars will be awarded each year.

A group known as Operation Conversation is continuing this year at Newton South. It consists of a group of parents, students, and teachers who meet regularly to discuss subjects of concern to high school students. Parents do not attend meetings with their sons or daughters. The discussions are held at homes in a free and open atmosphere. Operation Conversation gives students a chance to speak with their teachers and other parents in a manner very different from school.

Behing the maritime controversy looms another growing shadow — the spectacular rise of the Soviet Union's merchant fleet.

According to Sen. Charles E. Goodell, R-N.Y., "Launching and deliveries of new ships to the Soviet Union run more than eight to one ahead of the U. S. For every ship the U. S. has on order, Russia has 12. Since 1950, the Russian fleet grew six-fold."

According to the maritime administration, the United States has a total of 963 ships compared with 1,613 for Russia. But a spokesman said the U. S. fleet totals 15 million dead-weight tons compared to 11 million for the Soviet Union.

The spokesman said the Soviet Union claims it is building ships at the rate of a million tons a year and expects to keep up this production. By 1975, the Soviets claim they will have 16 million tons of shipping, the spokesman said.

Other world maritime powers include the United Kingdom with 1,840 ships, Japan with 1,766 and Greece with 1,008. Tiny Liberia has a total of 1,613 ships registered under its "flag of convenience" by ship operators around the world.

Viola Is Made Vice President Of Boston Bank

Promotion of Frank L. Viola, Newton, to vice president at Commonwealth National Bank, has been announced by Phil David Fine, board chairman.

Viola, associated with the bank since its opening five years ago, started as a management trainee. He has served as real estate officer, branch manager and assistant vice president. He becomes one of the youngest vice presidents of a national bank in Greater Boston.

A graduate of Wharton School of Finance, he was formerly an examiner for Commonwealth of Massachusetts Budget Office and on mortgage staff of Haymarket Cooperative Bank.

Married, he is active in community affairs such as United Fund, Easter Seal Society and Little League.

Dr. Roy Pearson Preaches At Church In Springfield

The president of Andover Newton Theological School, Dr. Roy Pearson preached last Sunday at the 75th anniversary service of Faith Congregational Church in Springfield, of which Eric Bascom Jr., is pastor.

A Bay State native who was born in Somerville, Dr. Pearson graduated from Harvard College and the school he served as dean for 11 years and now serves as president, Andover Newton. A member of several committees and boards of the Congregational Christian Churches, Dr. Pearson has held pastorates in such Bay State towns as Southville, Amherst, and Lexington, as well as Swanzey, N.H. During his pastorate in Amherst, he was given a short leave of absence to serve as chaplain in the United States Army.

Dr. Pearson has served as chairman of the Congregational Christian Council of Theological Schools, as vice chairman of the Council for Higher Education of the United Church of Christ and chairman of its seminary section, and as a member of the executive committee of the American Association of Theological Schools. The recipient of honorary degrees from Amherst, Emerson, Colby, and Curry Colleges, and Norwich University, Dr. Pearson has authored eight books and is a regular contributor to various magazines and periodicals. Dr. Pearson has spent several summers travelling. At one time he was a volunteer pastor with the Maine Seacoast Missionary Society based in Bar Harbor. This was a non-denominational organization that carried the practical religious ministry to the coastal islands and fishing ports throughout the state of Maine.

In addition, Dr. Pearson spent many summers in England, Scotland and Wales preaching under the auspices of the National Council of Churches and the International Congregational Council. He has also preached frequently in the American Churches of Europe, has twice served as leader at the United Church of Christ Retreat for Military Personnel in Berchtesgaden, Germany, and in 1964 went to France as a technical advisor to the Chief of U.S. Air Force chaplains.

Dr. Pearson's appearance at Faith Church marked the second feature in as many days, as the Springfield Congregational church celebrated its 75th Anniversary. Saturday evening, November 22, the congregation gathered in the Castilian Room of the Willow Glen House, East Longmeadow, for a gala anniversary party and heard noted historian Richard Garvey, Editor of the Springfield Daily News, talk on the "Influence of Religion in the Pioneer Valley."

The small Caribbean island of Saba is one of the Netherlands Antilles, but English is the official language.

LOOK FOR THE BIG "G"

Theatre Season Due To Begin At Brandeis Univ.

Newtonites who are interested in the timeless Greek tragedy "Antigone," will have the opportunity to attend it at Brandeis University's Spingold Theater Wednesday (Dec. 3) through Saturday (Dec. 13).

Following opening night, all performances will be at 8:30, except Sunday, at 7. There will be no performance Dec. 8 and 9. For information call the box office at 894-4343.

A cast of professionals and graduate students will appear in Sophocles classic tragedy. The head-on collision of politics and humanity, youth and age, idealism and cynicism.

First-year graduate student Martha Driscoll plays Antigone, who defies the authority and political precepts of the ruler, Creon. Creon, played by Artist-in-Residence K. Lye O'Dell, after ordering the execution of Antigone's brother, an accused traitor, defiles the soul of the dead man by leaving him unburied. Antigone, inevitably, brings on her own destruction.

Special accompanying music has been composed for the play by Alvin Lucier, assistant professor of music at Brandeis Theater Arts Department, is the director.

Cast members include professional artists-in-residence Howland Chamberlain, Bronia Stefan, and two new professional members of the Brandeis Theater Arts Department, Mr. O'Dell and David Palmer.

Remaining plays in the Spingold Theater Season include a musical "Look Up Your Daughters," based on Fielding's "Rape Upon Rape" Feb. 4-14; "Henry IV" Part I, by William Shakespeare, Mar. 29 and run through May 9.

The public is cordially invited to attend this unique evening of festivities at the Sheraton Plaza, December 5, Friday evening. Dress is optional, and tickets may be purchased at the door.

Jul Bal Luciafest For Benefit Of Swedish Home

Robert Fischer of 43 Charlesbank Road, Newton, a Scandinavian and American former officer of the Aquila Club, is a member of the committee planning this year's Jul-Bal Luciafest to be in the Grand Ballroom of the Sheraton Plaza in Boston. The Aquila Club is a junior league of the Swedish Charitable Society of Greater Boston, which presents this annual medieval festival.

The tradition of the Luciafest, highlight of the year for the New England's many Swedes and those interested in Swedish Customs, goes back into Swedish legend, medieval history. Lucia was a medieval Saint who carried food and drink to hungry folk in the province of Varmland during periods of famine. Because she was seen crossing a lake clothed in white with a crown of light encircling her head, the modern Lucia also dresses in white and wears a crown with lighted candles. The Swedish Christmas begins December 13 known as Lucia Day. Early in the morning at first cock crow households throughout Sweden are awakened by a "LUCIA". She is usually the eldest daughter of a family dressed in the traditional garments. It is customary for her to carry a tray with coffee and special saffron buns to each one in the family as she serenades them with the lovely old Sicilian melody, Santa Lucia.

Today Lucia appears not only in homes, but also in schools, offices, hospitals, orphanages and other public buildings to open the Yuletide. She also visits those who are ill, poor, lonely, as the medical Lucia is said to have done. Many towns and cities throughout Sweden plan a special Lucia celebration and choose a local Bride of Light (Lucia) to reign during the festivities. She is often assisted by star bearers, costumed traditionally, and carrying star tipped wands.

The public is cordially invited to attend this unique evening of festivities at the Sheraton Plaza, December 5, Friday evening. Dress is optional, and tickets may be purchased at the door.

Midway through the program, the seven finalists will be escorted to the stage identically robed in white and the audience will decide by popular vote who will represent Lucia throughout the Yuletide Season. At the conclusion of the program Consul Arthur Engdahl will present the Lucia Bride and procession, with the Ballroom in hushed darkness the six finalists carrying candles will proceed to the stage followed by the 1969 Lucia Bride wearing the traditional crown of ivy with lighted candles and carrying a beautiful silver tea service symbolizing her service to the needy. Her gifts will then be presented to her by the 1968 Lucia Bride.

Fire Chief Warns Of Winter Dangers Ahead

Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., of the Newton Fire Department wishes to remind all the citizens of the city of the inherent hazards of winter.

Remember, as temperatures drop, Fire Danger Rises! And it is no wonder with heating systems going full blast, any weakness will show up—maybe with disastrous results.

Fire is dangerous any time, but be especially watchful in cold weather; and take the following precautions to help prevent a fire occurring in your home or business.

1. Put room heaters out on low. Open bedroom windows when using fuel burning heaters in bedroom to protect against carbon monoxide.
2. Sleep with bedroom or hall doors closed. They can hold back fire until you can escape.
3. If windows are emergency escape means, have family trained to use them. Do storm windows open easily?

4. Central Heating System: Have serviceman check and clean unit and controls. Keep flue pipes clean, hole free and well supported. Check chimney for loose bricks or cracks, keep area near furnace clear of all combustible material. flue pipes spaced to prevent overheating nearby surfaces. Have a metal covered barrel for ashes and another one for combustible rubbish.

5. Fixed and Portable Units: Keep heaters out of halls and clear of all exits, away from combustible curtains, drapes, etc.; do not use gasoline to start coal or wood fires. Does electric heater need added house wiring? Do not over fuse!

6. Fireplaces: Are they equipped with a safe screen to prevent sparks from flying out and igniting rugs, etc. and also to keep children and adults clear of the fire area. 7. It is illegal to use oil burning space heaters in the Commonwealth unless the fuel oil supply is at least 42 inches from the burner.

If all of the above precautions are taken, Mayor Basbas and Chief Perkins are sure that we will be able to have a FIRE SAFE WINTER SEASON in the City of Newton.

Remember: "It is good to keep warm, but more essential to keep safe."

On Broadway

By JACK GAVER
UPI Drama Editor

It is surprising and refreshing in these days of traumatic theater to find that it still is possible for a playwright to turn out an engaging romantic comedy and for him to find a producer willing to take a chance with same.

The play is "Butterflies Are Free" by Leonard Gershe, who has written mainly for films but did write the libretto of a Broadway musical, "Destiny Rides Again," a few years ago.

The plot situation is interesting, the dialogue is bright most of the time, Milton Katselas has directed expertly and the players are delightful company as well as being expert.

There are three major characters. Keir Dullea, one of the better young leading men around, has the role of Don Baker, blind at birth, member of a well-to-do family in suburban Scarsdale, N.Y. He might possibly have the talent to be a singer-songwriter of the folk type.

A young woman, who soon after gets married, encourages him to break away from his all-protective widowed mother and try living on his own in New York City. His mother reluctantly agrees to let him have a two-month trial run. He gets a small apartment in Greenwich Village.

A girl moves into the adjoining apartment. She is a would-be actress of 19 who tried marriage for six days at the age of 16 and whose mother has been married four times. The girl is bright, a little feather-brained and determined not to get involved with anything or anyone she can't walk away from at a moment's notice.

GOP Speakers At Meeting On December 4th

A great deal of public interest centers about the forthcoming meeting of the Newton Republican Club of Thursday evening, December 4.

Responding to inquiries, Anthony J. Medaglia, Jr., club president, today stated that speakers at the event will be permitted to speak on subjects with which they are most familiar and concerned in their official capacities.

As a result, Medaglia stated, his guest speakers will best inform us of Newton about activities and opinions as these top GOP officials see them from their vantage points.

Among those listed as speakers are: Chairman of Mass. Public Utilities Commission, William I. Cowin; Representatives Martin A. Linsky, John A. S. McGlenon, Theodore D. Mann, and John Larkin Thompson, chairman, Mass. Port Authority.

Mayor Monte G. Basbas will bring the city's greetings and will participate in the general discussion.

Arrangements for the event are being made under the chairmanship of Lawrence Applefield.

The meeting which is open to all members and interested citizens will take place at the Workshop, Columbus St., Newton Highlands.

Holtz Appointed Labor Advisor By Gov. Sargent

Norman Holtz of 225 Varick Rd., Waban, has been appointed by Governor Francis Sargent to a special nine man Labor Management Council which will advise the governor on matters of concern to labor relations.

Holtz, 40, is treasurer of the Brotherhood of Temple Ohabei Shalom and a trustee of the Temple. He is married to the former Selma Koss, and has two children, Herbert and Jane Ellen.

A partner of the Boston law firm of Epstein and Holtz, he was educated in the Harvard public schools, Tufts University and Boston University School of Law. Since 1963 Holtz has specialized in labor relations, law and collective bargaining negotiations.

He has acted as special counsel in labor relations to the City of Brockton, and is labor relations counsel for the town of Natick.

In addition to his private practice, Holtz was trial attorney and hearing officer for the United States National Labor Relations Board from 1958 to 1963. He has also been a member of the Massachusetts Department of Education special task force to study collective bargaining in education 1968 to 1969.

Holtz chaired the labor and employment committee of the Massachusetts Republican Convention in Worcester in 1967.

Rio de Janeiro now contains about 2,700,000 persons.

Jewish Mens' Assoc. Breakfast

Chestnut Hill Resident Gets "Man of Year" Award Dec. 7th

One of the world's foremost authorities on cancer in children, Dr. Sidney Farber, Director of Research in Children's Cancer Research Foundation, will speak at the breakfast meeting of Men's Associates of Jewish Memorial Hospital on Sunday morning, Dec. 7, at 9:15 a.m., in Sidney Hill Country Club.

The breakfast will also be the occasion for honoring Samuel W. Poorvu, Chestnut Hill, as "Man of the Year" of Jewish Memorial Hospital in recognition of the distinguished and dedicated services he rendered the hospital as chairman of Building Committee and member of Board of Directors.

Dr. Farber, the founder of the discipline of modern pediatric pathology, is also S. Burt Wolbach Professor of Pathology at Harvard Medical School. Pathologist-in-Chief and Chairman of Division of Laboratories and Research at Children's Hospital Medical Center.

His definition more than 25 years ago of the total care of children with cancer and his discoveries in the chemotherapy of cancer have been regarded as two of the great milestones in the opening of a new era in cancer research and care.

His major contributions include the discovery of several chemicals that temporarily limit the growth of cancer cells, the coordination of extensive national and world research programs on the drug treatment of cancer and the establishment of the first hospital and research institution devoted exclusively to the care of children with cancer.

Dr. Farber, who will speak on "A Therapeutic Attack on Cancer" at the breakfast, has received numerous awards including the Judd Award for Cancer Research of Memorial Cancer Center and Sloan-Kettering Institute for Cancer Research, the United Cerebral Palsy-Max Weinstein Award for his stimulus to broad areas of neurological research, annual Gold Medal of Massachusetts Division of American Cancer Society, the Great Medal of University of Ghent, Modern Medicine Award, Albert Lasker Award and many others. Eight universities have conferred honorary degrees upon him.

He is also recipient of Humanitarian Award of Variety Club International for doing the greatest good for the greatest number. Other recipients of this honor include Sir Winston Churchill, Gen. George Marshall and Dr. Albert Schweitzer.

Poorvu as chairman of Building Committee of the hospital played an important role in the expansion of the hospital's facilities with the construction of new additions.

The hospital's membership campaign conducted by all the auxiliaries of the hospital is dedicated in honor of Poorvu who is the head of Samuel W. Poorvu Development Company which has built more than 100 postoffices throughout the country.

All top officials of the hospital and leaders of Men's Associates will attend the breakfast meeting which is expected to attract several hundred members.

Guests will include Judge Lewis Goldberg of Superior Court and William Koster, executive director of Variety Club of New England and the Jimmy Fund.

Others at the head table include Joseph M. Linsey, president of Men's Associates.

Life-Saving Opens in Jan.

The Newton Y.M.C.A. announces its winter co-ed senior and junior lifesaving course for certification. The course will be given on Tuesday evenings at 7:45-9:30 p.m., starting January 6, 1970, and running ten weeks thereafter. The course will be taught by a competent and qualified instructor.

The prerequisites are that the applicant be at least twelve years old to take junior lifesaving or fifteen years old to take senior lifesaving. The applicant must have a good general swimming ability and be particularly competent with the crawl stroke, breast stroke, side stroke, and elementary back stroke. The requirements for certification are that the applicant pass the final water test, take a written exam, and score at least 60 per cent if a junior lifesaver, or 75 per cent if a senior lifesaver.

Registration closes on January 2, 1970. Only the first twenty applicants will be accepted.

Lutherans Set Services For Midweek Here

Suffolk University Plans Honors for 17 of Faculty

Three residents of Newton are among the 17 Suffolk University faculty members who will be honored by the university's General Alumni Association for 20 years of service to the university. Each will be presented with a Captain's chair at a reception in Boston on Wednesday, Dec. 10, and they will have their names inscribed on a plaque to be presented to the college library.

Those honored include Dr. Robert S. Friedman of 178 Prince Street, West Newton, chairman of the biology department; Dr. Israel Stolper of 295 Spiers Road, Newton Centre, retired chairman of the department of government and economics, and Harold M. Stone of 27 Salisbury Road, Newton, chairman of the accounting department.

Dr. Friedman received his bachelor's degree in education from Boston University, a master's degree from Harvard, and an honorary doctor of science degree from Suffolk. He joined the faculty in 1940.

Dr. Stolper holds a bachelor's degree in economics, a master's degree from Harvard, and a Ph.D. from Harvard. He also received a master's degree from B.U., and an LL.B. from Northeastern.

Mr. Stone holds a bachelor's degree in science and education from Boston University, and a master's degree in business administration from Boston College. He joined the faculty of Suffolk in 1947.

Women Voters Meeting To Discuss Water Pollution

"Dirty Water - Clean Water: It's Your Choice" is the subject of a League of Women Voters of Newton meeting scheduled for Tuesday, December 2, at the Audubon Congregational Church, corner of Hancock and Woodland Streets.

Members of the League's Water Resources Committee have planned a full evening of citizen exposure to the complex problems of water pollution and water resources, to be highlighted by colored slides of the Charles River and some of its eighteen Newton tributaries. The public is urged to attend.

The program will begin early - at 7:30 p.m. - and dessert and coffee will be served during informal viewing of display materials, the most exciting of which promises to be a child's-eye view of the Charles River with art work submitted by many of Newton's elementary school children.

Pointing up the involvement of all age levels, Martha Janet Morales and Paul Cavich, 12th grade students at Newton High School, will demonstrate techniques for testing Charles River water samples for pollution content.

Financial Crisis Threatens Newton Mental Health Center

A financial crisis for the Health Center, in his Annual Report explained Newton's position under the State's program to support their mental health center under scrutiny at the recent annual meeting of the Comprehensive Mental Health Association, Inc. during reports by Dr. William B. Wellesley, however, he went on to say that "The Newton Mental Health Center will retain its original purpose of providing care to the children of Newton, but is now able to participate in a broader program so that services will be available that are truly comprehensive in nature, i.e. Out-Patient Clinic for adults at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital which has already been firmly established; a court clinic for youthful offenders has been started at Newton District Court; and provisions have been made for sheltered workshop training for retarded adolescents and adults through the Charles River Assoc. for Retarded Children.

Future plans include an inpatient unit and a partial hospitalization program at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, an extensive community consultation and education service, and a day-care program for retarded and emotionally disturbed children. Dr. Stone explained the programs in detail and continued, "In spite of the rapid growth of this mental health program, it should be remembered that the City of Newton was late in making such services available to its citizens... It is surprising that such a lack could have existed in a City that boasts of its interest and concern for children. Other towns and cities with much less affluence have found it possible to support their mental health program to a much higher degree. Newton is proud of its tradition of excellence and cannot settle for less than excellence in its health services to its citizens."

Dr. Stone concluded, "We live in a state of continual financial crisis in that the growth of the Center is far ahead of the financial support we receive from the local community. Fund raising from individual contributors has not been successful enough to balance even the most conservative budget. A broader base of tax support must be obtained if this Center is to survive!"

In his annual report, President Corcoran underscored Dr. Stone and charged the Association to change its philosophy of supporting the multiplicity of services provided by the Newton Mental Health Center from that of "soliciting free-will offerings and donations from the community to that of obtaining a firm commitment from our city officials." "We are grateful to our Mayor and the Board of Aldermen for their continued interest" however, we are not able to fully take advantage of the State's appropriations to our Area unless "our city officials see fit in their wisdom to appropriate $1.00 per person for the year 1970 in order to operate on the same basis of Weston and Wellesley." He concluded, "The months ahead are months of crisis for the Center, the Director, the Association, the citizens. What to do about it?"

Hospital Dinner, Meeting Of Trustees, December 2nd

The annual meeting of trustees and the annual dinner of Newton-Wellesley Hospital take place on Tuesday, December 2, at the hospital. The annual meeting of the board of trustees begins at 3:45 p.m. in the hospital's Usen Auditorium.

The nearly 100 businessmen, civic leaders and public spirited citizens who oversee the functioning of the Tufts Medical School affiliate will receive committee reports, will elect officers and new trustees, and will hear a review of hospital service during the fiscal year ended September 30.

The annual dinner in the hospital's dining room at 6:45 p.m. will bring together an estimated 250 persons, including the trustee-management group of the hospital, medical staff, hospital friends and community leaders.

Following the annual dinner, the guests will move to Usen Auditorium. Hospital director William S. Brines of Wellesley will open the traditional program with a review of hospital activities during 1969.

Following the director's report, Lot B. Page M.D. of Lincoln, chief of medicine at the 260-bed community owned hospital, will provide some glimpses of medical practice in Russia and Eastern Europe.

During September, Dr. Page travelled extensively behind the Iron Curtain. His remarks will be based upon observations gathered during his travels.

The appointment of Atwood P. Dunham as Assistant Principal of Newton High School was approved by the School Committee on Monday night.

Dunham has been a mathematics teacher at Newton High since 1963. He is also the chairman of the Faculty Senate.

He received his B.A. degree from Wesleyan University in 1953, his M.Ed. from Boston University in 1958 and completed another year at Wesleyan in 1966.

He taught math at the Fox Lane School in Bedford Village, New York from 1958 to 1963 prior to coming to Newton.

Dunham is 38 years old, married and the father of two children.

Change of Date—The Newton Citizens for Education, Ward 5, Meeting that was originally scheduled for 8 p.m. Wednesday (Dec. 3) in the Waban Library, has been cancelled and rescheduled for Monday (Dec. 8) at the same time and place.

Newtonites Back Challenge To Mass. Highway Planning

In a recent meeting with Governor Francis Sargent, the Citizens for Proper Transportation Planning encouraged him in his effort to fundamentally reconsider the highway system presently planned for Metropolitan Boston.

Stephen P. Crosby, spokesman for the group and a resident of Newtonville, said "In part, our purpose was to indicate to the Governor that there is a very wide spectrum of dissatisfaction with the perpetual highway - automobile - highway spiral, and therefore, wide support for him as he begins to challenge the basic assumptions of metropolitan transportation."

Our group included many suburban residents and downtown business people, whom the Governor might not have expected to be distressed by the building of more and more highways."

A critique of the D. P. W.'s "Recommended Highway and Transit Plan" was presented by the group to the Governor. The critique pointed out that construction of the Southwest Expressway and the Inner Belt would create an enormous disruption of Boston's Roxbury community, particularly in the area of housing - a problem of already crisis proportions.

The critique also charged that the Master Plan failed to deal adequately with the related problems of air pollution, parking and traffic congestion, urban sprawl. In general, the critique suggested that major emphasis on a creative and comprehensive mass transit system would far better serve the needs of all Metropolitan residents.

"This issue has a special relevance to Newton," Mr. Crosby pointed out. "In the first place, it seems a bit incongruous to worry about polluting the air by burning leaves, and at the same time to build a massive highway system that will induce 100 percent more cars into Boston by 1990."

"But more particularly, the recent elimination of the Watertown street car line is indication that an emphasis on highways causes a decline in mass transit. This is extremely unfair to people who can't afford cars."

Other Newton residents who endorsed the critique included Dr. and Mrs. Charles Brown, Alderman - elect and Mrs. Harry H. Crosby, Mr. Ralph Hoagland, Mr. Peter Karoff, Mr. Axel Kaufman, Mr. Sanford Latner, Mr. William Raider, Alderman Edward Uehlein, Mr. Joseph Weinreb.

ART IS FUN—Mrs. Elliott Sagan, 220 Greenwood St., Newton Centre, and daughter, Marjorie, enjoy a printing experience together in Mothers and Children Art Class at the Newton Community Center, West Newton. 71 parent-child teams are participating from Newton.

Mother-Child Art Classes Popular At Community Ctr.

"Fun With Your Child" is the theme of the Mothers and Children Creative Art Classes at the Newton Community Services Center, 429 Cherry St., West Newton, (969-5906).

In an unusual program of art experiences, parents and children have been meeting together for mutual enjoyment and satisfaction.

Director of Art, Mrs. Murray Janover reports that "these sessions have had great meaning for mother and son or mother and daughter, and provide one of the rare community after school activities for parents and children to do together. The mother is more than a chauffeur for these classes."

She is a meaningful part of the child's class, and derives pleasure from working in relaxed atmosphere with her child. Parent and child work side-by-side, independently, or sometimes, as a unit. Very frequently the mother and child make discoveries about each other, just as they do about the materials, and this has been a very pleasurable hour for the participants."

Mothers and Children art class meets on Monday afternoon, from 3:15 p.m. to 4:15 p.m. It is open to children in elementary schools.

This class was a natural outgrowth of the very popular Mothers and Tots Art Program which is offered for children 2 years and up. Children have an opportunity to expand their sensory perception by experimenting with many forms of art media (visual and tactile).

Mothers gain a new perspective for themselves on the potentialities for an adult's use of the so-called "children's media," as well as ideas for home use. The atmosphere is free of restraint and worry about mess, and direction is skillfully applied by Jackie Melissas, Instructor and Ben Lewis, Assistant.

Mrs. Melissas reported that "seeing mothers and children involved in mutual creative effort like puppet making, splashing in paint with bare feet to music, building constructions from boxes, etc., has made it clear to us that the values of togetherness and creativity make this venture doubly meaningful."

The Blue Birds, wishing to perform a community service project in commemoration of Thanksgiving, set about earning enough money to purchase a full-course turkey dinner.

Mrs. Cynthia Rosenthal, who with Elaine Ellis leads the group, delivered the items which the girls had bought for the dinner to Mr. G. Michael Gardner, Senior Supervisor of the Newton Community Service Centers. The groceries were then presented to a family known by the agency to be financially unable to buy the traditional Thanksgiving turkey.

In commenting on the gift Mr. Gardner said: "The Mini Ha-Ha Blue Birds are to be highly complimented for their thoughtfulness. A contribution such as this is a truly meaningful way of commemorating the holiday. Their parents and community have every reason to be proud of them."

Members of the Mini Ha-Ha Blue Birds, Emily Monson, Amy Ellis, Susan Moskow, Beth Cohen, Leslie Weisman, Randy March, Debbie Rosenthal, Jodi Feinberg, Susan August, and Roberta Allen.

Republicans Pay Tribute To Chairman

The Newton Republican City Committee at its meeting this week paid tribute to the memory of its late Chairman William A. Lincoln who served as chairman from 1966 until the time of death recently.

In a resolution unanimously adopted by the Committee the following was stated:

"The Newton Republican City Committee honors the memory of the late William A. Lincoln, until recently chairman of this committee."

"Few Republicans have demonstrated greater devotion to the principles of our Party than William Lincoln. None have worked harder, more selflessly, or with more determination to serve the interests of the community. His courageous spirit and leadership were a continuous source of inspiration to all of us."

"It is with particular pride and grateful appreciation for his tireless and dedicated service to the City of Newton and the Republican Party that we honor our late friend."

"For his great dignity, wisdom, integrity and sincerity of purpose which he always exercised with diligence and compassion, the Newton Republican City Committee pays respectful tribute to William A. Lincoln."

Watercolorist Guest Artist At Meeting Dec. 4

The Newton Art Association announces that on Thursday evening, December 4, at 7:45 p.m. at the Beethoven School in Waban, Carlton B. Plummer of Chelmsford will be guest artist.

Mr. Plummer currently assistant professor of painting and design at Lowell State College is a member of the Boston Watercolor Society and the Copley Society of painters.

In addition to an impressive list of exhibits throughout New England he has won best of show prizes twice for his watercolors.

His program Thursday evening will be a showing of watercolors and slides made on his recent trip to Thailand and Bangkok.

Mr. Plummer was sent here to paint and sketch by the Department of Military History, Washington, D. C., and many of the paintings he will show are to become part of a permanent collection of army combat art in Washington.

Those interested in art and in the cultural life in the Near East will certainly want to attend this meeting.
